ON THE COVER

The cover of the 2003 Denver Broncos Media Guide is a tribute to wide receiver Rod Smith, a team captain each of the past two years and the club's NFLPA Player Representative for the past three years. He is also a leader of the Broncos offseason conditioning program, being the only player in the past nine years to never have missed a workout in Denver. Since joining the team as an undrafted rookie free agent in 1994, Smith has established himself as one of the finest wide receivers in not only Denver Broncos history, but in the entire National Football League over the past six seasons. Entering his ninth year, Smith has caught 559 passes for 7,783 yards (13.9), with 49 touchdowns, and ranks first in Broncos history in career receiving yards, first in receiving touchdowns and second in career receptions. Photo by Eric Lars Bakke of Rich Clarkson & Associates.

THE PAUL D. BOWLEN MEMORIAL BRONCOS CENTRE

On March 5, 1990 the Denver Broncos moved into the Paul D. Bowlen Memorial Broncos Centre, the state-of-the-art headquarters for the National Football League team. The complex is named for the Broncos owner's late father, and is the culmination of Pat Bowlen's desire to maximize a positive working environment for his team, which won back-to-back World Championships with victories in Super Bowls XXXII and XXXIII. The Broncos, who were the only American Football Conference club to appear in the three Super Bowls during the 1980s, are one of six franchises in NFL history to win back-to-back Super Bowls.

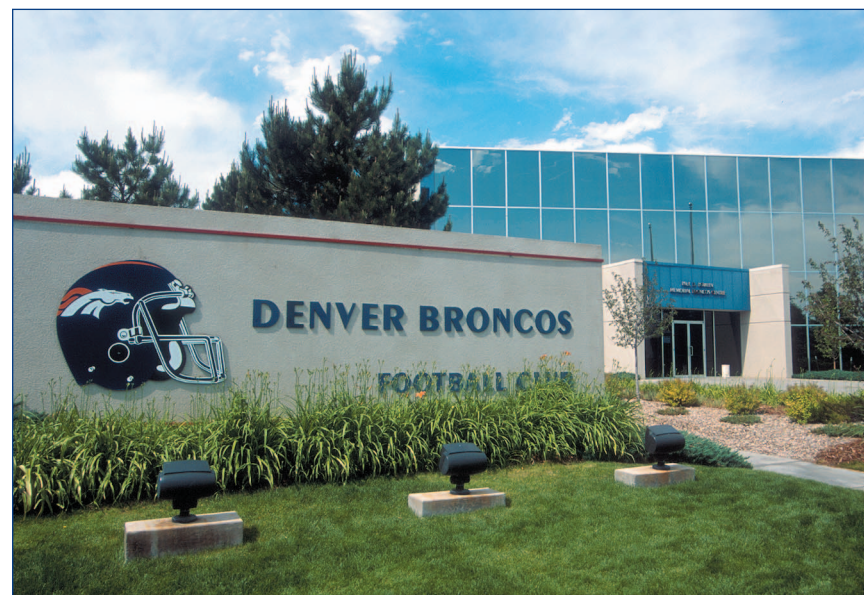

The training facility is situated on 13.5 acres in the rapidly expanding Dove Valley Business Park in south Arapahoe County. It includes an administrative building, three full-size practice fields and an indoor practice bubble.

The Bowlen Broncos Centre is a two-story building totaling 60,000 square feet, well over twice the size of the team's previous facility. The ground floor houses the main entry, visitors area, trophy display area and media room, in addition to the football-related facilities, which encompass the locker room, meeting rooms, training area, weight room, equipment room and video department.

It is on the second level, which is accessible through two stairways adjacent to the lobby area, that most of the administrative offices are located. These include the offices for Pat Bowlen, Mike Shanahan, Ted Sundquist and Joe Ellis, as well as those of all assistant coaches and football operations personnel. The second floor is divided into one wing for administrative offices and another for coaches and meeting rooms. The Broncos' extensive computer operation also is located on the second floor.

There is ample practice space available for use by the Broncos on the three fields, two with natural grass surfaces and one with FieldTurf™, completed in June 2003. FieldTurf™ is a synthetic blade surface with a rubber and sand infill. One of the two grass fields has a unique design system that includes underground wiring to prevent the turf from freezing and thus allows the Broncos to practice year-round on unfrozen natural grass. The indoor "bubble" houses a 70-yard artificial turf field.

The expansive weight room and training room are among the largest in the entire league, and the Bowlen Centre also includes a separate building that houses two racquetball courts for training and leisure use by players and staff members, as well as a team store.

PAT BOWLEN*PRESIDENT AND CEO

Pat Bowlen begins his 20th season as President and CEO of the Denver Broncos Football Club, making him the only two-decade owner of a major league sports team in Denver history. His stewardship of the franchise that serves as the soul of the city of Denver and state of Colorado is marked by team achievement and personal success.

The Denver Broncos have grown from being Denver's first major league franchise in 1960 to Colorado's state religion, and Mr. Bowlen wants to continue that fervor for the coming season. His focus for 2003 is once again to have the Denver Broncos win a world championship.

The Broncos President and CEO has fashioned a powerful reputation among his peers as a bold, dynamic leader who is single-minded in his pursuit of excellence, whether representing the Broncos, the city of Denver, the state of Colorado, or the National Football League.

For many years Mr. Bowlen's reputation as an outstanding owner has been well known nationally. In 1987 he finished second in The Sporting News Executive of the Year balloting. In December, 2000 ESPN conducted a fan poll asking which NFL owner would be the best for whom to play. Mr. Bowlen finished first among all NFL owners with 44.7 percent of the more than 60,000 votes cast. Mr. Bowlen has been well respected for many years by fans, players, coaches, his peers and NFL executives.

Mr. Bowlen presides over a franchise that by any standard has been one of the NFL's most successful in his nearly two decades of club ownership (1984-2003). The Broncos are at the pinnacle of sports franchises by any definition.

He was introduced as the majority owner of the Denver Broncos on March 23, 1984 and that announcement triggered a new era in franchise history. Mr. Bowlen and the Bowlen family acquired 100 percent ownership of the Broncos in July, 1985, and currently his brother, John Bowlen, owns a minority interest in the Broncos.

Mr. Bowlen immediately put his own mark on the Broncos, establishing a solid administration and creating a positive atmosphere that was a major factor in the team's success both on and off the field.

Champions are built from the top and Pat Bowlen is a model of leadership in the scope of his drive and commitment. "I want us to be number one in everything," Mr. Bowlen has often said in a recurring theme that marks his management style. Everyone knows that it is the owner who provides the financial backing that is integral to a championship team, but many fans are unaware that much of the heart, soul, and drive of this championship organization comes directly from Pat Bowlen.

He has made all his managerial moves with one goal in mind—to aggressively position the Denver Broncos for another run at a Super Bowl championship. No one sets higher standards for the Broncos than Pat Bowlen himself, whose goals have always been to have his franchise regarded as among the finest in pro sports with victory being the measuring stick for that success. Thus the goal of this dynamic and energetic chief executive remains firmly set on repeating the World Championship seasons of 1997 and 1998.

- The Denver Broncos won back-to-back World Championships in 1997 (Super Bowl XXXII vs. the Green Bay Packers 31-24) and 1998 (Super Bowl XXXIII vs. the Atlanta Falcons 34-19).
- Denver became the sixth NFL franchise to win back-to-back Super Bowls joining Green Bay, Miami, Pittsburgh (twice), San Francisco and Dallas. The Broncos became the first AFC team to do it in two decades.
- The Broncos own AFC Championships under Pat Bowlen in 1986, 1987, 1989, 1997 and 1998.

- The Broncos have had the best home record in pro football over the past 29 years.
- The Broncos won a record seven postseason games in a two-year period (1997-1998).
- The Broncos had a record 33 wins over a two-year period (1997-1998).
- The Broncos had a record 46 wins over a three-year period (1996-1998).
- The Broncos became the second team in modern NFL history to go undefeated during regular season play at home for three consecutive seasons (1996-1998).
- His 1997-1998 teams performed the astonishing feat of going an entire calendar year without a defeat (12/15/97-12/13/98), a league-record 18 consecutive wins.
- In 1998 Denver won a franchise-record 17 games, 14 in the regular season, including a 13-0 start that resulted in Denver going an entire calendar year without a loss.
- The Broncos have dominated the AFC Western Division by posting more division titles (7), conference Championship Game appearances (6) and Super Bowl appearances (5) than any other club in the division.
- Under Mr. Bowlen's leadership, the Broncos have had 10 playoff appearances and just two losing seasons.
- Denver was the only AFC franchise to make three Super Bowl appearances in the 1980s.
- In addition to winning seven division titles, Mr. Bowlen's franchise has had regular season win totals of 14, 13 (twice), 12 (twice), 11 (four times), and 10. Ten of the 11 best years in team history have come during Mr. Bowlen's ownership.
- When the Broncos won Super Bowl XXXII they were the first AFC team to win in 14 years and just the second Wild Card to win a Super Bowl under the NFL's present playoff system.

Pat Bowlen also has enjoyed tremendous off the field success as well.

- In Mr. Bowlen's 19 years of ownership, the Broncos have played 21 postseason games, all of which have been sold out.
- The Broncos have had a string of home sellouts for 34 consecutive years, longest in the AFC and second only to Washington in the NFC.
- The home game sellout streak is now at 266 straight regular and post season games through 2002.
- Denver has led the NFL in attendance over that 19-year period. The Broncos have drawn nearly 13 million fans to their home games from 1984-2002, most in the NFL.
- Mr. Bowlen ushered in a new era in Denver Broncos football history in 2001 when the state-of-the-art INVESCO Field at Mile High opened. Mr. Bowlen contributed over $150 million to the construction of the new stadium.
- Mr. Bowlen has worked closely with Head Coach Mike Shanahan in maintaining the Broncos roster in the era of free agency which has resulted in unprecedented player stability.
- In addition with his role with the Broncos, Mr. Bowlen was a key figure in securing the league's labor and TV contracts. He is currently a member of the NFL Management Council Executive Committee, is Chair of the prestigious NFL Broadcasting Committee, and is a member of the NFL Finance Committee. He also serves on the NFL Diversity Committee and the NFL Ventures Committee.
- In his current role as Chair of the NFL Broadcast Committee Mr. Bowlen was responsible for the negotiations on the NFL's $18 billion TV contract, the most lucrative single-sport contract in history.

- He was responsible for the Broncos headquarters, the Paul D. Bowlen Memorial Centre, a 60,000 square foot modern office and training complex located in Dove Valley, Arapahoe County. The facility is named after Pat Bowlen's father. The Broncos moved into the new facility on March 5, 1990.

Pat Bowlen was born in Prairie du Chien, Wisc. where he attended high school, and went on to the University of Oklahoma, earning degrees in both business (1965) and law (1968). After successful careers in oil, gas and real estate, he purchased the Denver Broncos in 1984.

He is president of the Denver Broncos Charities Fund and in that capacity has donated nearly $20 million to charitable organizations in the Denver area since the inception of that fund in 1993. Mr. Bowlen has served as the Honorary Chairman of the Colorado Special Olympics for 18 years and was the organization's Outstanding Celebrity in 1993. Mr. Bowlen has served as the Honorary Chairman of the Colorado Family Classic to benefit St. Joseph's Hospital for 19 years and this is his eighth year as Chairman of the Capuchin Friars fund-raising dinner. He also chaired the 1989 Centennial Scholarship rally at the University of Northern Colorado in Greeley and was Co-Chairman of the Rose Medical Center Critical Care Campaign from 1986-89.

In addition, Mr. Bowlen was elected to the University of Denver Board of Trustees in 1987. He chairs the D.U. Athletic Affairs Committee and plays a role in the Capital Campaign for major athletic gifts, while also serving on the Buildings and Grounds Committee. His previous DU committee memberships include the Institutional Advancement Committee and Institutional Advancement/University Relations subcommittee. He was also named to the Colorado Academy Board of Trustees in 1991. A member of the American Ireland Fund Dinner Committee for the past 11 years and a Trustee for the Irish Community Center for four years, the Broncos' owner also is a member of Colorado Concern. He also serves on the Board of Trustees of the Hawaii Maritime Center and was the 1992 honoree at the American Ireland Fund Dinner.

Mr. Bowlen is a member of several other clubs and societies, including the Chief Executive's Organization, the Canadian and Edmonton Bar Associations, and the Law Society of Alberta. He was also a past member of the Young President's Organization.

Mr. Bowlen maintains an active lifestyle and exercises extensively as part of his daily regimen. He has competed in the Ironman Triathlon—an event in which one must swim 2.4 miles, ride 112 miles on a bicycle, and run 26.2 miles, all consecutively—as well as in other triathlon races and several marathons.

Mike Shanahan is one of just five head coaches in the history of the NFL to win back-to-back Super Bowls, with Denver's victory over Green Bay in Super Bowl XXXII, followed by its defeat of Atlanta in Super Bowl XXXIII. No head coach in the NFL has won more games than Shanahan's 88 victories over the last eight seasons, and he has compiled a 50-14 home record, including three straight undefeated campaigns from 1996-98.

MIKE SHANAHAN*EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT OF FOOTBALL OPERATIONS / HEAD COACH

Every successful team has one key leader, and those organizations that have achieved the greatest success have an ultimate leader—an individual combining exceptional talent and organizational skills with the dynamic drive to lead others to success. One of the most brilliant minds in football, Executive Vice President of Football Operations and Head Coach Mike Shanahan is that lightning rod for the Denver Broncos championship history, and few coaches in NFL annals have spearheaded as much dramatic achievement.

When the success of a leader is achieved, and repeated, in an atmosphere of great pressure and expectations, that leader is elevated to elite status. Mike Shanahan has done that, is universally regarded at the highest level by the football community, and there is no proof of merit like the record itself.

His stunning record as the Broncos' mentor places him in the legendary class of Vince Lombardi, Don Shula and Chuck Noll as the only four coaches with back-to-back Super Bowl championships. Lombardi, Shula and Noll already have been inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

No head coach in the NFL has won more games than Mike Shanahan's 88 victories over the last eight seasons, and his Broncos come into 2003 determined to return to Super Bowl contention—both of those qualities are directly attributable to leadership by arguably the finest head coach and most fertile football mind in the game today.

Those 88 wins by Mike Shanahan include seven straight in the playoffs (he is the only coach to have produced seven playoff wins in two years) during the 1997 and 1998 World Championship seasons, years in which he firmly established himself among the game's sideline greats. His postseason percentage of .778, on a 7-2 record, is second only to Vince Lombardi (9-1, .900) among coaches with more than five playoff victories.

Under Shanahan's superb guidance, the Broncos have had staggering accomplishments, the scope of which is dramatically outlined by the following:

- posted the most wins in pro football history in a two-year period (33 in 1997-98).
- posted the most wins in pro football history in a three-year period (46 in 1996-98).
- won the most postseason games in history over a two-year period (seven, 1997-98).
- won 18 straight games over 1997-98 to tie the all-time NFL record for consecutive wins. The Broncos went undefeated for a calendar year during that streak, from Dec. 15, 1997 until Dec. 13, 1998.
- went undefeated for three straight regular seasons (1996-98) at home, just the second team ever to do so.
- posted a 22-2 record in their last 24 games during the back-to-back title years.
- The Broncos rank first in the NFL in points scored (3,283 points, 25.6 per game).
- The Broncos rank first in the NFL in total offense (46,539 yards, 364 per game).
- The Broncos rank second in the NFL in rushing yards (17,521, 137 per game).
- The Broncos' home record is 50-14 (.781) in regular season play.
- Denver is 51-2 (.962) when scoring 30 or more points (including 3-0 in postseason).
- Denver is 33-0 at home when scoring 30 or more points (including 2-0 in postseason).

He also has brought great stability to the Denver franchise, with his nine years here ranking as the third longest tenure by an active coach with his current team (trailing only Bill Cowher of Pittsburgh, who is in his 12th campaign with the Steelers, and Jeff Fisher of Tennessee, who is in his 10th season as the Titans' head coach).

However, whether measured by record or tenure, he does not rest on his laurels, nor allow his team to, even though in the past eight seasons his overall record of accomplishment has been unmatched. His accomplishments since taking command of the Broncos are far greater than most coaches have achieved in entire careers, yet Mike Shanahan does not live in the past, but puts all his ample talents and energy into success for the present, thus stamping the 2003 Broncos as a team with which to be reckoned in the National Football League.

Despite the almost unparalleled level of success attained in the last eight years, complacency and satisfaction are qualities completely foreign to Mike Shanahan, a brilliant coach and leader who is perpetually driven by the goal of taking his team back to the Super Bowl.

The Broncos stand as the perfect symbol of a team manifesting the personality of its head coach—maintaining discipline, focus, preparation, mental toughness and physical effort—all qualities indelibly stamped onto the franchise by Shanahan, whose superb guidance directed the Broncos to those victories in Super Bowls XXXII and XXXIII.

Shanahan elevated his career and the Broncos to new levels in 1997 and 1998, as the intense and personable Denver Broncos head coach made his mark on Super Bowl history, coming into the 2003 campaign as one of only 11 all-time National Football League head coaches with two Super Bowl victories, and one of two members of that exclusive fraternity actively coaching (along with Bill Parcells of Dallas). Within that select group of 11 coaches, six have been inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame: the previously referenced Lombardi, Shula and Noll, along with Bill Walsh, Tom Landry and Joe Gibbs.

Following his magnificent 1998 season, the Broncos' coach was named AFC Coach of the Year by the Kansas City 101 Club and by the Touchdown Club of Columbus (his second time to be so honored by each organization).

He is the first coach in history to win two Super Bowl titles in his first four years coaching a team, and he is the only coach to have directed two different teams to a 500-point season (the 1998 Broncos scored 501 points, and Shanahan's 1994 San Francisco offense scored 505). The 500-point mark has only been reached seven times overall in pro football history.

The architect of San Francisco's offense in the 49ers' 1994 World Championship season, Shanahan not only can boast of three titles in the past nine years, but he is one of only 11 coaches ever to win Super Bowls with two different clubs.

His winning percentage is the best by any coach in Denver history—in 1998 he reached his 40th win faster than any coach in franchise history, and in 2000 he reached his 50th win faster than any coach in franchise history. Team President Pat Bowlen heaped additional praise on his brilliant coach by naming him Vice President of Football Operations during the 1998 campaign and Executive Vice President of Football Operations in 2002.

While his seal of leadership already had been permanently ingrained into the entire Broncos organization, Shanahan took his first steps in the direction of legend when he joined Tom Flores in 1997 as the only two coaches in pro football history to post four wins in one postseason.

In his third and fourth seasons at the helm of the Denver Broncos, Mike Shanahan not only led the Broncos to their first Super Bowl victories, but in 1998 he became the only coach in history to fashion seven postseason wins in a two-year period.

Mike Shanahan now has that glittering postseason record of 7-2—which added to a regular season mark of 81-47 give him a combined record of 88-49 (an exceptional .642 percentage) in eight years as head coach of the Broncos. Not only is that record the best among all coaches in Denver history, but his home record is a staggering 50-14 (.781) in regular season play, as referenced above. His winning percentage in six years at Mile High Stadium (1995-2000) was .813, and that .813 mark is the third best by one coach, in one stadium, in NFL history.

Since Shanahan took over the Broncos' coaching reins in 1995, Denver has scored 30 or more points 33 times (twice in postseason) at home and 20 or more points 58 times (four times in playoff action) at home in 64 regular season and four playoff games. Including road games, they have scored 30 or more points 55 times (including four times in the playoffs) and 20 or more points 104 times in the 128 regular season games and nine postseason games under him. As noted above, Denver's record in the 55 games in which it has scored 30 or more points under Shanahan is an amazing 52-3 (which includes 4-0 in playoff competition), including a 33-0 mark (which includes a 2-0 playoff record) at Mile High Stadium and INVESCO Field at Mile High.

Over the last 11 years (eight in Denver and the previous three in San Francisco) Mike Shanahan's offenses have finished number one in the NFL four times, second twice, and third three times; in two of those campaigns Denver was just 17 yards and 83 yards short of the number one spot.

Since 1995, his first year in Denver as head coach of the Broncos, Denver has stressed the running game as one of the keys to football's most prolific offense. In those eight seasons the Broncos have ranked first in the NFL in total offense with 46,539 yards and first in scoring with 3,283 points, while ranking second in rushing yards among all NFL teams (17,521, trailing only Pittsburgh at 17,797). Thus, in regular season games under Shanahan, the Broncos have averaged 137 rushing yards (second in the NFL), 364 total yards (first), and 25.6 points per game (first). As those statistics would indicate, this also has been by far the most prolific eight-year offensive period in franchise history.

In 1998 the defending world champions stormed to their second straight title with an offense that scored 501 points and finished third in the NFL in total yards, while the defense had another spectacular postseason, allowing just 25 points and two touchdowns while sparking a remarkable 13-1 turnover ratio in the playoffs.

The 1998 Broncos set team records with 14 regular season and 17 overall wins, starting off with a stunning 13-0 record and marking Denver as a team that went an entire calendar year without a loss.

Ten Broncos were named to the Pro Bowl following that magnificent season, but throughout it all Shanahan's inspired direction was nationally recognized as the driving force behind the back-to-back World Champion Broncos.

In 1997 he directed a Denver offense that scored a total of 583 points (29.2 per game) during the entire 1997 season, the fifth highest total in NFL history and the second highest total in AFC history for a combined regular and postseason. Of course, in 1998 Shanahan's Broncos topped that mark by producing 596 regular and postseason points. The all-time high of 636 points came from the 1994 World Champion San Francisco 49ers, for whom Shanahan was the offensive coordinator.

He led his team to a 12-4 regular season record in 1997, marking the first time in franchise history that the team won 12 or more games in back-to-back seasons.

His high-powered offense reached 30 points a franchise-record nine times during the 1997 regular season and twice in the postseason. Denver also broke the franchise record for most points in a season (previously 391 in 1996) in just their 13th game of 1997 and broke the record for most touchdowns in a season (previously 47 in 1996) in just their 14th game.

The Broncos stormed through 1997 postseason play to their eventual World Championship with a home win over Jacksonville and subsequent road victories at Kansas City and Pittsburgh, defeating those Super Bowl contenders in their home parks on back-to-back weeks, answering any lingering questions about the status of Denver as the best team in the American Football Conference.

It has been widely documented that the Broncos posted one of the greatest upsets in Super Bowl history, played in perhaps the best Super Bowl game ever, and ended the National Football Conference's 13-year domination in the NFL's Championship Game.

The Broncos posted their win—in fact, their four wins—in convincing style.

Under Mike Shanahan's steady control and forceful leadership, the Broncos had no question that they were the best team in football, and their postseason performance reflected that belief every step of the way.

In 1997 postseason play, Denver scored nine touchdowns in nine goal-to-go situations, including four-of-four in Super Bowl XXXII.

Conversely, opponents started six drives in Denver territory in the postseason, netting just six points (two field goals).

Denver scored 13 touchdowns in 16 red zone opportunities in postseason and of the Broncos' 46 postseason possessions, Denver scored 16 times (14 touchdowns and two field goals), accomplishing that feat against teams with a combined record of 51-16 at the time of each game.

The Broncos had posted the biggest win by a sports team in Colorado history, and one of the most significant in NFL history, all with Shanahan pointing the way. The Broncos had entered the playoffs as a Wild Card, but their head coach never let the team's compass waver even slightly from the only goal he had ever set.

Under Shanahan's tutelage the Broncos led the entire NFL in total offense in 1996, after having rewritten the Denver record books in 1995.

Shanahan in 1996 led his club to a 13-3 record that was the best in the NFL as well as the finest record in Denver history, earning both NFL Coach of the Year (Touchdown Club of Columbus) and AFC Coach of the Year (Kansas City 101 Club) honors for 1996.

His team's performance in 1996 gave notice that this is a regime driven by a single goal, that of taking the Broncos to the pinnacle of pro football success. The Broncos were undefeated in October and November as they ultimately built their record to 12-1 in clinching their division title and playoff berth on December 1, thus becoming one of the earliest teams to clinch in NFL history. In clinching home-field advantage on Dec. 1 as well, the Broncos joined the 1985 Chicago Bears as the only two teams in the past 27 years to accomplish that by Week 13.

While the disappointment of Denver's 1996 playoff loss to Jacksonville gripped Shanahan as much as it did the entire region, it also served to further his resolve to return the Broncos to that level once again.

A dynamic and disciplined leader who has completely revitalized the Denver organization over the past eight years, Shanahan is the focal point from which the entire organization takes its direction and energy.

Renowned for his organizational ability and recognized as one of the brightest offensive strategists in football, Shanahan has restructured both the team and the entire football operations department of the Broncos to deal successfully with the new personnel and financial dynamics of pro football.

In his first season as the Denver Broncos' head coach, Shanahan improved the team to a .500 record (8-8) and contention in the very competitive AFC Western Division, while immediately stamping the Denver offense with his signature as the most productive unit in the AFC, finishing third in the entire NFL. Under Shanahan in 1995, the Broncos had the best offense in franchise history, breaking team records in points scored (388), total yardage (6,040), total passing yardage (4,260), first downs passing (205) and highest average gain per play (5.7), while tying the team records for touchdown passes (27) and average gain per rush (4.5). At the same time, the Bronco defense improved 13 positions, from last in the NFL the previous year to 15th under Shanahan's leadership.

Denver Broncos President and Chief Executive Officer Pat Bowlen named Mike Shanahan as Head Coach of his NFL franchise on January 31, 1995, ushering in a new era for a team that has made five Super Bowl appearances under Bowlen's ownership. The Broncos' head coach has complete control of all aspects of football operations.

Shanahan, 50, came to Denver from the World Champion San Francisco 49ers, where he served as offensive coordinator for three seasons (1992-94). The 49ers' offense reached astonishing levels under Shanahan's leadership. San Francisco's three-year offensive averages under Shanahan's direction were the most productive in the history of pro football. His three-year averages included being number one in total points (an average of 470 per year), total touchdowns (61), rushing TDs (24), passing TDs (32), third-down efficiency (49%), total offense (an average of 6,225 yards annually) and average yards per play (6.2 yards per attempt).

His three-year period as offensive coordinator included the 49ers setting numerous team records during Shanahan's tenure, including the first time ever that San Francisco led the NFL in total offense in consecutive seasons (1993 and 1994), along with remarkable records for most touchdowns (66), passing yards (4,302), total offense (6,435), first downs (372), completion percentage (70.3 %), and average yards per play (6.30).

San Francisco quarterback Steve Young re-wrote many NFL passing records and was named the NFL most valuable player twice in his three years under Shanahan's guidance, in addition to throwing for six touchdowns and earning Super Bowl XXIX most valuable player honors.

During his NFL career Shanahan has been a part of teams that have played in nine AFC or NFC Championship Games, in addition to his six Super Bowl appearances, five with Denver and the Super Bowl XXIX game with San Francisco. In his nine seasons coaching at the collegiate level, Shanahan's teams participated in eight bowl games, winning two national championships.

A driving force behind the Broncos' offense for all three of their Super Bowl appearances in the 1980s (following the 1986, 1987, and 1989 seasons), he first came to Denver in 1984 as coach of the club's wide receivers. He served as offensive coordinator from 1985-87, and then returned to Denver as quarterbacks coach on Oct. 16, 1989, after serving as head coach of the Los Angeles Raiders in 1988 and through the first four games of the 1989 campaign. Shanahan inherited a team that was 5-10 in 1987 and improved it to 7-9 his first season. After starting 1-3 the following year, he was dismissed.

His second stint in Denver included not only the 1989 Super Bowl appearance by the Broncos, but the team's fourth AFC Championship Game appearance of the Bowlen era (1991 at Buffalo), with Shanahan again serving as offensive coordinator.

A native of Oak Park, Ill. (8/24/52), Michael Edward Shanahan attended East Leyden High School in Franklin Park, where he earned numerous honors. In a student body population of 2,500, Shanahan was voted athlete of the year as well as most valuable player in both football and track. He set a still-standing single-game school record with 258 yards rushing on 17 carries (a 15.2 average).

He received a scholarship to Eastern Illinois University, where he played quarterback and lost a kidney in the spring game of his junior year, which began his coaching career a year earlier than was intended. Mike also received his bachelor's and master's degrees at EIU.

He began his coaching career at Oklahoma in 1975-76, where the Sooners won the national championship in his first year on their staff (1975).

Shanahan was Northern Arizona's backfield coach in 1977 at the age of 24, and the Lumberjacks averaged a school-record 391.1 yards that season. A year later, Shanahan returned to Eastern Illinois as offensive coordinator and helped guide his alma mater to the Division II title. The year before Shanahan's arrival the team was 1-10. In 1979 he served as offensive coordinator at Minnesota, where he implemented the run-and-shoot offense, with the result being that the Gophers set 40 school offensive records.

Mike moved on to Florida the following year, inheriting the second poorest offense in Division I football, as well as a team record of 0-10-1. In Mike's four years the team broke many offensive school records and went to four straight bowl games. During his stint at the college coaching level, his teams had a combined record of 77-29-3.

Recognized as one of the most dynamic offensive minds in the game, Shanahan thus was an assistant coach in college at age 21, an offensive coordinator at the Division I level by 25 and at the NFL level at 32 in his first Denver stint.

Mike and his wife Peggy have two children, son Kyle and daughter Krystal. Kyle is a graduate of the University of Texas and is a graduate assistant on the UCLA coaching staff, while Krystal also is a student at the University of Texas.

NOTING SHANAHAN'S ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Shanahan Brings Home-Field Dominance Back to Denver — Since taking over the coaching reins of the Broncos in 1995, Mike Shanahan has a 50-14 (.781) regular season record at home, the best home winning percentage of any head coach in the Broncos' 43-year history. The Broncos' home record with Shanahan as either an assistant or head coach is 91-26 (.778) in the regular season and 9-2 in the postseason:

BEST HOME WINNING PERCENTAGE, BRONCOS' HEAD COACHES

Head Coach (Years)	Regular Season	Pct.
1. Mike Shanahan (1995-present)	50-14	.781
2. Dan Reeves (1981-92)	72-21	.774
3. Red Miller (1977-80)	22-9	.710
4. John Ralston (1972-76)	20-13-2	.600
5. Wade Phillips (1993-94)	9-7	.563

Shanahan's Record Among Best in AFC Since 1995 — Broncos Head Coach Mike Shanahan's eight-year regular season record of 81-47 is tied for the best among active coaches in the league since 1995:

TOP RECORDS AMONG ACTIVE NFL COACHES, 1995-2002

HEAD COACH, TEAM	RECORD	PCT.

4. Jeff Fisher, Tennessee	75-53	.586

Shanahan Fastest to 80 Wins in Broncos History — Mike Shanahan recorded his 80th victory as head coach of the Broncos Dec. 15, 2002, in his 126th game. He reached that plateau faster than any coach in franchise history, needing four fewer games than Dan Reeves:

BRONCOS HEAD COACHES WITH 80 VICTORIES

1. Mike Shanahan	126	80-46
2. Dan Reeves	127	80-46-1

Broncos' Offense Clicks Under Shanahan — Since Mike Shanahan took over the coaching reins in 1995, the Broncos have scored 30 or more points 33 times (including twice in postseason) at home and 20 or more points 58 times (four in postseason) at home in 68 games (includes four postseason games). Overall the club has scored 30 or more points 55 times (including four in postseason) and 20 or more points 104 times (seven in postseason) in the 137 games (includes nine postseason games) that Shanahan has been the head coach. Denver's record in the 55 games in which it has scored 30 or more points under Shanahan is an amazing 52-3 (includes 4-0 in postseason), including a 33-0 (includes 2-0 in postseason) mark at home. The team scored 596 total points in 19 games (31.4 per game) in 1998, which now ranks sixth all-time (second in AFC) for points scored in a regular and postseason combined. Not surprisingly, the team to score the most points in an entire season was the 1994 World Champion San Francisco 49ers, for whom Shanahan was the offensive coordinator.

Shanahan in the Postseason — Mike Shanahan has made 12 ventures into the postseason, including four as a head coach, having gone to the postseason as an assistant in 1984, 1986-87, 1989, 1991 (all with Denver) and 1992-94 (San Francisco), and as a head coach in 1996-98 and 2000 (Denver). He has coached in six Super Bowls and has earned three Super Bowl rings (1994 with San Francisco; 1997 and '98 as head coach with Denver). Shanahan has coached in nine conference championship games, having won six of them (two as a head coach) and five of those six with Denver. His postseason winning percentage as a head coach is .778, on a 7-2 record, which ranks second only to Vince Lombardi (9-1, .900) among coaches with more than five playoff victories. He was 12-7 in the postseason as an assistant, including a 7-5 mark with the Broncos. Shanahan's postseason mark of 7-2 (.778) ranks No. 1 in terms of winning percentage among all Broncos' head coaches.

Shanahan Ranks Among the Best in the Super Bowl — With Denver's victory over Atlanta in Super Bowl XXXI-II, Mike Shanahan claimed his second Super Bowl title in his first four years as Broncos head coach, tied for the fastest in NFL history to post two Super Bowl victories.

TED SUNDQUIST

GENERAL MANAGER

Ted Sundquist begins his 12th year with the Denver Broncos, and second as the team's General Manager, having been named to that position in 2002 after 10 years in player personnel for the National Football League team.

One of the youngest major personnel executives in pro football, Sundquist works with Executive Vice President of Football Operations/Head Coach Mike Shanahan in the negotiation of player contracts and managing the football operations department's $103 million budget. He oversees the Broncos' entire player personnel department, both pro and college.

In addition to supervising pro and college scouting, Sundquist is responsible for salary cap and contract analysis, video and football technologies, equipment, training and medical personnel, overseeing training camp and turf management. He assists Mike Shanahan in establishing and implementing policies and practices within these departments of football operations.

Sundquist and Coach Shanahan work closely in all areas of financial planning and with respect to personnel decisions related to the signing of free agents, the selection of players in the college draft, trades, waivers and other related football activities, including the long-range management of Denver's salary cap.

For the past seven years, when the Broncos have been perhaps the NFL's most successful organization—the only team to win 79 games and two World Championships—Sundquist has evaluated every draftable player and endorsed such standouts as Terrell Davis, Clinton Portis, Mike Anderson, Trevor Pryce, Deltha O'Neal and Al Wilson. He has also had success with undrafted free agents such as Matt Lepsis and Lenny Walls.

He spent six very successful seasons as Director of College Scouting after spending the 1995 season apprenticing under late college scouting director Jerry Frei. Sundquist was a pro and college scout for the Broncos in 1993-94.

Thus, at age 41, Sundquist has already established himself as one of the league's top player personnel evaluators. A testament to this first came in 1997 when Sundquist was selected to sit on the five-member Executive Committee of National Football Scouting, Inc. He is also a member of the selection committee for the annual National Invitational Camp and sits on the NFL's College Advisory Committee.

Sundquist's background is more diverse than most in his profession. He played collegiately at the Air Force Academy, participating on two bowl championship teams.

While stationed in Berlin as a flight commander for the 6912 Electronic Security Group from 1986-88 Sundquist supervised and directed 45 Air Force personnel, as well as $35 million worth of equipment.

He also reported highly perishable defense information to Theater Tactical Commanders and briefed general officers and state department officials regarding flight operations.

Upon his return to the United States Sundquist rejoined the Air Force coaching staff, with which he had worked during the 1984 season. Along with his varsity coaching duties he was the head coach for the USAFA Preparatory School in 1990-91, and took an active part in scouting for the Falcons.

Sundquist also was a member of the U.S. National Bobsled Team from 1984-88, and competed in the Olympic Trials in 1988. A Texas native, Sundquist played at Spring Woods High School in Houston with major-league pitching great Roger Clemens.

From there Sundquist moved on to the Air Force Academy and eventually the University of Colorado, where he earned his master's degree in public administration in 1992.

Sundquist was born May 1, 1962 in Houston. He and his wife, Amy, live in Parker, Colo.

COORDINATORS/ASSISTANT COACHES

GARY KUBIAK

OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR

Gary Kubiak begins his 10th year as an NFL coach and his ninth season as Denver's offensive coordinator in 2003. He is coming off eight highly successful seasons in which the Broncos' offensive unit has produced numbers unparalleled in the history of the organization, highlighted by back-to-back World Championships in 1997 and '98.

Kubiak, who owns three Super Bowl rings, is one of just 15 NFL coaches to win a Super Bowl with two different franchises (San Francisco, 1994) and one of just nine to win a title with a team from each conference.

He returned to the Broncos organization in 1995 with head coach Mike Shanahan, after the pair coached together in 1994 in San Francisco, where Shanahan was offensive coordinator, Kubiak was quarterbacks coach and fellow Broncos assistant coach Brian Pariani (tight ends) was an offensive assistant.

Kubiak's return to Denver—where he played quarterback behind All-Pro John Elway from 1983-91—has been marked by extraordinary success. The Broncos have produced the National Football League's No. 1 offense twice during Kubiak's tenure (1996-97)—a first in franchise history—and have ranked in the top three overall in six of his eight seasons: No. 2 in 2000, No. 3 in 1995, 1998 and 2002, in addition to the two No. 1 rankings. The total offensive numbers produced in Kubiak's first eight years at the controls mark the most prolific eight-year totals in club annals.

The Broncos set new single-season standards for touchdowns and points scored three consecutive seasons from 1996-98, and posted new records for yards per rush in both 1997 and '98. Denver has also scored 30 or more points in a game 55 times (including four times in postseason) in the 137 regular and postseason games since Kubiak's hire. In the eight years that Kubiak has been at the controls of the Denver offense, the club has accumulated the most points (3,283) and total yards (46,539) in the NFL, and second most rushing yards (17,521).

Denver has had 24 Pro Bowl selections from the offensive side of the football in Kubiak's eight seasons as offensive coordinator, and is the only team in NFL history to produce a 3,000-yard passer (John Elway), a 1,500-yard rusher (Terrell Davis) and a 1,000-yard receiver (Shannon Sharpe, '96 and '97; Rod Smith, '97) two years in a row, doing so in 1996 and '97.

Last season, Denver's offense ranked third overall in the NFL and second in the AFC. Rookie running back Clinton Portis was a big key to that success. Denver's second-round draft pick out of Miami was the league's fourth-leading rusher after compiling 1,508 yards and 15 touchdowns, while earning NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year honors. Wide receiver Rod Smith was another reason the Broncos found success on offense last year. Smith again led the team with 89 catches for 1,027 yards—his sixth straight 1,000-yard season, a franchise record. Another bright spot was the play of rookie wide receiver Ashley Lelie, who caught 35 passes for 525 yards, and is poised to become a great complement to Denver's other top pass catchers: Smith, Ed McCaffrey and Shannon Sharpe.

In 2001, Denver battled through serious injuries at critical positions, but still produced offensive bright spots, such as Rod Smith's NFL-best 113 catches, which broke the franchise single-season record and earned him his second consecutive Pro Bowl invitation.

The 2000 season saw a rekindling of the offensive firepower that marked Kubiak's first four seasons, as the club set franchise records in three major offensive categories, bettering marks established earlier in Kubiak's tenure. The Broncos set new standards for total offense (6,554), passing offense (4,243) and first downs (383), while third-year quarterback Brian Griese and Smith earned their first career Pro Bowl invitations and center Tom Nalen earned his fourth straight. Additionally, rookie running back Mike Anderson broke numerous franchise records with 1,487 yards and 15 touchdowns to earn AP Offensive Rookie of the Year honors, along the way posting the best single-game performance by a rookie in NFL history (251 yards rushing) and the fourth-best outing overall in NFL history (now fifth). It was the second straight year a Broncos rookie running back had topped 1,000 yards, following Olandis Gary's 1,159 rushing yards in 1999.

Denver set six offensive franchise records in 1998, establishing new marks for total yards (6,092), rushing yards (2,468), touchdowns (62), rushing touchdowns (32), points (501) and first downs (347), as the Broncos scored 30 or more points in 12 of their 19 games. Davis was the NFL rushing champion, gaining a franchise-record 2,008 yards to become just the fourth NFL player ever to top 2,000. Davis, named the league's Most Valuable Player, was joined by Elway, Tony Jones, Ed McCaffrey, Nalen, Mark Schlereth and Sharpe to give Denver an unprecedented seven offensive players voted into the Pro Bowl, and Elway closed his Hall of Fame career as Most Valuable Player of Super Bowl XXXIII.

Davis won the AFC rushing title (2nd NFL) with 1,750 yards in 1997, and went on to win Super Bowl Most Valuable Player honors en route to an all-time NFL record for rushing attempts and yards in a combined regular and postseason. Elway, Davis, Sharpe and Nalen earned Pro Bowl berths in '97, while the offense set club records for points (472; 1st in NFL), touchdowns (55; 1st in NFL) and yards per rush (4.6), and led the league in total offense for the second straight year. The rushing total of 2,378 yards was the highest since the team record of 2,451 was set in 1978.

The Broncos led the NFL in total offense for the first time in 1996 after figuring third (1st AFC) in '95 with a franchise-record 377.5 yards-per-game average. The '96 club set a new team record for total points (391) and tied the record for highest average gain per rush (4.5) which was set a year prior, in Kubiak's first season. Davis led the AFC in rushing (2nd NFL), broke five team records, was named AFC Offensive Player of the Year and was selected to his first Pro Bowl.

Davis and Elway joined Sharpe and tackle Gary Zimmerman to give Denver four offensive players in the Pro Bowl. The 1996 Broncos offense, under Kubiak's direction, became just the fifth in NFL history—and first in Broncos history—to produce a 3,000-yard passer (Elway-3,328), 1,500-yard rusher (Davis-1,538) and 1,000-yard receiver (Sharpe-1,062) in the same season.

Kubiak wasted no time making an impact in his first season as offensive coordinator, as the 1995 Broncos broke team records for points scored (388), total yards (6,040), passing yards (4,260), first downs passing (205) and highest average gain per play (5.7; tops in the AFC). Individually, wide receiver Anthony Miller topped the 1,000-yard mark (1,079) and set a franchise record for touchdown receptions (14), while Davis topped the 1,000-yard rushing mark (1,117) and finished second in the NFL Rookie of the Year balloting. Overall, three members of the Broncos' offensive unit—Miller, Sharpe and Zimmerman—were chosen to play in the Pro Bowl.

During the 1994 season, Kubiak coached the league's most dominant quarterback, Steve Young, in San Francisco. Young not only led the 49ers to a victory in Super Bowl XXIX, but he also earned Super Bowl MVP honors, as well as the NFL's Most Valuable Player award, besides setting numerous passing records during the campaign. He also became the NFL's all-time passer-rating leader and the first quarterback to lead the league in passing four years in a row.

Prior to his year in San Francisco, Kubiak coached the running backs at his alma mater, Texas A&M, from 1992-93. During his two seasons the Aggies posted a record of 22-3 and played in back-to-back Cotton Bowls. His star pupil at A&M was Greg Hill, a first-round pick by Kansas City in 1994. Hill was second-team All-America as a junior (The Sporting News) and first-team All-Southwest Conference, as well as an All-SWC pick as a senior by the Dallas Morning News, despite missing four games. He rushed for 2,046 yards and 21 touchdowns in Kubiak's two years at College Station.

Before embarking on his coaching career, Kubiak played nine seasons (1983-91) as a quarterback for the Broncos. During that time he was a member of three Super Bowl teams and appeared in 11 of the 14 playoff games played by the Broncos during his tenure. He played in 119 games for Denver (second all-time among quarterbacks behind John Elway), with five starts over that period (4-1 record). Kubiak completed 173 passes in 298 attempts for 2,020 yards, with 16 interceptions and 14 touchdowns. He also rushed for 238 yards and two touchdowns, and his completion percentage of .581 is the sixth best mark in team history. Kubiak also holds the Broncos' second best single-season mark for interception avoidance (.013; one interception in 75 attempts), set in 1984.

Kubiak's final performance in a Denver uniform was probably his finest moment as a Bronco, when he relieved an injured John Elway in the 1992 AFC Championship Game at Buffalo (1/12/92) and completed 11-of-12 passes for 102 yards and added 22 yards rushing, though the Broncos fell to the Bills 10-7. He entered the game in the fourth quarter and drove the Broncos into Buffalo territory three times, including an 85-yard touchdown drive that cut Denver's deficit to three points. Kubiak was an eighth-round draft pick of the Broncos in 1983.

As a player at Texas A&M, Kubiak made the Player's All-SWC team in 1982 and earned appearances in the Blue-Gray and Hula Bowl all-star games. In 1982 he led the SWC in attempts (324), completions (181), percentage (55.9), yardage (1,948), touchdowns (19) and total offense (1,885). As a junior he set conference records for touchdown passes in a game (six against Rice) and percentage in a game (19-21 for 90.5% against Arkansas), and ranked second in the SWC in passing (1,908) and total offense (1,986). He has a degree from A&M in physical education.

While at St. Pius High School in his native Houston, Kubiak made all-state, all-district, and All-America and set the state passing record with 6,190 yards. He lettered four years in football, basketball and baseball, and made all-state in all three sports in both his junior and senior years. He was also all-state twice in track.

Kubiak, 42, was recognized for his outstanding accomplishments with induction into the prestigious Texas High School Sports Hall of Fame in March 1999.

Gary (8/15/61) and his wife, Rhonda, reside in Greenwood Village, Colo., with their three sons, Klint, Klay and Klein.

LARRY COYER

DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR

Larry Coyer is in his fourth season on the Broncos coaching staff, and his first in the new role of defensive coordinator. Coyer was promoted to the position after Ray Rhodes left the club this past offseason. In his 33rd year of coaching on either the collegiate or professional level, Coyer came to Denver in 2000 from the University of Pittsburgh, where he was defensive coordinator from 1997-99.

Coyer heads up a defense that finished the 2002 season sixth in the NFL in total defense, and second in the AFC. Against the run, Denver ranked fourth in the NFL and the AFC, while limiting its opponents to just 93.1 rushing yards per game.

In addition to his role as defensive coordinator, Coyer will continue to coach Denver's linebackers, a unit that features as much talent and speed as any position on the team. Starters John Mobley, Al Wilson and Ian Gold all return in 2003 after finishing Nos. 1-3 in tackles for the Broncos last year. Wilson made the Pro Bowl for the second straight year in 2002, and Gold was also named to the Pro Bowl as the special teams performer in 2001, while Mobley continues to be one of the steadiest and most effective members of the Broncos defense.

He will also rely on the talents of four-time Pro Bowl defensive end Trevor Pryce to help take Denver's defense to new heights. Joining Pryce on the defensive line will be free-agent defensive tackle Darryl Gardener, who signed with the Broncos after playing one year for the Washington Redskins, and his first six NFL seasons with the Miami Dolphins. The Broncos' defense will also utilize the talented play of 2001 Pro Bowl cornerback Deltha O'Neal and starting safety Kenoy Kennedy.

In Coyer's first year in Denver, 2000, Mobley and fellow linebacker Bill Romanowski finished Nos. 1-2 on the team in tackles (133 and 121), while Wilson ranked fourth (104).

While at Pittsburgh, Coyer directed a defensive unit that showed significant improvement each season, culminating in a 1999 showing that included top-five rankings in the Big East Conference in all major defensive statistical categories. Two of his standouts, safety Ramon Walker and defensive lineman Demond Gibson, earned All-Big East honors that season.

In 1998, the Panthers ranked third in the Big East in total defense, and over the course of the 1997-98 seasons, the unit amassed 62 sacks, the highest two-season total at Pittsburgh since 1990-91.

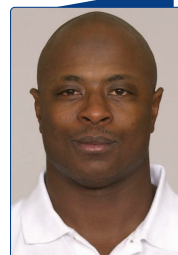

Prior to his stint at Pittsburgh, Coyer was defensive coordinator at Iowa State for two seasons (1995-96). That post was preceded by a one-year assignment as defensive line coach for the New York Jets in 1994.

Coyer's other professional coaching experience came in the United States Football League, as linebackers coach with the Michigan Panthers (1984-85) and defensive coordinator with the Memphis Showboats (1986).

Additionally, Coyer was the defensive coordinator at East Carolina in 1993, where under his guidance the Pirates improved in virtually every defensive category. He also served as defensive backs coach at Ohio State (1991-92), assistant head coach/defensive backs coach at Houston (1990) and linebackers coach at UCLA (1987-89). Prior to his stint in the USFL, Coyer was defensive coordinator at Iowa State (1979-83), Oklahoma State (1978) and Iowa (1974-77) and defensive backs coach at Bowling Green.

A 1964 graduate of Marshall University, Coyer began his coaching career at his alma mater in 1965 as secondary coach, a position he maintained through the 1967 season. An additional coaching stint came at the acclaimed Massillon (Ohio) High School, where NFL Legend Paul Brown coached.

A native of Greenbottom, W.Va., Coyer was born in Huntington. He and his wife, Jan, make their home in Aurora, Colo. Their son, Matt, was a member of an NCAA Champion soccer team at Indiana University. His son, Justin, was an Iowa all-state football player in high school.

RONNIE BRADFORD

SPECIAL TEAMS ASSISTANT

Ronnie Bradford begins his first season with the Broncos and first as an NFL coach, in the capacity of special teams assistant. Returning to the city where he started his NFL career, Bradford brings to Denver a wealth of experience after finishing a successful 10-year playing career as an NFL defensive back.

After playing in Denver from 1993 to 1995, Bradford made stops in Arizona (1996) and Atlanta (1997-2001) before finishing his playing career in Minnesota (2002). In that time, Bradford compiled 523 total tackles (387 solo), two sacks, 13 interceptions and 70 passes defended. He played in 133 career games, while starting 99 of those.

Bradford, 32, was originally selected by the Miami Dolphins in the fourth round (105th overall) of the 1993 NFL Draft, but was released during training camp. He was then signed to the Broncos' practice squad, before being elevated to the active roster. That season, Bradford played in 10 games, while starting three, and made his first career interception against Kansas City (12/12). In 1994, Bradford saw action in 12 games with Denver and in four games in 1995.

After one season in Arizona that Bradford started 11 games for the Cardinals, he moved to Atlanta, where he played five seasons. Bradford posted a career-high four interceptions in 1997, while starting 14 games. In 1998, he started 10 of the 14 games he played, and helped lead the Falcons to Super Bowl XXXIII against his former team in Denver. Bradford's highlight of the game came when he intercepted a John Elway pass in the first quarter. Bradford left Atlanta and played his final year with the Minnesota Vikings, where he started 15 games.

A two-year starter and four-year letterman at the University of Colorado, Bradford was a first-team All-Big Eight selection as a senior on Colorado's national championship team. His extra point block was the margin of victory as Colorado edged Notre Dame 10-9 in the Orange Bowl to claim the national title.

Bradford, born Oct. 1, 1970 in Minot, N.D., was named an honorable mention All-American by USA Today as a senior at Adams City High School in Commerce City, Colo. He and his wife, Trish, reside in Denver and have three children.

Burney's defensive line in Denver last season played a major role for a defense that finished the season sixth in total defense in the NFL and fourth against the rush. The line was represented in the Pro Bowl by defensive end Trevor Pryce, who made his fourth consecutive trip after leading the team with nine sacks. In addition, the Broncos were one of the toughest defenses in the league last year against the run, limiting its opponents to just 93.1 rushing yards per game last season.

During Burney's tenure in Carolina, the Panthers showed a knack for creating turnovers, with the defense posting 74 take-aways during the 2000-01 seasons, fourth-most in the NFL, with the Broncos leading that list with 81. In 2001, Burney coaxed a breakout season from third-year defensive end Mike Rucker, who posted a career-high and team-leading nine sacks. Under Burney's tutelage, Rucker developed into a full-time starter and set a record for sacks by a Panthers defensive lineman.

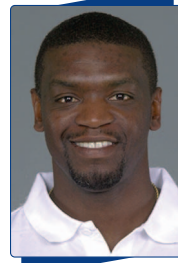

Prior to his tenure in Carolina, Burney spent five seasons with the Cleveland Browns/Baltimore Ravens franchise. He was hired by the Browns in 1994, and oversaw a defensive line that contributed mightily to a defensive unit that allowed only 204 points, nine rushing touchdowns and 3.6 yards per carry that season.

With Baltimore in 1998 Burney helped develop defensive lineman Michael McCrary into a Pro Bowl starter and contributed to a Ravens defensive unit that ranked sixth in the NFL against the run.

Burney, 44, enjoyed a successful 11-year coaching career on the collegiate level before entering the NFL coaching ranks in 1994. It began at New Mexico (1983-86), and continued with stints at Tulsa (1987), Mississippi State (1988), Wisconsin (1989), UCLA (1990-92) and Tennessee (1993). Each of those appointments was as defensive line coach, with the exception of the Mississippi State job, in which he coached the inside linebackers.

A standout player himself, Burney was a four-year starter on the defensive line at Tennessee-Chattanooga, where he helped the Moccasins to four Southern Conference championships and a four-year record of 33-9-2. He earned All-Southern Conference honors in each of his final three seasons and earned a bachelor's degree in physical education in 1981. Burney had tryouts with the Detroit Lions in 1981 and '82.

Burney, a native of Chattanooga, Tenn., (1/24/59) was a three-sport star at Tyner High School, earning all-state honors in football, wrestling and track and field. He and his wife, Madrinna Paton, have two sons, Jacob and Benjamin. The family makes its home in Centennial, Colo.

that played an integral role in Denver's back-to-back World Championships in 1997 and '98.

In 2002, Bush's special teams continued to thrive, with the Broncos ranking third in the AFC in kick-off coverage and fourth in the AFC in kickoff return average. Denver held its opponents' average starting drive to its own 27.8-yard line, while posting a 23.5 kickoff return average of its own. Individually, Jason Elam finished second in the AFC in scoring among kickers with 120 points, hitting 26 of 36 field goals and converting 42 of 43 extra points. His 86 percent accuracy on field goals was the best in Broncos history. In addition, running back Reuben Droughns ranked third in the AFC with a 25.8 kick-off return average (20 for 516 yards) on the season.

In both 1998 and '99 Bush's linebacking corps produced the team's top three tacklers, and the top two in '97. The 1999 accomplishment was even more remarkable, and showed the club's depth at the position, considering that 1997-98 tackle leader John Mobley missed nearly the entire season because of a knee injury.

In 1999 Glenn Cadrez (97), Bill Romanowski (94) and rookie Al Wilson (88) paced the team, combining to contribute nearly one-third of the Broncos' total tackles. Wilson was elevated into the starting lineup in the wake of Mobley's injury, and proceeded to show the kind of promise that was expected when he was made the team's No. 1 draft choice.

In 1998 Mobley (132), Cadrez (105) and Romanowski (95) paced the club, as Romanowski was voted to his second Pro Bowl in three years at strongside linebacker, and Denver ranked No. 3 in the NFL against the rush. Bush also successfully implemented Cadrez into the starting position at middle linebacker in 1998, while continuing to mold Mobley into one of the game's brightest young defensive stars at the weakside position.

Bush's troops produced the team's No. 1 and No. 2 tacklers in 1997—Mobley (162) and Romanowski (117)—as Denver won its first-ever Super Bowl. Mobley was named first-team All-Pro by the Associated Press, leading a defensive unit that raised its level of play over the latter part of the season and was crucial to the club's title run.

The linebacking corps was much improved in 1996, following the addition of Romanowski through free agency and Mobley through the draft. They joined Allen Aldridge to form an outstanding starting group that played a major role in the Broncos' improvement to the No. 4 defensive ranking in the NFL, including a No. 1 ranking against the rush. Romanowski's impact was immediate as he earned his first Pro Bowl invitation in nine NFL seasons.

In his first year in Denver, 1995, Bush's linebackers were part of a defensive unit that improved its league ranking by 13 places to figure 15th overall in the NFL.

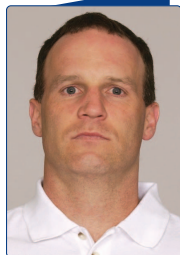

Bush joined the Broncos staff in 1995 after spending the previous 10 years with the Houston Oilers as a player, scout and assistant coach. He began his coaching career in 1992, when he coached the Oilers linebackers. Under Bush's tutelage, several members of the linebacking corps earned postseason honors as Houston boasted one of the most aggressive defenses in the NFL.

Before his coaching tenure with Houston, Bush was a college scout for the Oilers from 1987-92. During that period Bush was the primary college scout in the Western states, helping to bring in some of the players who made the Oilers a very successful team during his tenure.

Bush, 40, was considered one of the most talented young players during his two years in the NFL until a spinal injury prematurely ended his career. In 1985, he played in all 16 games with 11 starts and contributed 114 tackles and four sacks (including two of John Elway). For his efforts, he was selected to UPI's first-team All-NFL rookie squad.

Bush was a fifth-round draft choice of the Oilers in 1985 out of North Carolina State. As a three-year starter for the Wolfpack he recorded 247 tackles, 15 sacks and four interceptions. He majored in communications while at N.C. State.

A native of Athens, Ga., Bush was born Jan. 10, 1963. He and his wife, Stephanie, reside in Centennial, Colo.

TROY CALHOUN

DEFENSIVE ASSISTANT

Troy Calhoun comes to the Broncos as defensive assistant after serving as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Wake Forest University (2001-02). In 2001 and 2002 Wake Forest finished with back-to-back winning seasons for only the third time since they joined the ACC in 1953.

The 2002 team led the ACC in total offense (408.1 yards/game) for the only time since the ACC expanded to nine teams in 1992, and also led the ACC in plays (990), fewest turnovers (16) and turnover margin (+18). In addition, that team set numerous school records to include total offense, yards (5305), points (356) and first downs (274). Of the 28 bowl teams following the 2002 season, Wake Forest was one of only two offenses with more than 240 yards in both rushing and passing as they amassed 497 yards in their 38-17 victory over Oregon.

The 2001 Wake Forest team was one of only seven teams in the nation to score more than 30 points in each of the final four games of the season. This included a 34-30 victory over Virginia, the school's first win in this series in 18 years, and a 33-31 win at North Carolina in which Wake Forest overcame a 24-0 halftime deficit.

Calhoun was at Ohio University from 1995-2000, where he helped turn the nation's worst program into a consistent winner. In the 10 seasons from 1985-1994, Ohio won only 17 games to include a 0-11 mark in 1994. As the quarterbacks coach in 1995-96 Calhoun oversaw the development of Kareem Wilson, who was the 1996 Mid-American Conference Player of the Year. Calhoun was promoted to offensive coordinator following the 1996 season, and in his first season at the helm, the team finished with an 8-3 record which was the school's best season in 29 years and the first winning season since 1982.

The 1997 team defeated Maryland to register the school's first ever win over an ACC opponent in nine attempts. In 2000, Ohio defeated two bowl teams (Minnesota and Marshall) for the first time in school history and recorded the program's fifth straight season with a winning record in the Mid-American Conference. They averaged 31 points/game and set numerous school records including total offense (418.1), passing efficiency (125.3) and first downs (246).

Calhoun was a graduate assistant at his alma mater, the United States Air Force Academy, from 1989-1990 and later returned to the Academy to coach for 1993-94.

The starting quarterback for the 1986 Falcons, Calhoun was one of only two freshmen on the 1985 Academy team that finished 12-1 and ranked fifth in the country. He graduated from the Academy with a bachelor's degree and finished as a member of both the Dean's and Commandant's Lists for Academic and Military excellence. He also holds a master's degree in Business Administration from Oklahoma City University in 1992. He served from 1989-1995 as an Active Duty Officer in the United States Air Force.

Calhoun, 36, and his wife, Amanda, have one child, Tyler (1), and reside in Englewood.

RICK DENNISON

OFFENSIVE LINE

Rick Dennison is in his ninth year on the Broncos coaching staff and his third as offensive line coach. He took over that role in 2001 after spending the previous four seasons coaching the club's special teams (1997-2000) and two years as an offensive assistant (1995-96).

Dennison oversees a unit that has annually been regarded as the best in the business, previously under Alex Gibbs, and now under his tutelage. Anchoring the line is perennial Pro Bowl center Tom Nalen, who is joined by returning starters Dan Neil, Matt Lepsis, Ephraim Salaam and Ben Hamilton to form the nucleus of a group that looks to continue the legacy of the Broncos offensive line.

Last season, Dennison's line opened holes for running back Clinton Portis, who after rushing for 1,508 yards and 15 touchdowns, was named the NFL's Offensive Rookie of the Year. Denver's offense in 2002 finished the season ranked second in the AFC in total offense and third in rushing.

In his previous role, the play of Dennison's special teams units was instrumental in the Broncos success, highlighted by Denver's back-to-back World Championships in 1997 and '98. Dennison's coverage units held opponents to a tie for the deepest average drive start in the AFC in 2000 (26.1-yard line). One of Dennison's most outstanding performers, Detron Smith, was recognized in 1999 for his excellence in an often under-appreciated realm, being voted to the Pro Bowl as the special teams performer. It marked the third time in Dennison's tenure with the Broncos that he had seen one of his pupils earn a Pro Bowl invitation.

Kicker Jason Elam enjoyed the finest season of his six-year NFL career in 1998, earning his second Pro Bowl selection by setting a franchise record for PATs in a season (58 for 58) and converting 85% (23 of 27) of his field goal attempts. Elam also tied Tom Dempsey's 28-year old NFL record for longest field goal, with a 63-yarder vs. Jacksonville, Oct. 25, 1998. His career numbers continued to escalate as well, with Elam becoming the all-time leading scorer in franchise history during the 1999 season, while also establishing franchise dominance in field goals, field-goal attempts and PATs. He finished the 2000 season having converted an NFL-record 313 consecutive PATs, dating back to his rookie season.

Punter Tom Rouen consistently performed at or near the top of the league rankings under Dennison's tutelage, posting a gross punting average of more than 46 yards-per-punt for the second year in a row in 1999 to lead the NFL. His career-best 46.9-yard average in 1998 ranked second, while Dennison's kick-return unit ranked sixth in the NFL, staking the Broncos to an average drive start of their opponents' 28-yard line.

Under Dennison's guidance in 1997 the Broncos' special teams played an integral role in leading the franchise to its first World Championship. Darrien Gordon tied for the NFL lead with three touchdowns on punt returns and ranked second in the NFL in punt return average (13.6), while Elam ranked second in the AFC (4th NFL) in scoring (124) and Rouen ranked fourth in the AFC (5th NFL) in net punting average.

As a unit, Denver's kickoff and kick coverage teams ranked among the league leaders, as the Broncos recorded an average drive start of 28.6 (2nd AFC/4th NFL), while forcing their opponents to an average drive start of 24.4 (4th AFC/9th NFL). Denver also led the NFL in punt return average (13.5).

A former standout linebacker for the Broncos, Dennison joined the coaching staff in 1995 after spending the previous three years coaching at Suffield Academy in Connecticut. He served for two years in Denver as an offensive assistant, providing quality control work and assistance of all types to the offensive coaching staff before being promoted to special teams coach Feb. 12, 1997.

In Dennison's two years on the offensive staff the Broncos' offense posted the most prolific two-year total offense numbers in franchise history at that time, including a No. 1 NFL ranking in total offense for 1996, and a bevy of franchise offensive records set in both seasons.

Dennison, 45, played inside linebacker for the Broncos from 1982-90, appearing in 128 games, including 52 starts and three Super Bowls. In 1989, he received the Ed Block Memorial Award for Courage. Dennison ranked second on the team in tackles in 1988 with 133 and led the team with three fumble recoveries.

Perhaps the best performance of his career came in a 1987 playoff game against Houston when he registered eight tackles and a quarterback pressure. He also had an excellent season in 1984 when he had 164 stops and a career-high three sacks in his first full season as a starter. Dennison was a free agent acquisition by the Broncos in 1982.

Dennison joined the Broncos in 1982 after a fine college career at Colorado State where he was a second-team Academic All-American as a senior and earned three varsity letters. In 1979, Dennison received his bachelor's degree in civil engineering from CSU, followed by a master's degree in the same field from CSU in 1982.

Dennison, born in Kalispell, Mont., on June 22, 1958, attended Rocky Mountain High School in Fort Collins where he lettered in football, basketball and baseball. His father, George, is in his 14th year as president of the University of Montana.

Rick, his wife, Shannon, and sons Joseph and Steven, reside in Centennial, Colo.

ALEX GIBBS

ASST. HEAD COACH/OFFENSIVE LINE

Alex Gibbs is in the ninth year of his second tour of duty with the Broncos, and is celebrating his 40th year overall in coaching. In 2001, he stepped back from his full-time duties, as Rick Dennison was promoted to offensive line coach, allowing Gibbs to contribute primarily in the role of a consultant to the offensive coaching staff, an arrangement that will continue again this season.

Gibbs returned to Denver in 1995 to assume the role of assistant head coach/offensive line coach under Mike Shanahan, and further enhanced his reputation as an elite coach in the National Football League. Gibbs, who coached in Denver from 1984-87, has coached for every franchise in the current AFC West, spending time with the Raiders (1988-89), Chargers (1990-91) and Chiefs (1993-94) in addition to his two tenures in Denver.

His offensive line unit played an integral role in Denver's success in the late 1990s, highlighted by back-to-back World Championships in '97 and '98. Gibbs' troops paved the way for a punishing ground game while providing superior pass protection. The Broncos did not allow more than 35 sacks in a season from Gibbs' return in 1995 through 2000, and posted two of top six marks in club history during that period: 25 sacks allowed in 1998 and 26 in '95.

In seven playoff games over the two championship seasons, Denver averaged an astounding 185 rushing yards per game, while allowing an average of just 1.4 sacks. The Broncos ranked No. 1 in the NFL in rushing in 1996, No. 5 in '97 and No. 3 in '98 and 2000, while the offense overall led the NFL in 1996 and '97, and ranked third in '98 and second in 2000.

In 2000, center Tom Nalen earned his fourth straight Pro Bowl invitation under Gibbs' guidance, as he continued to establish himself as one of the elite centers in the National Football League. Nalen's play—as well as that of his offensive linemates—was crucial to an offensive output that included franchise records for total yards (6,554), passing yards (4,243) and first downs (383). The 1999 season was highlighted by Nalen's third straight Pro Bowl selection—his first as a starter—during a year of transition following the retirement of future Hall of Famer John Elway.

The Denver offense set six franchise records in 1998, and that all began up front where Gibbs' unit served as the catalyst for such tremendous output. Those records included total offense (6,092), first downs (347), points scored (501), rushing yards (2,468), rushing touchdowns (32) and total touchdowns (62). In addition, the 1998 unit allowed just 25 sacks, the lowest total in franchise history for a 16-game season. Individually, Nalen, tackle Tony Jones and guard Mark Schlereth were each named to the Pro Bowl, due in large part to the performance they turned in blocking for NFL Most Valuable Player Terrell Davis, who gained over 2,000 yards to win the rushing title. It was Davis' fourth straight 1,000-yard season, and he earned his third consecutive Pro Bowl nod in the process.

Gibbs' line gained broad recognition for its contribution to Denver's first title run in 1997, clearing the way for an astonishing rushing average of 187 yards-per-game in the playoffs. In Super Bowl XXXII vs. Green Bay, the line bullied the Packers for 179 rushing yards—100 of which came in the second half when the Broncos controlled the clock and the line of scrimmage en route to the historic win. In all, Denver running backs recorded a total of 15 100-yard games over the course of the 20-game regular season and postseason slate, including Davis' 157-yard, MVP effort in the Super Bowl.

The 1997 team also led the NFL in scoring (472) and touchdowns (55), setting franchise records in each category. The offensive line received a rare group award following Denver's '97 Wild Card win over Jacksonville, as the entire unit was named NFL Offensive Player of the Week, marking just the second time in NFL history such an award has been bestowed to an offensive line.

While the strength of the offensive line has been its ability to function as a unit, Gibbs' linemen were singled out with Pro Bowl invitations in each of the six seasons following his return to Denver. In addition to Nalen's fourth straight selection in 2000, Jones and Schlereth were selected in '98 and left tackle Gary Zimmerman was voted to the Pro Bowl in 1995 and '96.

It was Gibbs' ability to mold that unit into the league's best that allowed the Broncos' offense to put up the most prolific six-year totals in franchise history over the 1995-2000 seasons. He had worked the same magic in Kansas City, dropping the Chiefs' sack total from 48 in 1992 to 19 in '94. Under his guidance, tackle John Alt and guard Will Shields earned Pro Bowl and consensus all-rookie honors, respectively, in 1993, as the Chiefs advanced to the AFC Championship Game.

In the first two years after his return Denver (1995-96), Gibbs succeeded at the very task that had formed the basis for his glowing reputation in the NFL: protecting the quarterback. Gibbs' offensive line allowed just 57 sacks over those two seasons—a dramatic reduction from the total of 55 allowed in 1994 alone, prior to Gibbs' return. The 57 sacks (26 in '95 / 31 in '96) were the sixth fewest in the NFL over that two-year period (third in the AFC) and the lowest two-year total in franchise history.

In 1992, Gibbs was the offensive line coach for the Indianapolis Colts, whose sack total dropped by 13 in the one season he was there. Prior to that, he spent the 1990-91 seasons in San Diego, where he helped put together a line that propelled the Chargers to the second-best rushing offense in the league in 1991 with an average output of 140.5 yards per game.

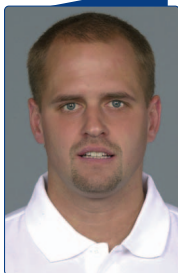

Gibbs spent the 1988-89 seasons with the Los Angeles Raiders, where he coached with current Broncos head coach, and then-Raiders head coach Mike Shanahan. While at Los Angeles, he helped to groom the talents of guard Steve Wisniewski, who was a Pro Bowl selection eight times in his career.

Gibbs had first become an NFL assistant in 1984 with the Broncos, serving as the club's offensive line coach for four seasons. He was part of a staff that saw Denver earn trips to two straight Super Bowls (XXI and XXII). Under Gibbs' guidance, guard Keith Bishop earned All-Pro and Pro Bowl honors in 1986 and '87.

Gibbs coached at the collegiate level for 13 seasons before entering the pro ranks. He worked at Duke (1969-70) and Kentucky (1971-72) before moving to West Virginia (1973-74), where he worked under head coach Bobby Bowden. He then became the offensive coordinator/line coach at Ohio State (1975-78) where his line troops opened up the holes that enabled Archie Griffin to claim back-to-back Heisman Trophy awards. In 1979, Gibbs became offensive coordinator at Auburn, a position he held for three seasons. He then coached the offensive line at Georgia from 1982-83. Gibbs also spent three years at Mount Airy (N.C.) High School where he won a pair of state championships.

Gibbs, 62, is a native of Morganton, N.C., where he was a running back and defensive back at Davidson College. He studied pre-law and then earned his master's degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in European history, and later received his doctorate in education from Auburn.

Gibbs (2/22/41) and his wife Trina reside in Arizona. He has five children, including son, David, who joined the Broncos coaching staff in 2001 and is now the team's secondary coach. He has three other sons, Chuck, Mark, Steve, and a daughter, Sandy.

DAVID GIBBS

DEFENSIVE BACKS

David Gibbs is in his third season with the Broncos, and second as defensive backs coach. He joined the staff in 2001 to coach the safeties. He came to Denver after four seasons as defensive coordinator/secondary coach at the University of Minnesota.

In his first two seasons of NFL coaching Gibbs has established himself as a young coach with a bright future. Second-year starter Kenoy Kennedy finished the 2002 season fourth on the team in tackles, and cornerback Deltha O'Neal led the team in interceptions, while finishing sixth on the team in tackles.

Gibbs brought 10 years of coaching experience at the college level to his new position, but was no stranger to the Broncos organization and the Denver area, having spent a great deal of time with the club during his father, Alex's, 10-year Broncos coaching tenure and having played and coached at the University of Colorado in nearby Boulder.

Gibbs was the youngest defensive coordinator in Division I-A when hired by Minnesota in 1997, and directed a dramatic defensive turnaround in his four seasons with the Golden Gophers from a unit that ranked last in the Big Ten in every major statistical category before his arrival. His defense reached its peak in 1999 when Minnesota finished fourth in the conference and 22nd in the nation in total defense by allowing just 319.9 yards per game, the best performance by a Gopher team since 1985. They led the Big Ten in pass defense and ranked second in pass defense efficiency and scoring defense, the latter two figures ranking eighth nationally.

Gibbs' star pupil, safety Tyrone Carter, was a two-time All-American and won the Jim Thorpe Award under his tutelage, and parlayed his collegiate success into a starting position as a rookie with the Minnesota Vikings. Carter was the Golden Gophers' first back-to-back All-American since 1961-62, and overall Gibbs' defense produced an All-American three consecutive seasons for the first time at the school since 1961-63.

In 1998 Minnesota's rushing defense ranked fourth in the Big Ten and 13th in the nation, at 103.7 yards per game, the school's best figure since 1962. In addition, during Gibbs' tenure, the Minnesota defense posted the top three single-season sack figures in the school's rich football history, posting a record 44 in 1999, followed by its 41 in 1997 and 38 in 1998.

Gibbs, 35, came to Minnesota from Kansas where he was defensive secondary coach in 1995-96, following graduate assistant stints at Colorado (1993-94) and Oklahoma (1991-92). A 1990 graduate of Colorado with a bachelor's degree in marketing, Gibbs was a four-year letterwinner at defensive back for the Buffaloes. He started every game in 1989 when CU fashioned an impressive 11-1 overall record en route to an Orange Bowl bid and a No. 4 ranking in the final national poll. He collected Academic All-Big Eight honors as a senior in 1990 when he helped lead the Buffs to an 11-1-1 overall record and the co-National Championship following a 10-9 win over Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl. During his collegiate career, Colorado registered a combined record of 37-10-1 and played in four bowl games.

A native of Mount Airy, N.C., Gibbs is a graduate of Auburn (Ala.) High School. He was born Jan. 10, 1968. David and his wife, Debbie, make their home in Castle Pines, Colo.

PAT McPHERSON

QUARTERBACKS

Pat McPherson begins his first year as quarterbacks coach for the Broncos, and his sixth year overall on the Broncos' coaching staff. He spent the past four years as offensive assistant, and spent his first season, 1998, as a defensive assistant before moving to the offensive side of the ball.

In 2002, he helped guide Denver's offense to an NFL ranking of third and second in the AFC. The season was highlighted by the outstanding play of rookie running back Clinton Portis, who was a big key to that success. Denver's second-round draft pick out of Miami was the league's fourth leading rusher after compiling 1,508 yards and 15 touchdowns, while earning NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year honors. Wide receiver Rod Smith was another reason the Broncos found success, with the ninth-year veteran again leading the team with 89 receptions for 1,027 yards—his sixth straight 1,000-yard season, which is a franchise record.

Prior to that, McPherson, in 2001, worked with an offense that set club records for total offense (6,554), passing yards (4,243) and first downs (383), and scored 30 or more points in 10 of 16 games.

In his first year working with the offense in 1999, McPherson was involved in the production of a unit that featured a 3,000-yard passer (Brian Griese), two 1,000-yard receivers (Ed McCaffrey, Rod Smith) and a 1,000-yard rusher (Olandis Gary).

Working with the defensive staff in 1998, McPherson played a role in tutoring a defense that ranked third in the NFL against the run, and 11th in the overall defensive rankings.

McPherson was hired by the club April 7, 1998 following a four-year coaching stint at his high school alma mater, Bellarmine College Prep in San Jose, Calif. In addition to coordinating the defense and coaching the inside linebackers, McPherson's duties also included teaching English, algebra and physical fitness. During his tenure at Bellarmine, the football team compiled a record of 35-11, won three consecutive league titles and made one section championship appearance as well as two semifinal appearances. He also gained valuable coaching experience volunteering with the San Francisco 49ers in 1996, in a defensive quality control capacity.

McPherson holds a bachelor's degree in English and an M.B.A. from Santa Clara, where he captained the football team and was voted Most Inspirational Player as an inside linebacker during his senior season of 1992. He began his collegiate career at UCLA in 1987, where he received the Charles Pike Award, which recognizes the school's outstanding freshman football player. McPherson signed with the 49ers as a rookie free agent in 1993 and participated in three preseason games, including one versus the Broncos at Mile High Stadium.

A native of San Jose, Calif., McPherson was an all-state and All-America inside linebacker at Bellarmine College Prep, where he earned Scholar-Athlete of the Year honors as a senior. He was voted captain of the North team in California's North-South Shrine Game played at the Rose Bowl.

McPherson, 34, worked with the National Multiple Sclerosis Society in Santa Clara, Calif., in 1994, organizing and implementing the chapter's largest fund-raising event, the 1994 MS Walk. His father, Bill McPherson, coached in the NFL for 21 years and is currently in his fourth year as director of pro personnel for the San Francisco 49ers.

Pat was born April 15, 1969 in Santa Clara, Calif. He and his wife, Shannon, reside in Littleton, Colo.

KEITH MILLARD

ASST. DEF. LINE/PASS RUSH SPECIALIST

Keith Millard is in his second season on the Broncos' coaching staff, with both years as assistant defensive line coach/pass rush specialist. He is in charge of creating and implementing all pass rush techniques used in the Broncos' defensive scheme.

Last season, he and defensive line coach Jacob Burney helped build a line that was a major force for a defense that finished the season sixth in total defense in the NFL and fourth against the rush. The line was represented in the Pro Bowl by defensive end Trevor Pryce, who made his fourth consecutive trip after leading the team with nine sacks. In addition, the Broncos were one of the toughest defenses in the league last year against the run, limiting their opponents to just 93.1 rushing yards per game last season.

Millard's current position is his first in the National Football League, but he brings a great deal of knowledge and first-hand experience. Following an outstanding playing career that saw him earn three All-Pro nods and two Pro Bowl invitations as a defensive lineman from 1985-93, Millard embarked on a coaching career in which he has distinguished himself and rapidly climbed the ranks.

Prior to coming to Denver, Millard served as defensive line coach of the San Francisco Demons of the XFL in 2001, following a stint as defensive coordinator for the Los Angeles Dragons of the Spring Football League, a professional league that operated briefly in the spring of 2000. He began his coaching career in 1996 as defensive line coach at Fort Lewis College in Durango, Colo., and then served as defensive coordinator/linebackers coach at Menlo College in Atherton, Calif. from 1997-2000. Millard's other coaching experience includes serving as defensive line coach for the West team in the 2002 East-West Shrine All-Star Game.

Millard, 41, set the foundation for his second career in football with an outstanding playing career that began as a first-round draft choice (13th overall) of the Minnesota Vikings in 1984. He was also drafted by the Arizona Wranglers of the United States Football League in '84 (fifth overall), and after being traded played one season with the Jacksonville Bulls in 1985. Millard ranked second in the league in sacks (12) behind Reggie White (12.5) and was voted to the All-USFL team. That effort was also good enough to land him on the All-Time USFL second team. He joined the Vikings in 1985 as a rookie and burst onto the scene by leading the team with 11 sacks as a defensive end, and followed with 10.5 in 1986. Millard moved to defensive tackle, and in 1989 set what remains an NFL record for sacks by an interior lineman, registering 18, en route to his second straight Pro Bowl invitation and third straight All-Pro honor. He also earned his second consecutive NFL Defensive Lineman of the Year award in 1989 and was named NFL Defensive Player of the Year.

Millard's career with the Vikings continued through 1991, followed by stints with Seattle (1992), Green Bay (1992) and Philadelphia (1993). He played in 93 career games and posted 58 sacks, two interceptions and one touchdown on a fumble return.

At Washington State University Millard was voted first-team All-Pac-10 as a senior and won the Morris Trophy as the Pac-10's top defensive lineman. He played tight end as a freshman and was moved to defensive tackle as a sophomore, cracking the starting lineup for the first time as a junior.

A native of Pleasanton, Calif. (3/18/62), Millard was a tight end and linebacker at Foothill High School. Keith and his wife, Paula, make their home in Parker, Colo., with sons Dustin (15), Johnny (12), Jack (7) and Keith, Jr. (4), and daughter Mandy (8).

BRIAN PARIANI

TIGHT ENDS

Brian Pariani is in his ninth year coaching the Broncos' tight ends, a group that has played an integral role in the club's offensive success in recent seasons, highlighted by back-to-back World Championships. Pariani came to the Broncos in 1995 after spending the previous five seasons (1990-94) with the San Francisco 49ers, coaching alongside Broncos head coach Mike Shanahan and offensive coordinator Gary Kubiak.

With Denver's win in Super Bowl XXXII, Pariani joined a list of just 15 NFL coaches who have won World Championships with two different organizations, and one of just nine to win a title with a team from each conference. The Broncos' triumph in Super Bowl XXXIII made Pariani a three-time Super Bowl winner.

Overall, Pariani's tight ends have caught more passes (710) for more yards (8,183) over the last eight seasons than any other group of tight ends in the NFL. That productivity has helped propel the Broncos' offense to the most prolific eight-year totals in franchise history, highlighted by a No. 1 NFL total offense ranking in 1996 and '97. The 1998 team set franchise records for touchdowns (62), points (501), total offense (6,092) and first downs (347), while the 2000 club erased the total offense mark (6,554), average yards per play (5.88) and set new standards for passing yards (4,243) and first downs (383). Additionally, Pariani's tight ends have helped clear holes for a Broncos running game that has ranked in the NFL's top five in six of his eight seasons with the club, including a No. 1 ranking in 1996.

The return of future Hall of Famer Shannon Sharpe in 2002 to Pariani's stable of talent made the Broncos' tight ends one of the deepest and most talented positions on the team. Sharpe finished fourth in the NFL among tight ends in both receptions and receiving yards with 61 and 686 respectively. His season was highlighted against Kansas City (10/20) when Sharpe set a franchise record—and an NFL record for a tight end—with 214 receiving yards on 12 catches, including two touchdowns. Adding to the tight end arsenal was Dwayne Carswell, who hauled in 21 passes for 189 yards.

The contribution of Denver's tight ends continued to be crucial in 2001 as Pariani's unit accounted for 100 receptions (32% of the club's total), second most in his seven-year Broncos tenure. Desmond Clark had a breakout year with a career-high 51 receptions to rank second on the team, while Carswell hauled in 34 and made his first Pro Bowl.

In 2000 Carswell caught a career-high 49 passes to rank third on the team, while Clark ranked fourth with 27, as the tight end position continued to be vital to the Broncos' high-powered offense.

The Broncos' tight end group ranked among the best in the league in 1999 with 85 receptions for 977 yards and four touchdowns. Those figures are especially significant considering perennial Pro Bowler Sharpe played in only five games due to injury, and caught just 23 of those 85 passes.

In 1998 Sharpe led all NFL tight ends in receiving yards (768), while ranking third among his peers in receptions (64) and tying for the AFC lead in receiving touchdowns (10). He was a unanimous All-NFL selection for the seventh straight year, and became the first tight end in league history to post seven straight 50-catch seasons. The Broncos' depth at tight end was never more evident than in their Super Bowl XXXIII win over Atlanta, when Sharpe left the game in the first quarter with a knee injury. Carswell and Byron Chamberlain performed admirably, with Chamberlain catching three passes for 29 yards and recovering two Atlanta on-side kicks.

In 1997 Sharpe led the club in receptions (72) for the sixth straight year, and led all NFL tight ends in receptions and receiving yards (1,107) for the second straight year. Sharpe's 1,107 yards represented a career high, and marked his third 1,000-yard season, tying him with Todd Christensen and Kellen Winslow for most 1,000-yard seasons by a tight end in NFL history.

In 1996 Sharpe led all NFL tight ends with career highs for receiving yards (1,062) and touchdowns (10), while posting his second most receptions (80), en route to All-NFL honors. His 1995 numbers (63 catches) led the team and earned Sharpe his fourth straight Pro Bowl, first under Pariani's tutelage.

Pariani, 38, started his NFL career in 1990 as a scouting assistant with the 49ers. He then became the team's offensive coaches' assistant for the next four seasons, working directly with the offensive coaches and quarterbacks, assisting with daily practices and game plans. The 49ers' offense led the league in total yards in 1992 and '93, and scored a team-record 505 points and 62 touchdowns in '94 en route to a Super Bowl title.

After earning his political science degree from UCLA in 1989, Pariani served as a graduate assistant with the Bruins, helping head coach Terry Donahue's offense during the 1989 season.

Pariani attended Marin (Calif.) Catholic High School where he played football, baseball and basketball. He is a native of San Francisco, Calif. (7/2/65). He, his wife, Stephanie, and daughters Jessica and Gianna, reside in Castle Pines, Colo.

GREG SAPORTA

ASST. STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

Greg Saporta is in his ninth season as assistant strength and conditioning coach for the Broncos. He assists head strength coach Rich Tuten in coordinating the year-round strength and conditioning program for the team.

Saporta came to the Broncos in 1995 from the University of Florida where he spent two separate stints as an assistant strength coach under Tuten. He originally began as a student assistant at Florida in 1981, and became assistant strength coach in 1985. Saporta held that position until 1988, when he went to the University of North Carolina to assume the same position from 1988-92, once again working with Tuten, who had been named Strength Director.

Saporta returned to Florida in 1992 to resume his position as assistant strength coach, which he held until April 1995 when he joined the Broncos' staff. During his initial stay in Gainesville, Saporta served on the same staff as Broncos head coach Mike Shanahan, who was the Gators' offensive coordinator at the time.

Saporta, originally from Manhattan, N.Y., received his bachelor's degree in physical education with a concentration in exercise physiology from Florida in 1985. He previously had attended Buffalo State University in New York, where he lettered for two years in football and rugby, as well as participating in track.

Saporta was born Feb. 18, 1957, and he and his wife, Nancy, reside in Lone Tree, Colo.

CEDRIC SMITH

ASST. STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

Cedric Smith is in his third season with the Broncos coaching staff as assistant strength and conditioning coach. He joins strength and conditioning coach Rich Tuten and assistant Greg Saporta in handling all aspects of the Broncos in-season and offseason programs for players.

Smith, who played seven years in the National Football League between 1990-98, spent two years as a fitness manager and consultant with Gold's Gym in Phoenix, Ariz., prior to joining the Broncos.

During his career Smith played for Minnesota (1990), New Orleans (1991), Washington (1994-95) and Arizona (1996-98). As a fullback he played in 72 career games (14 starts) and rushed 40 times for 100 yards (2.5) with a long of 13 and two touchdowns, while catching 20 passes for 141 yards (7.1) with a long of 28 and two touchdowns. He also returned five kickoffs for 83 yards (16.6) during his

Smith, 35, was a three-year starting fullback at Florida, where he paved the way for Emmitt Smith, and where Tuten was strength and conditioning coach. A three-time Southeastern Conference All-Academic selection, Cedric rushed for 389 yards and four touchdowns on 102 carries during his collegiate career. He earned a degree in rehabilitative counseling from Florida, and in 1992-93, while out of football, worked in a mental hospital in Gainesville, Fla.

Smith (5/27/68) was an All-Alabama fullback at Enterprise (Ala.) High School. He and his wife, Nicole, have three sons, Chandler (10), Canyon (7) and Cole (3). The family makes its home in Parker, Colo.

JIMMY SPENCER

PLAYER/ASSISTANT DEFENSIVE BACKS

Jimmy Spencer joins the Broncos coaching staff as an assistant defensive backs coach, and will also continue his role on the roster at the cornerback position. He becomes the first person in the NFL to perform a player/coaching role since Dan Reeves with the Dallas Cowboys in 1970-71.

Spencer, 33, is entering his 12th season in the NFL, including the past three with the Broncos. In 161 career games (79 starts) with the Saints (1992-95), Bengals (1996-97), Chargers (1998-99) and Broncos he has 26 interceptions and 123 passes defended, to go along with 435 tackles (377) solo.

Spencer has returned two of his interceptions for touchdowns—both in 2000 with Denver—and has returned a fumble for a touchdown. He entered the NFL as an eighth-round draft choice (215th overall) of the Redskins in 1991, out of Florida, and spent that season on Washington's practice squad.

Born March 29, 1969 in Manning S.C., Spencer and his wife, Tanya, reside in Davie, Fla. Please refer to page 216 for a complete biography on Spencer.

BOBBY TURNER

RUNNING BACKS

Bobby Turner is in his ninth season as the Broncos' running backs coach, a position he took over in 1995. He came to Denver with 20 years coaching experience at the collegiate level.

In his final collegiate coaching stop Turner was assistant head coach, offensive coordinator and running backs coach at Purdue. Turner served as the running backs coach at Ohio State from 1989-90, during which time the Buckeyes went to two bowl games and had one of the best running games in the Big Ten.

Prior to his stint at Ohio State Turner coached the running backs at Fresno State (1983-88) and at his alma mater, Indiana State (1975-82). He accepted a position as backfield coach at ISU in 1975 and spent three of his eight seasons there (1976, '77, '82) as the defensive backs coach in addition to five years as special teams coordinator. Turner was also the strength and conditioning coordinator from 1975-77.

Turner began his coaching career at Haworth High School in Kokomo, Ind., as an assistant with the football and basketball teams.

A native of East Chicago, Ind. (5/6/49), Turner enjoyed a fine career as an all-conference defensive back at Indiana State, where he played both football and basketball. He tied the school record as a sophomore with nine of his 16 career interceptions, including two returned for touchdowns. He earned his bachelor's degree in health and physical education in 1972 and his master's from ISU in education/administration in 1976.

Turner, 54, is a graduate of East Chicago Washington High School where he played four sports (football, basketball, baseball and track).

Bobby and his wife, Kimberly, have three daughters, Nacole, Krishana and Kiaana, and make their home in Aurora, Colo.

RICH TUTEN

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

Rich Tuten is in his ninth season as the Broncos' strength and conditioning coach. He coordinates the organization's year-round strength and conditioning program with assistance from Greg Saporta and Cedric Smith.

Under Tuten's guidance during the Mike Shanahan regime, the Broncos' offseason strength and conditioning program has become a model among NFL franchises. It has been overwhelmingly successful, not only in terms of attendance by Broncos players, but in their performance on the field, as Denver captured back-to-back World Championships in 1997 and '98.

Tuten came to the Broncos in 1995 from the University of Florida, where he was the Director of Strength and Conditioning from 1980-88, and also from 1993-94. He was the Athletic Strength Director at the University of North Carolina from 1989-92.

While at both schools, Tuten supervised the strength and conditioning programs for every intercollegiate sport. With Florida he also served as the head strength and conditioning coach for the nationally ranked Gator football team, and played a key role in the design of Florida's current strength and conditioning complex.

At North Carolina Tuten helped the Tar Heels make major advancements in their strength and conditioning program, helping them to be able to compete with the top collegiate programs in the country. Besides his work at collegiate institutions, Tuten is also a member of the National Strength and Conditioning Association.

On the collegiate level Tuten worked with many athletes who went on to enjoy success in the NFL, including Emmitt Smith (Cowboys), Neal Anderson (former Bear), Ricky Nattiel (former Bronco), John L. Williams (former Seahawk and Steeler), Errict Rhett (former Buccaneer, Raven and Brown) and Godfrey Myles (former Cowboy) at Florida, as well as former Bronco Rondell Jones at North Carolina.

Tuten, 49, has also coached with two current members of the Broncos coaching staff. He coached with head coach Mike Shanahan at Florida from 1980-83 and with his assistant Greg Saporta at both Florida and North Carolina from 1981-94.

A 1979 Clemson University graduate, Tuten was a three-year letterman and starting nose guard for the Tigers. He was named to the All-America Strength team in 1978 and was part of the 1978 Atlantic Coast Conference champion Tiger squad. Tuten registered nine tackles and three sacks against Maryland that season to help clinch the conference title. He was named ACC Defensive Player of the Week for his efforts. He received his degree in therapeutic recreation from Clemson in 1978.

Tuten, born Dec. 30, 1953, attended Wakefield High School in Arlington, Va., where he participated in football, wrestling and track. He is a native of Columbia, S.C.

He and his wife, Donna, reside in Highlands Ranch, Colo., with their two sons, Will and Matt.

WIDE RECEIVERS

COACHING EXPERIENCE

3rd NFL Season (3rd with Broncos)

Denver Broncos

Defensive Assistant2001-02

Steve Watson is in his third year on the Broncos' coaching staff, and his first coaching the wide receivers. Prior to moving over to the offensive side of the ball, Watson performed the role of defensive assistant the past two seasons. He came back to the Broncos when he worked with the club in training camp as a coaching intern in 2000, and continued working with the team at all home games during that season in preparation for the full-time role he accepted in 2001.

Under offensive coordinator Gary Kubiak, Watson will help guide stand-out Broncos receivers including Rod Smith, Ed McCaffrey and Ashley Lelie.

Watson has been in private business in Denver and northern Colorado since his retirement from the Broncos in 1987.

One of the most popular players in team history, Watson was a wide receiver for the Broncos from 1979-87, finishing his sterling career with 353 receptions for 6,112 yards and 36 touchdowns. He ranks fourth on the Broncos' career list for receiving yards, seventh in receptions and eighth in touchdown receptions. Watson also was recognized as an outstanding special teams player during his pro career.

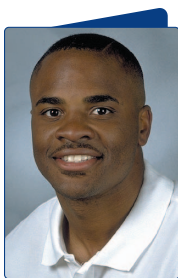

Watson had three 1,000-yard seasons (1981, '83 and '84), and was named to the Pro Bowl in 1981. That year he posted the best numbers of his career for yardage (1,244), touchdowns (13) and reception average (20.7), while his career single-season high of 69 receptions came in 1984.

Watson had 16 100-yard games and 49 straight games with at least one reception, and still ranks among the team's all-time leaders in many career, season and game receiving categories. He had single-game highs of 11 receptions (1984, vs. Pittsburgh in the playoffs) and 183 yards (on 10 receptions at Los Angeles vs. the Rams in 1982).

Watson, 46, joined the Broncos in 1979 as a free agent from Temple University, where he was a four-year letterman at wide receiver. He was selected to the All-East team, playing in the East-West Shrine Game to close out his college career. Watson also won three letters and two conference championships as a long jumper, graduating with a degree in parks administration.

A native of Baltimore, Md. (5/28/57), Watson was a three-sport star at St. Mark's High School in Wilmington, Del. He and his wife, Pam, have a son, Stephen Ross, Jr., (15) and two daughters, Brittany (17) and Rachel (13). The family makes its home in Aurora, Colo.

FOOTBALL OPERATIONS

RICK SMITH*DIRECTOR OF PRO PERSONNEL

Rick Smith is in his fourth season in charge of the Broncos' pro personnel operations, and his eighth overall with the club. He spent his first four years in Denver as an assistant on the defensive coaching staff, working with the secondary.

Smith's primary role involves developing, implementing and directing the club's overall pro personnel endeavors, and assisting with the negotiation of contracts for free agents.

In his four years on the Broncos' coaching staff Smith worked with a defensive unit that consistently ranked among the NFL's best, including rankings of No. 4 in 1996, No. 5 in '97 and No. 7 in '99, as well as back-to-back World Championships in '97 and '98. The club won more games (46) from 1996-98 than any other team in NFL history over a three-year period.

In 1999 the Broncos ranked eighth in the NFL in pass defense and did not allow an opposing quarterback to throw for more than 278 yards all season. Denver's pass defense in 1997 posted a No. 5 ranking in the NFL, and limited four of the 16 regular season opponents to three points or fewer, including one shutout. In his first year, Smith helped coach a defensive unit that improved from No. 15 to No. 4 in the NFL-including a No. 1 ranking against the run for just the second time in franchise history. The defense set or tied three different franchise records in 1996.

Smith, 34, was hired April 3, 1996, following a two-year stint as defensive backs coach at his alma mater, Purdue. He had left Purdue in February to accept a coaching position at Texas Christian, but spent just one month there before being hired by the Broncos.

A 1992 Purdue graduate, Smith began his coaching career with the Boilermakers shortly after his graduation, serving as the school's assistant strength and conditioning coordinator. In that role, Smith worked exclusively with football, volleyball and wrestling before being promoted to the role of interim strength and conditioning coordinator during the summer of 1993. After serving as the team's tight ends coach for one season, Smith was hired as the secondary coach, becoming the youngest position coach in the Big Ten conference at the time (24).

Smith was a starter at strong safety and defensive captain for Purdue as a senior in 1991. A native of Petersburg, Va. (9/3/69), he attended Meadowdale High School in Dayton, Ohio. Smith is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Smith and his wife, Tiffany, make their home in Parker, Colo.

JIM GOODMAN*DIRECTOR OF COLLEGE SCOUTING

Jim Goodman is in his sixth year with the Broncos, and his second as director of college scouting, after spending four years as an area scout, working the South region.

In his current role, Goodman is in charge of managing the Broncos overall scouting process and all aspects of its year-round schedule, as well as coordinating the work of the club's other six area scouts and continuing to scout the South region.

Goodman was hired by the Broncos in May 1998 after four successful seasons on the coaching staff at Rice University, where his duties also included coordinating the program's recruiting efforts. Goodman coached the tight ends and special teams all four years (1994-97) and added the duties of wide receivers coach for the 1997 season. The Owls were Southwest Conference co-champions in 1994 and produced three of the best special teams seasons during Goodman's tenure.

Goodman was Associate Athletic Director in charge of football recruiting at Clemson from 1991-93 and also coached the team's kickers. He earned consideration among the nation's top-10 recruiting coordinators by the Chicago Sun-Times for his work at Clemson. Goodman was assistant AD in charge of recruiting and high school relations at Florida from 1989-90 and was recruiting coordinator and wide receivers coach at Arkansas from 1986-88.

Goodman began his coaching career at Vanguard High School in Ocala, Fla. (1974-75), then moved into the collegiate ranks at North Alabama (1976-78). He then was head coach and athletic director at Marion (Ala.) Institute Junior College (1979-80), where his teams ranked in the top 15 in the national polls both seasons, and he also coached the baseball team. Goodman coached outside linebackers at the U.S. Air Force Academy under Ken Hatfield in 1981, then accepted the head coaching position at Valdosta (Ga.) State (1982-84), where he also served as associate AD before accepting the full-time athletic director's position in 1985. As coach he started a program from scratch and fashioned a 15-16-1 record over three years with a squad that included Atlanta Falcons All-Pro linebacker Jesse Tuggle.

Goodman, 51, holds an associates degree from Chipola Junior College (1972), a bachelor of science in physical education from Florida (1974) and a master's in education administration from University of North Alabama (1977). A native of Blountstown, Fla., where he attended Blountstown High School, Jim and his wife, Jennie, have three adult children, Jeff, Nancy and Tyler. The family resides in Bonifay, Fla.

SCOTT DISTEFANO*COLLEGE SCOUT

Scott DiStefano is in his 22nd year with the Broncos' personnel department, continuing to scout the Midwestern region.

He began his career with the Broncos scouting the Rocky Mountain and Southwest regions, before shifting his focus to the Midwest in 1990.

DiStefano, 46, was a quarterback at Colorado State from 1976-80. Following his playing career he joined the coaching staff at CSU as a graduate assistant, a role in which he served for two seasons (1980-81) before coming to the Broncos.

A native of Alliance, Ohio, DiStefano was an all-conference quarterback in 1975 at Alliance High School, the same school that produced Pro Football Hall of Fame quarterback Len Dawson. Among the honors bestowed upon him was the 1974 Massillon (Ohio) JayCee's conference sportsmanship award, a prestigious honor from such a football-rich region of Ohio.

Scott makes his home in Chicago, Ill.

CORNELL GREEN*COLLEGE SCOUT

Cornell Green is in his 24th year scouting in the NFL and his 17th year doing so for the Broncos' organization.

Green is responsible for scouting the Southwest region, after having scouted the South, East and Midwest regions earlier in his career with the Broncos.

Prior to his involvement with the Broncos organization, Cornell scouted for the Dallas Cowboys during and after his illustrious playing career. Green began scouting for the Cowboys in 1970 while still an active player, and continued scouting through 1979, at which time he entered private business until coming to the Broncos in 1987.

Green, 63, was signed by the Cowboys as a free agent and went on to play for Dallas from 1962-75, at cornerback for 10 years before moving over to safety for his last four seasons. Green earned Pro Bowl honors seven times, winning that honor at both cornerback and safety.

He did not play college football but was a two-time All-America basketball player (1959-60 and 1961-62) at Utah State, where he averaged 23 points per game at forward for the Aggies from 1959-62. Green is a member of the Basketball Hall of Fame in both the states of Oklahoma and Utah. His brother, Pumpsie Green, had a lengthy career in major league baseball.

A native of Boley, Okla., Cornell and his wife, Betty, have two children, Randy and Ronney, and make their home in Dallas.

ED LAMBERT

COLLEGE SCOUT

Ed Lambert is in his second year as a college scout with the Denver Broncos. A veteran of 26 years in the college and professional coaching ranks, Lambert came to the Broncos in 2001 from Vanderbilt University, where he served as assistant head coach and running backs coach.

Lambert coached 10 years at Vanderbilt, including one season (1997) as offensive coordinator, overseeing an improvement in all major statistical categories from the previous season. Lambert joined the Vanderbilt staff in 1992 after four seasons at Baylor, where he coached the quarterbacks and running backs. He helped lead the Bears to an 8-4 record in 1991 and a berth in the Copper Bowl.

Lambert's other collegiate coaching experience has come at New Mexico (assistant head coach/offensive coordinator, 1987), Iowa State (running backs, 1986), California (running backs, 1982-83), Howard (inside linebackers/defensive ends, 1981) and Boise State (running backs, 1976-80). In his final season at Boise State the Broncos won the NCAA Div. I-AA national championship.

Lambert coached two seasons in the United States Football League with the Los Angeles Express, tutoring the running backs. He has also served NFL coaching fellowships in training camp with the Philadelphia Eagles (1995), Atlanta Falcons (1993) and Seattle Seahawks (1991).

Lambert, 55, began his coaching career in 1972 at Ravenswood High School in East Palo Alto, Calif., and in 1974 moved to Fremont High School in Oakland, Calif.

A native of Beaumont, Texas (6/23/48), Lambert is a graduate of McClymonds High School in Oakland, Calif. He was an All-Golden Gate Conference defensive lineman at Oakland's Merritt College in 1967 and an All-Coast offensive lineman at California State-Hayward in 1969, helping lead his team to the Far Western Conference championship. Lambert earned his bachelor's degree in physical education from San Jose State in 1972.

He and his wife, Jeanette, have two grown children, Lamar and Charisse.

GREG MILLER

COLLEGE SCOUT

Greg Miller is in his sixth year cross-checking the Midwest for the Broncos and serving as a combine scout for National Football Scouting, of which Denver is a member.

Miller spent the previous four years as a regional scout for NFS, scouting prospective NFL talent from colleges and universities in nine upper-Midwest states. His duties included performing the first line of evaluation, rating and computer-generated reporting on hundreds of college players for 14 NFL clubs, as well as assisting in the planning and execution of the National Invitational

Camp, or combine.

A 48-year old native of Mitchell, S.D., Miller was an all-state defensive tackle, team MVP and team captain at Mitchell Senior High School, where he also participated in baseball, basketball and track. He earned a football scholarship to Iowa State in 1973 and transferred to South Dakota State in 1974, where he was a three-year starter at offensive tackle and team captain, as well as a two-time honorable mention All-North Central Conference selection.

Prior to his stint with NFS, Miller worked 16 years for International Multifoods, ascending from District Sales Coordinator to Director of Operations for the entire West region by 1994.

Greg's wife, Jane, is a Registered Nurse. They have a daughter, Adrienne (22) and two sons Mike (20) and Nolan (17), and make their home in Grand Island, Neb. Adrienne is a graduate of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and will attend post-graduate school. Mike is a former offensive lineman and currently a student assistant coach at the University of Nebraska-Omaha, while Nolan is a quarterback/defensive back at Northwest High School.

DAN RAMBO

COLLEGE SCOUT

Dan Rambo is in the sixth year of his second stint with the Broncos, rejoining the club in May 1998 to scout the Northeast region. He scouted the same region for the Broncos in 1993.

Rambo came to the Broncos from the 1997 Western Division Champion Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Canadian Football League where he served as Director of Player Personnel. He was also with the Roughriders from 1983-90, holding various positions, including Director of Scouting, Director of Player Personnel and Assistant General Manager.

Rambo accepted a position in Dallas with the World League of American Football in 1990. During the offseason he was the Director of College Scouting, and during the season was Director of European Football Operations, working out of Barcelona, Spain.

Rambo, 51, returned to the CFL in 1992 as General Manager of the Ottawa Rough Riders, as the team posted nine wins to craft its best record in 10 years. During his first stint with Saskatchewan, he recruited most of the players that helped lead the Roughriders to the Grey Cup Championship in 1989. In his one season as a scout with Denver, the Broncos made a Wild Card playoff appearance.

Rambo is a graduate of Carroll College in Helena, Mont., where his sister, Patty, still resides. Another sister, Kathleen, and his mother, Viola, live in Libby, Mont., where Dan was a 1970 graduate of Libby High School. He led the nation in rushing at Carroll in 1974 with an average of 152.1 yards per game, and had eight tryouts in the CFL, WFL and the NFL, including one with the Broncos in 1977.

Dan and his wife, Dr. Kathryn McFarland, have two children, daughter Teeghan (7) and son Arthur (6). The family makes its home in Blackburn Hamlet, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada.

DALE STRAHM

COLLEGE SCOUT

Dale Strahm is in his sixth season on the Denver Broncos' scouting staff, responsible for scouting the Southeast region.

A veteran of 29 collegiate football seasons in the coaching ranks, Strahm came to the Broncos from Temple University where he spent four years (1994-97) as defensive coordinator and linebackers coach.

In Strahm's first season with the Owls, their defense went from last to first in the Big East Conference in turnover/takeaway margin, tying for 20th nationally with a plus .82 margin per game. They also made great strides in total defense after beginning his career ranked last in the conference.

A motivational speaker for a variety of corporations, Strahm also taught leadership classes at Temple.

Strahm was head coach at Western Carolina from 1989-90, and has experience as a defensive coordinator at Duke (1990-93), Georgia (1981-88), Navy (1977-80) and Bowling Green (1971-76). He began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Bowling Green in 1968. He has also spent six years coaching at the high school level. During Strahm's tenure at Georgia, the Bulldogs won SEC Championships in 1981 and 1982 and participated in eight straight bowl games. In all, he has coached in 11 major bowl games.

Strahm, 59, is a 1965 graduate of Ohio Northern University, where he played four years of football and ran four years of track, earning six varsity letters in the process. He earned his master's degree at Bowling Green in 1968.

A native of Toledo, Ohio, Strahm is a graduate of E.D. Libbey High School, where he was inducted into the school's Hall of Fame in 1997. He and his wife, Diane, have three sons, Brian, Bradley and Brett. The Strahm family resides in Charlotte, N.C.

CHRIS TRULOVE

PRO SCOUT

Chris Trulove is in his 10th season with the Broncos organization, and his ninth in the player personnel department. After five years as a pro personnel assistant he began a new role in 2000 as a pro scout.

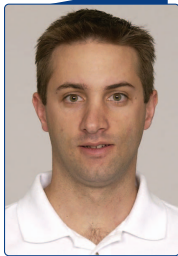

Trulove, 32, has seen his responsibilities increase each season, initially under the tutelage of former Pro Scouting Director Jack Elway. He is now responsible for joining General Manager Ted Sundquist and Director of Pro Personnel Rick Smith in the scouting and planning of unrestricted and restricted free agent acquisitions. His duties also include the scouting of other NFL free agents and prospects from NFL Europe, the Canadian Football League and the Arena Football League. These efforts include extensive videotape review, player research and the writing of player evaluations.

Trulove began his tenure with the Broncos in 1994 as a player personnel and marketing intern, and moved full-time into player personnel after the '94 season.

A native of Laurinburg, N.C. (4/27/71), Trulove is a graduate of Scotland County High School. He has a bachelor's degree in business administration from North Carolina in 1993, and his master's in sport management from Georgia in 1994.

Trulove resides in Aurora, Colo.

MIKE BLUEM

COORD. OF FOOTBALL ADMINISTRATION

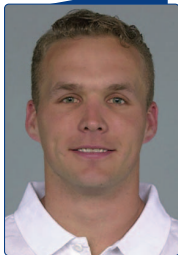

Mike Bluem is in his ninth season with the Broncos organization and his third as coordinator of football administration. He spent his first five years with the club as a college scouting assistant before being promoted to coordinator of college scouting operations in 2000. Bluem came to the Broncos as an intern in 1995 and made an immediate impact with the scouting operations in the area of computer data management.

Bluem's current duties include tracking, managing and forecast analysis of the salary cap; writing contract language; negotiating contracts; participating in the day-to-day operations of college and pro scouting; building and maintaining the team's scouting and salary cap databases and assisting the coaching staff with various administrative duties.

Bluem, 30, previously held a job with the Liberty University baseball team, assisting in computer-related areas, including statistics management.

A native of Lewisville, Texas, Bluem earned his bachelor's degree in sports management from Liberty University in Lynchburg, Va., in 1995. He attended high school at Temple Christian Academy in Lewisville.

Mike and his wife, Shelley, make their home in Highlands Ranch, Colo.

DAVE BRATTEN

PLAYER PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATOR

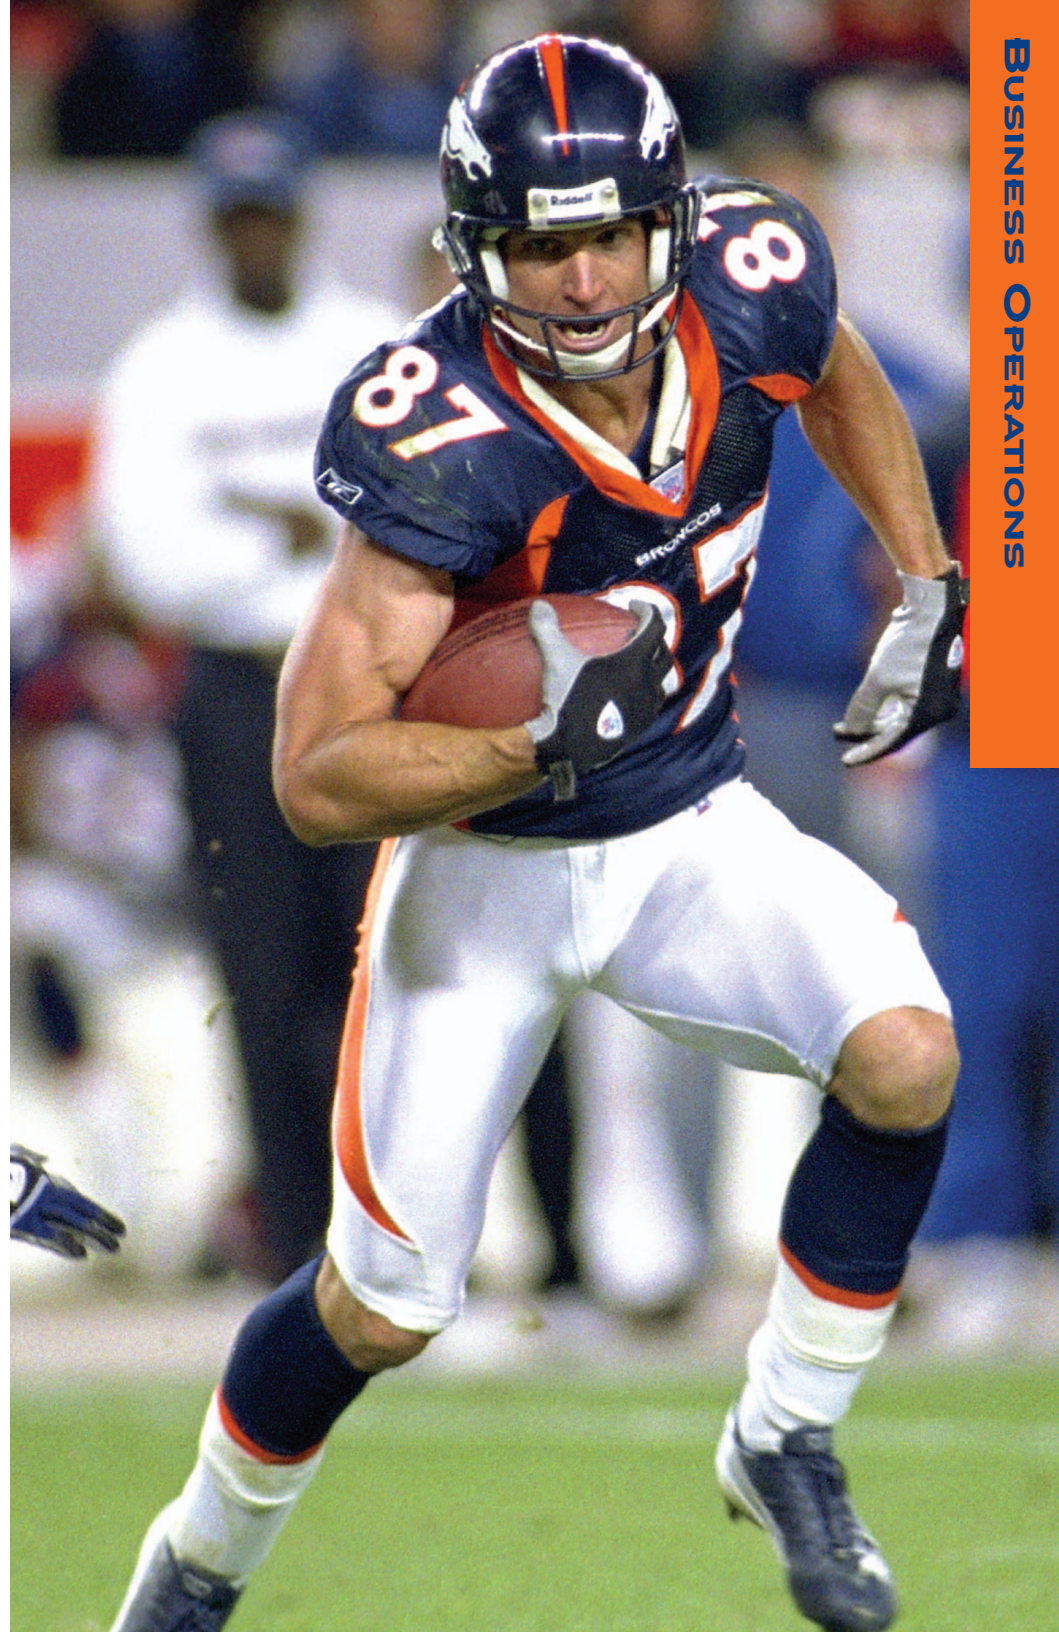

Dave Bratten is in his fifth season with the Denver Broncos organization and his third in the player personnel department.

Bratten's current duties include assisting Director of College Scouting Jim Goodman and General Manager Ted Sundquist on day-to-day operations and managing the team's scouting databases.

Bratten, 29, came to the Broncos in 1997 as a media relations intern and has previously worked as a media relations manager for SCCA Pro Racing, Inc.

Bratten earned his master's degree in sports management from Georgia Southern University (1998), and his bachelor's degree in English from Monmouth (Ill.) College (1996). He is a graduate of Arvada West High School in Arvada, Colo.

Dave and his wife, Kim, reside in Denver.

JOE ELLIS

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT OF BUSINESS OPERATIONS

Joe Ellis is in his fifth season as Executive Vice President of Business Operations for the Denver Broncos, having rejoined the club from the National Football League office in 1998, where he had been Vice President of Club Administration and Stadium Management.

Ellis' was a driving force in helping with the creation of Denver's new football stadium—INVESCO Field at Mile High. Ellis is an extremely active participant in all aspects of the stadium's management and development, and in this capacity has worked very closely with important members of the political, business, and civic communities, which comprise the cultural fabric of Denver.

In addition, he is responsible for business and financial management, marketing and sales functions, media relations, ticket operations, and facilities and administrative operations for the National Football League team.

Ellis came to his present position with comprehensive expertise in the areas of stadium operations, fiscal planning, personnel management, marketing, media and community relations.

Ellis had his first stint with the Broncos as Director of Marketing from 1983-85, where he was in charge of all marketing and promotions done by the team during this period.

He left the Broncos following the 1985 season to obtain his master's degree from the J.L. Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University. He graduated from Northwestern in 1988 and joined the NFL in 1990.

While with the NFL, Ellis was involved in several aspects of league operations, with a strong focus on new stadium development. Ellis was especially involved in the league's oversight of the Cleveland Browns' reentry into the NFL last year. Specifically, Ellis played a critical role in the process of designing, constructing and marketing the new 70,000-seat football stadium in Cleveland.

Ellis represents the Broncos on numerous boards and civic organizations in the metropolitan area, and is a 1980 graduate of Colorado College.

Joe and his wife, Ann, have three children, sons Si and Zander, and daughter Catherine.

DENVER BRONCOS' WINNING TRADITION

Denver Broncos football enters its 44th season in 2003, as the team seeks to return to the pinnacle of success they enjoyed with back-to-back Super Bowl wins in 1997 and '98. Playing for the third year at INVESCO Field at Mile High, the Broncos will perform before sellout crowds at their new state-of-the-art stadium. It will mark the 34th consecutive season of sold out games for the club, the first 31 of which came at Mile High Stadium. The team has sold out 253 consecutive regular season games, and 266 straight including playoff games. Broncos fans have watched their team amass one of the NFL's finest records since the club's first winning season in 1973, enduring just five losing seasons—second fewest in the NFL—as shown in the list below.

This season also marks Pat Bowlen's 20th as President and Chief Executive Officer of the Broncos. During that time, Denver has enjoyed a virtually unmatched level of success in the context of the entire NFL and within the American Football Conference Western Division.

More than 650,000 people descended on downtown Denver January 27, 1998, to salute the World Champion Broncos two days after their victory over Green Bay in Super Bowl XXXII in San Diego. A parade through the streets of the city culminated in a rally at Civic Center Park, where Colorado Governor Roy Romer and Denver Mayor Wellington Webb officially welcomed the Super Bowl champions home. A similar gathering was held a year later, February 1, 1999, when the Broncos returned home from Miami after defeating Atlanta in Super Bowl XXXIII. Governor-elect Bill Owens and Mayor Webb joined the festivities to salute the back-to-back World Champs.

DENVER LEADS THE AFC IN SUPER BOWL APPEARANCES — The Broncos made their sixth Super Bowl appearance against Atlanta Jan. 31, 1999, the most by any current American Football Conference franchise, and second most in the NFL behind Dallas (8). By winning back-to-back Super Bowls (XXXII and XXXIII) the Denver Broncos became one of just six franchises to "repeat," marking the seventh time the feat has been accomplished.

MOST SUPER BOWL APPEARANCES

Pittsburgh	5	IX*, X*, XIII*, XIV*, XXX	4-1
San Francisco	5	XVI*, XIX*, XXIII*, XXIV*, XXIX*	5-0

COMING BACK STRONGER — Since the Super Bowl was first played after the 1966 season, only three teams have won the game and gone on to post a better record the following season, including the 1997-98 Broncos teams. All three teams not only improved their record, but repeated as Super Bowl champions.

THE BRONCOS' STREAKS — Denver's undefeated home finish in 1998 was the club's third in a row, making the Broncos only the fourth franchise in NFL history to complete three straight regular seasons at home without losing a game, and only the third to win every home game for three straight years. Furthermore, Denver is the only team to accomplish this feat since the 16-game schedule was implemented in 1978. That adds up to a 24-game win streak at Mile High Stadium for the Broncos, the third-longest home winning streak in NFL history. Overall, the 1998 Broncos began the season by reeling off 13 straight wins, the second-best start in NFL history, contributing to an NFL-record-tying 18-game winning streak (regular and postseason combined).

WHAT TO LOOK FOR FROM THE BRONCOS IN 2003

- The Broncos look to extend their NFL best home record of 178-59-1 (167-57-1 in regular season) since 1974. The regular season victories and total victories are the most in the NFL over that period.

MIKE SHANAHAN

- Needs four overall wins during the 2003 season to reach 100 coaching victories for his career (regular and postseason combined).
- Needs to win nine of the team's first 14 games in 2002 to reach 90 regular season victories faster than any coach in franchise history. Dan Reeves is the only other coach with as many wins, and it took him 152 games to reach his 90th victory. Shanahan enters 2003 with an 81-47 record in the regular season as the Broncos' head coach.

MIKE ANDERSON

- Needs two rushing touchdowns to pass Jon Keyworth (22) for sixth place, and five to pass Otis Armstrong (25) for fifth place on Denver's all-time list for career rushing TDs.
- Needs 103 yards to pass Jon Keyworth (2,653) for sixth place all-time on the Broncos' career rushing yards list.
- Needs 38 carries to pass Bobby Humphrey (593) for seventh place on Denver's all-time list for career rushing attempts.

TERRELL DAVIS

- Needs 1,195 combined yards (rushing, receiving and returns) to pass Rick Upchurch (10,081) for second place on Denver's all-time list.
- Needs 45 yards of total offense to pass Frank Tripucka (7,651) for fourth place on the Bronco's all-time list.
- Needs to score 13 points to pass Gene Mingo (408) and 34 to pass David Treadwell (429) for fifth and fourth place respectively on Denver's all-time scoring list.

JASON ELAM

- Enters the season as the second closest player to reach the NFL's all-time top-20 scorers list. He sits at 1,193 career points, with Oakland receiver Jerry Rice the only active player ahead of him at 1,226. With 38 points this year, he can pass current NFL kicker Matt Stover for 20th.

ED McCAFFREY

- Needs two touchdown receptions to pass teammate Shannon Sharpe (47) to move into second and four to pass Rod Smith (49) for first place all-time in touchdown receptions by a Bronco.
- Needs to score two more touchdowns of any kind to pass Shannon Sharpe (47) for fifth, three to pass Sammy Winder (48) for fourth and five to pass Rod Smith (50) for third, and nine to pass Floyd Little (54) and move into second place all-time in touchdowns by a Bronco.
- Needs 108 yards receiving to pass Steve Watson (6,112) and move into fourth place, and 867 to pass Lionel Taylor (6,872) for third place all-time in receiving yards by a Bronco.
- Needs 54 receptions to reach 600 for his career. Twenty-nine NFL players have reached this number, with three active players currently ranked ahead of him (Ricky Proehl with 580, teammate Rod Smith with 559 and Keyshawn Johnson with 558).
- Every game he catches a pass this season will increase his franchise record for consecutive games with a reception (68).

DELTHA O'NEAL

- Needs seven punt returns to pass Gerald Willhite (101) for third place on Denver's list for most punt returns.

CLINTON PORTIS

- Needs 181 yards to pass Gerald Willhite and move in the top-10 on the Broncos' career rushing list.
- Needs three touchdowns to pass Gerald Willhite (17) for eighth place and seven to pass Mike Anderson (21) for seventh on the Broncos' all-time rushing touchdowns list.

TREVOR PRYCE

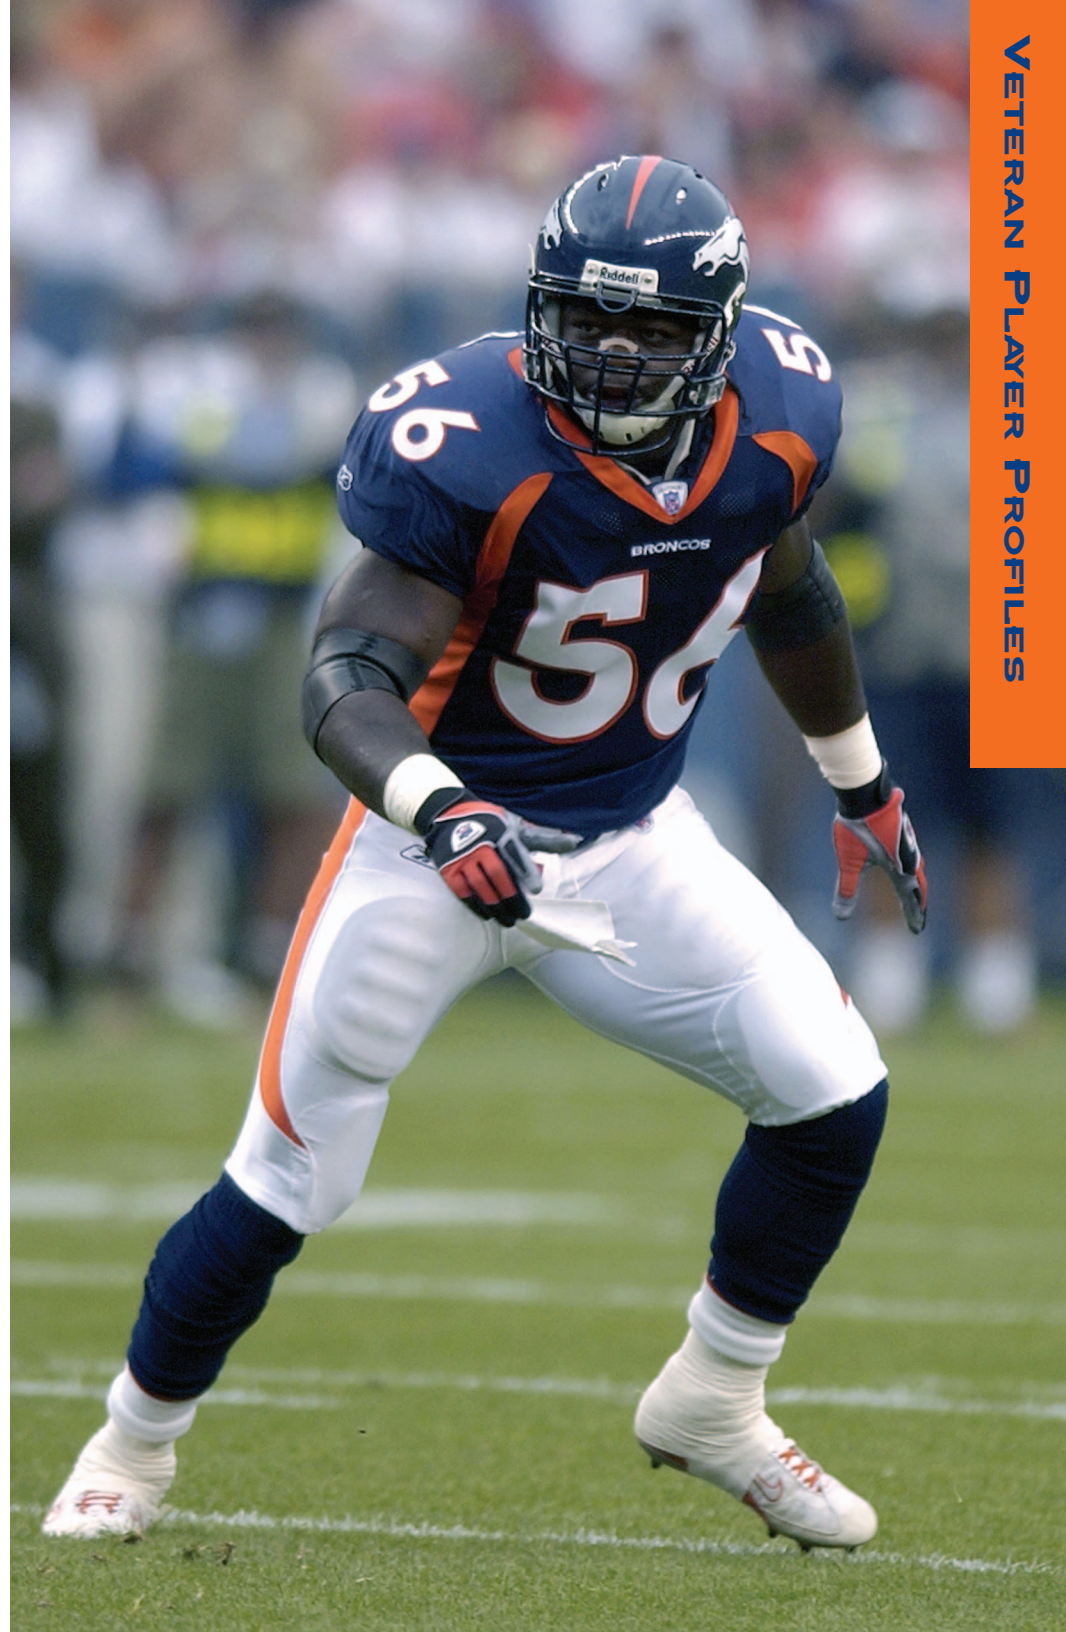

- Needs four quarterback sacks to pass Paul Smith (55) for sixth place on Denver's all-time sacks list.

ROD SMITH

- Needs to score five more touchdowns to pass Floyd Little (54) and move into second place all-time in touchdowns by a Bronco.
- Needs 55 receptions to pass current teammate Shannon Sharpe (613) for first place all-time in receptions by a Bronco.
- If he catches a pass in the first two games of this season, he'll pass Lionel Taylor (62) for the second most consecutive games by a Bronco with a reception. He currently sits at 61. Teammate Ed McCaffrey has an active streak of 68, currently first on Denver's all-time list.
- Needs 41 receptions to reach 600 for his career. Twenty-nine NFL players have reached this number, with only one active player currently ranked ahead of him (Ricky Proehl with 580).
- Needs 503 yards (rushing/receiving/returns) to pass Terrell Davis (8,887) for third place on the Broncos' all-time combined yards list, and 745 yards to pass Floyd Little (8,741) on the team's all-time total yards from scrimmage list.
- Needs 54 receptions to reach 600 for his career. Twenty-nine NFL players have reached this number, with three active players currently ranked ahead of him (Ricky Proehl with 580, teammate Rod Smith with 559 and Keyshawn Johnson with 558).

SHANNON SHARPE

- Needs 12 catches to pass Pro Football Hall of Fame member James Lofton (764) and move into 10th place all-time among NFL pass catchers. Current NFL receiver Jerry Rice (1,456) and Tim Brown (1,018) rank first and third respectively on the NFL's all-time list.
- Needs three touchdown receptions to pass teammate Rod Smith (49) and move into first place all-time in touchdown receptions by a Bronco.
- Needs to score two more touchdowns of any kind to pass Sammy Winder (48) for fourth, four to pass teammate Rod Smith (50) for third and eight to pass Floyd Little (54) and move into second place all-time in touchdowns by a Bronco.
- Needs 115 yards to pass current teammate Rod Smith for first place all time on the Broncos' career receiving yards list.
- Needs 329 total yards to pass teammate Rod Smith (7,997) and move into third place in most total yards from scrimmage by a Bronco.
- If he plays in all 16 games this season, he'll pass Simon Fletcher (172) for 10th place on Denver's all-time games played list.

MIKE ANDERSON*6-0 • 230 • 4TH YR. • UTAH*BORN: September 21, 1973 in Winnsboro, S.C.HIGH SCHOOL: Fairfield Central High School, Fairfield, S.C.RESIDES: Littleton, Colo.ACQUIRED: Draft #6 (189th overall), 2000PRO YEAR: 4th • YEAR WITH BRONCOS: 4thNFL GAMES PLAYED/STARTED: 47/31 • POSTSEASON: 1/138*RUNNING BACK

Mike Anderson enters his fourth NFL season after making a smooth transition from running back to fullback. He played in 15 games last season, and was an integral part of a Broncos' rushing attack that ranked fifth overall in the NFL, bouncing between fullback and tailback. Anderson ranks eighth in career rushing attempts (556), seventh in rushing touchdowns (21) and fourth in career rushing average (4.59). He was one of the NFL's best stories of 2000, as the sixth-round draft choice from Utah was named NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year by the Associated Press and shattered every Broncos rookie rushing record. Starting just 12 games, Anderson rushed for more yards (1,487) than all but five other rookie backs in league history. His 251-yard rushing performance at New Orleans late in the season was the best by any rookie in NFL history and was the fourth-best by any player in league annals behind Corey Dillon (278), Walter Payton (275) and O.J. Simpson (273)—and now Seattle's Shaun Alexander (266). He joins Clinton Portis—the NFL's 2002 Offensive Rookie of the Year—to give Denver one of the most talented backfields in the NFL for the fourth straight year. Humble and hard-working, Anderson has not only taken his accomplishments in stride, but also played with pain throughout the final month of his rookie season on an injured left knee that required surgery after the season to repair torn meniscus cartilage. The surgery was successful and put Anderson back at full strength by the start of mini-camp in May 2001. Anderson was the Broncos sixth-round choice in the 2000 NFL Draft (189th overall) out of Utah.

2002: Anderson played in 15 games and started 12 at fullback, and ranked second on the team with 386 rushing yds. on 84 carries (4.6) with a long of 32 and two touchdowns. He also caught 18 passes for 167 yds. (9.3) with a long of 52 and two touchdowns, returned two kickoffs for 39 yds. (19.5) with a long of 23, and made one special teams tackle. Anderson had his heaviest rushing workload of the season vs. K.C. (12/15), carrying the ball 12 times, and posted his best yardage total (59 yds.) since Wk. 2 at S.F. (95). His two kickoff returns, for 39 yds. (19.5), came at the Jets (12/8), and were the first of his career. Anderson scored his second rushing touchdown of the season at Sea. (11/17) on a 9-yd. run in the 3rd qtr., as he handled all the fullback duties but did not start because the Broncos opened the game in a two-tight end set. In Wk. 8 at N.E. (10/27) he passed Bobby Humphrey (2,386) for seventh on Denver's all-time rushing list. Anderson caught a season-high four passes for 19 yards at K.C. (10/20) and also scored his first rushing touchdown of the season on a 2-yd. run to tie the game at 34-34 with 21 seconds remaining in regulation. Versus Mia. (10/13) Anderson didn't start because the Broncos opened in with two tight end, but did handle all fullback duties and posted the longest pass reception of his career, a 52-yarder from Brian Griese, en route to a career-best 53 receiving yds. in the game. He also caught a 1-yd. scoring pass from Griese in the 4th qtr. for his second career receiving touchdown, which pulled Denver to within 21-19. Anderson was active but did not play vs. S.D. (10/6) due to a sprained left ankle suffered a week earlier at Balt. (9/30). He left in the 3rd qtr. of that game and did not return. Anderson's first career receiving touchdown came at S.F. (9/15) in Wk. 2 to give Denver a 10-7 lead in the 3rd qtr. In the S.F. game he also rushed 10 times for a season-best 95 yds.

OFF THE FIELD

Mike Anderson was named NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year by the Associated Press in 2000, garnering 40 of the 50 media votes to become the first Bronco to win the award. His path to the NFL is what made the story so remarkable. Anderson did not play football in high school at Fairfield (S.C.) Central. He turned out for the team, but became a drummer in the school's marching band when coaches insisted he play offensive line instead of running back. Upon graduation, he enlisted in the Marine Corps, and spent parts of his four years on peace-keeping missions in Somalia and Kenya. It was at Camp Pendleton where he took up football again, which led to a two-year stop at Mt. San Jacinto Community College—where he earned All-America honors—and the University of Utah, where he rushed for 2,404 yards in two seasons. Anderson was drafted by the Broncos in the sixth round (189th) in 2000 at age 26.

2001: Anderson played in all 16 games and started seven, rushing for 678 yds. and four touchdowns on 175 carries (3.9), while also catching eight passes for 46 yds. (5.8) with a long of 16. He posted his second-best rushing performance of the season at Dal. (11/22), rushing for 118 yds. on 33 carries (3.6) and one touchdown after replacing Olandis Gary (fractured left fibula) in the 1st qtr. It was his second 100-yd. game of the season and the eighth of his career. Anderson started his seventh game vs. Wash. (11/18)—his final start of the season—with Terrell Davis recovering from arthroscopic surgery, and rushed for 31 yds. on 13 carries (2.4). He also caught one pass for 16 yds., his longest reception of the season. Anderson played in a reserve role at Oak. (11/5) with Davis back in the lineup, and rushed for 44 yds. on five carries (8.8), as well as rushing for a two-point conversion. He scored his third touchdown of the season vs. N.E. (10/28), while carrying for 40 yds. on 14 carries (2.9). The touchdown was the 18th of his career, moving him into seventh all-time by a Bronco, ahead of Gerald Willhite. Anderson had a breakout game vs. K.C. (10/7) rushing for 155 yds. on 22 carries (7.0), with two touchdowns, scoring on a season-best 62-yd. run. The 155 yds. represented the fourth-best figure of his career, and his best at home. Anderson's previous home high was 131, twice during his rookie season. He also logged his fifth career 100-yd. half, gaining 106 in the first half. Anderson moved into the starting lineup in Wk. 2 at Ariz. (9/23) for the injured Davis (right knee) and rushed for 58 yds. on 19 carries (3.1), with a long of 12 yards. He played in a reserve role in the opener vs. the Giants (9/10) and rushed for 10 yds. and a touchdown on six carries.

2000: Anderson was named NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year by the Associated Press, Pro Football Weekly and Football Digest; NFL Rookie of the Year by USA Today; NFL Offensive Rookie of the Month and AFC Offensive Player of the Month for December and NFL Offensive Rookie of the Month for September and earned All-Rookie honors from Pro Football Weekly, Football News and Football Digest. He played in all 16 games and started 12 (Gms. 2-4, 6-8 and 11-16), and was the third leading rusher in the AFC (4th NFL) with a franchise rookie-record 1,487 yards (4th best season in franchise history and tied for 5th best by a rookie in NFL history) and 15 touchdowns on 297 carries (5.0), with a long of 80. He also caught 23 passes for 169 yards (7.3) to give him a franchise rookie-record 1,656 total yards from scrimmage, seventh most in the AFC (12th NFL). Anderson's 15 touchdowns and one two-point conversion gave him 92 total points on the season, fourth most in the AFC (T5th NFL). In his last eight starts Anderson averaged 125.4 yds. per game (1,003 yds.), and in his 12 starts overall averaged an NFL-best 121.5 yds. per game. His 577 yds. in Games 12-14 was the best three-game total in franchise history (previous best: Terrell Davis, 512, 1998) and the fifth best three-game total in NFL history, while his 5.0 yds.-per-carry average was the best in the AFC (3rd NFL) this season for players with

*NFL rookie records

100 or more carries and ranked third in franchise history (No. 1 by a rookie). Anderson's 15 rushing touchdowns led the AFC and ranked second in the NFL; set a franchise rookie record; tied for second most by a Bronco in a single season; tied for second most by a rookie in NFL history and already placed him eighth on Denver's all-time career list. Anderson led all NFL rookies in rushing yards, touchdowns, rushing touchdowns, scoring and first downs (84), and ranked second in total yds. from scrimmage. He also ranked fourth in the AFC (T5th NFL) in total touchdowns and tied for fifth in first downs (T7th NFL). Additionally, Anderson's 297 rushing attempts were the most by a rookie in Broncos history and were fourth most overall in franchise history. Anderson's six 100-yd. rushing games tied the franchise rookie record (Humphrey, 1989), while his four games of 30 or more carries were the most by any player in franchise history in the same season. In the season finale vs. S.F. (12/23) Anderson rushed for 85 yds. on 26 carries (3.3) and scored two touchdowns in Denver's 38-9 win to solidify the best rushing season by a rookie in Broncos franchise history. In Week 15 vs. Sea. (12/10) Anderson notched his franchise rookie-record sixth 100-yd. rushing day of the season with 131 yds. on 29 carries (4.5) with a long of 19 and two touchdowns. He became the first rookie in franchise history to rush for 100 or more yards in three consecutive games. A week earlier at New Orleans (12/3) Anderson posted the best rushing day in franchise history—and fourth best in NFL history—and set an NFL rookie record with 251 yds. on a career-high 37 carries (6.8) to earn both AFC Offensive Player of the Week and Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week. His day included a franchise-record four touchdowns, all on the ground, while his 37 carries tie for second most in team history. Anderson also set a new franchise record with 256 total yds. from scrimmage, and his combined rushing total at N.O. and at Sea. the week before (446 yds.) was the third best two-game total in NFL history (1. O.J. Simpson, 476 in 1976; 2. Walter Payton, 467 in 1977). He surpassed Gary's rookie single-season record of 1,159 yds. (1999) in the game and set a new standard for rushing TDs by a rookie, breaking the record of 7 held by Gary (1999), Terrell Davis (1995) and Bobby Humphrey (1989). In the Saints game he became the first player in franchise history to rush for more than 100 yds. in both halves (146/105), and posted his second 100-yd. qtr. in as many weeks (105, 2nd qtr.) Anderson had his previous best day as a pro at Sea. (11/26) and earned AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors for the first time in his career. He broke his own franchise single-game rookie rushing record with 195 yds. and two touchdowns on 30 carries (6.5), including the longest run of his career, an 80-yd. touchdown dash in the 4th qtr. to provide the winning points in a 38-31 triumph. It was the longest scoring run by a rookie in franchise history and tied for the second longest overall. In the Seattle contest Anderson rushed for a career-best 153 yds. in a half (2nd), including his first 100-yd. qtr. (115 in the 4th). In his seventh start of the season, vs. S.D. (11/19), Anderson posted career-best receiving numbers with six catches for 41 yds. (6.8). He logged his third 100-yard game of the season in Week 7 vs. Cleve. (10/15) with 103 yds. on 20 carries (5.2), including a 26-yard touchdown run, his longest of the day. In Week 3 at Oakland (9/17) Anderson followed his stunning debut with an even more impressive performance, setting a new Broncos rookie record for single-game rushing and earning Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week honors. Starting for the second week in a row in place of Davis (ankle) he rushed for 187 yards—including 109 in the second half alone—on 32 carries (5.8) and caught one pass for 2 yds. in Denver's 33-24 road win. He broke Gary's rookie record of 185 yds. (at Det., 12/25/99) in posting the sixth-best rushing day overall in franchise history, and his 32 carries were second most by a Broncos rookie (tied for sixth most overall). Anderson's day included three runs of 20 yards or more (20, 23 and 29), and gave him the most rushing yards ever by a Bronco in his first two starts, while ranking as one of just nine rookies in NFL history to rush for 100 yards or more in his first two starts. Anderson made his first NFL start vs. Atlanta (9/10), filling in for the injured Davis and rushed for 131 yds. and two touchdowns on 31 carries. In so doing he became the first player in franchise history to rush for more than 100 yards on his first start. It was just Anderson's second NFL game, and his first seeing any offensive action, as he played solely on special teams in the opener at St. Louis (9/4). He scored on runs of 2 and 20 yds. in the 1st and 2nd qtrs., respectively, and caught one pass for 18 yds. on the day. Preseason: Anderson played in all four pre-season games and finished third on the team in rushing with 88 yards on 21 carries (4.2), with a long of 24 and two touchdowns. He also tied for the team lead with five special teams tackles and returned one kickoff for 26 yards. In the Broncos' AFC Wild Card playoff loss at Baltimore (12/31) Anderson started at halfback and rushed for 40 yds. on 15 carries and caught two passes for 10 yds. (5.0).

COLLEGE: Anderson was a two-time all-conference honoree at Utah where he finished his two-year career with the best per-game rushing average in school history (102.4). He led the Western Athletic Conference in rushing as a junior with 1,173 yards and 12 touchdowns on 244 carries and served as team captain in his senior campaign when he rushed 1,231 yards and 12 touchdowns on 229 carries to earn All-Mountain West Conference honors. Anderson's 254 rushing yards in the 1999 Las Vegas Bowl set a new school record in his final collegiate game, and followed a 204-yard outburst on 32 carries in his final regular season game vs. New Mexico. He was an exercise and sport science major at Utah. Anderson transferred to Utah from Mt. San Jacinto Community College where he was a two-time JUCO All-American (1996-97) and team most valuable player. He was named California State JUCO Offensive Player in '97 when he rushed for 1,686 yards, following a 1,511-yard season in '96 that culminated with his team winning the L.A. Bowl.

PERSONAL: Anderson is a graduate of Fairfield Central High School in Fairfield, S.C., where he did not compete in sports. He played drums in the school's marching band. Anderson spent four years in the United States Marine Corps upon completion of high school. Michael Moschello Anderson was born Sept. 21, 1973 in Winnsboro, S.C. He has two sons, Ritho (8) and Mike, Jr. (2), and one daughter, Mykah Chanel (1).

TACKLE

Mark Baniewicz comes to the Broncos after being out of football in 2002, and will provide valuable depth on the offensive line. After spending the entire 2001 season on injured reserve with Jacksonville, he was out of football the next year. Drafted in the seventh round (247th overall) of the 2000 NFL Draft by the Jaguars, Baniewicz spent the first 10 games of that season on the active roster before being placed on injured reserve. In those 10 weeks, he dressed on four occasions but did not see any action. Baniewicz signed with the Broncos as a free agent on March 3, 2003.

2002: Baniewicz was out of football.

2001: Baniewicz spent the entire season on Jacksonville's injured reserve list.

2000: Baniewicz did not play as a rookie, but split the season with stints on the 53-man roster and the injured reserve list. He was listed as No. 3 right tackle while on the active roster, and spent 10 weeks on the 53-man roster before being put on injured reserve. Baniewicz dressed but did not play for four games and was inactive for six others, ailing at times with chronic tendonitis in his right knee. Finally placed on injured reserve on Nov. 14 with a stress fracture in his left patella, he underwent offseason surgery for patella tendonitis in his right knee.

COLLEGE: A four-year letterman and three-year starter at Syracuse, Baniewicz was a two-time GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-America pick. He started 37 consecutive games at one point in his career and played in the Senior Bowl following his senior season. In addition to earning GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-America honors as a senior in 1999, he added Burger King and National Football Foundation Scholar-Athlete accolades. After playing left tackle, grading 84.1 percent for blocking consistency, and registering 59 knockdowns for an offense that generated 3,694 yards, Baniewicz was an All-Big East Conference first-team pick. He received GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-America honors for first time as a junior in 1998, when he was also All-Big East Academic team choice. As a junior, he started all year at left tackle, making 45 knockdowns and grading 82.3 percent. A Big East Academic All-Star in 1997, Baniewicz was an All-Big East Conference first-team pick and played in every game, taking over at left tackle in the 10th game when team's starter was sidelined. He was a Big East Academic All-Star as a redshirt freshman in 1996 when he appeared in six games as a reserve tackle. Baniewicz red-shirted as a freshman in 1995, and performed on the scout team as a tight end. He graduated in 1999 with a degree in finance and attended graduate school in 1999-2000.

PERSONAL: Baniewicz attended Fairport (N.Y.) High, where he was a Super Prep, Blue Chip and Prep Football Report All-America and All-Northeast selection. He Lettered twice in football and basketball and added another in baseball. In his hometown (Fairport, N.Y.) in 2000, the Packers—a local youth football team—started the Baniewicz Service Award for community service. In addition, he speaks to children at local elementary schools, and actively supports the community initiatives of his teammates by attending fundraising events. Baniewicz recently completed his M.B.A. from the University of North Florida. Born March 24, 1977 in Fairport, N.Y., his full name is Mark Jeffrey Baniewicz. His last name is pronounced: BAN-uh-wits.

DEFENSIVE END

Bertrand Berry has continued to grow into the player the team was hoping for when the Broncos signed him as a free-agent pickup in 2001, by giving the club depth at defensive end and providing a spark in pass rushing situations with his quickness. Berry showed his talents in 2002 by picking up 6.5 sacks (-30), which ranked second on the team. He will compete for a possible starting job in 2003 as he battles with other challengers at the position. Berry has played in 72 career games (14 starts) and posted 110 tackles (75 solo), including 13.5 sacks (-75), as well as six passes defended, three forced fumbles, four fumble recoveries and 33 special teams tackles. He entered the NFL in 1997 as the Colts' third round draft choice (89th overall) out of Notre Dame and played three seasons in Indianapolis. He spent the 2000 season out of football before signing with the Broncos Jan. 2, 2001.

2002: Berry played in a reserve role in all 16 games and made one start (at Oak., 12/22), posting 14 tackles (12 solo), including a career-high 6.5 sacks (-30) to rank second on the team, as well as two passes defended, two fumble recoveries and six stops on special teams. He made his one start at Oak. (12/22) and posted two solo tackles, including a sack of Rich Gannon for a 5-yd. loss, raising his sack total to 6.5. Berry also recovered a fumble by Gannon that was forced by Ian Gold. At the Jets (12/8) he improved his sack total to 5.5 when he combined with Izell Reese to drop Chad Pennington for a 12-yd. loss. Berry recorded a season-high three tackles at Sea. (11/17), including a sack (-1), as well as his first pass defense of the year. In Wk. 8 at N.E. (10/27) Berry posted the first multi-sack game of his career, dropping Tom Brady on two occasions (-2 yards), giving him three sacks in a two-game span. His second sack of the season came at K.C. (10/20) when he dropped Trent Green for a 7-yd. loss. Berry recovered a fumble at Balt. (9/30) after Tyrone Poole sacked Chris Redman and stripped him of the football. He registered his first sack of the season in Wk. 3 on Buffalo's Drew Bledsoe (9/22) for a 9-yd. loss.

2001: Berry played in 14 games, in a reserve role on the defensive line, and posted 17 tackles (13 solo), including two sacks (-12), as well as two fumble recoveries and a pass deflection. He also contributed five tackles on special teams. For the second week in a row, Berry saw extensive action vs. Oak (12/30), making two tackles and recovering a fumble. His recovery, after a sack and forced fumble by Bill Romanowski on Rich Gannon, set up a Broncos 1st-qr. field goal. Berry registered two solo tackles at K.C. (12/16), including a sack of Trent Green for a 5-yd. loss. He returned to action vs. Sea. (12/9) after missing the previous two games with a separated left shoulder and registered a sack on Seahawks quarterback Matt Hasselbeck for a 7-yd. loss. He was declared inactive at Mia. (12/2) and at Dal. (11/22) because of a shoulder injury suffered vs. Wash. (11/18). The injury occurred in the 3rd qtr. and kept him out of the remainder of the game. Berry saw his most extensive action of the early-season vs. N.E. (10/28) and made a season-high four tackles (2 solo). His first fumble recovery came at Ariz. (9/23) and his pass deflection came at Oak. (11/5).

2000: Berry was out of football after going through training camp with St. Louis.

1999: Berry played in all 16 games for the Colts, registering nine tackles (four solo), one sack, 18 special teams tackles and one forced fumble.

1998: Berry started 12 of the 13 games he played in and posted 58 tackles (41 solo), four sacks, two forced fumbles and two passes defended. He also added three special teams stops. His sacks came against the Jets, Chargers, Seahawks and 49ers.

1997: Berry played in 10 games (one start) and registered 12 tackles (five solo) and one pass defended as a rookie with Indianapolis. He was a third round pick (86th overall) by the Colts.

COLLEGE: Berry was a four-year letterman and three-year starter at Notre Dame where played in 44 games (32 starts) and made 187 tackles (127 solo), including 16.5 sacks. As a senior he had 60 stops (34 solo) 13 quarterback pressures and 10 sacks, including three sacks in a game against Washington. He was a communication and theater major at Notre Dame.

PERSONAL: A native of Houston, Texas, Berry was a three-sport (football, basketball, track) star at Humble (Texas) High School. In the offseason while in Indianapolis he was an instructor for Colts 101, an annual women's football clinic. Bertrand Demond Berry was born Aug. 15, 1975 in Houston, Texas. He and his wife, Shellie, have two daughters, Alana (3) and Desiree (2), and reside in Houston.

QUARTERBACK

Steve Beuerlein returns to the Broncos for his 17th NFL season, and will provide tutelage and experience for Jake Plummer in 2003. After coming back from an elbow injury that forced him to spend the 2001 season on injured reserve, he played well last season in both a starting and a backup role in 2002. A seasoned veteran, he came to Denver from Carolina where he led the NFL in completions in 1999 and was selected to his first Pro Bowl, in his 13th season, which tied him with St. Louis Cardinals offensive lineman Bob Young (1978) for the most seasons played before earning an initial Pro Bowl selection. Beuerlein was also the second-oldest quarterback to be selected to a Pro Bowl behind Buffalo's Doug Flutie who was 36 at the time of his selection in 1998. He had started 44 consecutive games through the end of the 2000 season, the third longest streak in the league at the time. Beuerlein has played in 143 career games (100 starts) in 16 seasons and has a record of 46-54 (.460) as a starter. Beuerlein has completed 1,861 of 3,265 passes (57%) for 23,657 yards and 145 touchdowns with 107 interceptions and has rushed for 451 yards on 216 carries (2.1) and five touchdowns. In five postseason games (two starts) Beuerlein has 271 passing yards, five rushing yards, one touchdown pass and one interception. He earned a Super Bowl ring with Dallas in 1992 as Troy Aikman's backup. Beuerlein entered the NFL in 1987 as a fourth round selection of the Los Angeles Raiders (110th overall) out of Notre Dame. He played four seasons with the Raiders (1987-90), followed by stints with the Cowboys (1991-92), Cardinals (1993-94), Jaguars (1995) and Panthers (1996-2000).

2002: Beuerlein played in eight games after taking over duties as the holder in the ninth game, vs. Oak. (11/11), and started three (vs. Ind., 11/24; at S.D., 12/1 and vs. Ariz. 12/29). He threw for 925 yds. on 68 of 117 passing (58.1%) with six touchdowns and five interceptions, for a passer rating of 82.7. Beuerlein made his third start vs. Ariz. (12/29) and completed 16-of-24 passes for 203 yds., and two touchdowns for a passer rating of 120.7. His touchdowns covered 5 yds. to Ashley Lelie and 10

yds. to Rod Smith, both in the second half. Beuerlein entered the game at Oak. (12/22) in relief of Brian Griese—who suffered a knee injury in the 2nd qtr.—completed 13-of-28 passes (46.4%) for 234 yds. with one interception. His longest completion of the season came in the game, a 48-yarder to Ashley Lelie, and he also rushed for nine yds. on two carries, including a 1-yd. touchdown run. At S.D. (12/1), Beuerlein completed 22-of-39 for a season-high 288 yds., one touchdown and two interceptions. He completed 15 of 24 (62.5) for 185 yds. with a touchdown and two interceptions vs. Ind. (11/24), in his first start since Dec. 24, 2000 (at Oak., while playing for Carolina). Beuerlein saw his first offensive action as a Bronco a week earlier at Sea. (11/17), replacing Brian Griese (knee) late in the 3rd qtr. He completed his only two pass attempts for touchdowns, the first covering 1 yd. to Patrick Hape and the second 14 yds. to Rod Smith. The touchdown pass to Hape, which put Denver ahead 17-6, was Beuerlein's first since Dec. 17, 2000 when he hit Isaac Byrd for a 34-yd. score vs. San Diego, one of two Beuerlein touchdown tosses on the day. It was Beuerlein's first offensive action since the final game of the 2000 season.

2001: Beuerlein was placed on injured reserve Oct. 5, because of a preseason elbow injury. He underwent surgery Oct. 10. Beuerlein signed with the Broncos May 30 after being released by the Panthers March 19.

2000: Beuerlein started all 16 games for Carolina, completing 324 of 533 passes (60.8%) for 3,730 yds. and 19 touchdowns with 18 interceptions. He also rushed for 106 yds. on 44 carries (2.4) and scored once. Beuerlein finished the season having started 44 consecutive games, which ranked as the third longest active streak among NFL quarterbacks behind Brett Favre (141) and Peyton Manning (48). In the season opener at Washington (9/3) he completed 17 of 26 passes for 183 yds. and a touchdown and rushed twice for 10 yds. His lone touchdown pass was a 20-yarder to Wesley Walls. Beuerlein became the first quarterback to start consecutive season openers in the team's brief history. The next week at San Francisco (9/10) he completed a season-high 24 of 32 passes for a season-high 364 yds. with three touchdowns and one interception. The 364 yds. passing ranked as the third highest single-game total in team history. He directed an offense that felt one yard shy of having three 100-yd. receivers for the first time in franchise history with Donald Hayes totaling 115 yds., Muhsin Muhammad 108 yds., and Walls 99 yds. He also set the team record with an average of 11.38 yds. per attempt, eclipsing the previous mark of 10.57 set by Kerry Collins at Atlanta in 1996 (11/3). Versus St. Louis (12/3) he completed 20 of 30 for 195 yds. with two interceptions to become the first signal-caller in the team history to pass for more than 3,000 yds. in consecutive seasons.

1999: In a season that ranks among the best in NFL history, Beuerlein's 4,436 passing yds. and 36 touchdowns earned him distinction as one of just 11 passers (now 12) in NFL history to record more than 4,000 yds. and 30 touchdowns in a season, as he started all 16 games for Carolina. The feat was rewarded with his first career Pro Bowl selection, making him the second-oldest quarterback selected for a postseason trip to Hawaii, behind Buffalo's Doug Flutie who was 36 in 1998. Beuerlein's passing total amounted to the 11th most passing yds. in a season in NFL history while his 36 touchdowns tied Steve Young for sixth most in a single season. For the season he posted a 94.6 quarterback rating on 343 of 571 passing (60.1%) for 4,436 yds. with 36 touchdowns and 15 interceptions in addition to rushing 27 times for a career-high 124 yds. and two touchdowns. Beuerlein led the League in passing yds. and completions and ranked second in touchdown passes, quarterback rating and pass attempts. He entered the year with three 300-yd. passing days to his credit but recorded five such outings in 1999 with 373 at Green Bay (12/12); 368 vs. San Francisco (12/18); 334 at Washington (10/3); 332 vs. New Orleans (1/2) and 300 at San Francisco (10/17). Not known for his mobility, his improbable 5-yd. touchdown run on fourth-and-goal with no time remaining at Green Bay earned the Panthers an upset 33-31 win, marking the first victory for a visiting team at Lambeau Field in December since 1991. Beuerlein's 29 completions (on 43 attempts) and 373 passing yds. set team single-game marks. He also set a team record with five passing touchdowns vs. New Orleans (1/2) in the season finale. Beuerlein began the season by completing 16 of 32 passes for 207 yds. with one touchdown, a 5-yd. pass to Wesley Walls, and an interception at New Orleans (9/12), before throwing for three touchdowns and 216 yds. on 16 of 26 passing with one interception vs. Jacksonville (9/19), with scoring passes of 1 and 10 yds. to Walls and 60 yds. to Muhsin Muhammad. Versus Cincinnati (9/26) Beuerlein threw a 4-yd. touchdown to Walls among 17 completions on 23 attempts for 204 yards. At Washington (10/3) he posted 334 passing yards, the fourth 300-yd. passing day of his career and first of the season, completing 23 of 47 attempts with a touchdown on a 6-yd. scoring pass to Walls. Beuerlein added his fifth career 300-yd. passing day the following week at San Francisco (10/17) with an even 300 yds. on 23 completions among 36 attempts with four touchdowns, a 22-yarder to Muhammad, a 25-yarder to Walls and 7- and 33-yarders to Patrick Jeffers, as well as three interceptions. He was 26 of 47 for 299 yds. with no touchdowns and one interception vs. Detroit (10/24), ending a team-record streak of 11 straight games with a touchdown pass. Beuerlein completed 21 of 35 passes for 256 yds. with three interceptions at Atlanta (10/31) before throwing for 281 yds. on 21 of 34 passes with three touchdowns vs. Philadelphia (11/7), tossing scoring passes of 4 and 12 yds. to Muhammad and 21 yds. to Jeffers. When he was relieved by Steve Bono in the fourth quarter of the Philadelphia game it ended a streak of 1,185 consecutive plays in a 20-game span during which he did not miss a snap. At St. Louis (11/14) Beuerlein completed 24 of 39 passes for 286 yards, including a 14-yd. touchdown pass to Walls and two interceptions. He set a team record with 15 consecutive completions, connecting on the first nine passes of the game at the Rams after completing his final six passes vs. Philadelphia. Beuerlein totaled 199 yds. on 21 of 27 passing with two touchdowns in three quarters at Cleveland (11/21) with an 8-yd. strike to Walls and a 1-yd. toss to Brian Kinchen, which was also the 100th touchdown pass of his career. Versus Atlanta (11/28) Beuerlein completed 18 of 27 passes for 262 yds. with three touchdowns, posting a 135.1 quarterback rating for the game. Versus St. Louis (12/5) He completed 21 of 42 passes for 266 yds. with three touchdowns on passes of 15 yds. to Walls, 36 yds. to Donald Haynes and 71 yds. to Jeffers, in addition to two interceptions. At Green Bay (12/12) in one of the most memorable games in the Panthers' five-year history, Beuerlein re-wrote the team's record books for passing, but also had one of the most exciting plays in team history with a 5-yd. quarterback draw for a touchdown on fourth-and-goal as time expired to give Carolina a 33-31 victory. He set team marks with 29 completions for 373 yds. on 42 attempts in addition to three touchdowns, with tosses of 35 and 38 yds. to Jeffers and 26 yds. to Kinchen. Beuerlein directed the team to scores on all four second-half possessions netting three touchdowns and a field goal. He was equally masterful the following week vs. San Francisco (12/18), throwing for 368 yds. with four touchdowns in addition to 20 yds. rushing, including a season-long 16 yd. run. His 136.7 single-game quarterback rating was his highest as a Panther, as he directed the offense to scores on its first four possessions, creating a streak of eight consecutive drives with scores dating back to the previous game at Green Bay. Beuerlein threw touchdown passes of 8, 14 and 7 yds. to Muhammad as well as a 55-yarder to Jeffers, while his 368 passing yds. made him the most prolific passer in team history with 8,356 yards, eclipsing the previous mark of 8,306 held by Kerry Collins. At Pittsburgh (12/26) he completed 18 of 35 passes for 263 yds. and two touchdowns, including a career-long 88-yd. score to Jeffers as well as a 43-yd. "Hail Mary" touchdown to Jeffers with seconds remaining in the first half. In the season finale vs. New Orleans (1/2) Beuerlein threw a career-high five touchdowns among 22 completions on 41 attempts for 322 yards. He threw touchdowns of 7 yds. to Muhammad, 37 and 15 yds. to Walls and 40 and 32 yds. to Jeffers as he closed the season with three 300-yd. passing games in the final four contests. For the season the Panthers' offense set single-season team records for points with 421 and net yds. with 5,698. In the Pro Bowl (2/6) Beuerlein completed four of seven passes for 85 yds. and a touchdown.

1998: Operating with efficiency, Beuerlein directed the Panthers to 20 or more points in nine of his 12 starts and completed 216 of 343 attempts to tie for the league's No. 1 ranking with a 63.0 completion percentage. He threw for 2,613 yds. and a team-record 17 touchdowns, along with 12 interceptions. Overall, his 88.2 season rating placed him fifth in the NFC. After seeing no action as a reserve in the first four games of the season Beuerlein became the Panthers starter in dramatic fashion and responded masterfully. Playing in his first game as a full-time starter he faced his former Cowboys mates at Dallas (10/11) and completed 22 of 32 attempts for 286 yds. and three touchdowns with one interception. He completed his first 12 passes of the game and, combined with two completions from the final game of 1997, set a team mark for consecutive completions with 14. In the first half alone Beuerlein completed 12 of 13 passes with two touchdowns and completed 16 of 17 passes through the first three quarters. He threw scoring passes of 35 and 16 yds. to Rocket Ismail and a 3-yd. score to William Floyd. The following week at Tampa Bay (10/18) Beuerlein completed 22 of 31 passes for 234 yards. Versus Buffalo (10/25) in an ESPN Sunday Night game he threw for 286 yds. on 22 of 39 passing with one touchdown, an 8-yd. pass to Mark Carrier, and two interceptions. A week later vs. New Orleans (11/1) Beuerlein completed 13 of 17 passes for 132 yards, two touchdowns and one interception with touchdown passes of 1 yd. to Muhammad and 33 yds. to Ismail. At San Francisco (11/8) he threw for 265 yds. and a touchdown, a 20 yarder to Ismail, on 25 of 41 passing before completing 17 of 30 passes for 160 yds. with two interceptions vs. Miami (11/15). Beuerlein increased his record to 2-0 as a starter at St. Louis (11/22) with a team single-game record 80.76 completion percentage on 21 of 26 passing for 211 yds. with two touchdowns and an interception. His scoring tosses went 1 and 13 yds. to Walls. Beuerlein completed 18 of 33 passes for 235 yds. with three touchdowns and an interception vs. San Francisco (12/6), including touchdown strikes to Muhammad (12 yds.), Ismail (40) and Anthony Johnson (38). He completed 16 of 25 passes for 264 yds. with a touchdown and two interceptions vs. Washington (12/13), including a 29-yd. screen pass for a score to Tshimanga Biakabutuka, before completing 15 of 25 passes for 193 yds. and two touchdowns vs. St. Louis (12/20), including a 3-yd. touchdown to Muhammad and season-long 68-yd. scoring throw to Luther Broughton.

1997: Beuerlein was a significant contributor for the Panthers, starting three games and appearing in relief four times, including appearances in three of the last four weeks of the season. His 58.2% completion rate was his highest mark since 1993 and his 109.9 fourth-quarter passer rating ranked third in the NFL. With Kerry Collins' preseason injury sidelining him for the first two games of the season Beuerlein started the season opener vs. Washington (8/31) and completed 12 of 26 passes for 108 yds. with a touchdown and an interception. He rebounded the following week at Atlanta (9/7), completing 21 of 35 passes, including 11 of 15 passes for 156 yds. in the fourth quarter in a 9-6 come-from-behind win. When Collins returned to the lineup Beuerlein remained on the sideline in games at San Diego (9/14) and vs. Kansas City (9/21), before a highly-efficient outing in relief duty vs. San Francisco (9/29), completing nine of 11 passes (81.8%) for 94 yds. and two touchdowns. He completed 19 of 35 passes for 227 yds. and two touchdowns in a return to the starting lineup at Minnesota (10/12), tossing scoring passes of 16 yds. to Walls and 5 yds. to Rae Carruth. Beuerlein remained on the sideline for contests at New Orleans (10/19), vs. Atlanta (10/26), vs. Oakland (11/2), at Denver (11/9), at San Francisco (11/16) and at St. Louis (11/23), before replacing an injured Collins in the second quarter vs. New Orleans (11/30). Against the Saints he completed 17 of 27 passes for 168 yds. and an interception, suffered on a half-ending "Hail Mary" pass. At Dallas (12/8) Beuerlein entered the contest for one third-quarter series and completed one of two attempts for 38 yards. He did not play vs. Green Bay (12/14) before a valiant effort vs. St. Louis (12/20) when he entered the game in the fourth quarter and completed 10 of 17 passes for 129 yds. and a touchdown in a failed comeback attempt.

1996: Beuerlein played an invaluable role for the Panthers in 1996, winning three of his four starts in relief of Kerry Collins, among his eight total appearances after signing as an unrestricted free agent April 10. His 93.5 quarterback rating was the highest single-season mark of his career while his interception percentage (1.6) was his second-lowest. After not playing vs. Atlanta (9/1) and seeing spot action at New Orleans (9/8) Beuerlein had a stellar day in a starting role against San Francisco (9/22), completing 22 of 31 passes (71.0) for 290 yds. and two touchdowns with one interception, en route to a single-game quarterback rating of 108.3. He led the Panthers to scores on each of the team's first three possessions, including a game-opening touchdown drive that was the first such allowed by the 49ers defense in 28 consecutive games. Beuerlein completed 17 of 20 passes in the first half, including 11 completions in a row. Directing the Panthers to a season-high 389 yds. of total offense, he was awarded honors as the Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week. At Jacksonville (9/29) Beuerlein lost 24-14 to his former team and completed 15 of 30 passes for 219 yds. and a touchdown before leaving the game in the fourth quarter with a calf cramp. He did not play at Minnesota (10/6); appeared in the final series to run out the clock vs. St. Louis (10/13) and did not play vs. New Orleans (10/20) or at Philadelphia (10/27). Beuerlein relieved an injured Collins in the third quarter at Atlanta (11/3) and completed seven of 15 passes for 69 yds. and a touchdown in addition to a run of 12 yds. in a 20-17 loss. He filled in briefly for Collins vs. the Giants (11/10), handing off to Johnson for the team's second touchdown and completing his only pass attempt for six yards. Starting the following week at St. Louis (11/17) Beuerlein finished with 130 yds. on 13 of 28 passing with a touchdown and an interception. In a decisive second-half effort, he directed the Panthers to scores on three of their first four drives, completing nine of 14 passes for 82 yds. and a touchdown, and helped the Panthers rebound from a 10-3 halftime deficit to win 20-10. At Houston (11/24) he started for the second straight week and connected on 11 of 18 passes for 165 yds. with three touchdowns. His performance included touchdown passes of 30 and 12 yds. to Willie Green and a 40 yd. toss to Walls in his final on-field action of the season. Beuerlein was a reserve but did not play in the Panthers' last six games of the season, including playoff contests vs. Dallas (1/5) and at Green Bay (1/12).

1995: Beuerlein started six of the seven games in which he played for the expansion Jacksonville Jaguars and completed 71 of 142 attempts (50.0%) for 952 yards, four touchdowns and seven interceptions. He also rushed five times for 32 yards. Versus the Panthers in the Hall of Fame Game (7/29) Beuerlein played the first quarter and completed six of nine passes for 108 yds. with an interception. He started the Jaguars' inaugural regular season game vs. Houston (9/3) and completed seven passes for 54 yds. before being replaced in the third quarter. At Cincinnati (9/10) Beuerlein threw a 71-yd. touchdown before leaving the game in the middle of the second quarter with a sprained right medial collateral ligament. His pass to running back Randy Jordan was the Jaguars' first touchdown in franchise history and their longest play of the year. Inactive at the Jets (9/17) Beuerlein was active but did not play vs. Green Bay (9/24). In the team's first win the following week at Houston (10/1) he completed eight of 18 passes for 117 yds. and an interception as a starter. He was active but did not play in the Jaguars next five games before returning in substitute action at Tampa Bay (11/19), completing nine of 12 passes for 104 yards, a touchdown and an interception. He started vs. Cincinnati (11/26) and completed 18 of 34 passes for 245 yds. with a touchdown and an interception, and also started at Denver (12/3) and completed 15 of 28 passes for 198 yards, a touchdown and an interception. Beuerlein was active but did not play vs. Indianapolis (12/10) before starting for Mark Brunell at Detroit

(12/17), completing 10 of 21 passes for 136 yds. with three interceptions. He was inactive vs. Cleveland (12/24). Beuerlein was acquired by the Jaguars as the first overall pick in the 1995 Expansion Draft from the Arizona Cardinals, Feb. 15, 1995.

1994: Beuerlein started seven of the nine games he played for the Arizona Cardinals and completed 130 of 255 passes (51.0%) for 1,545 yds. with five touchdowns and nine interceptions. He started the season's first two games, at the Rams (9/4) and vs. the Giants (9/11), and completed 28 of 62 (45.2%) passes for 266 yards, a touchdown and three interceptions before being replaced by Jim McMahon in the Cardinals' third game. He returned to the starting lineup at Washington (10/16) and completed 16 of 34 passes for 194 yards, a touchdown and three interceptions in a 19-16 overtime win. Beuerlein was 18 of 31 for 213 yds. and a touchdown vs. Dallas (10/23) and 13 of 26 for 251 yds. vs. Pittsburgh (10/30), including completions of 63 and 51 yards. At Philadelphia (11/6) he completed 19 of 30 passes for 219 yds. and a touchdown before engineering a last-minute 10-9 victory at the Giants (11/13) while playing on a sprained knee in a gutsy 17 of 33 performance for 180 yards. After arthroscopic surgery on his knee kept him inactive for three weeks Beuerlein came off the bench vs. Cincinnati (12/18) with an eight of 13 passing performance and a game-sealing fourth-quarter touchdown drive. He did not play in the season finale at Atlanta (12/24).

1993: Beuerlein joined the Cardinals as an unrestricted free agent April 21 and had one of the best seasons for a Cardinals passer in team history. He completed over 60 percent of his passes eight times and over 70 percent in four games and totaled 258 completions on 418 attempts for 3,164 yds. and 18 touchdowns. His season completion percentage of 61.7 set a team mark, and he set a team record for consecutive completions, connecting on his first 14 passes at Atlanta (1/2). Beuerlein went on to connect on 27 of 33 attempts for an 81.8 percentage in the game, setting a Cardinals single-game record. He had three-touchdown-pass outings at New England (10/10), at San Francisco (10/24) and at Atlanta (1/2). Beuerlein hit on seven of nine attempts for 52 yds. vs. New Orleans (10/31) before he sprained his right knee and missed the Cardinals' next two games. At Seattle (12/19) he set career highs for completions (34), attempts (53) and passing yds. (431), and directed his team to a 30-27 overtime win.

1992: Beuerlein saw action in all 16 games for the Cowboys, as the team's holder on extra points and field goals. He played briefly in two games, completing two of five passes for 26 yds. vs. Seattle (10/11) and two for two attempts for 26 yds. at Detroit (11/8). Beuerlein played much of the second half in the Cowboys' regular-season finale vs. Chicago (12/27), completing eight of 11 passes for 99 yards. He played in all three Cowboys playoff contests, including the Super Bowl XXVII triumph over Buffalo, holding on extra points and field goals.

1991: Beuerlein re-signed with the Raiders July 8 and was traded to Dallas Aug. 25 for a fourth-round pick. He took over for an injured Troy Aikman and led the Cowboys to victories in their last five games, including the last four as a starter. Beuerlein relieved Aikman at Washington (11/24) and threw a scoring pass in a 24-21 victory for the first win of the Cowboys season-ending streak. For the year he threw for 909 yds. and five touchdowns with two interceptions on 68 of 137 passing (49.6%). In two playoff starts Beuerlein completed 16 of 31 attempts for 271 yards, a touchdown and an interception, winning 17-13 at Chicago (12/29) in the Wild Card game before losing at Detroit (1/5/92) in the NFC Divisional playoff.

1990: Beuerlein was active and practiced but did not play in any games due to a contract dispute with the Raiders. He was granted free agency Feb. 1, 1990 and re-signed with the club Sept. 3.

1989: Beuerlein played in 10 games, starting seven, and led the Raiders in passing with 108 completions on 217 attempts for 1,677 yds. and 13 touchdowns with nine interceptions. He posted season bests with 266 yds. passing on 16 of 34 attempts at the Giants (12/24).

1988: Beuerlein started eight games for the Raiders and completed 105 of 238 passes for 1,643 yds. and eight touchdowns. He had his first career reception in the season opener at San Diego (9/4) when he caught a 21-yd. pass from Marcus Allen and completed 13 of 29 attempts for 171 yards. Beuerlein posted his first career three-touchdown game at Houston (9/11) and had a 375-yd. effort on 19 of 38 passing vs. the Rams (9/18). He registered his career-long rush of 20 yds. at San Diego (11/6).

1987: A fourth-round selection (110th overall) by the Los Angeles Raiders, Beuerlein was placed on injured reserve with elbow and shoulder injuries Sept. 7.

COLLEGE: Beuerlein was a four-year starter for the Fighting Irish and held nearly every Notre Dame passing and total offense record when he graduated. Over his career, he posted school records for pass attempts (850), completions (437), passing yds. (6,527), total offense (6,459) and consecutive completions without an interception (119). He took over starting duties the fourth game of his freshman year. Beuerlein earned his bachelor's degree in American studies.

PERSONAL: Beuerlein is a graduate of Servite High School in Anaheim, Calif., where he was an All-American in football and played baseball, basketball and was a diver on the swim team. He is a single-digit handicap golfer and was featured as one of the best golfers in the NFL by Golf Digest in May 2000. Also in May 2000, Beuerlein testified before a United States Senate subcommittee chaired by Sen. Arlen Specter (R-Pa.) on amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS)—also known as Lou Gehrig's Disease—and the impact the disease has on its victims and families. Steve acquired an unfortunate familiarity with the disease after a former high school teammate, Jeff Sherer, who was his right tackle at Servite from 1979-82, was diagnosed with the disease in 1997. An estimated 30,000 people in the United States have ALS, a fatal disorder of the nervous system. Steve and his wife, Kristen, have two sons, Taylor (7) and Jake (4), and a daughter, Kailey (5). The family makes its home in Charlotte, N.C. Stephen Taylor Beuerlein was born March 7, 1965 in Hollywood, Calif. His last name is pronounced BURR-line.

SAFETY

Sam Brandon earned valuable playing time his rookie season, and looks to make the jump to starter in 2003. Brandon is a superb athlete who began his college career at UNLV as a wide receiver before shifting to free safety as a junior. Last season, he played in 16 games and made 18 tackles (16 solo) with two passes defended. He holds similar characteristics to his partner in the secondary, Kenoy Kennedy. Brandon is big, physical, athletic and can lay down a big hit when needed. The unquestioned leader of the UNLV defense, Brandon received the team's John Robinson Man of the Year Award in 2001, and finished his college career having played in 23 games on defense (all starts) and posted 181 tackles (113 solo), three interceptions and 16 pass deflections. Brandon was the Broncos 4th-round pick (131st overall) of the 2002 NFL Draft.

2002: Brandon played in all 16 games and made two starts (at K.C., 10/20 and at Sea. 11/17), posting 18 tackles (16 solo), a forced fumble, two passes defended and a fumble recovery. He added 11 more tackles on special teams to rank fifth on the team, and blocked a punt vs. S.D. (10/6) for a safety. Brandon saw significant action on defense in each of the last five games, closing with a solo tackle and a pass defended in the season finale vs. Ariz. (12/29). At Oak. (12/22) he posted two solo tackles, a week after posting three tackles and his first career pass defended vs. K.C. (12/15). He made two special teams stops in the Chargers game (12/1). Brandon started at free safety in place of Izell Reese (groin) at Sea. (11/17) and recorded two tackles and forced a fumble that he also recovered. He saw action on defense vs. Oak. (11/11) and posted two solo tackles. Brandon made his first NFL start at K.C. (10/20), replacing suspended strong safety Kenoy Kennedy, and performed well with six tackles (4 solo). His open-field tackle on Priest Holmes on a 3rd-and-2 play with 3:52 remaining in regulation forced the Chiefs to attempt a field goal, which they missed, setting up Denver's game-tying touchdown drive. Brandon blocked a Darren Bennett punt vs. S.D. (10/6), resulting in a safety to give Denver a 16-0 lead in an eventual 26-9 win. He saw his first career defensive action at Balt. (9/30) and made one solo tackle. Brandon's first career special teams tackle came in his NFL debut, vs. St. Louis (9/8), when he dropped Lamar Gordon on the 16-yd. line on a kick return.

COLLEGE: Brandon earned All-Mountain West Conference first-team honors and was named his team's most valuable player following an outstanding senior season at UNLV in which he started all 11 games at free safety and led the team with 99 tackles (61 solo). He also deflected nine passes, intercepted two (90 ret. yds.), recovered two fumbles and caused another. After Brandon's junior year, he earned All-Mountain West Conference honorable mention in his first season at safety. He led the team with 82 tackles (52 solo), including a stop for a 2-yd. loss, and also posted an interception (22-yd. return), seven pass breakups and a blocked field goal. Brandon sat out the entire 1999 season to fulfill academic requirements. In 1998, Brandon appeared in nine games, starting three contests (Wyoming, SMU, Tulsa) at wide receiver, and finished with 12 receptions for 122 yds. (10.2) and a touchdown. He caught five passes for 26 yds. and an 11-yd. touchdown vs. Southern Methodist, and had a career-long 32-yd. reception vs. Air Force. Brandon redshirted in 1997.

PERSONAL: Brandon lettered three times in football at John W. North High School in Riverside, Calif., where he helped the Huskies to a 14-0 record and a CIF championship during his junior year. He was named first team all-league in 1995-96, and was also tabbed first team All-CIF in '96. Brandon also played forward on the basketball team and competed in five track events as well, including the 200 meters. Samuel Terrill Brandon was born July 5, 1979 in Toledo, Ohio. He has two daughters, Samaya (6) and Nakayla (4).

LINEBACKER

Keith Burns continues to be one of the Broncos' emotional leaders, as well as the team's leader on special teams. Since returning to Denver in 2001, Burns has provided a spark on special teams, and also provided much-needed veteran depth at linebacker. One of the most liked players in the locker room, Burns has also become a more integral part of the defensive system and has been a major part of Denver's goal-line defense. He signed with Chicago as an unrestricted free agent in 1999 and spent one season with the club before his return to Denver. Burns has played in 135 regular season games (2 starts), compiling 69 tackles (45 solo), including 1.5 sacks (-9), to go along with one interception (15 yds.), three passes defended, one forced fumble, 158 special teams tackles and six kickoff returns for 59 yds. (9.8) with a long of 18. He led the Broncos in special teams tackles in 1996 (16), 1998 (19) and 2000 (24), tied for the team lead in 1995 (16) and 2001 (21), and finished fourth in 2002 (12). Burns' post-season résumé includes nine games played, nine special teams tackles, one special teams fumble recovery and two kickoff returns for 30 yds. (15.0). He was drafted by the Broncos in the seventh round in 1994 (210th overall).

2002: Burns—voted by his teammates as special teams captain and the club's nominee for the Ed Block Courage Award—saw action on special teams in all 16 games and ranked fourth on the team with 12 special teams tackles, as well as a forced fumble and a blocked punt. Burns started at middle linebacker at S.D. (12/1) and made one solo tackle, but played only on special teams after the first series. He blocked a Dan Stryzinski punt in overtime at K.C. (10/20) to set up Jason Elam's game-winning field goal. Burns also played from scrimmage in the opener vs. St. Louis (9/8), replacing Al Wilson, who suffered from leg cramps. Burns posted a season-high three special teams stops at S.F. (9/15) and forced a fumble by 49ers punt returner Jimmy Williams.

2001: Burns played in all 16 games, making three tackles on defense (2 solo) and tying for the team lead with 21 tackles on special teams (with George Coghill), as well as a forced fumble and two recoveries. At Mia. (12/2) Burns saw his first action at linebacker since Ariz. (9/23), making one tackle, while posting three tackles on special teams. He was named special teams captain for the second half of the season. Burns added to his special teams statistics vs. Wash. (11/18) by recovering a fumble that led to the only Denver touchdown of the day. He posted three special teams tackles vs. S.D. (11/11) and one fumble recovery to set up a Jason Elam field goal. Burns saw action in a reserve role on defense in the first two games of the season (vs. NYG, 9/10 and at Ariz., 9/23), and posted his first two tackles (1 solo) in the latter contest. He played only on special teams in Games 3-11 and 13-16.

2000: Burns re-signed with the Broncos Sept. 19 and played in all 13 remaining games, posting two tackles (1 solo) and one pass defended. Despite missing the first three games he led the team with a career-high 24 special teams tackles—including a team-high four at N.O. (12/3) and vs. Cleve. (10/15)—and had three forced fumbles and one fumble recovery on special teams. Burns was outstanding on special teams vs. Sea. (12/10), posting two tackles, his third forced fumble and his first fumble recovery of the season. He knocked the ball from the hands of Seahawks kick returner Charlie Rogers in the third qtr. after a Denver touchdown and pounced on the ball to set up a field goal that gave the Broncos a 24-3 lead. He forced his second fumble at N.O. (12/3). Burns saw his first action vs. K.C. (9/24) and posted two special teams tackles. He added one more vs. N.E. (10/1) and two the following week at S.D. (10/8). In the latter contest he saw his only defensive action of the season and posted two stops (1 solo) and a pass defended. Burns made one tackle on special teams in Denver's AFC Wild Card Playoff Game at Balt. (12/31). Burns played in all four preseason games with Chicago and posted 21 tackles (12 solo) and one forced fumble, while also contributing four special teams tackles. He led the Bears in tackles in the first and last games of the preseason with 12 (6 solo) at the Giants and eight (6 solo) vs. Tennessee, but was waived in the final cutdown by the Bears.

1999: Burns signed with Chicago as an unrestricted free agent April 6 and played in 15 games with the Bears. He ranked second on the club with a then-career-high 22 special teams tackles. Defensively he added seven more stops and grabbed his first career interception (at Wash., 10/31), which he returned 15 yds. Burns posted a special teams tackle in his first game with Chicago (vs. K.C., 9/12) and replaced an injured Sean Harris at middle linebacker in the second half at Min. (10/10). He had a season-high four tackles (2 solo) at S.D. (11/21).

1998: Burns played in all 16 games for the Broncos, seeing action on defense and special teams. He posted eight defensive tackles (6 solo) with one pass defended, while adding a team-leading 19 tackles on special teams, including a season-high five vs. Philadelphia (10/4). His pass defended at Washington (9/27) was the first of his NFL career. Burns left the San Diego game (11/29) in the 1st qtr. with a left thigh bruise, and did not return. Burns saw action at linebacker and on special teams in all three postseason games, making a team-leading five tackles (3 vs. Jets) on special teams and recovering a fumble. The recovery came in the 3rd qtr. of the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17), on the kickoff that followed the Broncos' first touchdown of the day, giving Denver possession at the Jets' 31-yd. line, trailing 10-7. The possession led to a Jason Elam field goal and a 10-10 tie, en route to a 23-10 victory. Burns added a special teams tackle in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31).

1997: Burns played in all 16 games and contributed on defense and special teams. He recorded three tackles on defense (2 solo), added 10 more on special teams and returned three kickoffs for 37 yards (12.3). He returned one kickoff for eight yards at Seattle (9/7) and also had one assisted tackle at Atlanta (9/28) and two solo tackles at San Diego (11/30). In the postseason Burns saw action at linebacker and on special teams in all four games, posting two special teams tackles and returning one kickoff for 16 yards in the Super Bowl. In Super Bowl XXXII vs. Green Bay Burns saw action at linebacker and also contributed one tackle and a 16-yard kickoff return on special teams. He also had a special teams stop in the AFC Championship Game at Pittsburgh on Jan. 11.

1996: Burns played in all 16 regular season games, primarily on special teams, but also as a backup at middle linebacker, making five tackles (two solo). He also made 16 special teams tackles, according to unofficial press box statistics, to tie for the team lead. Against Seattle (12/1) Burns was in on 11 defensive plays and made two tackles (1 solo), while also contributing one tackle on special teams. He was also involved in the goal-line stand that helped clinch the Broncos' 17-12 victory over Chicago (11/10). In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Jacksonville (1/4/97) Burns made one special teams tackle and returned one kickoff for 14 yards. He had offseason surgery on his right shoulder Jan. 15, 1997.

1995: Burns saw action in all 16 games in his second year, playing both at linebacker and on special teams. He made 22 tackles (14 solo)—including 1.5 sacks—and forced a fumble on defense, in addition to leading the team with 16 special teams tackles. He also had two fumble recoveries on special teams. Burns recorded his first career sack against Washington (9/17), dropping Redskins quarterback Gus Frerotte for an eight-yard loss in the fourth quarter. His season high in tackles came at Seattle (10/1) when he recorded six (5 solo) and added one on special teams. Against Oakland (10/16), Burns saw his most extensive action of the season after Dave Wyman was ejected in the first quarter following a personal foul. He responded with four tackles (3 solo) and a forced fumble as the Broncos went on to shut out the Raiders 27-0. Burns recovered fumbles on special teams in back-to-back games, versus San Diego (11/19) and at Houston (11/26).

1994: Burns played in 11 of the Broncos' 16 games during his rookie season, including one start on opening day against San Diego (9/4). He immediately made his presence felt by recording nine tackles (8 solo), second-best on the team, in his first NFL game in place of the injured Dave Wyman. His next-best numbers came two weeks later against the Raiders (9/18) when he notched five stops (4 solo). Burns saw time primarily on special teams throughout the rest of his rookie season, finishing the year with 18 tackles (14 solo).

COLLEGE: Burns recorded 233 tackles (182 solo), six sacks, one interception, five fumble recoveries and three forced fumbles during his two years at Oklahoma State. He earned second-team All-America and first-team All-Big Eight honors from Football News, as well as Playboy All-America honors as a senior in 1993. He played both at strongside outside linebacker and middle linebacker during the season, leading the Cowboys with 107 tackles (80 solo) and adding one sack, three fumble recoveries and three pass deflections. Burns, who also earned first-team All-Big Eight kudos and Big Eight Defensive Newcomer of the Year honors as a junior transfer in 1992, closed out his collegiate career with an appearance in the East-West Shrine Game. He played his first two collegiate seasons at Navarro (Texas) Junior College where he earned first-team JUCO All-America honors in 1991, recording 192 tackles (102 solo), six sacks, three interceptions, six pass deflections, four forced fumbles and three fumble recoveries.

PERSONAL: Keith and his wife, Michelle, have two daughters, Danielle and Rachel, and a son, Keith, and make their home in Englewood, Colo. A native of Greelyville, S.C., Burns earned three letters in football, two in basketball and one in baseball at T.C. Williams High School in Alexandria, Va., where he was also a two-time all-district selection in basketball. He has his associate of arts degree from Navarro Junior College and was a sociology major at Oklahoma State. Keith enjoys bowling in his spare time. Keith Bernard Burns was born May 16, 1972 in Greelyville, S.C.

GUARD/TACKLE

Cooper Carlisle enters his fourth season with the Broncos looking to parlay all that he has learned and experienced in his first three seasons into a more significant role in 2003. Strong and talented, Carlisle has played in 31 games for the club, primarily on special teams, but also in a limited manner on the offensive line. He joined the Broncos as the club's second of two fourth round picks (112th overall) in the 2000 NFL Draft.

2002: Carlisle was declared inactive for 15 of the 16 games. He saw his only action of the season, on special teams, at Balt. (9/30).

2001: Carlisle played on special teams in all 16 games. His only action on the offensive line came vs. Sea. (12/9), replacing an injured Matt Lepsis at right tackle for several plays in the 3rd qtr.

2000: Carlisle played in each of the final 14 games, primarily on special teams. He saw his first action on offense in the 4th qtr. at Cin. (10/22) when he replaced an injured Tony Jones at left tackle. Carlisle's first NFL action came on special teams at Oak. (9/17) after being declared inactive for the first two games. Carlisle saw action on special teams in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31).

COLLEGE: Carlisle played in 48 games and started 32 in his four-year career at Florida, making starts at four different positions: left guard, right guard, left tackle and right tackle. A four-year Southeastern Conference Academic Honor Roll selection, he was named All-America and All-SEC as a senior in 1999 when he started all 13 games as a team tri-captain. He was also a co-recipient of the team's Leadership Award. As a junior Carlisle was co-recipient of the Gators' Most Consistent Award and received the James Kyne Award as Florida's offensive lineman iron-man, playing in 12 games and starting nine. He received the Dr. Lombardi GPA Award during the spring before his sophomore season (1997) and went to play in all 12 games with four starts at left tackle. Carlisle played in all 11 games and started six at left tackle as a redshirt freshman and was co-recipient of the offensive squad's Most Improved Freshman award during the spring. He was redshirted in 1995. Carlisle was a business/finance major at Florida.

PERSONAL: Carlisle was a Blue Chip Illustrated All-America selection, adding USA Today honorable mention and first-team all-state honors as a three-year starter at McComb (Miss.) High School. He was rated one of the nation's top 15 offensive linemen by Blue Chip Illustrated, and was chosen to play in the Mississippi-Alabama all-star game. Cooper's hobbies include hunting and fishing. His brother, Will, played on the offensive line at Tulane, and his uncle, Duke Carlisle, was a quarterback at Texas who went on to play in the NFL. Cooper Morrison Carlisle was born Aug. 11, 1977 in Greenville, Miss. He and his wife, Suzy, make their home in Redding Shores, Fla.

TIGHT END

Dwayne Carswell's role with the Broncos changed a bit last year with the return of Shannon Sharpe, but he was often called upon in the running game as the team's best blocking tight end. His career took a major step in a positive direction in 2001 as he was selected to play in the Pro Bowl for the first time in his career after having been voted in as an alternate. He enters his 10th season with the Broncos, and teams with Sharpe as the senior members of a talented group of tight ends who combine to make it one of the strongest units on the team. Carswell's Pro Bowl season in 2001 came a year after a breakthrough season in which he more than doubled his previous career bests with 49 receptions for 495 yards and three touchdowns. He had previously distinguished himself as one of the Broncos' top special teams players, being chosen captain of that unit in 1997. Carswell has played in 125 career games (57 starts), catching 162 passes for 1,453 yards (9.0) with a long of 43 yards and 11 touchdowns, while making 29 special teams tackles. He has also played in nine postseason games (one start) and caught seven passes for 63 yards (9.0) with a long of 26 and made two special teams tackles. Carswell has played in every game for the Broncos since 1996, competing in 96 consecutive games entering the 2002 season. He began his career with the Broncos in 1994 as a rookie free agent from Liberty University.

2002: Carswell played in all 16 games, and started seven, four times when the Broncos opened the game in a two-tight end set (at Balt., 9/30; vs. S.D., 10/6; vs. Mia., 10/13 and vs. K.C., 12/15) and also in games 11-13 (at Sea., 11/17; vs. Ind., 11/24 and at S.D., 12/1) as the No. 1 tight end, replacing the injured Shannon Sharpe. He caught 21 passes for 189 yds. (9.0), including a 1-yd. touchdown pass from Brian Griese vs. Buf. (9/22). Carswell tied a season high with five receptions at S.D. (12/1) for 54 yards. He also returned a kickoff for 14 yds. (vs. Ind., 11/24). Carswell also caught five passes for a season-high 57 yards (11.4) vs. Oak (11/11).

2001: Carswell—selected to play in the Pro Bowl for the first time—started all 16 games, catching 34 passes for 299 yds. (8.8) with a long of 25 and a career-high four touchdowns. He tied his career single-game best for receptions at K.C. (12/16), with six for 62 yds., matching his effort at Detroit on Christmas Day, 1999. Carswell caught his fourth touchdown of the season at Dal. (11/22) on a 4-yd. pass from Brian Griese, to eclipse his previous single-season record. His third touchdown came vs. S.D. (11/11) on a 3-yd. reception from Griese. At Oak (11/5) he caught three balls for a season-high 46 yds. (15.3) with a long of 19. Carswell caught his second touchdown of the season vs. N.E. (10/28) on a 6-yd. pass from Griese in the 3rd qtr. to put Denver ahead 24-20 in an eventual 31-20 win. He caught a season-high four passes for 40 yds. at Sea. (10/14). Carswell's first touchdown of the season came vs. Bal. (9/30) on a 3-yd. toss from Griese. At Ariz. (9/23) he caught two balls for 33 yds. (16.5), with a long of 25, after catching one pass for 25 yds. in the season opener vs. the Giants (9/10).

2000: Carswell started all 16 games at tight end and set career highs in every receiving category by ranking third on the team with 49 receptions for 495 yds. (10.1) and three touchdowns, with a long of 43. He eclipsed his previous career highs for receptions and yds. (24/201, 1999) by Week 8 and his standard for TDs by Game 13. Carswell posted his career-best third touchdown of the season on the longest reception of his career, a 43-yarder from Gus Frerotte at N.O. (12/3). His second came on a 5-yd. pass from Frerotte vs. S.D. (11/19). Carswell's 35-yd. reception at Cin. (10/22) was the longest of his career at the time, en route to a career-high 68 yds. on four receptions. His touchdown came on a 14-yd. pass from Brian Griese at S.D. (10/8), among his three catches for 29 yds. (9.7). Carswell posted a season high five receptions vs. Atl. (9/10) for a then career-high 54 yds. (10.8), and matched the receptions figure with five for 30 yds. (6.0) vs. Cleve. (10/15). He tied his season high again with five receptions for 50 yds. (10.0) vs. Oak. (11/13). Carswell started at tight end in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and caught two passes for 8 yds. (4.0), with a long of 6.

1999: Carswell played in all 16 games and started the last 11, catching 24 passes for 201 yds. (8.4) and two touchdowns, with a long of 20, while also contributing on special teams. He set a new career high with six receptions at Detroit (12/25), for 35 yds., and scored his second touchdown of the season on a 9-yd. pass from Brian Griese in the 4th qtr. Carswell twice caught three passes for 31 yds. (at New England, 10/24 and vs. Minnesota, 10/31), and caught three for 22 at Jax. (12/13). His first touchdown of the season came on a 9-yd. reception from Griese in the 4th qtr. vs. Seattle (12/19). Carswell took over the starting tight end position after Shannon Sharpe went down in Week 5 at Oakland (10/10) with a broken clavicle, and shared playing time with Byron Chamberlain.

1998: Carswell played in all 16 games as the second tight end and caught four passes for 51 yds. (12.8) with a long of 15, as well as on special teams, where he made 10 tackles and forced a fumble (at K.C., 11/16). He started at Seattle (10/11) when the Broncos opened in a two-tight end alignment. Carswell saw action as the second tight end and on special teams in all three postseason games and caught one pass for 7 yds., while making one special teams tackle. The pass reception came in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17/99), while the special teams tackle came in the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9).

1997: Carswell contributed in a reserve role at tight end and on special teams in all 16 games, and made two starts as Denver opened the game in a two-tight end set at Buffalo (10/26) and Kansas City (11/16). For the year he recorded 12 receptions for 96 yards (8.0), and scored his first career touchdown on a career-best 24-yard reception from John Elway vs. St. Louis (9/14). In that game Carswell tied his career high for receptions (4), and set a new career high for receiving yards (47). He also injured tissue on the top of his left foot during the St. Louis game and was held out of practice the following week, but did not miss a game. Carswell made 12 special teams tackles on the season, and recovered a fumble on a kickoff at Buffalo (10/26). He was named the Broncos' special teams captain at midseason, joining offensive captains John Elway and Terrell Davis and defensive captains Steve Atwater and Bill Romanowski. In the postseason Carswell saw action at tight end in all four postseason games and caught two passes for 30 yards (15.0) with a long of 26, while also contributing one tackle on special teams. In Denver's 31-24 victory in Super Bowl XXXII vs. Green Bay (1/25/98) Carswell caught one pass for four yards, and also contributed on special teams. His other postseason grab, a 26-yarder, came in Denver's 14-10 AFC Divisional Playoff win at Kansas City (1/4/98).

1996: Carswell saw action in all 16 regular season games and started one at tight end in place of Shannon Sharpe (at San Diego, 12/22). Most of his action during the regular season came on special teams and as the second tight end on offense. For the season he caught 15 passes for 85 yards, and made five special teams tackles according to unofficial press box statistics. He caught a career-high four passes (16 yards) vs. Oakland (12/15) in the Broncos' 24-19 victory, and later started at tight end in place of Shannon Sharpe (ankle) at San Diego (12/22) in Denver's regular season finale and caught three passes for 24 yards. Carswell started as the second tight end for Denver against the Chargers on Oct. 6, as the Broncos opened the game in a two-tight end set. He caught a three-yard pass and made one special teams tackle. He also saw plenty of action at tight end in Denver's regular season opener against the Jets, as Shannon Sharpe was nursing a slightly sprained ankle. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff vs. Jacksonville, Carswell saw action as the backup tight end, catching two passes for 18 yards with a long of 10, and also contributed on special teams in his first career postseason game.

1995: Carswell was declared inactive for seven of the Broncos' first 13 games, before making his first career start against Seattle Dec. 10. He replaced the injured Shannon Sharpe (eye) and Jerry Evans (knee) in the starting lineup, and did so again the following week at Kansas City (12/17) when he caught two passes for 32 yards, including a career-best 23-yarder. He sprained his ankle on the second play of the game, but played through it. For the year, Carswell caught three passes for 37 yards and made two special teams tackles. His first action of the season came at Seattle (10/1) when he played on special teams, and he made his first appearance on offense versus Arizona (11/5). Carswell's first career start came Dec. 10 against Seattle when he caught his first career pass, a five-yarder from John Elway in the second quarter. He was inactive for the first four games of the season.

1994: Carswell spent the first 11 weeks of the season on the practice squad before being moved to the active roster during the week of the Cincinnati game (11/27). He played on special teams during that game, and then saw his first duty at tight end the following week at Kansas City (12/4). Carswell again saw action in the following two games, recovering a fumble against the Raiders (12/11), but was inactive in the season finale against New Orleans (12/24).

COLLEGE: Carswell finished his career at Liberty with 65 receptions for 511 yards and two touchdowns, and posted senior-year totals of 32 receptions for 259 yards (7.9) in 1993. He also played in the Flames' offensive backfield for two seasons, finishing 1991 with 435 yards rushing and five touchdowns. Carswell was coached at Liberty by former Cleveland Browns' head coach Sam Rutigliano.

PERSONAL: Carswell, a native of Jacksonville, Fla., earned all-state honors as a junior and senior at Temple and University Christian High Schools. He was named second-team all-state as a sophomore at Temple, and also earned all-conference, all-district and all-county honors during his high school career as a safety, running back and wide receiver. Carswell was named in 1999 to the Top 100 Athletes of Jacksonville list. He and his wife, Tamara, make their home in Aurora, Colo., with their daughters, Ashley and Aaron.

CORNERBACK

Corey Chamblin is a quick and aggressive cornerback who joins the Broncos looking to add depth to the secondary. He did not play in 2002 after being released by Tampa Bay Sept. 1. In 2001, he again was out of football after being released during training camp by Green Bay. Chamblin's only NFL experience came when he appeared in 11 regular-season games for Jacksonville in 1999, all on special teams, where he notched three special teams tackles and blocked a punt in a divisional playoff game against Miami (1/15/00). He was signed by the Broncos as a free agent Jan. 7, 2003.

2002: Chamblin was out of football after spending training camp with Tampa Bay, before being released on Sept. 1.

2001: Chamblin signed as a free agent with Green Bay on Aug. 2, before being waived on Aug. 27. He spent the rest of the season out of football.

2000: Chamblin spent training camp with Jacksonville before being released on Aug. 22, and spent the remainder of the year out of football.

1999: Chamblin signed with Baltimore as a college free agent, but was waived on Sept. 5. He was then signed to Jacksonville's practice squad on Sept. 7 before being released on Sept. 21 and signed to the active roster. He appeared in 11 regular-season games for the Jaguars, all on special teams, where he notched three special teams tackles and blocked a punt in a divisional playoff game against Miami (1/15/00).

COLLEGE: Chamblin was a preseason All-Ohio Valley Conference selection his senior year at Tennessee Tech. He played in 43 games with 35 starts, totaling 161 tackles, three interceptions, eight passes defended and two blocked punts.

PERSONAL: Chamblin, a native of Birmingham, Ala., is a graduate of Ensley High School where he earned four letters in football and track. He led the football team to two area championships and also served as a senator on the student government association. Corey Jermaine Chamblin was born May, 29, 1977 in Birmingham, Ala.

81WIDE RECEIVER

Chris Cole—after spending the entire 2002 season on injured reserve due to a dislocated right wrist suffered in training camp—returns with hopes of fighting for a spot in the Broncos' loaded receiving corps. Prior to the injury, Cole showed steady improvement throughout his first two NFL seasons and will be counted on to not only return to that level, but reach new heights in 2003. Offensively he became more acclimated to the Broncos' passing game in 2001 and made two starts during the second half of the season, while also handling the kick return duties for most of the season. Blessed with lightning speed and superb athletic ability, Cole has played in 24 career games (2 starts) and caught nine passes for 128 yds. (14.2) with a long of 21, while returning 59 kicks for 1,391 yds. (23.6) with a long of 52. Cole joined the Broncos as the club's third-round draft choice in 2000 (70th overall) from Texas A&M.

2002: Cole spent the entire 2002 season on the injured reserve list after dislocating his right wrist in the Broncos' preseason opener vs. the Bears in Champaign, Ill. (8/10). He was placed on injured reserve Aug. 20.

2001: Cole played in all 16 games and started two (at Mia., 12/2 and at Ind., 1/6), catching nine passes for 128 yds. (14.2) with a long of 21 on the season, while posting eight special teams tackles and one forced fumble. He ranked third in the AFC (T10th NFL) in kickoff return average (23.5), returning 48 kicks for 1,127 yds., with a long of 52. The 48 returns tied the franchise record set by Chris Watson in 1999, while his yardage total ranked fifth all-time. Cole made his second start of the season in the finale at Ind. (1/6) and caught one pass for 17 yds. He made one catch at K.C. (12/16), for 19 yds., his second longest of the season, on a crucial third-down play. Cole started his first NFL game at Mia. (12/2), with Rod Smith out (left ankle), and set new career highs with four receptions for 43 yds. (10.8). He previously saw his most extensive action vs. Wash. (11/18), making his first two NFL receptions for 37 yds. (18.5), including a long of 21 on his first catch, which remained his longest reception of the season. He also added a special teams tackle. Cole returned a kickoff 48 yds. vs. S.D. (11/11), among his two returns for 76 yds. on the day. He returned seven kickoffs (for 162 yds.) at Oak. (11/5), tying the Broncos' single-game record, last reached by Glyn Milburn in 1995 (11/26 vs. Houston). Cole posted his longest career return of 52 yds. at S.D. (10/21), totalling a career-high 182 yds. on six returns (30.3) for the day. He started returning kicks after starter Kevin Kasper sprained his ankle vs. K.C. (10/7). Cole returned six kicks for 136 yds. (22.7) at Sea. (10/14).

2000: Cole saw action in eight games and was inactive for the other eight. He played in four straight games (wks. 2-5) after being inactive for the season-opener, but then missed five weeks because of a dislocated left elbow suffered vs. N.E. (10/1). Cole returned to practice after the Broncos bye week (Wk. 9), and returned to game action in Week 12 vs. S.D. (11/19). He was inactive again for the final two games (at K.C., 12/17 and vs. S.F., 12/23). Cole returned 11 kicks for 264 yds. (24.0) with a long of 37, and posted six special teams tackles. He returned a season-high five kickoffs for 122 yds. (24.4) with a long of 31 vs. K.C. (9/24). Cole saw his first NFL action vs. Atlanta (9/10) and posted one special teams tackle and one kickoff return for 17 yds., then added another tackle at Oak. (9/17), along with three kickoff returns for 84 yds. (28.0), including a long of 37. Cole was declared inactive for the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31).

COLLEGE: One of the leading receivers in Texas A&M history, Cole caught 89 passes for 1,383 yards and eight touchdowns in his career with the traditionally run-oriented Aggies, and added four catches for 32 yards (8.0) in three bowl games. He ranks 10th on the school's career receptions list and sixth in yards, while posting a per-catch average of 16 yards. Cole's best numbers came as a junior in 1998 when he started nine of 13 games and led the Aggies in receptions (38), receiving yards (667) and touchdowns (5), while posting a 17.6 yards-per-catch average. His yardage total ranks sixth on the Aggies' single-season list. He played as a true freshman in 1996, then caught 25 passes for 333 yards as a sophomore. He closed his career with 22 catches for 363 yards in 1999. Cole was a sociology major at Texas A&M, and was a member of Aggie Athletes Involved, a community outreach program.

PERSONAL: Cole was named second-team all-state after catching 53 passes for 860 yards and 14 touchdowns as a senior at West Orange-Stark High School in Orange, Texas. He ranked among the state's leading receivers in Class 4A, and helped lead his team to the state semifinals. Cole also qualified for the state track meet in the long jump and triple jump as a senior. Charles Christopher Cole was born Nov. 12, 1977 in Orange, Texas. He resides in Littleton, Colo.

21RUNNING BACK

KaRon Coleman has proven valuable as a reserve running back in each of his three seasons with the Broncos. Last year, he played on special teams the first two games, but was inactive for 13 of the final 14. The former rookie free agent initially made an impact in 2000 when the club was dealt a spate of injuries, and was available again when lightning struck in 2001. Blessed with great quickness and cutback ability, Coleman has played in 15 career games and rushed for 200 yards and a touchdown on 58 carries, while also catching seven passes for 50 yards (7.1). The son of former Houston Oiler Ronnie Coleman, KaRon looks to make a contribution in 2003 in a Broncos backfield that is as deep and talented as any in the NFL.

2002: Coleman played on special teams in the first two games (vs. St. L., 9/8 and at S.F., 9/15), but was declared inactive for 13 of the final 14. He was active at N.E. (10/27), but did not play. Coleman had one fumble recovery and one kickoff return for 6 yds. (at S.F., 9/15). He recovered a fumble by St. Louis kick returner Lamar Gordon on the Rams' 25-yd. line in the opener (9/8), which set up a 32-yd. Jason Elam field goal.

2001: Coleman, who was waived by the Broncos in the final cutdown (9/2), was re-signed by the club Nov. 26 after Olandis Gary was placed on injured reserve. He played in four games and was inactive for one (vs. Oak., 12/30), rushing four times for 17 yds. (4.3) with a long of 8, which came vs. Sea. (12/9). He also caught six passes for 45 yds. (7.5) with a long of 9. Coleman played in his first game at Mia. (12/2) and had the best receiving day of his career with four catches for 32 yds. (8.0) and a long of 9, while rushing for nine yds. on two carries (4.5).

2000: Coleman played in nine games (Gms. 2, 5, 7, 11-16) and rushed 54 times for 183 yds. (3.4) with a long of 24 and one touchdown, while adding one reception for 5 yds. His longest run of the season (24 yds.) came vs. S.F. (12/23) and went for his first NFL touchdown to give Denver a 10-0 lead. Coleman's 52 yds. on the day were his season high, while his most rushing attempts (14) came at S.D. (10/8). His one reception (5 yds.) also came at S.D. Coleman sprained his foot in the game and was declared inactive (Sun.) the next week vs. Cleve. (10/15). He played again at Cin. (10/22), then was inactive at the Jets (11/5) and vs. Oak. (11/13) before playing in each of the final six games. Coleman was signed to the active roster from the practice squad Sat., Sept. 9, and played in his first NFL game the next day vs. Atlanta (9/10), rushing seven times for 21 yds. (3.0) with a long of 9. He then returned to the practice squad (waived 9/12; signed 9/13) for three weeks before being re-signed to the active roster Oct. 4. Coleman saw action in a reserve role and on special teams in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31). He wore No. 46 during his rookie season before switching to No. 21 prior to the 2001 season.

COLLEGE: Coleman played collegiately at Stephen F. Austin State, where he appeared in 40 games (26 starts) and rushed for 2,755 yards on 509 attempts (5.4 avg.) and scored 23 touchdowns. He also caught 42 passes for 399 yards (9.5 avg.) and four more scores, while adding 66 punt returns for 792 yards (12.0 avg.) and two touchdowns and 21 kickoff returns for 405 yards (19.2 avg.). Coleman had 929 yards rushing as a senior and scored 16 touchdowns.

PERSONAL: Coleman was an All-District 20-5A and All-Fort Bend County running back at Elkins High School in Missouri City, Texas, where he gained 986 yards and scored 10 touchdowns on 158 carries (6.2 avg.) his senior year. Coleman also lettered in track as a shot-put thrower. He was a hospitality administration major at Stephen F. Austin. KaRon's father, Ronnie, played eight seasons for the Houston Oilers. Coleman was born May 22, 1978 in Missouri City, Texas. He and his wife, Jasmine, have a son, KaRon, Jr., 3, and a daughter, Journee, 1, and reside in Greenwood Village, Colo.

DEFENSIVE TACKLE

Lional Dalton quickly emerged as an inside force on the Broncos' defensive line in 2002, after coming to Denver from Baltimore. Dalton, playing in 16 games and starting 13, helped a defense that was considered one of league's best against the rush last year. Denver finished the season ranked fourth in the AFC and sixth in the NFL against the rush. The Broncos limited their opponents to just 93.1 yards a game on the ground, and just 3.9 yards per carry. Dalton last year accounted for 39 total tackles (33 solo) and one sack for 13 yards. He also had one pass defended and one forced fumble. Dalton, who entered the league as an undrafted rookie free agent, has shown steady improvement each season in the NFL, and has appeared in 66 games (19 starts) and made 137 tackles (87 solo), including two sacks (-15), and added three passes defended and three forced fumbles. In six postseason games, including Baltimore's 34-7 win over the Giants in Super Bowl XXXV, Dalton has posted six tackles (5 solo). He spent the first four years of his career with the Ravens.

2002: Dalton started at left defensive tackle in 13 of 16 games and posted 39 tackles (33 solo), including one sack (-13), as well as a pass defended and a forced fumble. In the season finale vs. Ariz. (12/29) he sacked Josh McCown in the 4th qtr. for a 13-yd. loss, and forced a fumble on the play that was recovered by Ian Gold to set up a Denver touchdown. His pass defense came at Oak. (12/22) when he batted down a Rich Gannon pass. Dalton did not start vs. Ind. (11/24) when the Broncos opened up in a nickel defense, but did see significant action and posted a season-high five solo tackles. Dalton also did not start at Oak. (12/22) or vs. K.C. (12/15).

2001: Dalton played in all 16 games, with three starts, for Baltimore and recorded 29 tackles (15 solo), including three four-tackle games. His first came in the opener vs. Chicago (9/9), and included one solo stop. He also had four tackles (2 solo) vs. Cleve. (11/18) and vs. Ind. (12/2) (2 solo) in his first start of the season. In the latter contest he replaced the injured Sam Adams (knee). Dalton also had three three-tackle games on the year, and posted at least one stop in 14 of the 16 games. He also played in both of Baltimore's playoff contests and contributed one assisted tackle, which came in Baltimore's 27-10 Divisional Playoff loss at Pittsburgh..

2000: Dalton played an integral role on a defense that set a 16-game NFL season record by allowing only 165 points and 970 yards rushing. He played in all 16 games, making one start, and posted a career-high 33 tackles (21 solo) along with two pass breakups. Dalton's one start came on Oct. 29 vs. Pittsburgh, when he replaced the injured Tony Siragusa (calf) at right defensive tackle, and he responded with a season-high six tackles. He also had six tackles (5 solo) at Wash. (10/15) as he played most of the game in place of Sam Adams, who left the contest after the fourth play because of a groin injury. Dalton added five solo tackles in the Ravens' four-game postseason run that concluded with a victory over the Giants in Super Bowl XXXV in Tampa, Fla. He had two tackles in a Divisional Playoff win at Tennessee and a solo stop each in the AFC Championship Game at Oakland and the Super Bowl.

1999: Dalton played in 16 games, and made two starts, for Baltimore. He posted 32 tackles (16 solo), including one sack (-2), and forced a fumble. Dalton's first career sack came in a shutout victory over Cincinnati (12/26) and was one of his four tackles in the game, as the defense held Corey Dillon 27 rushing yards. He made his first career start at right defensive tackle vs. Cleve. Sept. 26, subbing for the injured Tony Siragusa (ankle). A week later he replaced Siragusa again (knee) in a start at Atlanta (10/3) and made four tackle, including one for a loss.

1998: Dalton, an undrafted rookie free agent, played in two games and recorded four tackles (2 solo). He forced a fumble against Barry Sanders and the Lions (12/27) and added two tackles. Dalton saw his first NFL action the week before against Chicago (12/20) and recorded two tackles. Dalton, the only rookie free agent to make the Ravens' roster that year, was inactive for the season's first 14 games.

COLLEGE: Dalton was a three-year letterman and two-year starter at Eastern Michigan, where he twice earned All-Mid American Conference honors and was selected co-Defensive MVP for the Eagles as a senior in 1997. He was selected after the season to play in the Hula Bowl All-Star Game, on the strength of a stellar season in which he recorded 46 tackles (23 solo) and two fumble recoveries while fighting through constant double- and triple teams as the top performer on the Eagles' defensive line. His junior year numbers were even better as he made 62 tackles. Dalton posted 116 tackles (58 solo) in his career, including four sacks, and recovered two fumbles. He was named Defensive Eagle of the Week five times in his career. Dalton also competed in track and field, and as a sophomore broke the school record for the shot put (56'-2"). He was a communications major.

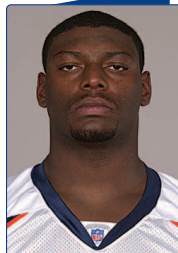

PERSONAL: A native of Detroit, Mich., Dalton was a first-team all-state selection at Cooley High School. He also earned all-state honors in track and field. He was named first-team Class AA All-State and All-Public School League by the Detroit Free Press. Dalton was also first-team All-Metro Detroit and second-team All-Metro by the Detroit News. He was involved in a variety of community relations events while in Baltimore and is also a member of the Phi Beta Sigma fraternity. Not only do Dalton's hobbies include playing video games and dancing, but he also plays the cello. His nickname is "Jelly." Lional Deshaun Dalton was born Feb. 21, 1975 in Detroit, Mich. He and his wife, Kim, make their home in Aurora, Colo. During last season they had their first child, Laila (1).

DEFENSIVE LINEMAN

Dorsett Davis spent last season gaining valuable experience in the NFL, and looks to make major strides in his second year with the team. The Broncos acquired Davis after making a draft-day trade to acquire the third-round draft pick they used. An imposing physical specimen from Mississippi State, Davis spent the entire 2002 season on the active roster, but was inactive for all 16 games. He played collegiately at Mississippi State, after transferring from Mississippi Delta Community College and became a two-year starter. In 32 career games he recorded 150 tackles (79 solos), including four sacks (-28 yds.) and 13 tackles for losses (-55). Davis was used as a defensive end in his first two years as a Bulldog, before moving to defensive tackle for his senior season. He was the Broncos' third round (96th overall) selection in the 2002 NFL Draft.

2002: Davis was declared inactive for all 16 games.

COLLEGE: Davis played in all 11 games and started 10 at left defensive tackle in 2001, recording 55 tackles (28 solo), including a 2-yd. sack, and had five stops for losses of 9 yds. He was also credited with three quarterback pressures and two pass deflections. In his junior year, Davis started nine of the first 10 games at left defensive end, with his only non-start coming vs. Auburn, when he came off the bench. For the season he recorded 54 tackles (30 solo), including a 5-yd. sack and four stops for losses of 9 yds., and also caused a fumble and deflected five passes. In 1999, Davis was a valuable reserve defensive end in his first season at Mississippi State, recording 41 tackles (21 solo), including two sacks (-21 yds.) and four stops for losses (-37), and three pass deflections. Davis' first sack came vs. Oklahoma State (-11), and his second came vs. Kentucky (-10). While playing at Mississippi Delta Community College in 1998, Davis was rated the third-best strongside defensive tackle in the country by Max Emfinger in his National Bluechips newsletter, a listing that combined both high school and junior college prospects. Davis started 10 games at left defensive end after not playing in his first year of eligibility in junior college, in 1997.

PERSONAL: Davis was a USA Today honorable mention All-American on the defensive line following his senior season at East Side High School in Cleveland, Miss. He ranked with the top prep defensive linemen in the Southeast by many publications, and was considered a top prospect regardless of position by most. Davis was also selected to the Mississippi squad for the Alabama/Mississippi All-Star Football Classic after posting 102 tackles and eight sacks during his senior season, helping his team to an 11-1 record and a state playoff appearance. As a junior he made 83 tackles, including nine quarterback sacks, and recovered four fumbles. Davis was also a standout basketball player and track athlete, averaging 17 points and 10 rebounds during his junior season on the hardwood, and finished second in the state with a shot-put toss of 50'-2". Dorsett Terrell Davis was born Jan. 24, 1979 in Shelby, Miss.

RUNNING BACK

Terrell Davis, whose first four NFL seasons were as spectacular and accomplished as those of any running back in pro football history, has made solid strides to get healthy this past offseason, and looks to try and become the "T.D." of old. Davis suffered a setback last year, and spent the entire season on the injured reserve list. His last playing time came in 2001 with starts in each of the final five games. It marked the first time since the end of the 1998 season that Davis had been able to stay injury-free and play in more than four consecutive games, and in that span he averaged 4.7 yards per carry and 89.4 yards per game. His comeback, and his perseverance through adversity, prompted his teammates to nominate him for the 2001 Ed Block Courage Award. He was limited to just nine games over the course of the 1999-2000 seasons due to knee and lower leg injuries, and was able to play in just three of the Broncos' first 11 games last year before regaining his health and catching his stride in Week 12. Davis' 1999 season was reduced to just four games because of a torn right anterior cruciate ligament and a partially torn medial collateral ligament, as well as cartilage damage. He manged just five games (four starts) in 2000 because of ankle and lower leg injuries that began in the opening game and hounded him throughout the season. Last year Davis underwent a right knee scope after Week 1 and a left knee scope after Week 9, missing a total of eight games in the process. Prior to the injuries, Davis was clearly at the top of his game and was arguably the league's most outstanding player, coming off a 1998 season in which he was voted the National Football League's Most Valuable Player by the Associated Press, as the Broncos claimed their second straight World Championship. Davis, MVP of Super Bowl XXXII, is one of just nine players in NFL history to win both League and Super Bowl MVP honors in his career, joining Bart Starr, Terry Bradshaw, Marcus Allen, John Elway, Joe Montana, Steve Young, Emmitt Smith and Kurt Warner. He was voted to NFL's All-Decade team for the 1990s (second team). Davis is still on a path that has him poised to make a run at every significant rushing record in the game, all the while maintaining an active role in the Denver community, and a nationwide effort to improve the lives of America's youth through his Terrell Davis Salute the Kids Foundation and his support of Pop Warner football.

Davis led the AFC in rushing for three straight seasons, from 1996-98, and won his first NFL rushing title in '98 after finishing second behind Detroit's Barry Sanders for two years prior. He set the all-time NFL record for most rushing yards gained (2,476) in a regular and postseason combined in 1998, after setting the mark for combined attempts (495) in 1997. Davis also owns the best postseason per-rush (5.6) and per-game (142.5) averages in NFL history, while holding the third best per-game average for regular season play (97.5; Jim Brown is No. 1 at 104.3 and Barry Sanders is No. 2 at 99.8). Here is a look at some of Davis' more prominent career statistical notes after seven seasons:

- Just 78 games into his NFL career (77 starts), Terrell Davis is the Broncos' all-time leading rusher, with 7,607 yards. He is also the franchise record-holder for rushing attempts (1,655), rushing touchdowns (60) and total touchdowns (65) and ranks second in career rushing average (4.6).
- Davis has 169 receptions for 1,280 yards (7.6 avg.) and five touchdown receptions.

OFF THE FIELD

Terrell created the Terrell Davis Salute the Kids Foundation in 1999 to benefit children in need in both Denver and his hometown of San Diego. The foundation has many annual charity events that raise money to support programs that promote and develop the academic, recreational, psychological and physical well-being of children. Throughout the regular season the Salute the Kids Foundation selects 10 children to attend a Broncos home game. The children are selected through various organizations such as the YMCA, Boys & Girls Club and Outreach Program for the Homeless.

1998 NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE MOST VALUABLE PLAYER

Terrell Davis was voted the National Football League's 1998 Most Valuable Player by the Associated Press, becoming the second Broncos player ever to win the award. John Elway was MVP in 1987. Davis earned the award by posting just the fourth 2,000-yard season in NFL history, with a franchise-record 2,008 and 23 total touchdowns. He was the 13th running back to claim the award and only the fourth running back in the previous 13 years to earn the most coveted individual award in professional football.

- He holds the franchise record for total yards from scrimmage (8,887) and ranks third in combined yards (also 8,117).
- Davis holds or shares 56 team records (21 in the postseason), including most points scored in a season (138 in 1998), most total yards from scrimmage in a season (2,225 in 1998), most rushing yards in a season (2,008 in 1998), most rushing touchdowns in a season (21 in 1998), most touchdowns in a season (23 in 1998), most rushing attempts (31) and rushing yards (184) in a postseason game, and most rushing and total touchdowns (3) in a postseason game.
- Davis also has the most career rushing yards in postseason play by a Bronco (871) and the most rushing and total touchdowns in postseason play by a Bronco (11).
- In 1998 Davis earned the Associated Press NFL Most Valuable Player Award, only the second Bronco (John Elway in 1987) to do so, and became just the eighth player in NFL history (now one of nine) to win both the NFL MVP and Super Bowl MVP awards during their careers.
- Davis reached the 6,000-yard rushing plateau faster than any player in Broncos' history, and third-fastest in NFL history. He also reached 7,000 total yards from scrimmage mark faster than any other Denver player, and second-fastest in NFL history.
- Davis ranks No. 1 all-time in 100-yard rushing games in the regular season by a Bronco (34), recording his 30th in just his 59th NFL contest (12/13/98) after notching his 25th in just his 50th NFL contest (10/11/98). Only three running backs in NFL history posted 30 100-yard rushing games more quickly than Davis.
- Davis is one of only three players to rush for 6,000 yards in his first four seasons and ranks third in all-time rushing yards in the first four seasons of an NFL career.
- Davis is one of only seven players to rush for 1,000 yards in each of his first four NFL seasons, and in 1998 became only the second player in NFL history with three straight 1,500-yard rushing seasons, as well as the second player to ever have three such seasons in his first four years in the NFL.
- One of Davis' most notable accomplishments was becoming the lowest-drafted player to rush for 1,000 yards in his first season (undrafted Dominic Rhodes of Indianapolis has now topped that with a 1,000-yard rookie season in 2001). Davis posted a 1,117-yard rookie season in 1995 after being taken by the Broncos in the sixth round with the 196th overall pick.

NFL MVP & SUPER BOWL MVP

With his Associated Press Most Valuable Player award for the 1998 season, Terrell Davis became the eighth different player (it has happened nine times) to be named both League and Super Bowl MVP during their careers. Davis joins former Broncos quarterback John Elway to make Denver one of only two clubs to have multiple players accomplish the feat (San Francisco: Joe Montana and Steve Young).

DAVIS' PER-GAME AVERAGE RANKS THIRD ALL-TIME

Terrell Davis' career rushing average of 97.5 yards-per-game ranks No. 3 in NFL history, behind only Hall-of-Famer Jim Brown and future Hall-of-Famer Barry Sanders. Here's a look at the top three:

Top Three All-Time Per-Game Rushing Averages

Player	Yds./Gm.	Years Played
1. Jim Brown	104.3	1957-65
2. Barry Sanders	99.8	1989-98
3. Terrell Davis	97.5	1995-present

In just three years of participation in the postseason, Davis has already re-written the Broncos postseason record book, laying claim to 21 franchise records (56 overall). Here is a look at Davis' postseason franchise records:

- Most rushing attempts (32) and yards (199) in a game; most rushing TDs and total TDs in a game (3); longest run from scrimmage (62); most rushing and total TDs for a career (12); most total yards from scrimmage in a game (206); most total yards from scrimmage in a career (1,271); most points scored in a single postseason (48); most points scored in a career (74); most rushing yards in one year's postseason games (581); most rushing yards in a career (1,140); most 100-yard rushing games (7); most consecutive 100-yard rushing games (7); most consecutive games scoring a touchdown (7); most consecutive 20-carry performances (7); most two-point conversions in a single postseason (1); and most two point conversions in a career (1).

What is most amazing is that it took him only four postseason games to pass Sammy Winder's 461 career rushing yards (11 games). Also, Davis is the only AFC rushing leader in the 36-year history of the Super Bowl to be on the winning side in a Super Bowl game, doing so in Super Bowls XXXII and XXXIII. A conference leader has only made it to the Super Bowl nine times, with Emmitt Smith (Dallas in 1992, '93 and '95) and Davis being the only leaders to win the game. Larry Brown (Washington in 1972), Thurman Thomas (Buffalo in 1990, '91 and '93) and Jamal Anderson (1998) are the only other conference rushing champions to make it to the Super Bowl. Davis was drafted by Denver 196th overall in the sixth round of the 1995 NFL Draft.

2002: Davis spent the entire season on the Broncos injured reserve list with a left knee injury.

2001: Davis started all eight games in which he played and rushed for a team-leading 701 yds. on 167 carries (4.2) with a long of 57, while also catching 12 passes for 69 yds. (5.8) with a long of 16. He was chosen by his teammates as the Broncos' 2001 nominee for the Ed Block Courage Award, given to a player who has overcome significant adversity to return to the playing field. Davis became the franchise record-holder for career rushing attempts in the season finale at Ind. (1/6), passing Floyd Little (1,641) on his fifth carry of the game, a 4-yard gain in the 1st qtr. He finished the season with 1,655 career carries. For the day Davis carried the ball 18 times for 82 yards (4.6), with a long of 13, and passed Frank Tripucka (7,651) for third place in franchise history in total offense (passing and rushing), finishing the season at 7,607 for his career. In five consecutive starts to close the season Davis rushed for 447 yds.—an avg. of 89.4 yds. per game, which would project to 1,430 yds. over an entire season. It was his best five-game stretch in the regular season since the final five gms. of 1998 (516 yds.; avg. of 103.2). Davis had continued his steady pace vs. Oak. (12/30), rushing 18 times for 89 yards (4.9) to raise his career total in yards-from-scrimmage (rushing and receiving) to a franchise-record 8,805, passing Floyd Little (8,741). Bese by injuries for much of the past three seasons, his start at K.C. (12/16) marked the first time since Wks. 2-4 of the 1999 campaign that Davis started in three consecutive games. He played in his 75th career game vs. Sea. (12/9), rushing for 109 yds. on 19 carries (5.7) with a long of 57. He also caught two passes for eight yards. The 57-yd. scamper was his longest rush since a 70-yd. run at Seattle on 10/11/98, and helped propel him to his second 100-yd. game of the season, while extending his franchise record to 34 (reg. season). He started his fourth game of the season at Mia. (12/2), returning after a two-week layoff following arthroscopic surgery on his left knee, and rushed for 97 yds. on 20 carries (4.9). Davis suffered a tear of the lateral meniscus cartilage in his left knee vs. S.D. (11/11) and underwent arthroscopic surgery Nov. 12. He was declared inactive at Dal. (11/22) and vs. Wash. (11/18). Davis' 33 carries vs. S.D. (11/11) tied for the third most in a single game in his career, and tied for his second-highest total in a non-overtime game (42 carries in an OT win at Buf., 10/26/97; 34 at K.C., 11/16/97 and 33 at NYJ, 11/5/00). He finished the game vs. the Chargers with 83 rushing yds. and added 36 more on a season-high five receptions, but suffered the cartilage tear that would keep him out of the next two games. Davis missed six games (Wks. 2-7) after undergoing arthroscopic surgery on his right knee Sept. 20. In his return, at Oak. (11/5) Davis rushed for 70 yds. on 17 carries (4.5) and caught one pass for 16 yds., his longest of the season. Davis started the opener vs. the Giants (9/10) in his first game since November 13, 2000 and rushed for 101 yds. and a touchdown on 21 carries (4.8), moving into second place on the Broncos career rushing attempts list, ahead of Sammy Winder (1,493). Davis, who became the first Bronco to top the 7,000-yd. rushing mark for a career in the game, also had a catch for four yds.

2000: Davis played in five games and started four, rushing for 282 yds. on 78 carries (3.6) with a long of 24 and two touchdowns. An ankle/foot injury sustained in the season opener at St. Louis (9/4) hampered Davis through the first half of the season, keeping him out of five of the next seven games (vs. Atl., 9/10; at Oak., 9/17; at S.D., 10/8; vs. Cleve., 10/15 and at Cin., 10/22). He started the next two games (at the Jets, 11/5 and vs. Oak., 11/13) then returned to the inactive list for the final six games and Denver's AFC Wild Card Playoff Game at Balt. (12/31) after developing a stress reaction in his left lower leg. He wore a protective boot for the final four weeks of the regular season and the Broncos' one postseason week. Prior to the injury Davis returned to action Nov. 5 at the Jets after missing three full games (Wks. 6-8) and looked to be in midseason form with 33 carries for 115 yds. (3.5) and a touchdown in Denver's 30-23 win. Davis' 33 carries were the third most of his career (second most for a non-overtime game) and his most since Nov. 16, 1997 at K.C. (34). It was the 32nd regular season 100-yd. rushing game of Davis' career, and the first since Dec. 27, 1998 vs. Sea. (last overall was Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atl., 1/31/99, 25-102). Davis made his second start of the season in Week 5 vs. N.E. (10/1) and rushed for 24 yds. on nine carries (2.7) with a long of 11 before aggravating his injury and leaving the game in the 2nd qtr. He returned from a two-game hiatus vs. K.C. (9/24) and played in a reserve role, rushing six times for 41 yds. (6.8) with a long of 24. Davis was active but did not play at Oak. (9/17) because of the injury, one week after being declared inactive for Denver's home opener vs. Atl. (9/10). Davis started at halfback vs. the Rams (9/4) and rushed for 34 yds. on 9 carries (3.8) with a long of 12, playing in his first game since Oct. 3, 1999. He left the game in the 2nd qtr. with the ankle injury and did not return. Davis was voted team captain for the offense by his teammates. He started all four preseason games as he began his comeback from major knee surgery 10 months earlier.

DAVIS SETS BRONCOS' 100-YARD GAME MARK FOR A SEASON

Terrell Davis' 178-yard performance against Seattle, Dec. 27, 1998, was his 11th 100-yard game of the 1998 regular season, breaking his own team record of 10 set in 1997.

1999: Davis started the first four games of the season before tearing his right anterior cruciate ligament, partially tearing his medial collateral ligament and sustaining cartilage damage vs. the Jets (10/3). He carried 67 times for 211 yds. (3.1) with a long of 26 and two touchdowns, and caught three passes for 26 yds. (8.7) with a long of 10 before his season was abruptly ended. Davis underwent surgery Oct. 13 at the world-renowned Steadman-Hawkins Clinic, and immediately embarked upon a 4-6 month rehabilitation process.

1998: Davis turned in a performance in 1998 that ranked among the greatest of all-time by a running back, claiming Associated Press NFL MVP honors with 25 votes, topping Minnesota QB Randall Cunningham (14) and WR Randy Moss (4), as well as Atlanta RB Jamal Anderson (4). He was also named Offensive Player of the Year by AP, first-team All-NFL and a starter in his third straight Pro Bowl as the only unanimous selection on all three ballots. The NFL's rushing and touchdown-scoring champion also picked up NFL MVP accolades from Pro Football Weekly and the Professional Football Writers of America, as well as Player of the Year honors from The Sporting News and Football Digest, Offensive Player of the Year from College & Pro Football Newsweekly and AFC Player of the Year from Football News. He capped his glorious run by picking up AFC Offensive Player of the Year honors from the Kansas City 101 Club, Professional Star of the Year acclaim for the second year in a row from the San Diego Hall of Champions and an ESPY Award for Pro Football Performer of the Year after becoming just the fourth player in league history to top the 2,000-yard rushing mark in a season. In the postseason he extended his NFL-record streak of 100-yard rushing performances to seven, in leading Denver to its second straight World Championship. Davis started at halfback in all 16 games and won his first NFL rushing title with 2,008 yards and 21 touchdowns on 392 carries (5.1), with a long of 70 (at Sea., 10/11), to become just the fourth player in league history to top the 2,000-yard rushing mark in a single season. His total ranked third-best all-time behind Hall-of-Famer Eric Dickerson's 2,105 (1984) and

DAVIS HOLDS NFL SINGLE-SEASON RUSHING MARKS

Terrell Davis' 1997 and 1998 regular and postseason combined totals for rushing attempts and yards rank No. 1 and No. 2 all-time for an entire season. Meanwhile, his 26 total touchdowns in 1998 rank No. 4 all-time, and his 14 100-yard games in both 1997 and 1998 tie for first all-time. Here is a look at the most outstanding seasons in NFL history in those categories:

DAVIS AMONG 100-YARD GAME LEADERS

With his 147-yard effort at the New York Giants Dec. 13, 1998, Terrell Davis recorded his 30th career 100-yard rushing game in just his 59th regular season contest, making him the fourth-fastest to reach that plateau among all-time NFL running backs. Here is a look at the top five:

Fewest Games Needed to Reach 30 Career 100-yard Rushing Games

Player	Team	No. of Gms.
1. Earl Campbell	Houston	51
2. Eric Dickerson	L.A. Rams	53
3. Jim Brown	Cleveland	57
4. Terrell Davis	Denver	59
5. Walter Payton	Chicago	65

Davis rushed for 100 or more yards 34 times in his regular season career, and the Broncos posted a 30-4 record in those contests. Denver is a perfect 7-0 in the postseason when Davis rushed for 100 yards.

Barry Sanders' 2,053 (1997), and helped Davis become the Broncos' all-time career rushing leader with 6,413 yards, passing Floyd Little (6,323; 1967-75). He amassed his total in just 61 career games, giving him the best per-game rushing average in NFL history at 105.1 yards per game at the end of '98, just ahead of the only other player to average more than 100 yds. per game: Jim Brown (104.3). Davis also caught 25 passes for 217 yards (8.7) and two touchdowns in '98 to account for 2,225 total yards from scrimmage (2nd in NFL). Davis finished his fourth season with a whopping 7,594 total yards in his career, second most ever in the first four years of a career, trailing only Dickerson (7,842). Davis' 23 total TDs were the most by a Bronco in a single season, and tied for third most in NFL history (Jerry Rice, 1987 and O.J. Simpson, 1975) behind Emmitt Smith's 25 (1995) and John Riggins' 24 (1983). He shattered his previous club record of 15 set in 1996 (13 rush./2 rec.) and '97 (15 rush.), and his 21 rushing TDs also represent a team record, six better than the 15 he scored in 1997. In all for 1998, Davis set franchise single-season records for attempts (392), yards (2,008), rushing TDs (21), total TDs (23), total yards from scrimmage (2,225), total combined yards (also 2,225—that total includes returns), scoring (138) and 100-yd. games (11), conquering several more new categories in the Broncos' record book. Davis finished the season with 61 total touchdowns for his career (in 61 games), more than any other Bronco in history (Floyd Little, 54, 1967-75), and scored more touchdowns in the first four years of an NFL career than any other player (Marcus Allen—58). He also scored more rushing touchdowns per game (.918; 56 in 61 gms.) for his career than any other player in history. Davis became just the third player in NFL history to reach the 1,000-yd. plateau in the first seven games (1,001) of a season, matching Hall of Famers Jim Brown (Cleve., 1958) and O.J. Simpson (1973 and '75), and is the second back in NFL history to string together three straight 1,500-yd. rushing seasons (Barry Sanders, 1994-97). He recorded his third 1,500-yd. season in just his fourth year, tying Dickerson for fastest in league history to post such a total. In games 2-8 he put together a franchise-record streak of seven 100-yd. rushing performances. Davis in 1998 led the NFL in rushing yards, touchdowns, rushing touchdowns, first downs (112) and points (138), and ranked second in total yards from scrimmage (2,225). He was named AFC Offensive Player of the Month for September (94-489-5.2-63t-6 in four games) and October (81-512-6.3-70-6), the third and fourth such awards of his career (Sept. 1996 and '97), and earned four AFC Offensive Player of the Week awards (Wks. 2, 5, 8 and 17; 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th of his career), while also garnering a Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week honor (Week 2). Davis was outstanding in Week 2 vs. Dallas, rushing for 191 yards and three touchdowns on 23 carries (8.3), including touchdown runs of 59 and 63 yds. to earn both AFC Offensive

TOPPING THE CENTURY MARK — AGAIN AND AGAIN

Terrell Davis' 149-yard rushing performance at Cincinnati, Nov. 1, 1998, extended his own team record for consecutive 100-yard games to seven. Separately, he has an NFL-record seven-game streak of 100-yard performances in the postseason.

DIALING LONG DISTANCE FOR SIX

On Sept. 13, 1998, Terrell Davis had 59- and 63-yard touchdown runs on consecutive carries in the first quarter. It marked just the third time in NFL history that a player has posted two scoring runs of 50 yards or longer in the same quarter:

Long-Distance Touchdown Runs in the Same Quarter

Player	Team and Opponent	Date	Length of Touchdown Runs
Cliff Battles	Washington vs. Pittsburgh	Oct. 17, 1937	60- and 72-yard TDs in 4th quarter
LeShon Johnson	Arizona vs. New Orleans	Sept. 22, 1996	56- and 70-yard TDs in 4th quarter
Terrell Davis	Denver vs. Dallas	Sept. 13, 1998	63- and 59-yard TDs in 1st quarter

Player of the Week and Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week honors. The 191-yard rushing total ranked sixth on his personal single-game ledger, and the two long runs—which came on successive plays—stand as the fourth longest (63) and sixth longest (59) of his career (7 of his top 9 have gone for touchdowns), and made him just the third player in NFL history to post two scoring runs of 50 yards or longer in the same quarter (Cliff Battles, Wash. vs. Pitt., 10/17/37, 60 & 72 yds. in 4th qtr.; LeShon Johnson, Ariz. vs. N.O., 9/22/96, 56 & 70 yds. in 4th qtr.). Davis' 138 yards in the first quarter (best one-quarter total of his career) vs. Dallas (9/13) gave him his second career 100-yd. quarter, en route to his seventh career 100-yd. half (154). His three rushing touchdowns tied the franchise record and moved him past Sammy Winder (39) into second place on the Broncos all-time rushing touchdowns list. He set a franchise record vs. Dallas by scoring a rushing touchdown for the sixth straight game, besting the previous record of five that he shared with Winder (Davis—'97, Winder—'85). Davis' first two touchdowns of the season came in the season-opener vs. New England (9/7) on a 9-yard run in the second quarter that gave Denver a 17-0 lead, and a 1-yard run in the fourth quarter for a 27-14 margin. In that game he passed Otis Armstrong (4,453 yds.) to move into third place on Denver's all-time rushing list. He went over 100 yds. again at Oakland (9/20) with 28 carries for 104 yds (3.7), and moved past Otis Armstrong (1,023) for third on the Broncos' all-time list for rushing attempts. He then went over the century mark again the next week at Washington (9/27) with 119 on 21 carries (5.7), including a 42-yd. touchdown run that ranked at the time as his seventh longest rush from scrimmage. The score came in the third quarter to give Denver a 24-0 lead. Davis was spectacular again vs. Philadelphia (10/4), posting his 24th career 100-yd. game with 168 yards and two touchdowns on 20 carries—all in the first half—to earn AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors for the fifth time in his career. He did not play in the second half with the game comfortably in hand. Davis gained 120 yards and scored both touchdowns (20- and 1-yd. runs) in the first quarter—his third career 100-yd. qtr.—and had reached 168 yds. by halftime to post a new career high for a half before resting for the remainder of the contest. Davis' two rushing touchdowns moved him into a tie with Floyd Little (43) for the franchise career record, and gave him 45 total touchdowns to move ahead of Riley Odoms (44) and Lionel Taylor (44) for fourth on Denver's all-time list. In the Philadelphia contest he also became just the seventh player in NFL history to amass more than 5,000 rushing yards in the first four years of a career, and did so in his 50th NFL game to become the fourth-fastest to accomplish the feat (Eric

DAVIS' 1998 REGULAR SEASON RUSHING TOTAL RANKS AMONG BEST ALL-TIME

Terrell Davis' 1998 season will be one to remember for a long time in Denver, as he produced more total yards from scrimmage, rushing yards, attempts and touchdowns than any player in a season in franchise history. His rushing total of 2,008 yards ranks No. 3 all-time in a single season by any back, and No. 1 all-time by an AFC back. He also holds the No. 16 spot on the list:

1,500 — 1,500 — 1,500

On Nov. 29, 1998 at San Diego, Terrell Davis surpassed the 1,500-yard rushing mark for the season, reaching that plateau for the third consecutive season — a feat previously accomplished by only Barry Sanders. By doing so in his fourth year, Davis tied Eric Dickerson as the only players in league history to rush for 1,500 or more yards three times in the first four seasons of a career:

Dickerson-45 gms., Earl Campbell-46, Jim Brown-48). He also became just the sixth Bronco ever to amass 6,000 total yards from scrimmage, doing so faster than any of the others (50 gms.). Davis posted the second-highest rushing total of his career—and the second-highest in the NFL in 1998—at Seattle in Week 6 with 208 yds. and a touchdown on 30 carries, giving him a franchise-record fifth-straight 100-yd. rushing performance. His 70-yd. scamper in the 4th qtr. was the longest non-scoring rush of his career, and his second longest overall, helping him to his fourth career 100-yd. qtr. (122; 4th) and his ninth career 100-yd. half (135; 2nd). With one touchdown in the Seattle contest, Davis became the Broncos' all-time leader in rushing touchdowns, topping the previous record held by Little (43 from 1965-77). He kept his record-breaking form intact in his next outing vs. Jacksonville (10/25), racking up 136 yds. and a franchise-record-tying 3 TDs (3rd time with 3 rushing; 5th time with 3 total TDs) on 31 carries (4.4), as well as a career-high 76 yards on 5 receptions to record 212 total yds. from scrimmage and earn his third AFC Offensive Player of the Week award of '98 (6th of career) and seal his second straight AFC Offensive Player of the Month award (4th of career). Davis finished the day at 1,001 rushing yds. in the first 7 games of the season, tying him with Jim Brown (Cleve., 1958) and O.J. Simpson (1973 and '75) as the fastest to reach 1,000 yds. in a season. His three touchdowns also moved him past Sammy Winder (48) for second place on the Broncos' all-time career touchdown list. In the game he also passed Walter Payton to claim the fifth-highest rushing total in the first four years of an NFL career, and extended his franchise-record streak of 100-yd. games to six. Davis climbed to new heights at Cincinnati (11/1) with 149 yds. and 2 TDs on 27 carries (5.5) to move past Sammy Winder (5,428) into second place on the Broncos' all-time rushing list. He also caught one pass for 3 yds. It was Davis' seventh straight 100-yd. game, to extend his franchise-record streak, and the 27th of his career. His streak would end a week later vs. San Diego (11/8) when he tallied 69 yds. on 20 carries and 19 more on two receptions, but he still managed to make history with his two touchdowns. After a 4 yd. TD reception from Bubby Brister in the first qtr. for his first receiving TD of the year, Davis scored on a 24-yd. run in the second qtr.—his longest carry of the day—to notch his franchise-record 16th TD of the season. In Game 10 at Kansas City (11/16) on Monday Night Football, Davis carried 18 times for 111 yds. (6.2) and scored his 16th rushing touchdown of the season on his longest rush of

FEWEST GAMES NEEDED TO REACH 1,000 YARDS IN A SINGLE SEASON

With his 136-yard rushing performance against Jacksonville Oct. 25, 1998, Terrell Davis became just the third player in NFL history to rush for 1,000 yards in seven games, joining the likes of Hall of Famers Jim Brown and O.J. Simpson. This feat has now been accomplished four times, twice by Simpson:

DAVIS' POSTSEASON AVERAGES BEST ALL-TIME

Terrell Davis' 5.6 yards-per-carry career average in postseason play (1,140 yards on 204 carries) ranks first all-time among NFL running backs. He also possesses the NFL's best yards-per-game average in the postseason, at 142.5 (1,140 in eight games).

the day (41 yds.) to set a new franchise single-season mark (15 by Davis in '97). It was also his 55th career TD (51 rush./4 rec.), making him the Broncos' all-time leader, and established a franchise record by scoring a rushing touchdown for the seventh consecutive game (previous best was Davis, 6 straight, 1997-98), despite sitting out the 4th qtr. with a mild concussion. Davis provided the spark the Broncos needed vs. Oakland (11/22), muscling his way to 162 yds. on 31 carries, including a 1-yd. TD run in the 2nd qtr., to go along with 26 yds. on three pass receptions. In the game he moved from sixth to second place on the NFL's all-time list for total yards from scrimmage in the first four years of a career (passing Thurman Thomas, Emmitt Smith, Marcus Allen and Barry Sanders), finishing the day at 7,007 (Eric Dickerson—7,428). With 110 yds. in the 1st half, Davis notched his 10th career 100-yd. half (4 of which have come in one qtr.), and with his rushing touchdown extended his franchise-record streak to eight straight games with such a score (12 rushing TDs in the 8 gms. of the streak). Davis was held to 74 yds. on 24 carries at San Diego (11/29), but went over the 1,500-yd. rushing mark for the season, giving him three straight seasons over 1,500, a feat achieved previously by just one man: Detroit's Barry Sanders (1994-97). Davis was held under 100 yds. for just the third time all season, and the second time by San Diego. He tied the franchise record for touchdowns in a game for the sixth time in his career vs. Kansas City (12/6), scoring three and rushing for 88 yds. on 24 carries, while also catching five passes (ties season high) for 45 yds. He scored on runs of 1-yd. each in the 1st, 2nd and 3rd qtrs., the latter of which was the 59th of his career, giving him more total TDs in the first four years of a career than any other player in history (Marcus Allen, 58). In the K.C. game, Davis fumbled for the first time in the regular season since Nov. 2, 1997 vs. Seattle, a span of 443 carries and 477 total touches. It was, however, the first time he had lost a fumble since Nov. 24, 1996, at Minnesota, a span of 767 carries and 836 total touches. At the Giants (12/13), Davis logged his 10th 100-yd. game of the season to tie his franchise record from 1997, and the 30th of his career, with 147 yds. on 28 carries (5.3). In so doing, Davis eclipsed his franchise record for rushing yards in a season (1,750) set the year before, finishing the day at 1,801 with two games remaining. His 27-yd. TD with 4:08 remaining in the game gave Denver a 16-13 lead, and was his 56th career rushing TD to pass Earl Campbell and Eric Dickerson for most in the first four years of a career. In the season-finale vs. Seattle (12/27), Davis needed 170 yards to become just the fourth player in NFL history to rush for 2,000 or more yards in a single season—and delivered, with 178 yds. on 29 carries (6.1) to finish at 2,008 yds., third-best all-time

DAVIS' 1997 AND 1998 POSTSEASONS RANK AMONG BEST ALL-TIME

With his 30-carry, 157-yard performance against Green Bay in Super Bowl XXXII, Terrell Davis finished the 1997 postseason with 581 yards on 112 carries in four games. His attempts and rushing yardage both rank second in NFL history for a single postseason, and he scored an NFL postseason record eight touchdowns, surpassing by two the mark of six held by six other players. Davis added his name again to the list in 1998, posting the third-highest yardage total, and the highest total for a three-game postseason:

DAVIS OWNS FIFTH-BEST POSTSEASON RUSHING GAME

With a 199-yard outburst vs. Miami in an AFC Divisional Playoff Game, Jan. 9, 1999, Terrell Davis etched his name further into the NFL record book. His performance—while also representing a Broncos postseason record—ranks fifth on the NFL's all-time postseason single-game list:

(Dickerson-2,105 in 1984; Sanders-2,053 in 1997), and claim his first NFL rushing title. Davis is the second Bronco to do so, joining Otis Armstrong, who led the league with 1,407 yds. in 1974. He gained 54 yds. in the 1st qtr., 28 in the 2nd, 51 in the 3rd and 45 in the 4th, with the final, history-making yardage coming on a 15-yd. run on 2nd-and-6 from the Seahawks' 48-yd. line with 8:52 remaining in the game. Along the way he also became the Broncos' all-time leading rusher, topping Floyd Little's previous record of 6,323 yds. in the 3rd qtr. It was his franchise-record 11th 100-yd. game of the season, and tied for the fifth-highest single-game rushing total in franchise history (tied for his own fourth-highest), and earned him AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors for the fourth time in 1998. 1998 Postseason: Davis started at halfback in all three postseason contests and rushed for 468 yards on 78 carries (6.0) to run his combined season rushing total (regular and postseason combined) to an NFL-record 2,476 yds., topping his own previous league standard of 2,331 set one year earlier. He also caught four passes for 69 yds. (17.3) with a long of 39, which came in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31). During the 1998 postseason Davis moved up to sixth in NFL all-time postseason rushing yardage with 1,140 yards, passing Larry Csonka (891) and John Riggins (996) in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17). Davis' 468 rushing yards in the 1998 playoffs represent the third-highest rushing total in one postseason (John Riggins, 610 yards in 1982; Davis, 581 in 1997), and the highest for a three-game postseason. His career postseason rushing averages of 142.5 yds.-per-game and 5.6 yds.-per-attempt stood as the best in NFL history after 1998, and Davis finished the season with the record for most consecutive 100-yard rushing games in the postseason with seven, a figure that also ties him with Dallas' Emmitt Smith most total 100-yard games in the postseason. Davis now holds every major franchise postseason rushing record, and also became the all-time leader in touchdowns (12) and points scored (74). In the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9) he set a Broncos postseason record with 199 rushing yards—the fourth-highest single-game total in NFL postseason history—on 21 carries (9.5; also a franchise record), with two touchdowns. Davis, who also caught one pass for 7 yards, was scintillating as he temporarily moved into eighth place on the NFL's career postseason rushing list, finishing the day at 871 career yards to pass Chuck Foreman (860), Roger Craig (841) and Earnest Byner (839). Both touchdowns came in the 1st qtr. on runs of 1 and 20 yards to give Denver a 14-0 lead, and his 62-yard run on the first play of the second half was the longest postseason run in franchise history, topping his 59-yard burst in the 1997 Wild Card win over Jacksonville (12/27/97). His 21 carries made him the Broncos' all-time postseason leader in that category, finishing the day at 147 to pass Sammy Winder (144), and he had his first postseason 100-yd. half (129; 1st half). He followed that performance with 167 yards on a franchise postseason-record 32

DAVIS BECOMES BRONCOS' POSTSEASON RUSHING LEADER, CLIMBS NFL CHART

In just his second venture into the postseason, Terrell Davis in 1997 vaulted to the top of Denver's all-time postseason rushing chart, and climbed into ranks of the NFL's all-time postseason rushing leaders in 1998. Here is a look at the top three Broncos postseason rushers of all time, and the top six NFL postseason rushers of all-time:

carries (5.2) in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17), including a 31-yd. touchdown run in the 3rd qtr. that was his longest carry of the day. He also caught one pass for 12 yds. Davis' TD gave the Broncos a 20-10 lead en route to a 23-10 win and a repeat appearance in the Super Bowl. It also gave him a rushing TD in seven consecutive postseason games, tied for the third longest streak in NFL history. Davis capped his brilliant season with 102 yards on 25 carries (4.1) in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31). His longest rush went for 15 yards, and he added two catches for 50 yards, including a 39-yarder, the longest reception of his career. The 100-yd. performance was Davis' seventh in a row in the postseason, an NFL record, and his 14th in 1998 (regular and postseason combined) to tie himself and Barry Sanders (both 1997) for the NFL record. With the win, Davis also became the second player in NFL history to win the NFL rushing title and the Super Bowl in the same season (Dallas' Emmitt Smith has done it three times: 1992, 1993 and 1995).

1997: Davis took many huge steps towards being touted as the best running back the sport has seen in many years, putting up numbers never before reached by a Broncos running back—not even himself a year earlier. Among the franchise records set by Davis in 1997 were new standards for rushing yards in a season (1,750), most rushing touchdowns in a season (15), most rushing attempts in a season (369), 100-yard performances in a season (10) and total yards from scrimmage in a season (2,037). He also tied the NFL record for most two-point conversions in a year with three, a feat that had been accomplished seven times prior. His postseason effort was also one to remember, as he posted four consecutive 100-yard games and scored an NFL-record eight touchdowns (all on the ground) to lead Denver to its first ever World Championship. Davis also added his second Pro Bowl appearance to his résumé as well as earning numerous individual awards, including Super Bowl XXXII Most Valuable Player honors. Among Davis' awards for his performance during the 1997 season were AFC Player of the Year by the KC 101 Club and Football News as well as first-team AFL-Pro honors from the Associated Press, Sports Illustrated, Pro Football Weekly, College and Pro Football Weekly, The Sporting News, Football News, Football Digest and USA Today. He was also given the Mackey Award

DAVIS AMONG SUPER BOWL RECORD HOLDERS AFTER MVP PERFORMANCE

Terrell Davis returned to his hometown of San Diego for Super Bowl XXXII in January 1998 and rushed for 157 yards on 30 carries and scored three touchdowns, as Denver defeated Green Bay 31-24. He was named the game's Most Valuable Player, and set or tied three records, as detailed below:

SUPER BOWL XXXII MOST VALUABLE PLAYER

Terrell Davis, a native of San Diego, made history in winning the Pete Rozelle Award as Most Valuable Player of Super Bowl XXXII. He not only became the first player to be named Super Bowl MVP for a game played in his hometown, but also became the sixth-lowest (now eighth-lowest) drafted player to receive this honor. The other players who were drafted even later than Davis (6th round, 196th selection in 1995) were Tom Brady (New England, 6th round, 199th overall, MVP of Super Bowl XXXVI), Richard Dent (Chicago, 8th round, MVP of SB XX), Jake Scott (Miami, 7th round, MVP of SB VII), Roger Staubach (Dallas, 10th round, MVP of SB VI), Larry Brown (Dallas, 12th round, MVP of SB XXX), Bart Starr (Green Bay, 17th round, MVP of SBs I and II) and Kurt Warner (Green Bay, undrafted free agent, MVP of SBs XXXIV). Davis and Marcus Allen (MVP of SB XVIII) have made Lincoln High School in San Diego the only high school ever to produce two Super Bowl MVPs. Davis' jersey No. 7 was retired at the high school in a special ceremony held Tues., Jan. 20, 1998 during Super Bowl week.

by the NFL Players Association as the AFC's best running back. Davis, who started the first 15 games of the year, finished his third season in the NFL with 1,750 yards on 369 carries (4.7 avg.) and 15 rushing touchdowns, to go along with 42 receptions for 287 yards (6.8 avg.). All rushing numbers were career highs and franchise highs. He won the AFC rushing crown and finished second in the NFL, each for the second straight year, and was also second in the AFC and in the NFL in both rushing attempts and touchdowns scored, first in the AFC (2nd NFL) in total yards from scrimmage (2,037) and first in the NFL in rushing first downs and total first downs. Davis tied for first in the NFL in scoring by a non-kicker (96), and tied the NFL record for two-point conversions scored in a single season, recording three to match the effort of seven previous players. In the season-opener vs. Kansas City (8/31) Davis recorded the 11th 100-yard rushing performance of his brief NFL career, totaling 101 yards on 26 carries and one TD in Denver's 19-3 win. In that game he passed Bobby Humphrey (593) for sixth place in all-time rushing attempts by a Bronco. At Seattle (9/7) Davis rushed for 108 yards on 21 carries and one TD as the Broncos beat the Seahawks 35-14, and Davis notched his second straight 100-yard effort to mark the first time in his career he had back-to-back 100-yard games to start a season. Davis also tied Jon Keyworth for fifth place on the Broncos' list for rushing touchdowns with his 22nd. A week later vs. St. Louis Davis made it three straight 100-yard outputs by rushing for 103 yards on 21 carries in Denver's 35-14 victory, and he tied the franchise record for the second time in his career the following week by posting his fourth straight 100-yard effort. This was no ordinary effort, however, as Davis rushed 27 times for a franchise record 215 yards and one TD in Denver's 38-20 victory over the Bengals (9/21). He totaled a team-record 228 yards from scrimmage and topped the 3,000-yard rushing plateau in just his 34th game to establish another team record, and moved into third place in rushing touchdowns with his 23rd, passing Jon Keyworth. He also passed teammate John Elway for fourth place all-time in rushing yards, moving to 3,181. His efforts against the Bengals earned him AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors as well as Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week honors. A week later at Atlanta (9/28) Davis was held below 100 yards (23-79-1TD) for the first time all season in Denver's 29-21 victory, but still managed to pass Keyworth (699) for fifth place all-time in career rushing attempts by a Bronco. His explosive start to the season earned him AFC Offensive Player of the Month honors for September, the second time he has won such an award (also in September of 1996). Davis stole the Monday Night spotlight in Week Six vs. New England (10/6), as he continued his mastery of the New England Patriots with a 32-carry, 171-yard, two-touchdown performance in Denver's 34-13 victory. During the contest, Davis became the fastest Bronco in franchise history to reach 4,000 total yards from scrimmage, moved into fourth place all-time in rushing attempts by a Bronco, rushed for 100 yards for the 15th time, tying the franchise record, and moved into fourth place all-time in rushing touchdowns by a Bronco. His efforts earned him Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week honors for the

DAVIS REWRITES BRONCOS POSTSEASON RECORD BOOK

In just three journeys into the postseason, Terrell Davis has been so spectacular that his name dominates every category of the Broncos' postseason record book. He has played just eight postseason games, and owns seven of the top nine single-game performances in both rushing attempts and rushing yards. Davis' ledger includes the entire top four in attempts and the top five in yardage.

DAVIS ONE OF FASTEST IN NFL HISTORY TO REACH 6,000 CAREER RUSHING YARDS

In just his 58th NFL game, Dec. 6, 1998, vs. Kansas City, Terrell Davis reached the 6,000-yard rushing mark, and did so faster than all but three other backs in league history (Eric Dickerson — 53 games; Earl Campbell — 56; and Jim Brown — 58). He is third all-time in rushing yards in the first four years of a career.

second time in three weeks. It also upped his rushing total in three career games against the Patriots to 422 yards. Two weeks later, after the bye, at Oakland (10/19) he rushed for 85 yards on 23 carries (two touchdowns) and added seven receptions for 70 yards in Denver's first loss of the season. During the contest, Davis became the ninth player in NFL history to rush for 3,500 yards in his first three seasons. He also reached the 100-reception plateau for his career, equaling his career high with seven catches, and set a career high with 70 receiving yards. Davis also tallied his third two-point conversion of the season, tying a single-season NFL record shared by seven other players. Davis broke new ground again at Buffalo (10/26) when he rushed for 207 yards on a franchise-record 42 carries and one touchdown in Denver's 23-20 overtime victory over the Bills. He also had five receptions for 29 yards, giving him 236 total yards from scrimmage, another franchise record. Also during the contest, Davis set franchise records for most 100-yard rushing games in a career (his 16th), most carries in a game (42), breaking Bobby Humphrey's record of 34 set in 1990 and the 4th-highest total in NFL history) and fewest games needed to reach 1,000 rushing yards in a season (eight, breaking his own record of 10 set in 1996). He handled the ball 47 times during the contest, one off the NFL record, and also passed William Andrews for the eighth most rushing yards in the first three years of a career. Davis also became the eighth back in NFL history to rush for 1,000 in each of his first three seasons in the league (the first Bronco to ever do so) and the first Bronco to have three 1,000-yard rushing seasons in his career. The next week vs. Seattle (11/2) Davis reached the 100-yard plateau once again (21-101) to tie his own team record (1996; also Bobby Humphrey, 1990; Otis Armstrong, 1974) for 100-yard games in a season, as Denver won 30-27. It enabled Davis—in just the ninth game of the year—to pass his rookie rushing total of 1,117 yards, accomplished in 14 games. Davis also had six receptions for 17 yards in the game, making him the team's leading receiver for the second straight week, and passed Marcus Allen for the 10th most total yards from scrimmage over the first three years of an NFL career, as well as passing Jim Brown for the seventh most rushing yards in the first three years of a career. A week later Davis established a new franchise record with his eighth 100-yard game of the season, tallying 104 yards on 21 carries, and passed Walter Payton for the sixth most rushing yards in the first three years of an NFL career. A week later at Kansas City (11/16) Davis ran his streak of 100-yard games to four as he tied Otis Armstrong's and Bobby Humphrey's franchise record for the third time in his young career. He also became the fourth-quickest player in NFL history (and the quickest in franchise history) to rush for 4,000 yards (41 games), and also passed Billy Sims and Thurman Thomas for eighth place in most total yards from scrimmage over the first three years of a career. Terrell Davis' touchdown against Seattle in the 1998 season-finale (12/27), was his 21st rushing and 23rd total for the season, a franchise record, and among the most ever scored by an individual in a single NFL season. He led the league in scoring by a non-kicker in 1998, with a franchise-record 138 points:

DAVIS ONE OF FASTEST IN NFL HISTORY TO REACH 7,000 CAREER TOTAL YARDS

With his 188-yard total offense output against Oakland Nov. 22, 1998, Terrell Davis, in just his 56th NFL game, became the fastest Broncos player ever to reach 7,000 total yards from scrimmage. He also became just the second player in NFL history to reach 7,000 total yards in his first four NFL seasons, and now boasts the NFL's second-highest total yardage figure after the first four years of a career:

under 100 yards for just the second time all season vs. Oakland Nov. 24 on Monday Night Football, but tied his own franchise record with three touchdowns, and set a new standard with all three coming via the ground. Davis had twice previously posted two rushing and one receiving touchdown in the same game, but never three rushing. It marked the 19th time in franchise history that a player had scored three touchdowns in a game and the fifth time that all three scores were rushing touchdowns. During the contest, Davis also went over the 5,000-yard mark in total yards from scrimmage in his career faster than any player in franchise history (42 games). He also became just the eighth player in league history to accomplish this feat in the first three years of his career. Davis continued his assault on the record books the following week in his hometown of San Diego (11/30), rushing for more than 150 yards for the fourth time this season—and more than 100 yards for the 10th time—by totaling 178 yards on 26 carries and one TD in Denver's 38-28 victory over the Chargers. This was Davis' 20th 100-yard game in just his 43rd NFL contest, making him the fifth fastest player to reach 20 100-yard performances. He also set new single-season marks in rushing and total yards from scrimmage, surpassing his own team marks set in 1996 (1,538 rushing/1,848 total). He also passed teammate John Elway (32) for third place in career TD runs, passed Emmitt Smith, William Andrews and Herschel Walker for seventh, sixth and fifth place, respectively in total yards from scrimmage during the first three years of a career, and passed Smith for fifth place all-time in rushing yards in the first three years of a career. His rushing touchdown was his 13th, tying his own team record (1996). Davis moved into third place all-time in rushing yards during the first three years of a career (4,333) with his 75-yard output at Pittsburgh (12/7), passing Barry Sanders and Ottis Anderson, and also went over the 2,000-yard mark in single-season total yards from scrimmage (26th time in NFL history), broke his own team mark for rushing touchdowns in a season with his 14th, and broke his own team record for rushing attempts in a season (345). It was only the fourth of five times in 1997 that he would fail to reach 100 rushing yards in a game. This was also Davis' 14th consecutive game with at least 20 carries, breaking the NFL record previously held by Terry Allen (1995-96). At San Francisco (12/15) on Monday Night Football Davis rushed for just 28 yards on 10 carries and caught two passes for zero yards in just over a quarter of Denver's 34-17 loss to San Francisco. He left the game in the second quarter due to a mild anterior cruciate sprain to his right shoulder, but not before registering his 15th rushing touchdown of the season, tying his own franchise record for total touchdowns in a season (13 rush./2 rec., 1996). The injury forced him to be deactivated for the Broncos' regular season finale against San Diego. It was only the third game of his career that he had missed, including the two to end the 1995 regular season. In the preseason Davis looked sensational in limited duty, starting all five games at halfback and rushing 34 times for a team-leading 211 yards (6.2) with a long of 37 and two touchdowns. He also caught three passes for 46 yards (15.3) with a long of 20. Both rushing TDs came in the finale against San Francisco (8/23) on runs of 6 and 11 yards. 1997 Postseason: In Davis' short NFL career, he has put up some astounding postseason numbers—most of them in 1997. He finished the 1997 postseason with 112 carries for 581 yards (5.2 avg.) and eight touchdowns in four games—all Broncos wins en route to the World Championship. Davis also had eight catches for 38 yards (4.8 avg.) in the postseason, raising his career postseason numbers (5 games) to 126 carries for 672 yards (5.3 avg.) and nine touchdowns, plus 15 receptions for 62 yards. In Denver's 42-17 AFC Wild Card Playoff Game victory over Jacksonville (12/27/97) Davis had the longest run in a postseason game by a Bronco (59 yards), and also logged the most carries (31), rushing yards (184), rushing touchdowns (2) and total touchdowns (2) of any Broncos postseason performer ever. His 5.9 yards-per-rush average against the Jaguars was topped only in team postseason annals by teammate Derek Loville's 9.4-yard average in the same game (11-103) and his own 6.5 average in the 1996 playoff game against the Jaguars. During the contest, he also moved into third place all-time in both carries and rushing yards in the postseason by a Bronco, passing Gaston Green (36) and Bobby Humphrey (38) in attempts and Gene Lang (138) and Humphrey (169) in yards. In Denver's 14-10 Divisional Playoff win at Kansas City (1/4/98), Davis rushed for 101 yards and two touchdowns on 25 carries (third most ever in a postseason game by a Bronco), and added one reception for 17 yards, his longest postseason reception to date. This was Davis' second career postseason 100-yard game (second in a row), setting a new franchise record for postseason 100-yard games. He also set the franchise record for most rushing and total touchdowns by a Bronco in the postseason with five. For the second consecutive week he tied the team record for most rushing and total touchdowns in a postseason game with two. Davis showed his mettle again the following week in Denver's 24-21 AFC Championship Game victory at Pittsburgh (1/11/98), rushing for 139 yards on 26 carries, and added his fifth postseason touchdown of 1997. It was his third consecutive 100-yard game in the postseason, tying four other NFL players for third place all-time in consecutive postseason 100-yard rushing games. He also passed Freeman McNeil (349 in 1982), Natrone Means (358 in 1996) and Thurman Thomas (390 in 1990) for fifth, fourth and third place respectively in most rushing yards in a single postseason. Teamwise, Davis surpassed David Treadwell (32) for the second most points scored in franchise postseason history (38), passed his teammate John Elway (80) for second place in postseason rushing attempts (96), and passed Elway (410) and Sammy Winder (461) to move into first place in postseason rushing yards by a Bronco. Lastly, Davis' 26 carries equaled the second most carries in a postseason contest by a Bronco, tying Sammy Winder and remaining eight carries behind his own record he set in the Wild Card Game against Jacksonville (12/27/97). The 141 total yards represented his second-highest total in the postseason (195 vs. Jax., 12/27/97) and placed him second all-time in postseason total yards from scrimmage by a Bronco to earn NFL Offensive Player of the Week honors. Davis then capped one of the most memorable individual seasons in NFL history by rushing for 157 yards on 30 carries and scoring three touchdowns to

TD 's 50-YARD TDs

Terrell Davis' 59- and 63-yard touchdown runs against Dallas Sept. 13, 1998 were the fifth and sixth scoring runs of 50 yards or more in his four-year career, ranking him among the NFL's active leaders in touchdown runs of 50 or more yards:

earn Most Valuable Player honors in Denver's 31-24 victory over Green Bay in Super Bowl XXXII, in his hometown of San Diego (1/25/98). Davis also had two receptions for eight yards during the contest. The three TDs (all on the ground) tied a Super Bowl record for most points scored and most touchdowns scored in a single game, and he also set a Super Bowl record with three rushing touchdowns in a single game. The 157 yards ranks fifth all-time in a Super Bowl and the 30 carries ties for fourth all-time in a Super Bowl. Even more remarkable is the fact that Davis missed the entire second quarter while trying to fight off the onset of a migraine headache. He returned to start the second half and helped Denver control the ball and clock the rest of the way. Davis recorded his fourth consecutive 100-yard rushing game in postseason play, tying Thurman Thomas for the second longest postseason 100-yard game streak in NFL history, and notched his 24th career 100-yard rushing game (fourth in the postseason), with Denver posting a 21-3 mark in those games (4-0 in postseason). It was also Davis' 14th 100-yard performance of the entire season, tying Barry Sanders (14 in 1997) for the NFL record. Davis also set the single-season record for most postseason touchdowns (8) and most postseason rushing touchdowns (8), and passed Marcus Allen (466 in 1983) for second place all-time in rushing yards in one postseason with 581 (John Riggins, 610, 1982). His 56 points scored moved him past Rich Karlis (55) into first on the Broncos' all-time postseason scoring list. He also passed Sammy Winder and Vance Johnson to move into first place all-time in postseason yards from scrimmage by a Bronco (734 yards in five games; avg. of 146.7 per game), and passed Eric Dickerson and Riggins to move into first place all-time in rushing yards (2,331) and rushing attempts (495) for an entire season (regular and postseason). His regular and postseason total of 23 touchdowns (all on the ground) rank tied for fourth all-time. Davis, who had his high school jersey retired the Tuesday prior to the game became the second player from San Diego's Lincoln High School to receive Super Bowl MVP honors (Allen in January, 1984), making him the sixth-lowest drafted player to win the MVP award (sixth round in 1995). He also became the first player in the 32-year history of the game to earn this award while playing the game in his hometown.

1996: Davis' list of 1996 honors included Associated Press NFL Offensive Player of the Year, Sports Illustrated and UPI NFL Player of the Year, his first Pro Bowl selection, All-Pro selections from the Associated Press, Sports Illustrated, The Sporting News, USA Today, Pro Football Weekly, Football Digest and College & Pro Football Newsweekly, All-AFC nods from UPI and Football News and a third-place showing in the AP NFL Most Valuable Player voting. Davis led the AFC and was second in the NFL in both rushing yards (1,538 yards on 345 carries; 4.5) and total yards from scrimmage (1,848), and led the NFL in first downs earned (108). He was second in the AFC (3rd NFL) in both rushing touchdowns (13) and total touchdowns (15), and set franchise records in both categories. He also set franchise single-season records in rushing attempts, rushing yards and total yards, topping previous standards held by Sammy Winder (296 carries in 1984) and Otis Armstrong (1,407 rushing yards and

100 YARDS IN A HALF — AND IN A QUARTER

Even more remarkable than Terrell Davis' 34 100-yard games is his list of 100-yard halves, which stands at 10— as well as four 100-yard quarters—after his first seven years in the league:

1,812 total yards in 1974). With 15 total touchdowns, Davis broke the franchise single-season record of 14 held by Sammy Winder (1986) and Anthony Miller (1995), and joined tight end Shannon Sharpe (10 TDs) to give the Broncos two players with double-figure touchdowns in the same season for the first time in franchise history. Davis teamed with QB John Elway and TE Shannon Sharpe to make the Broncos only the sixth team in NFL history to have a trio that had a 3,000-yard passer, 1,500-yard rusher, and 1,000-yard receiver. The trio along with WR Rod Smith, duplicated the feat in 1997, becoming the first team to do this in back-to-back seasons and only the third team to have two 1,000-yard receivers as part of the group. Davis got off to a quick start in '96, putting together a string of five 100-yard games over a six-game span—including four in a row—beginning with Week Two at Seattle when he tallied 111 yards on 28 carries in Denver's 30-20 victory. A week later vs. Tampa Bay (9/15) he posted the second-highest rushing total of his young career with 137 yards on 22 carries (6.2) despite missing more than a quarter due to symptoms of a migraine headache. He also finished with 23 receiving yards on four catches (5.8). Davis left the game late in the first quarter when his vision became blurred and he felt nauseous, but he returned to start the second half and carried the entire offense to the come-from-behind win. He rushed eight times for 39 yards on the Broncos' 14-play, 80-yard game-winning drive that consumed 8:11 in the fourth quarter. He capped the drive with a three-yard touchdown run to give Denver the 27-23 win. The following week at Kansas City (9/22) he put together his third straight 100-yard game, rushing for 141 yards (second-highest in his career at the time) and two touchdowns on 19 carries (7.4). He scored from six yards out in the first quarter, then topped that with a then-career-best 65-yard scoring run in the second. He had already tallied 130 yards on 14 carries by halftime. The following week at Cincinnati (9/29) he notched his fourth straight 100-yard game with 112 yards on 24 carries (4.7). His long carry was a 19-yarder. His fourth straight game over the century mark tied a Broncos record set by Bobby Humphrey in 1990 and Otis Armstrong in 1974. On Oct. 6 vs. San Diego he rushed 17 times for 50 yards, while suffering the effects of a migraine headache that kept him out of the game for much of the second quarter. The Broncos used primarily a one-back offense during the game due to a knee injury suffered by starting fullback Aaron Craver the week before at Cincinnati. He also caught a season-high six passes for 42 yards after not catching a pass in the previous two games. Davis had the best day of his young career on Oct. 20 vs. Baltimore, setting a franchise record with 194 yards on 28 carries (6.9), including a career-best 71-yard touchdown run in the first quarter of Denver's 45-34 victory. The run was the fourth longest ever by a Bronco, and the longest since 1973 (Joe Dawkins at K.C., 10/7). He also scored later from four yards out, and caught three passes for 19 yards (6.3). His 213 total yards also were a career high. Davis' reached the 2,000-yard rushing mark for his career with his 77-yard effort vs. Kansas City (10/27), making him the fastest to reach that milestone in Broncos history. It was his 22nd game, four earlier than Bobby Humphrey who reached the mark in his 26th game. Versus Chicago (11/10) Davis' 25-yard run in the second quarter pushed him over the 1,000-yard mark for the season, the earliest a Bronco has ever done so (game 10; Otis Armstrong topped 1,000 in the 12th game of the '74 season). Nov. 17 at New England he tallied his sixth 100-yard game of 1996, rushing for 154 yards on a career-high 32 carries, and adding 56

NFL RUSHING AND TOTAL YARDAGE LEADERS — 1996-98

Terrell Davis finished first in the NFL in both rushing yards and total yards from scrimmage in each of his first two seasons before claiming his first NFL rushing title in 1998. Below is a look at the leaders, 1996-98:

yards on four catches for 210 total yards in Denver's 34-8 victory. The performance earned him not only AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors for the second in 1996 (also Week Eight), but also the Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week award. His total yardage figure was second-best in his career, trailing only his 213-yard effort vs. Baltimore (10/20). He also tied his own (and several others') Broncos record with three touchdowns, rushing for two and catching another, matching his effort vs. Washington last year (9/17). Davis' 68 yards at Minnesota (11/24) allowed him to move past Bobby Humphrey (2,386 yards) on the franchise's all-time rushing list. Davis' touchdowns in the game came on a one-yard run and a one-yard pass reception, giving him five scores over a two-game stretch. On Dec. 1 vs. Seattle Davis tallied his seventh 100-yard game of the 1996 season, tying Otis Armstrong's franchise record set in 1974, during Denver's 34-7 division-clinching victory. Davis carried the ball 26 times for 106 yards and one touchdown, and caught two passes for 15 yards. The following week at Green Bay (12/8) he rushed for 54 yards on 14 carries to establish franchise single-season records in both categories, topping the previous highs of 1,407 yards (Otis Armstrong, 1974) and 296 carries (Sammy Winder, 1984). Davis' five-yard carry to end the first half was the run that put him over Armstrong's yardage record. Against the Raiders (12/15) Davis carried the ball 27 times for 80 yards with a long of 12 and one touchdown, to set a new Broncos single-season record for total yards in a season in Denver's 24-19 win. He topped the previous standard of 1,812 yards set by Otis Armstrong in 1974. His three-yard touchdown run in the first quarter staked Denver to an early 7-0 lead, and was his 14th of the season, tying a franchise record. At San Diego (12/ 22) he started at tailback but played only into the second quarter. He carried nine times for 21 yards and a touchdown, and caught one pass for nine yards. His one-yard touchdown run in the first quarter put Denver ahead 10-0. In the game Davis surpassed Jon Keyworth (2,653 yards) for fifth place on the Broncos' career rushing list, and registered his 15th touchdown (13 rushing, two receiving) to establish a new franchise record. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff vs. Jacksonville (1/4/97) Davis started at tailback and rushed 14 times for 91 yards (6.5) with a long of 47 yards and one touchdown, while catching a game-high seven passes for 24 yards with a long of 6. His 47-yard run in the first quarter was the longest ever by a Bronco in the postseason, and set up Denver's first touchdown. Davis' 91 rushing yards were the second most by Bronco in the postseason, trailing only Sammy Winder's 102-yard effort vs. New England, Jan. 4, 1987, and his seven receptions tied for third most in a postseason game with Vance Johnson (1/14/90 and 1/12/92), Steve Sewell (1/12/92) and Jesse Myles (12/24/83). Davis scored on a two-yard run with 7:37 remaining in the game to pull Denver within 23-20, and added the two-point conversion himself. Davis mildly sprained the medial collateral ligament in his right knee in the first quarter, and left the game for several plays before returning.

1995: Davis started 14 of the Broncos' 16 games, missing the final two (at Kansas City, 12/17 and at Oakland, 12/24) with a hamstring tear suffered in the first quarter vs. Seattle (12/10). For the season he led the team with 1,117 rushing yards on 237 carries (4.7) with seven touchdowns and a long of 60 yards (at Houston, 11/26) that went for a touchdown. Through the air, Davis caught 49 passes for 367 yards (7.5) with one touchdown and a long reception of 31. He was voted by his teammates as the club's Offensive MVP for '95, and finished second in the voting for NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year by a nationwide media panel. He garnered 16 votes, trailing only New England's Curtis Martin, who tallied 57, but was selected by Football Digest as its NFL Rookie of the Year. Davis was also voted to All-Rookie teams published by Pro Football Weekly and Football News, and was selected as a Pro Bowl alternate at running back. In 1995 Davis became the first Bronco to rush for 1,000 yards in a season since Gaston Green tallied 1,037 in 1991, and the first Broncos rookie to do so since Bobby Humphrey racked up 1,151 in 1989. He is also the lowest-drafted player in National Football League history to rush for 1,000 yards in his rookie season. The Chargers' Don Woods, who rushed for more than 1,000 in 1974, was also a sixth-round pick (by the Packers), but was selected earlier overall in the draft than Davis, the 196th pick in the 1995 draft. His season total of 1,484 total yards from scrimmage ranked fifth in the AFC and 16th in the NFL—despite missing two games—and were the most ever by a Broncos rookie. He finished third in the AFC in rushing (1,117 yards; 9th NFL) and fourth in total first downs (76; tied for 18th NFL). In the season opener vs. Buffalo, Davis started at tailback in his first professional game, carrying the ball a team-leading 20 times for 70 yards (3.5) with a long of 17, and catching two passes for nine yards (4.5) with a long of seven. He scored his first professional touchdown on a three-yard run with 3:22 remaining in the game to cap the Broncos scoring. Davis became the sixth Broncos rookie to start at tailback in a season-opener, and the first since Jeff Alexander in 1989. His statistics were the best of any of the six previous opening-day starters. Against Washington (9/17), Davis tied a Broncos' record with three touchdowns (2 rushing, 1 receiving) in a 13-carry, 68-yard performance, and caught a team-leading seven passes for 61 yards. Davis registered his first 100-yard performance in his ninth professional game, rambling for 135 on 22 carries against Arizona (11/5), including a 34-yarder. Davis' 135 yards against Arizona were the most by a Broncos running back at Mile High Stadium since Dec. 8, 1974 (Otis Armstrong, 183 yards against Houston), and the most by a Bronco in any game since Sept. 29, 1991 (Gaston Green, 158 yards at Minnesota), as well as the highest single-game total by a rookie in Broncos franchise history. His 34-yard run on the second play from scrimmage was the longest of his career up to that point, and highlighted an opening drive on which he carried the ball six times for 60 yards, capped by a 5-yard TD run that put the Broncos ahead 7-0. He also caught three passes for 25 yards, with a long of 18, to give him a then-career-best 160 total yards from scrimmage. He topped that effort in Game 11 vs. San Diego (11/19) when he powered his way to 176 yards on 30 carries—the third-best rushing performance in club history at the time. It was the most yards by a Bronco since Bobby Humphrey gained 177 on 34 carries at Buffalo Sept. 30, 1990, and the most by a Bronco at Mile High, again, since Armstrong's aforementioned effort in 1974. He gained 98 yards in the first half, and also finished strong, carrying the ball six times for 53 yards on the Broncos' final drive, which was capped by a 32-yard game-winning field goal from Jason Elam with 0:02 remaining. Davis surpassed the 1,000-yard mark against Jacksonville (12/3) on his first carry of the day, a 13-yarder around left end, en route to a 21-carry, 84-yard performance. Davis strung together three 100-yard games in four outings late in the season, going for 135 vs. Arizona (11/5), 176 vs. San Diego (11/19) and 110 at Houston (11/26). His 60-yard scoring jaunt in the second quarter of the Houston game was the longest of his career, and the longest by a Bronco since 1992. He also caught a career-best seven passes for 30 yards. With his 140 total yards from scrimmage, Davis improved his season total to 1,348, surpassing Bobby Humphrey for the most total yards in a season by a Broncos rookie (Humphrey had 1,307 in 1989). Davis began training camp behind several players on the Broncos' depth chart at running back, but worked his way into the starting lineup by the final preseason game at Jacksonville (8/25/95).

COLLEGE: Davis continued a strong tradition of standout tailbacks from Georgia throughout the '80s and '90s—following in the footsteps of Herschel Walker, Rodney Hampton, Garrison Hearst and Tim Worley—after transferring from Long Beach State. He spent his first collegiate season playing under George Allen for the 49ers, until the program was eliminated following the 1991 season, in which Davis rushed for 262 yards and two touchdowns on 55 carries (4.8). He transferred to Georgia where he played three seasons—the first behind Garrison Hearst, who finished third in the Heisman Trophy voting in 1992. He finished his career at Georgia with 1,657 yards on 317 carries (5.2) and 15 touchdowns. Davis also caught 46 passes for 529 yards (11.5) and four touchdowns. As a senior in 1994 Davis played in eight games as a scatback and started seven. He missed three contests due to a groin injury, but still managed to lead the team with 445 yards and seven touchdowns on 97 carries (4.6 average), in addition to 31 receptions for 330 yards (10.7). He had his finest campaign as a junior when he played in all 11 games and started six at scatback, leading the team with 824 yards on 167 carries (4.9) and five touchdowns, along with 12 receptions for 161 (13.4) and three scores. Davis played behind Garrison Hearst as a sophomore in his first year at Georgia in '92, seeing action in 10 games, and finished the season with 388 yards on 53 carries (7.3) and three touchdowns, plus three receptions for 38 yards (12.7) and one score. He was a consumer economics major at Georgia.

PERSONAL: Davis was an All-CIF second-team and all-league first-team selection as a senior at Lincoln Prep in San Diego, Calif., where he played six different positions, including nose guard, and also lettered in track. His No. 7 was retired by the school Tues., Jan. 20, 1998 in a ceremony attended by Davis during preparations for Super Bowl XXXII in San Diego. He is an avid Sony PlayStation video game player. Davis was presented with a 1997 ESPY Award for Best Performance Under Pressure, in recognition of his record-breaking exploits in Super Bowl XXXII, and a 1998 ESPY for Pro Football Performer of the Year. Since the 1997 season he has made appearances on The Late Show with David Letterman, The Tonight Show with Jay Leno, Live with Regis and Kathy Lee, the WB network sitcom Sister, Sister and Sesame Street. In January, 1998, Davis established the Terrell Davis Salute the Kids Foundation to focus his charitable endeavors toward bettering the lives of children. He traveled to Washington, D.C., April 20, 1999 to testify before the Senate Committee on Energy and Natural Resources about the urgent need for more urban parks and open space. An avid supporter of Pop Warner football, Davis was invited by Jon Butler, executive director of Pop Warner Little Scholars, to testify in favor of a bill that would appropriate a portion of some oil and gas revenues for parks and open space. Davis makes his home in San Diego, Calif. He was born Oct. 28, 1972, in San Diego, Calif.

FULLBACK

Reuben Droughns was signed by the Broncos prior to the 2002 season and immediately stepped in and provided depth at fullback, while also becoming the Broncos primary kick-off returner. Droughns, in his fourth year out of Oregon, has played in 25 career games (three starts) and has 83 rushing yards and 157 total yards. In addition, he returned 20 kickoffs for 516 yards (25.8) last year, which ranked third in the AFC and sixth in the NFL. He entered the NFL in 2000 as Detroit's third-round draft choice (81st overall), and spent his first season on injured reserve with a right shoulder injury suffered in the pre-season. Droughns spent time on Detroit's active roster and the Dolphins' practice squad in 2001. Detroit did not renew his contract following the season and he signed with Denver April 1, 2002.

2002: Droughns played in all 16 games and rushed four times for 11 yds. (2.8) and one touchdown, and caught five passes for 53 yds. (10.6) with a long of 22 for a touchdown. He also excelled on special teams, tying for second on the team with 13 tackles and returned 20 kickoffs for 516 yds. (25.8)-third-best in the AFC, tied for sixth in the NFL-with a long of 53. Droughns also forced a fumble (at N.E., 10/27) and recovered a fumble (at Oak., 12/22) on kick returns. Droughns' receiving touchdown came on a 22-yd. pass from Steve Beuerlein at S.D. (12/1), in the 2nd qtr., and was the longest reception of his career. Versus Ind. (11/24) he posted the longest kickoff return of his career, 53 yds., en route to a career-high three returns for 97 yds. (32.3) in a game in which he also rushed once for 9 yds., caught a pass for 8 yds. and made a special teams tackle. At Sea. (11/17) Droughns returned kickoffs for the first time in his career, with three returns for 72 yards (24.0), including a long of 30 yards, while also posting what was at the time the longest pass reception of his career, for 17 yds. Droughns recorded a season-high three special teams tackles at K.C. (10/20). He saw his first offensive action in Wk. 3 vs. Buf. (9/22), and was the primary fullback vs. S.D. (10/6) in place of the injured Mike Anderson (ankle), though he did not start because the Broncos opened the game in a two-tight end alignment. Droughns scored his first career rushing touchdown at Balt. (9/30) on a 1-yd. carry.

2001: Droughns played in nine games and started three for the Lions, rushing for 72 yards on 30 carries (2.4) and catching four passes for 21 yards (5.3) and a touchdown (vs. Tampa Bay, 11/11/01). He was waived by Detroit after Week 1 (9/12) and was signed to Miami's practice squad Sept. 18 before being re-signed by the Lions Oct. 9. His career high for rushing attempts is 13 (vs. Tampa) and for yards is 36 (at S.F., 11/4/01). He also had a 15-yard run against the Niners.

2000: Droughns spent the season on injured reserve after separating his right shoulder on his first carry in Detroit's opening preseason game vs. New England (8/4). He was placed on injured reserve Aug. 22. Droughns was drafted by the Lions in the third round (81st overall) out of Oregon.

COLLEGE: Droughns was a two-year starter at Oregon after a stellar two-year career at Merced (Calif.) Junior College, and was a first-team All-Pac-10 choice as a senior. He ranks sixth on Oregon's all-time rushing list with 2,058 yards. Droughns had 1,234 yards and nine touchdowns on 277 carries (4.5) as a senior, including rushing for over 200 yards in three contests. In his first game for Oregon, he ran for 202 yards and two scores against Michigan State. One of his most impressive performances came at UCLA, where he ran for 172 yards and a score despite fracturing his right fibula during the contest, an injury that would force him to miss the rest of the season. Droughns was a history major at Oregon. He was a JUCO All-American at Merced after leading the nation in yards in 1997 with 1,611 and leading the state of California in all-purpose yardage with 1,984. Prep Star Magazine deemed him the nation's top JUCO running back after that campaign. He was an honorable mention All-American as a freshman.

OFF THE FIELD

Reuben received national recognition during the 2000 offseason after the Los Angeles Times reported that he had given $100 and his Oregon jacket to a homeless woman outside a Los Angeles 7-11 convenience store.

PERSONAL: Droughns finished his career at Anaheim (Calif.) High School as the No. 2 rusher in Orange County history with 4,915 yards and 49 touchdowns. He ran for an incredible 2,083 yards as a sophomore in 1993. Reuben is one of four sons. Droughns was born Aug. 21, 1978 in Chicago, Ill.

HIGH SCHOOL: Brookwood High School, Snellville, Ga.

RESIDES: Parker, Colo.

KICKER

OFF THE FIELD

Jason is a licensed commercial airplane pilot, who plans to fly full-time when he completes his playing career. Throughout his career Jason has been very active in the community, volunteering with Sungate and the Ronald McDonald House.

Jason Elam will be back in a Broncos uniform in 2003, and hopefully for the rest of his career after signing a new long-term contract with the team this past offseason. As his 2002 statistics proved, Elam continues to rank among the elite kickers in the National Football League as he enters his 11th professional season. The three-time Pro Bowl selection (1995, '98, 2001 seasons), who has scored more than 100 points in each of his 10 pro seasons, took a step toward football immortality in October 1998 when he tied the NFL record for longest field goal, converting a 63-yard attempt vs. Jacksonville (10/25/98). He also holds the NFL record for consecutive point-after attempts converted (371 straight) dating back to Nov. 14, 1993, which came to an end in 2002 vs. Indianapolis (11/24). Elam is the Broncos' all-time leading scorer (1,193), becoming just the 30th player in NFL history to pass the 1,000-point plateau. And after surpassing the 1,100 point plateau in 2002, he became the second fastest player in NFL history to achieve that number (in 145 games), just five behind Gino Cappelletti of the Boston Patriots. He also scored the 20,000th point in the history of Monday Night Football at Oakland, Nov. 5, 2001. Elam holds club records for career field goals (261), field-goal attempts (333), field-goal percentage (.784) and PATs made (410) and attempted (412). Additionally, he holds the top four single-season marks in club history for field goals, PATs and PAT attempts, as well as the top two marks for field-goal percentage (.861 in 2001 and .852 in 1998), while scoring in all 156 career games, the longest streak in franchise history. His excellence is nearly unmatched around the league, as he leads the NFL in total points scored and field goals made over the past 10 seasons. Elam remains the NFL's fourth most accurate kicker on field goal attempts from inside 40 yards

LONGEST PAT STREAK IN NFL HISTORY

Jason Elam broke Norm Johnson's NFL record of 301 consecutive point-after attempts when he went 5-5 at New Orleans, Dec. 3, 2000. His streak of 371 ended in 2002 vs. Indianapolis (11/24/02). Below is a look at the top three PAT streaks in NFL history:

MOST CONSECUTIVE POINT-AFTER-TOUCHDOWN CONVERSIONS, NFL HISTORY
PLAYER	TEAM(S)	PATS	DATES
1. Jason Elam	Denver	371	1993-2002
2. Norm Johnson	Phi./Pit./Atl.	301	1991-99
3. Eddie Murray	Det./K.C./T.B./Dal./Phi./Was./Min.	251	1988-2000

(176/189; .931). Elam's 51-yard field goal in Super Bowl XXXII was the second longest in Super Bowl history (54 yds., Steve Christie, Buf., SB XXVIII), as well as the longest in Broncos postseason history, and his 6-for-6 output on point-after attempts in the AFC Wild Card Game vs. Jacksonville (12/27/97) also set a Broncos postseason record. Elam now ranks second in all-time postseason scoring by a Bronco (60 points), and has made more point-after attempts (30) in the postseason than any other player in franchise history. Elam also ranks second in field goals made (10) in the postseason by a Bronco, and his 12 attempts rank second all-time. In the regular season Elam is 29-47 (.617) for his career on field goal attempts of 50 yards or more, including a 5-8 mark in 1999. He is 28-43 (.651) from 50-59, and 1-4 in the 60+ range, missing from 66 yds. vs. Seattle in 1995 (12/10); 64 vs. Seattle in 1999 (12/19) and 65 vs. the Giants in 2001 (9/10). His streak of three straight games with a field goal of 50 or more yards (last game of 1996 through second game of 1997) tied Elam with three other NFL players (Horst Muhlmann, 1970; Tom Dempsey, 1971; and Chris Bahr, 1981) for the longest such streak since the AFL-NFL merger in 1970. Elam was named the 2001 NFL Special Teams Player of the Year by the NFL Alumni and was honored in October 1996 as one of the Broncos' three nominees for the True Value/NFL Man of the Year Award. As well he has twice been named AFC Special Teams Player of the Week (Week 8, 1998 and Week 9, 1999) and has earned one AFC Special Teams Player of the Month award (Nov. 2001). He has kicked 12 game-winning or game-saving field goals in his outstanding career. Elam was selected by the Broncos in the third round (70th overall) of the 1993 NFL Draft out of Hawaii.

2002: Elam played in all 16 games and converted 26-of-36 field goal attempts (.722) and 42-of-43 (.976) point-after attempts to account for a team-leading 120 points, his 10th consecutive season with 100 or more points. He also made one special teams tackle. Elam ranked second in the AFC in scoring by kickers (7th NFL); third in total scoring (8th NFL); tied for second (T7th NFL) in field goals (26); tied for third (T5th NFL) in PATs (42); and his 55-yd. field goal vs. Miami was the second longest in the NFL in 2002. Elam owns the NFL record for consecutive PATs (371), a streak that ended vs. Ind. (11/24). He eclipsed Norm Johnson's NFL record for consecutive PATs (301) during the 2000 season (12/3 at N.O.). Elam made the first 24 of his career before his first regular season miss-a block by Minnesota's Tim Irwin, Nov. 14, 1993—and has made 410 of 412 (.995) in his career, the highest career percentage for PATs in NFL history. In the season finale vs. Ariz. (12/29) Elam converted all three field goal attempts and all four PATs to account for 13 points. Among his three field goals was a 54-yarder in the 2nd qtr. to raise his total to 4-6 (67%) from 50 yds. and beyond for the season. For his career Elam has connected on 29 of 47 (.617) attempts from that range (28-43, .651, from 50-59 and 1-4, .250, from 60+). At S.D. (12/1) he converted one of two field goal attempts from 50+ yards, making a 54-yarder in the first qtr. before missing an attempt from 53 yds. in overtime. Elam converted 30 consecutive field goal attempts of 42 yds. or closer, stretching back to last season, before missing a 39-yd. attempt at N.E. (10/27). He made his final 17 from that range in 2001 and his first 13 in 2002. Elam made all three field goal attempts at K.C. (10/20), including the game-winner from 25 yds. in overtime. It was his 11th career game-winning or game-saving field goal, and his third in an overtime situation. Elam tied his career high with five field goals (on five attempts) vs. Mia. (10/13), including a 55-yard kick with 45 seconds remaining in the game that temporarily gave the Broncos a 22-21 lead. He also tied a career high by scoring 16 points in the Miami contest, and it marked the first time he converted five field goals on five attempts (his two other five-field goal games came on six attempts). The Miami game also marked the first time in Elam's career that he converted two field goals of 50 or more yds. in the same game, and his 55-yarder in the 4th qtr. ties for the third longest of his career. One of Elam's few misses on the year, from 57 yds. at Balt. (9/30), was returned 107 yds. for a touchdown by Raven's cornerback Chris McAlister as time expired in the first half. It is the longest play in NFL history. Elam scored six points vs. S.D. (10/6) to reach the 1,100-point mark for his career in his 145th game, making him the second fastest to reach that plateau in NFL history behind former Boston Patriots kicker Gino Cappelletti (140 gms.). Elam has scored in all 156 career games, the longest streak in franchise

ELAM AMONG THE LEADERS

Jason Elam ranks among the league leaders in fields goals made inside 40 yards since he entered the league in 1993:

NFL's MOST ACCURATE KICKERS INSIDE 40 YARDS SINCE 1993

(ACTIVE PLAYERS; MIN. 130 ATTEMPTS)

PLAYER	TEAM(S)	FG/FGA	PCT.
1. Jason Hanson	Detroit	157/165	.952
2. Matt Stover	Baltimore/Cleveland	174/184	.946
3. John Kasay	Carolina/Seattle	162/173	.936
4. Jason Elam	Denver	176/189	.931
5. Morten Andersen	K.C./New Orleans/Atlanta/N.Y.G.	157/169	.929

history. He ranks fourth among active NFL kickers since 1993 on kicks inside 40 yds., connecting on 176 of 189 (.931), and leads the NFL in that same time period in total points scored (1,193), while ranking first in total field goals since 1993 (261). With 1,193 career points, Elam is one of just 26 players in NFL history to pass the 1,100-point plateau.

2001: Elam—voted to his third Pro Bowl; named the NFL's 2001 Special Teams Player of the Year by the NFL Alumni; voted second-team All-NFL by the Associated Press, College & Pro Football Newsweekly and Football News and All-AFC by Pro Football Weekly and Football News—turned in the most consistent and productive season of his nine-year career, leading the NFL in field goals with a franchise-record-tying 31, while tying for third in the league with 124 points. He converted a franchise-record 86% of his field goals (31 of 36) and all 31 point-after attempts to extend his NFL record for consecutive PATs to 344. He has now topped the 100-pt. mark in each of his nine pro seasons. Elam tied his career single-season high with his 31st field goal of the season in the 3rd qtr. of the season finale at Ind. (1/6), matching his mark from 1995. He had a chance to break his record but was wide left from 54 yds., making him 2-3 from 50-59 yds. on the season. Elam was perfect vs. Oak (12/30), connecting on three field goals (27, 25, 42) and hitting both PATs to account for 11 of the Broncos' 23 points. Elam broke a string of 13 field goals without a miss at K.C. (12/16), but still hit three of four, including a 49-yarder with 1:13 remaining in regulation to send the game to overtime. Though the Broncos lost in OT, it marked the 10th time in his career he had kicked a game-saving or game-winning field goal in regulation or overtime, and the second time he had sent a game to OT (11/22/99 vs. Oak.; Den. won in OT). Elam was named AFC Special Teams Player of the Month for November when he led all NFL kickers with 38 points and 11 field goals as the Broncos went 2-2. He converted 11 of 12 field goal attempts (.917), including two from beyond 45 yards. For the second time in three games Elam scored a season-high 14 points at Dal. (11/22), hitting four field goals (from 24, 50, 46 and 28) and both PAT opportunities. His successful 50-yarder made him 2-2 on field goal attempts of 50 yds. or longer in 2001. Elam scored 14 points vs. S.D. (11/11) on the strength of a season-high four field goals, hitting from 25, 29, 26 and 33. He also registered his first special teams tackle of the season vs. the Chargers. Elam had a record-setting night at Oakland (11/5), hitting two field goals, including a 39-yarder that gave him his 1,000th career point, making him the 30th NFL player to reach that plateau, as well as extending his franchise scoring record. He reached the milestone fastest among all kickers on the list. The kick also accounted for the 20,000th point scored in the history of Monday Night Football. Elam finished the night hitting another field goal from 21 yds., but had one blocked from 48. It was the only game of the season in which Elam did not attempt a PAT, as the Broncos attempted two-point conversions after each of their three touchdowns. Elam drilled his first 50-yd. field goal of the season vs. N.E., and converted all four point-after attempts in Denver's 31-20 win. At S.D. (10/21) he hit from 45 yds. out but missed from 42, and hit his only PAT. At Sea. (10/14), he was 3-3 on PATs, attempting no field goals. He was 2-2 on field goals against K.C. (10/7), hitting from 48 and 24, while continuing his perfect PAT streak, hitting two. He was 2-2 against Balt. (9/30), hitting from 43 and 49, and converted his only PAT. He was perfect on three field goal attempts (35, 31 and 49 yds.) at Ariz.

ELAM AMONG THE LEADERS (PART 2)

MOST POINTS SCORED, 1993-2002

PLAYER	TEAM(S)	POINTS
1. Jason Elam	Denver	1,193
2. Gary Anderson	Minnesota	1,097
3. Morten Andersen	K.C./Atlanta/N.O./N.Y.G.	1,068
4. Matt Stover	Baltimore	1,054
5. Jason Hanson	Detroit	1,050

MOST FIELD GOALS MADE, 1993-2002

5. Jason Hanson	Detroit	239

ELAM'S 12 GAME-WINNING OR GAME-SAVING FIELD GOALS

Oct. 23, 1994: 54-yard FG with 10:02 remaining in the fourth quarter put Denver up 17-15. He added a 25-yarder with 4:07 left to help Denver to a 20-15 victory at San Diego.

Dec. 4, 1994: Booted a 34-yard FG with 2:48 remaining in overtime to give Denver a 20-17 victory at Kansas City.

Nov. 19, 1995: Kicked a 32-yard FG with :02 left to give Denver a 30-27 win over San Diego.

Dec. 24, 1995: Kicked a 37-yard FG with :48 remaining to give Denver a 31-28 victory at Oakland, knocking the Raiders out of the playoffs and enabling the Broncos to finish with a non-losing record (8-8).

Oct. 26, 1997: Kicked a 33-yard FG with 1:56 remaining in overtime to give Denver a 23-20 victory at Buffalo in one of the longest weekends of the franchise's history, as the team had to overcome a blizzard in Denver that almost prevented them from leaving town and a 20-0 fourth-quarter flurry by the Bills.

Nov. 2, 1997: Kicked a 22-yard FG with 7:28 remaining to give the Broncos a 30-27 victory over the Seattle Seahawks.

Oct. 10, 1999: Kicked a 26-yard FG with 10:18 remaining to give the Broncos a 16-13 victory over the Raiders in Oakland.

Nov. 22, 1999: Kicked a 53-yard FG with 0:07 remaining, in freezing, snowy weather, to tie the Raiders in a Monday Night Football game at Mile High Stadium, forcing overtime. The Broncos won in OT.

Nov. 13, 2000: Kicked a 41-yard FG as time expired to give Denver a 27-24 win over Oakland in the final Monday Night Football game at Mile High Stadium.

Dec. 16, 2001: Kicked a 49-yard FG with 1:13 remaining in regulation to tie Denver with Kansas City at Arrowhead Stadium. The Broncos lost in overtime.

Oct. 20, 2002: Kicked a 25-yard FG with 12:03 remaining in overtime to give Denver a 37-34 win over Kansas City at Arrowhead Stadium.

Dec. 1, 2002: Kicked a 24-yard FG with 1:39 remaining in regulation to tie Denver with San Diego (27-27) at Qualcomm Stadium. The Broncos lost in overtime.

(9/23) and all three PATs for a then-season-high 12 points. Elam made one of two field goal attempts in the season opener vs. the Giants (9/10) and converted all four-point-after attempts. He connected from 37 yds. after missing by just inches to the left on a 65-yd. attempt that would have broken the NFL record (63 yds.) he shares with Tom Dempsey. The attempt was the second longest of Elam's career (66-yd. attempt vs. Sea., 12/10/95).

2000: Elam was 18-24 (75%) on field goal attempts and 49-49 on PATs to account for 103 points on the season, 10th most in the AFC, despite missing three games. His 49 PATs were most in the NFL and ranked second in franchise history behind his 58 in 1998. Elam's five PATs at N.O. (12/3) gave him an NFL record for consecutive PATs, breaking Norm Johnson's standard of 301 (Elam finished the season having made 313 straight). Elam suffered fractures of two transverse process bones in his lower back (L2, L3 vertebrae) on a kickoff return just before halftime vs. Atlanta (9/10) and missed three games (at Oak., 9/17; vs. K.C., 9/24 and vs. N.E., 10/1). He began kicking again after the K.C. game, and returned to game action at S.D. (10/8), converting all three point-after attempts. He experienced soreness in his back in the S.D. game, and was still affected by it a week later vs. Cleve. (10/15) when he was relieved of his kickoff duties. Elam still handled place-kicking chores and accounted for 14 of Denver's 44 points vs. the Browns by going 3-4 on field goals and 5-5 on PATs. With his three PAT attempts at the Jets (11/5) Elam passed Jim Turner (304) for most PAT attempts in franchise history. His game-winning 41-yd. field goal vs. Oak. (11/13) marked the ninth time in his career he converted a game-winning or game-saving field goal in the 4th qtr. or overtime. It was the first time in his career Elam kicked the winning field goal as time expired. He became the first Bronco to make 200 field goals in a career with his successful boot from 26 yds. vs. S.D. (11/19). With his 51-yard field goal vs. Atl. (9/10) Elam finished the 2000 season having connected on 23 of 37 (.621) attempts from 50 yds. and beyond in his career (22-34, .647 from 50-59 and 1-3, .333 from 60+). Elam successfully converted his only kick of the day in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31), making a 31-yd. field goal in the 2nd qtr.

ELAM TIES ONE OF FOOTBALL'S LONGEST-STANDING RECORDS

On Oct. 25, 1998, Jason Elam tied a 28-year old NFL record by kicking a 63-yard field goal against the Jacksonville Jaguars at the end of the first half. He matched Tom Dempsey's record set Nov. 8, 1970 as a member of the New Orleans Saints against Detroit (a game-winner):

LONGEST FIELD GOALS IN NFL HISTORY

PLAYER	TEAM	OPPONENT (DATE)	DISTANCE
1. Jason Elam	Denver	vs. Jacksonville (10/25/98)	63
Tom Dempsey	New Orleans	vs. Detroit (11/8/70)	63
3. Morten Andersen	New Orleans	vs. Chicago (10/27/91)	60
Steve Cox	Cleveland	at Cincinnati (10/21/84)	60

KICKER	TEAM	YEAR(S)	DATES	DISTANCES
Horst Muhlman	Cincinnati	1970	Oct. 4-Oct. 18	51, 50, 50
Tom Dempsey	Philadelphia	1971	Dec. 5-Dec. 19	52, 54, 50
Chris Bahr	L.A. Raiders	1981	Oct. 18-Nov. 1	51, 51, 51
Jason Elam	Denver	1996-97	Dec. 22, 1996-Sept. 7, 1997	51, 53, 51

1999: Elam converted all 29 point-after attempts and was 29-36 (80.6%) on field goal attempts to account for 116 points on the season (T5th AFC/T6th NFL). He scored in all 16 games to run his career streak to 111 games, the longest in franchise history, and also made two tackles on special teams. Elam tied for sixth in the NFL in field goals (29). With his seven points vs. the Jets (10/3), Elam eclipsed Jim Turner (742 points; 1971-79) to become the all-time leading scorer in Denver Broncos franchise history (now 846). Already the franchise record-holder for career field goals (184), Elam became the leader in field-goal attempts (previously Turner, 233) and PATs made (Turner, 283) vs. Seattle (12/19), and finished the season with 237 and 288, respectively. Elam's 26-yd. field goal with 10:18 to play at Oakland (10/10) was the seventh game-winning field goal of his career, lifting Denver to a 16-13 win. Elam was 5-7 on field-goal attempts of 50-59 yds. in 1999, to improve his career percentage from that range to 63.7% (21-33). He was successful from 50 yds. at K.C. (9/19), 51 yds. vs. the Jets (10/3), 55 yds. at S.D. (11/7); 53 yds. vs. Oak. (11/22) and 50 vs. S.D. (1/2), while missing from 53 vs. Green Bay (10/17) and 59 at New England (10/24). The 55-yarder at San Diego was the third longest of his career, and the longest since his NFL-record-tying 63-yarder vs. Jacksonville the year before (10/25/98). The effort earned Elam AFC Special Teams Player of the Week honors for Week 9, as he made four field goals and scored 15 points in the game, his highest single-game totals for both categories since setting career highs with 5 FGs and 16 pts. at K.C., Nov. 16, 1997. Elam matched the four-field-goal effort vs. Oakland (11/22) on Monday Night Football, including one of the most pressure-filled of his career, from 53 yds. out with 7 seconds remaining to tie the score at 21-21 and send the game to overtime. It proved to be the eighth game-winning or game-saving field goal of his career, as the Broncos went on to win 27-21 with Elam converting from 24, 30, 38 and 53 yds. on a cold (26P), snowy night.

1998: Elam turned in the finest all-around performance of his six-year NFL career, being selected to his second Pro Bowl, named second-team All-NFL by the Associated Press, College & Pro Football Newsweekly and All-AFC by Pro Football Weekly and Football News. He carved out his place in NFL history Oct. 25 vs. Jacksonville when he tied the pro football record for the longest field goal, clearing the crossbar from 63 yds. away as time expired in the first half to match the 28-year old standard set by New Orleans' Tom Dempsey (vs. Detroit, Nov. 8, 1970). The kick shattered the previous club record of 57 yds. by Fred Steinfort (vs. Wash., 10/13/80) and the previous Mile High Stadium record of 58 yds. by Cleveland's Steve Cox (12/4/83), and earned Elam AFC Special Teams Player of the Week and Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week honors for the first time in his career. It was the fourth field goal of 60-or-more yards in NFL history, with Cox (60 yds. vs. Cin., 10/21/84) and Morten Andersen (N.O., 60 yds. vs. Chi., 10/27/91) joining Elam and Dempsey in the 60+ club. Elam enjoyed his finest season statistically in 1998, converting 23 of his 27 field goal attempts for a career-best and franchise-record percentage of .852, and all 58 point-after attempts for 127 total points, while also making one tackle on a kickoff return. Elam tied for third in the AFC (T5th NFL) in scoring among kickers, and his 58 PAT conversions ranked second most in the NFL, while also representing a team record for a single season (previous: 46 by Elam, 1996, '97). He strained his right hamstring in the second quarter vs. Philadelphia (10/4) and was unable to play in the second half. Elam practiced sparingly the following week, but was able to play at Seattle (10/11), converting all three point-after attempts. He was 3-4 on kicks of 50 yards or longer, with his successful boot from 53 yards in Week 1 vs. New England (9/7), his NFL-record-tying 63-yarder vs. Jacksonville, his 52-yarder at Miami (12/21) and his miss from 55 yds. vs. Seattle (12/27). The 53-yarder had been Elam's longest field goal since converting from the same distance in the 1997 season-opener vs. Kansas City (8/31/97). Versus Dallas (9/13) he tied a franchise record that he already shared with four other players by converting six point-after attempts. A week later at Oakland (9/20) his two field goals moved him past Rich Karlis (137) for second place on Denver's all-time field goal list, and he became the Broncos' all-time field goal leader at San Diego, with his 152nd (Jim Turner, 151). Elam's 13 pts. vs. Jacksonville (10/25) moved him past Karlis (655) for second on the all-time franchise scoring list, finishing the year with 730 points. Elam set a franchise record for consecutive field goals made in Game 10 at Kansas City (11/16) on Monday Night Football, converting his 14th in a row to top Rich Karlis' previous standard of 13 (1984-85), and ran his streak to 19 straight before having a 37-yd. attempt vs. Kansas City (12/6) blocked. His four PATs at San Diego (11/29) pushed his total to 47, besting his own previous franchise record of 46, achieved in 1996 and '97, and he finished the year with 58. Elam made six of eight field goal attempts and all 11 point-after attempts for a team-leading 29 points in three postseason contests to move into second place in all-time postseason scoring by a Bronco. He also moved into the club postseason lead in point-after attempts (30) and second place in field goals made (9) and attempted (11). He made his only field goal attempt (32 yds.) and all five point-after attempts to account for eight points in the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9). That effort, however, was overshadowed by what he did a week later in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17), tying a franchise record with three field goals (also accomplished by David Treadwell, vs. Cleve., 1/14/90 and Rich Karlis, at Cleve., 1/11/87) and drilling both point-after attempts for 11 points on the day. Elam's 48-yarder ties for the third longest in franchise playoff history, matching Rich Karlis' vs. the Giants in Super Bowl XXI (1/25/87). Elam had a busy day in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31), converting two of four field goal attempts and all four point-after attempts for 10 points in the Broncos' 34-19 win. He was successful from 26 and 37 yards in the 2nd and 4th qtrs., respectively, and missed from 38 and 48 yards in the 3rd, the first two postseason misses of his career.

1997: Elam converted 26 of his 36 field goal attempts—including three from beyond 50 yards (50, 51 and 53)—and tied his own franchise record (1996) for PATs in a season by going a perfect 46-46 in that department. His 124 total points on the season ranked second in the AFC (4th NFL), and his 46 PATs led the AFC (2nd NFL). Elam's three field goals from beyond 50 yards in 1997 gave him 14 for his career (23 att.), and a .609 percentage from that range. He also made one special teams tackle on the year. Elam surpassed the 500-point plateau with his final point-after attempt at Seattle (9/7), becoming only the third Bronco in history to do so, and the fastest in terms of games played (66). He had a streak of three straight games with a field goal of 50+ yards snapped vs. St. Louis (9/14), a streak that dated back to the '96 season finale when he converted a 51-yarder at San Diego (12/22/96). In so doing, Elam became just the fourth kicker since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger to connect on field goals of 50 or more yards in three consecutive games. The others were Horst Muhlmann (1970), Tom Dempsey (1971) and Chris Bahr (1981). Elam was inactive for the New England game (10/6) because of groin and hip flexor injuries to his right leg, suffered the previous week at Atlanta (9/28). He missed most of that game after sustaining the injury on the kickoff following the Broncos' first touchdown. The New England game was the first missed by Elam in his five-year NFL career. With his first point-after at Oakland (10/19) Elam set a new Broncos record for consecutive games scoring at least one point (70), surpassing Rich Karlis' team record, set from 1984-88. He has now scored at least one point in the last 79 games in which he has played. He kicked the game-winning 33-yard field goal in overtime at Buffalo (10/26), the second time in his career that Elam has won a game for the Broncos in OT. The first was at Kansas City (20-17) Dec. 4, 1994. Elam tied his own franchise record with five field goals at Kansas City (11/16), matching the standard achieved previously by himself (vs. Buffalo, 9/3/95), Rich Karlis (vs. Seattle, 11/20/83) and Gene Mingo (vs. San Diego, 10/6/63). In that game he also tied his career high for field goal attempts in a game (6). In the postseason Elam was perfect, converting all 15 point-after attempts and both field goal attempts, of 43 and 51 yards. The 51-yard field goal in the Super Bowl was the second longest in Super Bowl history (54 yds., Steve Christie, Buff., SB XXVIII), as well as the longest in Broncos postseason history, and his 6-for-6 output on point-after attempts vs. Jacksonville (12/27) also set a Broncos postseason record, topping the previous mark (5 of 5) held by Rich Karlis (vs. Cleveland, 1/17/88).

1996: Elam converted 21 of 28 field goal attempts and all 46 point-after attempts to lead the team with 109 points. A hip flexor injury he suffered at Seattle in Week Two (9/8) hindered his performance during the middle of the season. The injury occurred when he was hit in the leg while following through on a kick. Elam's 109 points figured eighth among AFC kickers, and made him the first player in Broncos history to achieve four seasons with 100 or more points, having done so in each of his four professional seasons. He was also credited with one special teams tackle on the season. Elam converted three field goals in a game on two separate occasions, doing so at Seattle (9/8) in a 30-20

ELAM ETCHES NAME IN SUPER BOWL RECORD BOOK

Jason Elam's second-quarter 51-yard field goal in Super Bowl XXXII vs. Green Bay not only gave Denver a 17-7 lead, it was the second longest field goal in Super Bowl history, trailing only a 54-yarder by Steve Christie in Super Bowl XXVIII:

LONGEST FIELD GOALS IN SUPER BOWL HISTORY

PLAYER	TEAM	OPPONENT (DATE)	DISTANCE
1. Steve Christie	Buffalo	vs. Dallas (1/30/94)	54
2. Jason Elam	Denver	vs. Green Bay (1/25/98)	51
3. Jan Stenerud	Kansas City	vs. Minnesota (1/11/70)	48
Rich Karlis	Denver	vs. N.Y. Giants (1/25/87)	48

Denver victory and at Oakland (11/4) in Denver's 22-21 Monday Night win over the Raiders, their third of four consecutive wins over their arch-rival. Elam also tied the team record for most extra points in a game with six against Baltimore (10/20) in a 45-34 Bronco triumph. He connected on his only 50+-yard field goal of the '96 season at San Diego (12/22) in the regular season finale. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff vs. Jacksonville he did not attempt a field goal and was 1-2 on point-after attempts, having his first try of the day blocked by the Jaguars' Clyde Simmons.

1995: Elam finished tied for third in the NFL in scoring—tied for second among kickers—with 132 points, and tied for second in field goals made with 31 as he was voted to his first Pro Bowl appearance. The 132 points are the second most by a Bronco in a single season, and the 31 field goals broke Elam's own record of 30 set in '94. On the season he was 31-38 (.816) on field goal attempts and 39-39 on point-after attempts. His breakthrough season also included second-team All-Pro honors from both the Associated Press and College & Pro Football Newsweekly, as well as All-AFC honors from Pro Football Weekly. He also punted once for 17 yards and contributed two special teams tackles. Elam was 5-7 (.714) on field-goal attempts of 50 yards or longer—including one missed attempt of 66 yards versus Seattle (12/10)—to improve his career numbers from that distance to 10-16 (.625). His 66-yard attempt was the second longest kick ever attempted by a Bronco, trailing only the 73-yard attempt (also missed) by Fred Steinfort at New England in 1980 (9/29), and was the longest ever attempted at Mile High Stadium. His five field goals of 50 yards or more tied a Broncos single-season record, originally held by Fred Steinfort (5-8 in 1980). Elam's 56-yarder at Houston (11/26) was the longest of his career, and the second longest in franchise history, behind Steinfort's 57-yarder vs. Washington, Oct. 13, 1980. At Oakland on Christmas Eve Elam scored 11 points, including the game-winning 37-yard field goal with 48 seconds remaining, in Denver's 31-28 win. It was the second time in '95 that Elam had kicked a game-winning field goal in the final minute, following his 32-yard effort that beat San Diego with 0:02 remaining (11/19). The San Diego game-winner was the third of Elam's career, and his first in the final seconds of regulation. Elam made a franchise-record 13 straight field goals during the middle of the season, beginning with a 30-yarder at Seattle (10/1), and ending with a 35-yarder against San Diego (11/19). Elam set the tone for his stellar season in the opener against Buffalo (9/3), tying a Broncos single-game record with five successful field goals in six attempts (22, 52, 20, 38, 37; missed from 38).

1994: Elam matched his rookie total of 119 points scored (fourth on the Broncos' all-time single-season scoring list) and set a Broncos record for successful field goals in a season with 30 (37 attempts). He also was a perfect 29-for-29 on point-after attempts, giving him a two-year accuracy of .986 (70-of-71). His two-year field-goal percentage of .778 moved him into second on the Broncos' all-time career list, just behind David Treadwell (.779 from 1989-92). His accuracy on kicks inside 40 yards was impeccable in '94, as he converted 22-of-22 kicks within that distance. Elam tied his NFL long and the fourth longest kick in Broncos history with a 54-yard field goal at San Diego (10/23). He accounted for nine of the Broncos 15 points in a 15-13 win over Cincinnati (11/27) by converting 3-of-5 attempts (34 yards, 33 and 37). He also connected for three field goals at New York (3-for-3) and at Seattle (3-for-4). Elam had just one field goal attempt blocked, a 50-yard attempt against Atlanta (11/20).

1993: Elam showed his leg strength on several long field goals during the 1993 season. His 119 points (fourth-highest figure in Bronco history) placed him fourth in the AFC and seventh in the NFL. Elam was successful on 4 of 6 field goal attempts longer than 50 yards. His 54-yarder in the week two game vs. San Diego (9/12) was the fourth longest in team history. That came one week after he tied for the third-best single game performance at the New York Jets (9/5) in the season opener. In that game he went 4-4. For the year Elam made 26 field goals, tying for fourth-best in team history.

COLLEGE: Elam was a superb combination kicker in college, holding virtually every school and conference scoring record at the University of Hawaii. He finished his career with 79 field goals, just one shy of the NCAA record held by Jeff Jaeger (80). Elam holds the Western Athletic Conference scoring record with 395 points, and made 30 of 43 field goals of 40 yards or more. Elam finished his collegiate career with a .790 field goal percentage, connecting on 79 of 100 attempts, with his longest being a 56-yarder. He finished 157 of 160 in PATs for the Rainbows. As a senior Elam was selected first-team All-America (Kodak and The Poor Man's Guide to the NFL Draft) and was first-team All-WAC. He made 16 of 25 field goals and 44 extra points, finishing with 92 points for the season. He also finished his collegiate career with a 43.5-yard average on 84 punts. Elam was a communication major.

PERSONAL: Jason and his wife, Tamy, a former Broncos cheerleader, have a son, Jason, Jr., 6, and a daughter, Jordan Noel, 4. The family makes its offseason home in Parker, Colo. Jason is a licensed commercial airplane pilot, who plans to fly full-time when he completes his NFL playing career. Jason was first-team all-county and second-team all-state at Brookwood High School in Snellville, Ga., where he also lettered in swimming and track. Jason was born March 8, 1970 in Fort Walton Beach, Fla.

TACKLE

Ed Ellis is a big, tough tackle who comes to Denver and will instantly add depth on the offensive line. He joins the Broncos having played the past two seasons with San Diego, and proved to be a valuable addition to the Chargers. Prior to his stint in San Diego, Ellis played one season (2000) in Washington and his first three years in New England (1997-1999). He has played in 52 career games, while making six starts. Ellis signed with the Broncos as a free agent April 24, 2003.

2002: Ellis played in 15 games last year, including starts at left tackle Weeks 9-11, when he replaced the injured Damion McIntosh. He played on special teams Weeks 13-16, and missed his only game when he was inactive against Denver (12/1) with ankle injury. Ellis' main special teams highlight came when he blocked a Jason Elam field goal attempt at Denver (10/6).

2001: Ellis played in all 16 games, while making two starts. In one of his starts, at Kansas City (12/23), he helped make holes for running back LaDainian Tomlinson to rush for a season-high 145 yards. He also started the season finale against Seattle (12/30) at right tackle. Ellis blocked Buffalo's potential game-tying field goal to seal victory on Oct. 28. It was the Bolts' first blocked field goal since Junior Seau against Denver Nov. 30, 1997. He also blocked a PAT at New England (10/14)—the first blocked PAT by Chargers player since Keith Browner at Cincinnati Dec. 4, 1988.

2000: Ellis played in 12 games for Washington, exclusively on special teams and on the kickoff return and field goal protection units.

1999: Ellis started and played in one game at right tackle for New England against Indianapolis (9/19). He was on the inactive list for eight games, and was active but did not play in seven others.

1998: Ellis played in seven games as reserve offensive tackle, and dressed but did not play in four other games. Early in the season, he did receive action at Denver (9/7), vs. Indianapolis (9/13) and vs. Tennessee (9/20).

1997: Ellis saw action for the Patriots in only one game as reserve against Buffalo (10/12). New England selected Ellis in the fourth round (125th overall) of the 1997 NFL Draft.

COLLEGE: A three-year starter at Buffalo, Ellis earned All-America honors from Gridiron Report as senior. He lined up at left tackle and made 60 knockdown blocks, while earning All-Independent honors by The Sporting News as a junior when he registered 51 knockdown blocks. As a sophomore, he started every game at right tackle, finishing the year with 38 knockdowns as the team averaged 276.1 yards per game. He was an early childhood education major.

PERSONAL: Ellis led Hamden High School to three district titles in football, and earned three varsity letters. He likes to take exotic vacations to foreign countries when he's not playing football, having visited Spain, Germany and England in the past, and plans to visit Egypt and venture through the rest of Africa in the future. While he's back home in Hamden, Conn., Ellis and his family have been helping his father, Randolph Ellis, Jr. start a ministry whose mission is to help the sick and less fortunate in their community. It has been a fulfilling venture for the entire family. Ellis is married to Barbara Ann, who hails from Brockton, Mass., the hometown of legendary boxer Rocky Marciano. Edward Key Ellis was born Oct. 13, 1975 in New Haven, Conn.

SAFETY

Nick Ferguson joined the Broncos as a free agent this past offseason (April 2), and looks to make an immediate impact in the team's secondary. Entering his fourth NFL season, Ferguson played his first three with the New York Jets (2000-02). Originally signed as a rookie free agent by Cincinnati in 1997, he played three seasons in the Canadian Football League with Saskatchewan and Winnipeg prior to spending 1999 in Chicago's training camp and 2000 in Buffalo's camp. He was acquired by New York off Buffalo's practice squad in 2000, and played the final seven games of that season with the Jets. Ferguson has played in 39 career games, and picked up 37 total tackles (26 solo) and one interception for 20 yards.

2002: Ferguson played in all 16 games, recording 23 tackles and a fumble recovery on special teams, and added 11 tackles (9 solo) as a backup defensive back. Ferguson tallied one solo tackle on defense and led the team with five on special teams in Week 16—a Jets win over Green Bay. He recovered a Troy Brown fumble that had been forced by Chad Morton and added two special teams tackles in win at New England in Week 15. Ferguson two solo tackles as a defensive back, and another on special teams in game 12 at Oakland. After recording one special teams tackle against Buffalo in game 11, he had another on special teams in game 10 at Detroit. Ferguson totaled two tackles on special teams in the Week 9 win over Miami, and played on special teams, recording a tackle in Week 8 at San Diego. He recorded four tackles (two solo) on defense and added two tackles on special teams against Cleveland in game seven. Prior to that, he turned in two solo tackles from his safety position the win over Minnesota in Week 6. He saw action at safety and on special teams in game two against N.E., recording one solo tackle on defense and four tackles on special teams. Ferguson played in the season opener at Buffalo, primarily on special teams, and collected one solo tackle in addition to helping pave the way for Chad Morton's two kickoff returns for touchdowns.

2001: Ferguson played primarily on special teams, finishing second on the team with 26 special teams tackles. He recorded 21 tackles on defense, making one contest—vs. Buffalo in game 15. Ferguson recorded two or more special teams tackles nine separate occasions during the year. While starting his first NFL game vs. Buffalo in week 16, he recorded 16 tackles (nine solo), one pass defended and a forced fumble. He replaced an injured Damien Robinson late in the fourth quarter of the team's 29-28 win in game 14 at Indianapolis, and recorded two tackles on defense and another two tackles on special teams. Ferguson had three solo special teams tackles vs. Cincinnati in Week 14, and tied for the team lead with two special teams tackles vs. New England Week 12. After leading the team at New Orleans with four special teams tackles, he recorded two tackles against Carolina, as the Jets' special teams unit blocked a punt and returned it for the team's only touchdown in the game.

2000: Ferguson played in the Jets' final seven games of the season in a reserve role as an extra defensive back and on most special teams plays. He finished the year with nine tackles, three passes defended, one interception and three special teams tackles. In the team's final three games, Ferguson totaled six tackles and three special teams tackles, and played exceptionally well in game 13 vs. Indianapolis when he had four tackles, a team-high three passes defended—including a diving deflection on a third down pass intended for Marvin Harrison—and also recorded his first career interception when he swiped a Peyton Manning pass intended for Jerome Pathon in the fourth quarter of the Jets' 27-17 win.

OFF THE FIELD

Nick Ferguson, this past offseason, was one of six current and 12 former NFL players who took part in the NFL Coaching Internship Program—where the goal is to provide participants with comprehensive training, work experience and an evaluation of their coaching abilities. The coaches worked in the NFL Europe training camps in Tampa last February, where Ferguson was assigned to the Amsterdam Admirals.

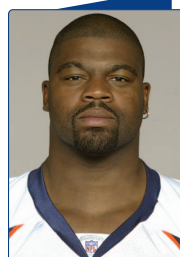

COLLEGE: Ferguson led the secondary with 67 tackles and finished second on team with seven passes defended as a senior for Georgia Tech. A former walk-on in 1993, Ferguson served primarily as a scout team player. Prior to his stint with the Yellow Jackets, he played one year at Morris Brown College in Atlanta.

PERSONAL: Born Nov. 27, 1974 in Miami, Fla., Ferguson is the third of 11 children (seven girls and four boys). He enjoys writing poetry in his spare time. Ferguson gained nickname "Train Wreck" while playing in NFL Europe when he ran over teammate Cedric Donaldson to make a tackle. While attending Jackson (Miami) High School, he was named the team's Most Valuable Player as a senior. His cousin, Ben Hanks, played for Minnesota in 1996 and Detroit in 1997.

SAFETY

Lee Flowers comes to Denver after playing his first eight NFL seasons in Pittsburgh, where he was the Steelers' starting safety. In that time, Flowers solidified himself as one of the Steelers defensive leaders by totalling 503 tackles (360 solo), 12 sacks for -72 yards and four interceptions. He also racked up 29 passes defended, 10 forced fumbles, six fumble recoveries, as well as 52 special teams stops. Selected in the fifth round (151st overall) of the 1995 NFL Draft, Flowers was one of only six rookies to make Pittsburgh's 53-man roster that year. He looks to add depth to the Broncos' secondary, as well as compete with Sam Brandon for the starting free safety position. He signed with the club as a free agent June 3, 2003.

2002: Flowers solidified himself as one of the defensive leaders as he finished the regular season with 85 total tackles (56 solo), four sacks and a career-high two interceptions. For the second straight year, he was named the recipient of The Chief Award, presented annually by the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Pro Football Writers of America to the player who best exemplifies the spirit of cooperation with the media established by the late founder, Arthur J. Rooney Sr. In the season opener at New England (9/9), he finished with five tackles (3 solo), plus caused and then recovered a fumble. Against Oakland (9/15), he tallied nine tackles (6 solo), and racked up five tackles and his first sack of the season vs. Cleveland (9/29). Flowers matched his career total for interceptions with two, and finished with six tackles at Cincinnati (10/13). He registered eight tackles (3 solo), and was credited with three quarterback hits/pressures at Baltimore (10/27). Prior to the game vs. Atlanta (11/10), he suffered a shoulder injury at the Friday practice, but came back to play in the game, finishing with six tackles (4 solo) and one quarterback pressure. Flowers, at Jacksonville (12/1), led the team with nine tackles (6 solo) and added one sack and one quarterback pressure. The following week vs. Houston (12/8), he tied Kendrell Bell for the team lead with seven tackles (4 solo). Against vs. Baltimore (12/29), Flowers totaled seven tackles (5 solo), and was also credited with one sack for eight yards. He led the team with 10 tackles (6 solo), including 1.5 tackles for losses totalling 5 yards vs. Cleveland (1/5). In the AFC Divisional Game at Tennessee (1/11), Flowers tied Larry Foote for the team lead with 11 tackles, including a team-high nine solo. He also recovered a fumble by Eddie George which was forced by Casey Hampton and led to a Steelers' touchdown.

2001: Flowers had another excellent season, finishing with 90 tackles (63 solo), and one sack. He was a first-time recipient of The Chief Award, presented annually by the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Pro Football Writers of America to the player who best exemplifies the spirit of cooperation with the media. The award was established by the late founder, Arthur J. Rooney Sr. At Jacksonville (9/9), he was credited with seven total tackles (5 solo). He missed most of the second half with a left knee injury at Buffalo (9/30), and played only 29 snaps, finishing with four total tackles (2 solo). The next week, Flowers was deactivated versus Cincinnati (10/7) because of the knee injury. He came back and logged 46 defensive snaps at Kansas City (10/14), and tallied seven total tackles (5 solo), with one pass defended. Against Tennessee (10/29), he finished with eight total tackles (4 solo) and a forced fumble. He was credited with a team-high 10 tackles (8 solo) vs. Baltimore (11/4), and finished with 10 tackles (6 solo) at Cleveland (11/11). He played all 104 defensive snaps at Cincinnati (12/30) and totaled 10 tackles (6 solo) and two passes defended. In the AFC Playoff game versus Baltimore (1/20), he finished with four solo tackles and one pass defended. The next week, he led the team with nine tackles (3 solo) in AFC Championship game versus New England (1/27).

2000: Flowers again was productive despite having his season shortened by two games because of a left knee injury, which required surgery on Dec. 13. Flowers played 68 defensive snaps versus Baltimore (9/3), leading the team with 10 tackles, including four solo stops. He missed the game at Cleveland (9/17) because of his nagging groin injury, and returned to the starting lineup versus Tennessee (9/24), where he was credited with seven total tackles, including four solo stops. Flowers collected his second career interception—his first since Nov. 1, 1998 at Tennessee—at Jacksonville (10/1), plus picked up seven total tackles, all solo. Against the N.Y. Jets (10/8), he recovered a blocked field goal in the second quarter and also forced a fumble by Curtis Martin in the third quarter to thwart a potential Jets' scoring drive. He played all 67 defensive snaps versus Cincinnati (10/15), and finished with eight total tackles including five solo. At Baltimore (10/29), Flowers posted a team-high 10 tackles (7 solo), and recovered Trent Dilfer's fumbled snap on the Ravens' initial drive of the game that ended a Ravens' scoring threat at the Steelers' 9-yard line. Logging all 78 defensive snaps at Tennessee (11/5), he finished with 15 total tackles (10 solo) and was also credited with a quarterback hurry/pressure and one pass defended. Against Philadelphia (11/12), he finished with six total tackles, and more importantly, forced a fumble that was retrieved by Joey Porter and returned for a touchdown. Flowers had a sack of Mark Brunell, which forced a fumble that was recovered by the Steelers and led to their first touchdown of the game versus Jacksonville (11/19). He finished the game with eight total tackles (3 solo) and one quarterback hurry/pressure. Against Cincinnati (11/26), he led the team with 13 total tackles, including seven solo tackles and a forced fumble. Flowers came back with a big-time effort versus Oakland (12/3), as he recovered two fumbles, giving him a career-high three for the season. Flowers suffered a knee injury early in the third quarter at N.Y. Giants (12/10), and returned only to aggravate the injury further six plays later. He ended up missing the remainder of the season.

1999: Flowers finished the year with 96 total tackles, third highest on the team, including 76 solo stops, five sacks (third most) and 12 pass defenses (tied for team honors). He left the game early in the second quarter because of an ankle sprain at Baltimore (9/19), but finished with three total tackles (2 solo). The next week vs. Seattle (9/26), he missed his first game as a starter because of the high-ankle sprain. After making a quick recovery, he came back to start against Jacksonville (10/3), playing all 63 snaps, and registering nine total tackles (7 solo). Flowers had one of his most active days that season at Buffalo (10/10), finishing with a season-high nine tackles, including seven solo stops and a sack. Playing all 70 snaps in a Monday Night game versus Atlanta (10/25), he finished with six total tackles, including five solo, and was also credited with a pass defended. Against San Francisco (11/7), he played all 71 snaps tallied eight total tackles, including seven solo stops. Flowers registered a team-high nine solo tackles versus Cleveland (11/14), and in the process, picked up his second sack of the season while adding two pass defenses. He finished with eight total tackles (6 solo) against Cincinnati (11/28), and also recorded his third sack of the season. Flowers logged 52 defensive plays despite suffering a lip laceration that required stitches at Kansas City (12/18), and left the game to have the stitches but returned to the game and finished with four total tackles (3 solo). He racked up eight tackles, including six solo stops before being ejected for fighting with tight end Wesley Walls in the fourth quarter against Carolina (12/26).

1998: Flowers ended the year as the team's second-leading tackler (behind Levon Kirkland), registering 117 total stops, including 94 solo tackles, which tied Kirkland for the team high. He also recorded the first sack and interception of his career, and was credited with two fumble recoveries and five pass defenses and 6.5 tackles for losses. Flowers made his debut as a starter at strong safety in the season-opener at Baltimore (9/6), and picked up three solo tackles with four assists. He posted his best game as a starter to that point in the Chicago contest (9/13) with a career-high 10 total tackles, including seven solo stops. He registered seven tackles (five solos) at Miami (9/20), and was very active in a strong defensive performance against Seattle (9/27), where he made six total tackles, including five solo. In the second game of the season against Baltimore (10/18), he registered six total tackles (4 solo), and recovered the fumble on the Ravens' opening offensive series that led to a Steelers' first-quarter field goal. Flowers tied a team-high with six total tackles (5 solo) in the Monday Night game at Kansas City (10/26), and also recovered Elvis Grbac's fumble on the Chiefs' final drive of the game to help seal the Steelers' victory. Against Tennessee (11/1), he played all 65 defensive snaps, registering seven total tackles (4 solo), while recording his first career sack in the first quarter for five yards. Flowers had one of his best games in a Monday Night contest against Green Bay (11/9), finishing with eight total tackles, second only to Levon Kirkland. He followed that up with a team-high nine total tackles, including six solo stops, at Tennessee (11/15), while also forcing a fumble and picking up the first interception of his career. Flowers recorded seven total tackles, including six solo stops, at Detroit (11/26), and also forced a fumble recovered by Chris Oldham. Against New England (12/6), he registered a career-high 11 total tackles, including nine solo stops, while not missing a defensive play. He then set a new career high with 13 total tackles (10 solo) at Tampa Bay (12/13), tying Levon Kirkland for team honors.

1997: Flowers was sidelined for six weeks because of a sprained knee he suffered against Indianapolis (10/12), and returned to action for the Arizona game (11/30), and finished the regular season with one tackle and seven special-teams stops (6 solos), adding a forced fumble on special teams. He posted a career high four special-team tackles at Baltimore (10/5). Against New England (1/3) in the AFC first-round playoff game, he had two tackles, and also played on special teams in the AFC Championship game versus Denver (1/11).

1996: Flowers played in every game and led team with 30 special-teams stops (27 solo), ranking fifth in NFL, just four tackles short of the NFL-leader Jay Bellamy (Seattle) who had 34. He posted a three-tackle performance at Houston (10/20), and matched that high at Atlanta (10/27). Flowers produced his best game to that point of his career versus St. Louis (11/3), registering two solo tackles on defense and three special-team tackles. He had one solo tackle, two special-team tackles at Carolina (12/22). In the postseason, he played in the Steelers' games versus Indianapolis (12/29) and New England (1/5) adding two special-teams stops.

1995: Flowers, one of six rookies to make Pittsburgh's 53-man roster in 1995, was inactive six of first seven games, logging his first action at Houston (9/10). He played in the final nine games of the year mainly on special teams, finishing tied for second on team with 14 special-team stops. Flowers had two special-team stops at Chicago (11/4) and versus Cleveland (11/13), and three each versus Houston (12/3) and at Oakland (12/10). He forced an Eric Bieniemy fumble on a kick return at Cincinnati (11/19). During the playoffs, he led the Steelers with five special-team tackles while playing every post-season game, including two stops in Super Bowl XXX versus Dallas (1/28). Flowers was the Steelers' fifth round (151st overall) selection in the 1995 NFL Draft.

COLLEGE: Flowers, a starting cornerback and return specialist at Georgia Tech, compiled 238 total career tackles, the third most by a Yellow Jacket defensive back. He averaged 21.8 yards on 44 kickoff returns and 6.1 yards on 44 punt returns, while earning All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors as senior. He finished fourth on defense with 75 tackles and third in ACC with 23.5-yard kickoff return average on 23 returns, including career-long 62 yarder, his senior season, and picked up two interceptions. As a junior, he was credited with 55 total tackles, while backing up both cornerback positions and playing in nickel situations. He averaged 7.9 yards per punt return and 16.4 yards per kickoff return. Flowers was Tech's fourth-leading tackler with 80 stops in sophomore season, starting nine of 11 games and adding 13 kickoff returns for 21.7-yard average. He made 27 tackles and two fumble recoveries as reserve during his freshman campaign.

PERSONAL: Flowers earned All-State, All-Region, and All-Area honors for Spring Valley High School in Columbia, S.C., while serving as team captain and being voted offensive MVP. He doubled as quarterback, accumulating 1,126 all-purpose yards and 11 TDs, and registered 48 tackles as senior on defense. Flowers played in 1990 North Carolina-South Carolina Shrine Bowl, and was a member of AAAA state championship team as sophomore. He earned three letters each in football and track, and was the 1989 state long jump champion. Lethon Flowers III was born on Jan. 14, 1973 in Columbia, S.C. He and his wife, Kara, have two children, son, Lethon IV (3), and daughter, Leah (2). The family makes their offseason home in Atlanta, Ga.

DEFENSIVE TACKLE

Daryl Gardener will fit in perfectly around these parts. He's a big, intimidating run stopper, who also has a knack for getting to the quarterback. Gardener, who played last season with the Washington Redskins and his first six NFL seasons with the Miami Dolphins (1996-2001), recovered from successful back surgery during the 2001 season, and started 15 games at defensive tackle for the Redskins last year posting 71 tackles (50 solo), four sacks (-14) and one fumble recovery. In his six seasons with Miami, he started 77 games, making 322 total tackles (233 solo), with 15 sacks for -79.5 yards, three forced fumbles and three fumble recoveries. Gardener also has started in seven postseason games, compiling 31 total tackles (19 solo) and 1.5 sacks for -13.0 yards. Gardener was chosen by the Dolphins in the first round (20th overall) of the 1996 NFL Draft, and signed with Washington as an unrestricted free agent July 30, 2002. He joined the Broncos as an unrestricted free agent on March 6, 2003.

2002: Gardener joined Washington during 2002 training camp (7/30), and by season's end was named the 2002 Quarterback Club Redskins Player of the Year. He was also named as an alternate to the 2003 Pro Bowl, after he tied a career high in tackles with 71, and set a career mark for solo tackles with 50. Against St. Louis in Week 12, Gardener recovered a fumble from Rams quarterback Kurt Warner solidifying a Redskins' victory. In Washington's game at San Francisco (9/22), he started at right defensive tackle, and recorded six tackles (all solo). Against Tennessee (10/6), he recorded three tackles and one sack (Steve McNair) for -1 yard. The next week, Gardener made a team high nine tackles (4 solo) vs. New Orleans (10/13). A few weeks later, at Seattle (11/3), Gardener recorded four tackles, one sack (Matt Hasselbeck), one pass deflection and a fumble recovery. He followed that up with nine tackles (7 solo) at Jacksonville (11/10). Against St. Louis (11/24) he finished with four tackles and recovered a fumble of Rams quarterback Kurt Warner on the final possession, sealing the Redskins' victory 20-17. Gardener racked up five tackles (3 solo) and one sack (Chad Hutchinson) for -10 yards at Dallas (11/28), and made four tackles (1 solo) vs. the New York Giants (12/8). In the season finale vs. Dallas (12/29), he recorded six tackles (5 solo).

2001: Gardener started each of the first eight games of the season at right defensive tackle, and registered 36 total tackles (27 solo), four sacks, a forced fumble and two passes defended. He was inactive for game vs. N.Y. Jets (11/18) before undergoing back surgery on Nov. 24. Miami-area spine specialist Dr. Gary Gieseke performed a laser microdisectomy to remove fragments and scar tissue at Holy Cross Hospital in Ft. Lauderdale. Gardener was again inactive for each of the next two games before being placed on injured reserve on Dec. 4, where he spent the final five regular season games and Miami's playoff contest. Prior to being placed on injured reserve, he had a season-high seven tackles in 18-15 win over Oakland (9/23), as Dolphins held the Raiders without an offensive touchdown. Gardener matched that total two weeks later in 30-10 victory over New England (10/7), when he also tallied two sacks, tying a career-high that he first set on Dec. 19, 1999 against San Diego. In addition, he batted down a pass and forced a fumble in the Patriots contest and was awarded a defensive game ball. Gardener posted six tackles, including a sack, in win at Seattle (10/28), and recorded five stops in triumph at Indianapolis (11/11), his final game prior to missing the remainder of the year.

2000: Gardener started all 10 games in which he played at right defensive tackle. Despite missing six games, he finished ninth on the team with 54 total tackles (43 solo), and also recorded 2.5 sacks and one pass defended. Gardener registered nine tackles over the first two weeks of the season, including four stops and a half-sack in season-opener vs. Seattle (9/3) when he was awarded a defensive game ball. He sustained a disc herniation at L4-L5 vertebrae vs. Minnesota (9/10), and underwent surgery on Sept. 15 to remove a fragment of his herniated lumbar disc. The surgery was performed by Dr. Gary Gieseke at Holy Cross Hospital in Fort Lauderdale. Gardener was inactive for five straight games before returning to action in a starting role vs. Green Bay (10/29). The first game that Gardener missed—vs. Baltimore (9/17)—ended a string of 66 straight games in which he had played, and marked the first time he missed a game in his NFL career. In his second game back (vs. Detroit, 11/5), Gardener tallied five tackles, including 1.5 sacks, and earned a game ball on defense. He was inactive the following week at San Diego (11/12) due to back spasms, but came back to record eight tackles the following week vs. N.Y. Jets (11/19). Gardener posted a season-high nine stops, including a half-sack, vs. Tampa Bay (12/10). He started both playoff games following the 2000 season at right defensive tackle, and tied for fifth on the team with 11 tackles, including seven in AFC Divisional Playoff game at Oakland (1/6/01).

1999: Gardener started 15 of the 16 games in which he played at right defensive tackle, and finished the year with 71 total tackles (49 solo), five sacks for 14.5 yards in losses, one fumble recovery and one forced fumble. Both his tackle and sack totals represented career-highs, surpassing his previous bests of 58 tackles (1997) and 1.5 sacks (1997). His tackle total ranked fifth on the team and was second among linemen, while his sack figure tied for third on the squad. Gardener was voted as a second alternate at defensive tackle to the AFC Pro Bowl squad. The only game he did not start was vs. N.Y. Jets (12/27) as Dolphins opened with six defensive backs. He opened the season with four tackles in a win at Denver (9/13) and was awarded a defensive game ball. Gardener was second on the team with seven tackles in win vs. Arizona (9/19), and earned a defensive game ball for the second straight week. He added five tackles and a fumble recovery vs. Indianapolis (10/10), with the fumble recovery coming in the first quarter when he scooped up an Edgerrin James fumble at the Dolphins' 2-yard line and returned it 33 yards. The Colts had a 1st-and-goal from the 1-yard line prior to the fumble, and Gardener's return helped to set up an Olindo Mare field goal. He recorded three tackles, including a sack, at Oakland (10/31) and received a defensive game ball. Gardener tallied five tackles, including a half-sack, in shutout win vs. Tennessee (11/7) and again earned a defensive game ball. He notched eight tackles at Buffalo (11/14), and was second on the team with a season-high 10 tackles in 12-9 victory over San Diego (12/19). Gardener also posted a career-high two sacks in the Chargers contest and was awarded a game ball on defense. When he did not start the following week against the Jets (12/27), it snapped a string of 57 consecutive contests in which he had started, dating back to his rookie season of 1996. He started both playoff games at right defensive tackle, and totaled five tackles (3 solo).

1998: Gardener started all 16 regular season games and both playoff contests at right defensive tackle, finished the year with 53 tackles, one sack and one interception. In addition, he batted down three passes, and his tackle total ranked eighth on the team and first among linemen. Gardener had two tackles and an interception of a Peyton Manning pass in the season-opener at Indianapolis (9/6)—marking the first interception of his career and the first interception by a Dolphins defensive lineman since Jeff Cross picked off a Drew Bledsoe pass on Oct. 30, 1994 at New England. For his performance in shutout win vs. Pittsburgh (9/20), he was awarded a defensive game ball for recording a pair of stops. He tallied five tackles at N.Y. Jets (10/4), and registered a season-high seven tackles, including a sack and a pass defended, vs. New England (10/25), where he earned a defensive game ball for his efforts in the Dolphins' 12-9 win. He started both playoff games following the 1998 season at right defensive tackle, totalling seven tackles and a half-sack. He tallied three tackles and a half-sack in First-Round game vs. Buffalo (1/2/99), and was credited with four stops in Divisional contest at Denver (1/9/99).

1997: Gardener started all 16 regular season games and one playoff contest at right defensive tackle. He finished the year with 58 total tackles (ranking 9th on the club), 1.5 sacks for 12.5 yards lost, a fumble recovery and a forced fumble. He recorded five tackles at Green Bay (9/21), and registered six stops, including a half-sack, vs. Chicago (10/27). Gardener tallied a season-high seven tackles at Buffalo (11/2), and amassed four tackles, including his only full sack of the year, in season finale vs. New England (12/22). Gardener started first-round Playoff game at New England (12/28), where he was credited with eight tackles, including a sack for nine yards lost.

1996: Gardener played in all 16 games with 12 starts at left defensive tackle as a rookie, finishing with 50 tackles (33 solo), one sack and a fumble recovery. He was voted to all-rookie teams of College and Pro Football Newsweekly, The Football News and Pro Football Weekly. Gardener made his Dolphins debut in the season opener against New England (9/1) in a starting role at left defensive tackle and recorded four tackles, including a 7-yard sack of Patriots quarterback Drew Bledsoe. He joined fellow rookies, running back Karim Abdul-Jabbar, fullback Stanley Pritchett and linebacker Zach Thomas, for only the third time in club history and the first time since 1970 that Miami started four rookies in the season opener. Gardener saw action in a reserve role in each of the next four games, and tallied five tackles at Indianapolis (9/23). He started each of the final 11 contests, while recovering a fumble at New England (11/3), registering five tackles against Pittsburgh (11/25), and posting a season-high six stops at Oakland (12/1).

COLLEGE: Gardener was a three-year starter at Baylor, recording 59 tackles (36 solo), 3.5 sacks, and six tackles for loss as a senior. He started each of the first eight games of junior season at left defensive end, recorded 31 tackles (19 solo), seven tackles for loss, one forced fumble, one fumble recovery with a team-high 4.5 sacks. His sophomore year, he started the last nine games at left defensive end, and racked up 51 tackles (25 solo), four sacks, 12 tackles for loss, one forced fumble, one fumble recovery and a pass defended. As a freshman he saw reserve action, while picking up 18 tackles (14 solo), with three sacks and six tackles for loss. Gardener majored in sociology.

PERSONAL: Gardener is married to Tarnesia, and the couple resides in Coral Springs, Fla., with two sons, Da'vante and De'Andre, and daughter, Sha'nice. He attended Lawton (Okla.) High School, and was named all-state as a senior after recording 149 tackles, eight sacks, nine quarterback pressures, while adding eight receptions for 138 yards and two touchdowns. Gardener excelled in basketball, averaging 17.2 points and 10 rebounds per game. He has worked with the Kara Morris Foundation, the Big Brothers program and has become extremely involved with the Guardian Ad Litem Program. Gardener was the recipient of the Dolphins 2000 Ed Block Courage Award. He enjoys fishing in his spare time, and lists the Bible as his favorite book, and Janet Jackson as his favorite recording artist. Born February 25, 1973, in Baltimore, Md., his full name is Daryl Ronald Gardener.

Ian Gold moved into the starting lineup at weakside linebacker, and wasted no time emerging as one of brightest stars on the Broncos' front seven. Gold posted 166 tackles (130 solo) and finished second on the team in sacks with 6.5 (-34 yards). Adding Gold to the starting lineup has established Denver as having one of the most talented linebacking corps in the entire league. Lightning quick and extremely agile, Gold has made an impact as a linebacker, edge rusher and special teams standout in his first three NFL seasons, and was rewarded with his first Pro Bowl invitation in 2001 as the AFC special teams performer. He has also earned one AFC Special Teams Player of the Week award in his career, in Week 11 of the 2000 season. Gold has played in all 48 games since joining the club and posted 215 tackles (172 solo), including 11.5 sacks (-52), as well as seven passes defended and five forced fumbles. He has added 30 more tackles on special teams, as well as four fumble recoveries and a blocked punt that he returned for a touchdown in his rookie season. Gold was the first of Denver's two second round draft choices in 2000, selected 40th overall out of Michigan.

2002: Gold started at weakside linebacker in all 16 games and ranked second on the team in tackles with a career-high 166 (130 solo), including a career-high 6.5 sacks (-34), as well as five passes defended, three forced fumbles and one fumble recovery. Gold's sack total ranked tied for fifth in the AFC (T8th NFL) among linebackers. In his first year as a starter, Gold posted double-digit tackle totals in 10 games, including four in a row (gms. 9-12), and in eight of the final 10 outings. He also posted at least half a sack in each of the final four games, notching 3.5 sacks in that span. His fumble recovery came in the season finale vs. Ariz. (12/29) when Lionel Dalton sacked Josh McCown, forcing the ball loose, and Gold returned it 18 yds. to the Broncos 16-yd. line. In the game he also raised his sack total 6.5 with a shared sack of McCown. Gold recorded his sixth sack of the season at Oak. (12/22), knocking the ball loose from Rich Gannon on the play for his third forced fumble of the season. The ball was recovered by Bertrand Berry. He also matched his season high (for the fifth time) of 13 tackles (12 solo) at Oak. Gold matched his season high (fourth time) with 13 tackles (10 solo) vs. K.C. (12/15) and also recorded his fifth sack of the season (-1). He recorded his fourth sack at the Jets (12/8), pulling down Chad Pennington for a 10-yd. loss. At S.D. (12/1) he matched his season high with 13 tackles (10 solo). Versus Ind. (11/24) Gold recovered a muff by Colts punt returner Troy Walters. He led the team in tackles while tying his career high with 13 stops (9 solo) vs. Oak. (11/11), including his third sack of the season (-5), of Rich Gannon, giving him sacks in back-to-back games. He posted his second sack of the season at N.E. (10/27), dropping Tom Brady for a 3-yd. loss, and also forced a fumble in the game. Gold recorded a career-high 13 tackles (9 solo) at K.C. (10/20), his third double-digit tackle total of the season. His first forced fumble came vs. Buf. (9/22) and led to a 24-yd. touchdown return by Chester McGlockton. Gold posted his first sack of the season in Wk. 2 at S.F. (9/15), dropping Jeff Garcia for a 7-yd. loss, among his 10 tackles (9 solo). In the opener vs. St. L. (9/8) Gold posted a then-career-high 12 tackles (10 solo) to tie for the team lead.

2001: Gold—voted to play in the Pro Bowl for the first time in his career as the AFC special teams performer, and named All-AFC for special teams by Pro Football Weekly—played in all 16 games and posted a career-best 28 tackles (22 solo), including a career-high three sacks (-14), and broke up two passes and forced a fumble. He excelled on special teams, ranking third on the team with 18 tackles, and recovering two fumbles (at K.C. 12/16 and at Ariz., 9/23). His second fumble recovery came on the opening kickoff of the second half at K.C. (12/16). Gold tied his season high in tackles with five vs. Oak. (12/30), including one sack, as he took down Rich Gannon for a 6-yd. loss in the 2nd qtr. Gold set his season high initially with five tackles at Mia. (12/2), just one short of his career single-game high set last season at N.O. (12/3/00). He posted his second sack of the season at Dal. (11/22), dropping Ryan Leaf for a 6-yd. loss, and causing a fumble that was recovered by John Mobley to set up a Broncos touchdown. Gold posted his previous season high in tackles at S.D. (10/21) with four (3 solo). In the season opener versus the Giants (9/10) he posted one solo tackle, a sack of Kerry Collins for a 2-yd. loss.

2000: Gold played in all 16 games, seeing action in a reserve role on defense and special teams. Defensively he posted 21 tackles (20 solo), including two sacks (-4), as well as a forced fumble. He recorded 11 solo tackles in a two-game span (Gms. 13-14), posting five vs. Sea. (12/10) after a career-high six at N.O. (12/3). On special teams Gold ranked third on the team with 11 tackles, as well as one blocked punt (returned for a touchdown) and two fumble recoveries (vs. Cleve., 10/15 and vs. Atl., 9/10). Gold was spectacular on Monday Night Football vs. Oak. (11/13), registering a sack of Rich Gannon on which he forced a fumble that the Broncos recovered. He also blocked a Shane Lechler punt and returned it 12 yds. for a touchdown in Denver's 27-24 win, and made two special teams tackles to earn AFC Special Teams Player of the Week honors. Gold became the first Bronco to return a blocked punt for a touchdown since Rob Nairne returned one 22 yds. for a score vs. N.E., Nov. 11, 1979. Gold made his NFL debut in the season opener at St. Louis (9/4) and posted four tackles (3 solo). He played in a reserve role and on special teams in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and posted one solo tackle in his first postseason game.

COLLEGE: Gold was a four-year letterwinner and two-year starter at Michigan, converting from running back to linebacker as a sophomore. He earned All-Big 10 honors as both a junior (second team) and senior (first team), leading the team in tackles (95; 71 solo) in his final campaign with the Maize and Blue. He played in every game as a sophomore in his first season as a linebacker, following a true freshman season in which he mostly saw special teams duty as a running back. He played in four bowl games, the Outback, Rose, Citrus and Orange. Gold earned his bachelor's degree in political science from Michigan. His mother and father are both Michigan graduates, and Ian was born at the UM Hospital, in Ann Arbor, Mich.

PERSONAL: Gold was a SuperPrep All-American, Blue Chip Illustrated All-Midwest, Detroit News Blue Chip, All-Mega Conference, all-area and Associated Press Class A/AA all-state pick as a running back at Belleville (Mich.) High School. A three-year letterman, he rushed for 934 yards and 21 touchdowns while returning a pair of punts for scores as a senior, despite missing the final two games with a knee sprain. Gold's junior-year numbers included 920 yards and 17 touchdowns. He also lettered in basketball (guard) and track (sprinter/high jumper). Ian's twin brothers, Jason and Jeremy, played football at Central Michigan, and his younger brother, Cory, also played football in high school and is a 2002 graduate of Moorehouse College. Ian's mother and father both graduated from the University of Michigan, and Ian was born Aug. 23, 1978 at the University of Michigan Hospital. His full name is Ian Maurice Gold.

ELITE COMPANY

The Broncos are one of only five franchises in professional sports to boast a season-ticket base greater than 70,000. The four other franchises are the Jacksonville Jaguars, Kansas City Chiefs, New York Giants and New York Jets. The Giants (28 years) and Broncos (27) have surpassed the 70,000 mark for the most consecutive seasons.

GUARD/CENTER

Ben Hamilton had a break-out year in 2002, and looks to continue that trend this season. Hamilton, who did not see any action his rookie year, earned a starting role at guard last season, but was forced to move to center when Tom Nalen was placed on the injured reserve after Week 7. He quickly emerged as one of the team's top linemen, by taking what he learned in his rookie season and the experience he gained in NFL Europe into a more prominent role on the offensive line in 2002. Hamilton figures to move back to guard this season, and hopes to contribute to another great season by last year's NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year, Clinton Portis. He started all 16 games last season, and spent 2001 on the 53-man roster, but was inactive for each game. Prior to the 2002 season, he spent the spring honing his skills with the Berlin Thunder of the NFL Europe League. Hamilton was selected by the Broncos in the fourth round (113th overall) of the 2001 NFL Draft, out of Minnesota.

2001: Hamilton was declared inactive for all 16 games.

COLLEGE: Hamilton started all 46 games in which he played in his four years at Minnesota, and is regarded as the best center to ever play at the school. He was a consensus first-team All-America choice for the second straight year as a senior, earning acclaim from Football News, The Sporting News, American Football Coaches Association and Walter Camp. Hamilton was also a consensus All-Big Ten Conference first-team choice, and a finalist for the Lombardi Award, given annually to the nation's best interior lineman, as well as the Outland Trophy, awarded to college football's top lineman. As a junior he was named first-team All-America by the Associated Press, becoming the first Minnesota offensive lineman since Bobby Bell in 1962 to earn first-team national honors, while also picking up first-team All-America honors from The Sporting News and CBS Sportsline and second-team accolades from Football News. Hamilton was a first-team All-Big Ten Conference choice by the league's coaches named the team's Paul Giel award winner, which honors the player who exhibits total unselfishness and most concern about the University of Minnesota. He was honorable mention All-Big Ten as a freshman and sophomore, and redshirted in 1996. Hamilton graduated with a degree in engineering.

PERSONAL: Hamilton was a USA Today honorable mention All-America choice as a senior at Wayzata (Minn.) High School, and also added Minneapolis Star Tribune all-state, all-conference and all-Metro accolades as he helped lead his school to the 1995 Section 8AA crown. He represented the Metro team in the 1996 Minnesota High School All-Star game, and also lettered in tennis. Hamilton was an honor roll student. His father, Wes, played on the offensive line at Tulsa and with the Minnesota Vikings (1976-85). He was drafted by the Vikings in the third round of the 1976 NFL Draft and played in 116 games with the club. Benjamin Thomas Hamilton was born Aug. 18, 1977 in Minneapolis, Minn. He and his wife, Jeanne, reside in Parker, Colo., and the couple has a son, Elijah (1).

TIGHT END

Patrick Hape proved to be a valuable backup last season at tight end, as the Broncos had one of the best tight end corps in the league. He caught six passes for 26 yds. (4.3) and two touchdowns, and also made contributions on special teams. In 2001, he scored the first touchdown ever at INVESCO Field at Mile High on a 1-yd. pass from Brian Griese in the 1st quarter of the season opener vs. the New York Giants, Sept. 10, 2001. Now in his seventh NFL season Hape has played in 92 career games (16 starts) and caught 40 passes for 222 yards (5.7) with a long of 25 and seven touchdowns, while also rushing three times for 1 yd. He has also played in five postseason games and caught one pass for 5 yards. Hape spent his first four NFL seasons with Tampa Bay after being drafted by the club in the fifth round in 1997 (137th overall).

2002: Hape played in a reserve role and on special teams in all 16 games and caught six passes for 26 yds. (4.3), with a long of 7 and two touchdowns. He scored his second touchdown of the season at Sea. (11/17) on a spectacular diving reception from Steve Beuerlein from 1 yd. out on a 4th-and-goal play early in the 4th qtr. His first score came at Balt. (9/30) on a 2-yd. pass from Brian Griese.

2001: Hape played in 15 games, starting eight, and set career highs in all receiving categories with 15 catches for 96 yds. (6.4), with a long of 25 and three touchdowns. He also rushed twice for 0 yds. Hape started at fullback in Wk. 1 and Wks. 3-8 before returning to a reserve role at both fullback and tight end with Tony Carter assuming the role beginning in Wk. 9. He was declared inactive at Ind. (1/6) because of a sprained left ankle suffered the week before vs. Oak. (12/30). Hape started as a second tight end at K.C. (12/16) and tied his career high for receptions with two (8th time; 4th of '01) for a career-high 35 yards, including a career-best long of 25. He re-emerged on the Broncos' offensive landscape vs. Sea. (12/9), catching his third touchdown of the season on a 1-yd. pass from Gus Frerotte in the 3rd qtr. Hape posted his third two-catch game of the season at Oak. (11/5), tying his career high (seventh time), and established a then-career high for receiving yds. with 20. His longest reception, of 13 yds., also matched his career best at the time. Hape did not start at Ariz. (9/23) because the Broncos opened in a two-tight end set, but played the entire game at fullback and caught his career-best second touchdown of the season on a 1-yd. toss from Brian Griese. He started at fullback in the season opener against the Giants (9/10) and scored the first touchdown at INVESCO Field at Mile High on a 1-yd. pass from Griese with 1:09 remaining in the 1st qtr. He was moved to fullback full-time in training camp when four-year starter Howard Griffith went down with a neck injury. Hape signed with the Broncos as an unrestricted free agent from Tampa Bay March 14, 2001.

2000: Hape played in all 16 games (2 starts) and caught a career-best six passes for 39 yards with Tampa Bay. His two starts came at Washington (10/1) and vs. Green Bay (11/12). Hape tied his longest career reception of 13 yds. vs. Chicago (9/10) and recorded his high game of two catches (12 yds.) in the Washington contest. He also caught one pass for five yards in the Bucs' playoff loss at Philadelphia (12/31).

1999: Hape played in 15 games (one start, vs. Denver) for Tampa Bay and caught five passes for 12 yards, including a two-yard touchdown reception at Seattle (11/28), Shaun King's first NFL scoring pass. Hape played in both postseason contests, making a key block to spring Mike Alstott on a 4th-and-1 situation that led to the winning touchdown in Tampa's 14-13 win over Washington (1/15), propelling the Bucs to the NFC Championship Game at St. Louis (1/23).

1998: Hape played in 16 games and made two starts as Tampa Bay's second tight end. He joined starting tight end Dave Moore in the lineup primarily in blocking situations and helped open holes for a Buccaneers running game that racked up 2,148 yards, second most in team history. For the season Hape caught four passes for 27 yards (6.8), including two for seven yards in the season opener at Minnesota (9/6). He scored on a two-point conversion at Green Bay (9/13).

1997: Hape played in 14 games (three starts) with Tampa Bay and caught four passes for 22 yards (5.5), including a career-long 13-yarder at Green Bay (10/5). He began his rookie season as the back-up tight end but was also used extensively at fullback, the role in which he made his three starts. Hape carried once for one yard. He saw limited action as a fullback in both postseason contests, the NFC Wild Card Game vs. Detroit (12/28) and the NFC Divisional Playoff at Green Bay (1/4/98). The Bucs drafted him in the fifth round (137th overall) in April of '97.

COLLEGE: Hape was a four-year letterwinner at Alabama, where he played in 47 career games (26 starts) and caught 24 passes for 321 yards (13.4) and one touchdown. He also rushed for 25 yards on seven carries (3.6). As a senior in 1996 Hape caught a career-best 12 passes for 134 yards (11.2) and a touchdown. As a junior he made five starts at fullback. He majored in business management.

PERSONAL: Hape, a native of Killen, Ala., was considered one of the nation's top tight end prospects as a senior at Brooks High School. He earned all-state accolades while playing tight end, linebacker and running back. Hape rushed for 660 yards and scored seven touchdowns as a prep. Patrick Stephen Hape was born June 6, 1974 in Killen, Ala. He and his wife, Jennifer, make their home in Aurora, Colo.

WIDE RECEIVER

Herb Haygood returns for his second season with hopes of utilizing his superb skills as a kick returner, which he displayed throughout his career at Michigan State, into a more expanded role on this year's roster. Last season, Haygood was on the Broncos' active roster the last eight games, and saw action in four. In four years at Michigan State, he averaged 23.3 yds. and scored two touchdowns on 76 kickoff returns, including a 26.3-yd. average as a senior in 2001, which earned him numerous All-America nods from major publications. Only Tennessee Titans wide receiver Derrick Mason (2,575; 1993-96) gained more yds. on kickoff returns in MSU annals. Haygood's receiving numbers also improved from year-to-year as a Spartan, and he finished his career with 115 receptions for 1,640 yds. (14.3) and seven touchdowns, including 57 catches for 808 yds. (14.2) and four scores as a senior. Haygood was the Broncos fifth-round selection (144th overall) of the 2001 NFL Draft.

2002: Haygood was signed from the practice squad to the active roster Nov. 4 and played in four games (at Sea., 11/17; at S.D., 12/1; at the Jets, 12/8 and vs. Ariz., 12/29) while being inactive four times (vs. Oak., 11/11; vs. Ind., 11/24; vs. K.C., 12/15 and at Oak., 12/22). He made two special teams tackles. Haygood made his debut at wide receiver at S.D. (12/1), but did not record a reception, though he posted a special teams tackle. He saw his first career action on special teams at Sea. (11/17) and made his first tackle. A 2002 Broncos draft choice (5th Rd./No. 144), Haygood was waived in the final cutdown, Sept. 1, and re-signed to the practice squad Sept. 3.

COLLEGE: Haygood, in four years at Michigan State, averaged 23.3 yds. and scored two touchdowns on 76 kickoff returns, including a 26.3-yd. average as a senior in 2001, which earned him numerous All-America nods from major publications. Only Tennessee Titans wide receiver Derrick Mason (2,575; 1993-96) gained more yds. on kickoff returns in MSU annals. Haygood's receiving numbers also improved from year-to-year as a Spartan, and he finished his career with 115 receptions for 1,640 yds. (14.3) and seven touchdowns, including 57 catches for 808 yds. (14.2) and four scores as a senior. A two-year starter at receiver, he ranks ninth on the MSU's career receptions list and 12th on the receiving yards list. He also wasn't afraid to mix it up as a blocker in the running game, and posted 25 tackles on special teams. Haygood was a first-team All-America selection as a kickoff returner by Walter Camp and CNN/SI, adding second-team honors from The Sporting News. He earned All-Big Ten Conference honorable mention as a receiver by the league's coaches and media, and was named the team's Outstanding Senior on both offense and special teams by the MSU Downtown Coaches Club and was the recipient of the school's Captain's Award. As a junior, Haygood shared Michigan State's Outstanding Underclass Back Award with tailback T.J. Duckett and cornerback Cedric Henry, as he played in all 11 games and started 10. He caught 35 passes for 539 yds. (15.4) and two touchdowns, and returned 15 kickoffs for 346 yds. (23.1) with a long of 42. Haygood played in all 12 games and started one (vs. Wisconsin) as a sophomore, and as a freshman, Haygood played in 11 games and caught 12 passes for 148 yds. (12.3), while also rushing twice for 16 yds. (8.0) and returning 11 kick-offs for 258 yds. (23.5), and leading the special teams unit with 14 tackles (9 solo).

PERSONAL: Haygood was a Midwest Football Recruiting Magazine All-America selection and ranked as the Southeast's No. 3 running back by The National Recruiting Advisor at Sarasota (Fla.) High School. He was also listed as one of the nation's top 10 all-purpose backs by the same scouting service and was named to Tom Lemming's Prep Football Report All-Southeast Team and SuperPrep's All-Dixie Team. A first-team all-state selection as a senior, Haygood also earned all-area honors three straight years and was selected to play in Florida's North-South All-Star Game in Jacksonville. In addition, he was named the Sarasota-Manatee County All-Star Game MVP after gaining 114 yds. on 10 carries and scoring twice. Haygood was a four-year starter who rushed for 1,770 yds. (7.2 avg.) and scored 26 touchdowns in 1996. He had a single-game high 359 yds. rushing vs. Venice High School and gained 3,258 yds. rushing (6.5) and scored 41 touchdowns during his prep career. Herbert Donta Haygood was born Dec. 30, 1977 in Sarasota, Fla.

DEFENSIVE END

Reggie Hayward looked to turn the corner from rookie to every-play starter in 2002, but a late-season injury slightly hampered his progress. He was placed on injured reserve with a fractured right hand Dec. 4. During his rookie season, Hayward showed flashes of the superior quickness and agility that made him an attractive pass-rushing defensive end coming out of college. Hayward played in the final six games of his rookie season after being inactive the first 10 weeks, and managed 22 tackles (16 solo), including three sacks (-21) in reserve duty. In 2002, however, he only saw action in nine games, before going on the injured reserve list with a fractured right hand. In those nine games, Hayward made 10 tackles, including seven solo. In 2001, he collected three sacks in the same game, vs. Seattle (12/9/01), tying the Broncos single-game record for a rookie. Hayward was chosen by the Broncos in the third round (87th overall) of the 2001 NFL Draft.

2002: Hayward played in a reserve role in nine games and made 10 tackles (7 solo) before being placed on injured reserve with a fractured right hand Dec. 4. The injury occurred in Denver's 30-27 overtime loss at S.D. (12/1). Hayward posted two tackles on four occasions: vs. Buf. (9/22), vs. S.D. (10/6), at Sea. (11/17) and vs. Ind. (11/24). He was declared inactive for the first two games (vs. St. L., 9/8 and at S.F., 9/15) and again at Balt. (9/30).

2001: Hayward played in each of the final six games (at Dal., 11/22; at Mia., 12/2; vs. Sea., 12/9; at K.C., 12/16; vs. Oak., 12/30 and at Ind., 1/6) after being declared inactive for the first 10, and finished the year with 22 tackles (16 solo), including three sacks (-21). In his second career start, at Ind. (1/6), he posted four tackles (3 solo). Hayward made his first NFL start vs. Oak. (12/30), replacing Kavika Pittman at right defensive end after Pittman was placed on injured reserve for the final two games of the year. Previously he saw the most extensive action of his young career at K.C. (12/16), after Pittman left with his strained calf in the 1st qtr., and tied for second on the team with a career-best nine tackles (5 solo). That effort also matched the best by a Broncos defensive lineman in 2001, equaling Pittman's nine-tackle performance vs. Balt. (9/30). Hayward saw time vs. Sea. (12/9), registering five tackles (4 solo) and the first three sacks of his career (on Matt Hasselbeck) for a total loss of 21 yards. The three sacks were the most in a game by a Bronco in 2001 and tied the franchise record for a rookie, held by Rulon Jones (12/14/01 vs. Oak.), while tying for the seventh-best effort overall in club history. Hayward played in his first NFL game at Dal. (11/22) and registered two solo tackles.

COLLEGE: Hayward was a first-team All-Big 12 Conference honoree in his senior season at Iowa State after two straight seasons of honorable mention consideration. A three-year starter, he never missed a game in his college career (44 games/33 starts) and did not redshirt. Hayward's career numbers include 229 tackles (147 solo), 16.5 sacks (-102), four passes defended, five forced fumbles and five fumble recoveries. Hayward received the Arthur Floyd Scott Award as a senior, given annually to the team's outstanding defensive lineman, and was a team captain and Most Valuable Player. He was a sociology major.

PERSONAL: Hayward was an All-America selection by Reebok, Prep Football Report and Super Prep at Thornridge High School in Dolton, Ill. He was named one of the top players nationally by Prep Football Report and earned first-team all-state honors from the Champaign News-Gazette as a senior. Hayward also played tight end and served as the team's punter, as well as lettering in basketball—earning all-conference honors as a junior and a senior—and track. Reginald Joseph Hayward, Jr., was born March 14, 1979 in Chicago, Ill.

CORNERBACK

Kelly Herndon returns to the Broncos for his second season looking to compete for a starting job at cornerback. Last year, Herndon played in 14 games for Denver, with the majority coming on special teams, but saw action on defense in four games. Prior to making the active roster in 2001, Herndon spent a good portion of the 2001 season on the Broncos' practice squad, signing with the club Oct. 24, 2001. He went through training camp with the Giants in 2001 (signed May 15, 2001), was waived Sept. 2, signed to the practice squad Sept. 4 and waived again Sept. 18. Herndon entered the NFL in 1999 with San Francisco, signing as an undrafted free agent April 23, but was waived Sept. 6. The 49ers re-signed Herndon July 7, 2000, then waived him Aug. 28. He signed with the Broncos as a free agent Oct. 24, 2001.

2002: Herndon played 14 games, mostly on special teams, and made eight special teams tackles. He also saw action on defense in four games (vs. Buf., 9/22; at Sea., 11/17; vs. K.C., 12/15 and vs. Ariz., 12/29) and posted an interception and a pass defended. The interception—the first of his career—came in the season finale vs. Ariz. (12/29), when he picked off Cardinals quarterback Josh McCown on a 4th-qtr. pass play. Herndon matched his season high with two special teams tackles at Sea. (11/17). He was declared inactive at Balt. (9/30) and at Oak. (12/22), the latter one due to a hamstring strain. Herndon posted a season-high two special teams tackles at N.E. (10/27) and recovered a fumble by teammate Scottie Montgomery to maintain possession on a kickoff return.

2001: Herndon spent a good portion of the 2001 season on the Broncos' practice squad, signing with the club Oct. 24, 2001. He went through training camp with the Giants in 2001 (signed May 15, 2001), was waived Sept. 2, signed to the practice squad Sept. 4 and waived again Sept. 18.

2000: Herndon was out of football after being released by San Francisco in training camp.

1999: Herndon was signed by San Francisco as an undrafted free agent, and was released during training camp. He spent the rest of the season out of football.

COLLEGE: Herndon saw action in 44 games, including 12 as a senior at Toledo. He posted 154 career tackles, including a career-high 72 during his senior campaign. As a sophomore, he played in 11 games as a reserve defensive back and a member of the special teams, recording 27 tackles. Herndon recorded six tackles and played in 10 games as a freshman.

PERSONAL: Herndon was born Nov. 3, 1976 in Bedford, Ohio, and attended Twinsburg High School in Twinsburg, Ohio. His full name is Kelly Errin Herndon.

WHAT IS THE ORIGIN OF THE NAME DENVER BRONCOS?

The name "Denver Broncos" was chosen from 500 entries in a name-the-team contest in January, 1960. The name was suggested by Ward M. Vining of Lakewood. But the football team isn't the first Denver Broncos. Denver's 1921 entry in the Midwest Baseball League was also called the Broncos.

79GUARD

Steve Herndon seeks to continue the strides he made last season, and appears poised to compete for a starting role on the Broncos offensive line. Using the experience he gained in 2001, Herndon saw his most significant playing time last year, competing in 15 games and starting nine at left guard. He spent all of the 2000 season on the Broncos' practice squad, then played in the NFL Europe League with the Barcelona Dragons in the spring of 2001. He initially entered the NFL in 2000 as an undrafted free agent with Miami (signed April 25), was waived Aug. 22, then signed to the Broncos practice squad Aug. 29. Herndon signed a new contract with Denver Jan. 2, 2001.

2002: Herndon played in 15 games, and started nine, as he moved into the lineup at left guard in Wk. 8 when Ben Hamilton moved to center in the wake of Tom Nalen's season-ending knee injury. Herndon made his first start of the season at left guard at N.E. (10/27). At K.C. he saw action at left guard late in the game after Nalen's injury. Herndon was active but did not play at S.F. (9/15).

2001: Herndon played in five games and started three (at S.D., 10/21; vs. Wash., 11/18 and at Dal., 11/22), was inactive for 10 and was active but did not play vs. S.D. (11/11). He saw time at left guard, in place of Lennie Friedman, vs. Oak. (12/30). Herndon started his third game of the season at Dal. (11/22) at left guard in place of Friedman, after moving into that spot the week before vs. Wash. He played in his first NFL game at S.D. (10/21), starting at right guard for the injured Dan Neil (ankle). Herndon signed a new contract with Denver Jan. 2, 2001 after his 2000 practice squad contract expired, then played in the NFL Europe League with the Barcelona Dragons in the spring of 2001.

2000: Herndon spent the regular season on the Broncos' practice squad after signing with the club Aug. 29. He had been in Miami's training camp, signing with the Dolphins as an undrafted free agent April 25, but was waived Aug. 22.

COLLEGE: Herndon was a four-year letterman at Georgia, where he helped open holes for current Broncos running back Olandis Gary. He started at left guard each of his last two seasons and ended his college career on a streak of 24 consecutive starts. Herndon was a third-team All-America and a first-team All-Southeastern Conference pick as a senior. He holds a bachelor's degree in business education and was a member of the SEC's Academic Honor Roll as a junior and senior, as well as a member of the GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-District team as a junior. Herndon also received the Teka and John Adams Endowed Scholarship and earned the Texaco/Havoline Scholar-Athlete Award at the Peach Bowl. He redshirted as a freshman in 1995.

PERSONAL: Herndon was an all-state performer as a senior at Troup County High School in LaGrange, Ga., where he was selected to play in the Florida-Georgia High School All-Star Classic. He also lettered in wrestling. Herndon grew up with rap musician Bubba Sparxxx (real name Warren Mathis), and maintains a close friendship with him. He appeared in the music video for Sparxxx's song "Ugly," which received heavy rotation on MTV. Steven Marshall Herndon was born May 25, 1977 in LaGrange, Ga. He and his wife, Heather, reside in Englewood, Colo.

Heath Irwin is a veteran blue-collar guard, who is a tough, smart, dependable, and aggressive run-blocker. He will provide valuable depth to the offensive line by possessing the ability to play both guard or center. Irwin comes to Denver after playing in 14 games (5 starts) for St. Louis. Originally drafted in the fourth round (101st overall) of the 1996 NFL Draft by New England, Irwin played four seasons with the Patriots (1996-99) before moving on to Miami, where he played two seasons (2000-01). He has played in 87 career games, starting 29, and started one of the six postseason contests he's played. He is recognized around the region, having been a three-year starter at the University of Colorado, where he earned first-team All-American honors by the Associated Press, honorable mention from UPI and was named first-team all-conference his senior year. Additionally, Irwin was named first-team All-American by SuperPrep and Tom Lemming's Prep Football Report as a senior at Boulder High School, and earned all-conference honors while playing both offensive guard and defensive tackle. Irwin signed with the Broncos as an unrestricted free agent March 27, 2003.

2002: Irwin played in 14 games while starting five for St. Louis last season. After being inactive for the Rams' game at Denver (9/8), he replaced LG Tom Nütten vs. New York Giants (9/15), who left with a concussion in third quarter. He was inactive in Week 3, and got back on the field at left guard after Nütten moved to right tackle upon an injury to T Grant Williams in second quarter vs. Oakland (10/13). At Washington (11/24), he played on offense and special teams, replacing Nütten when he left game in third quarter with broken leg. The next week at Philadelphia (12/1), he made his first start as Ram at left guard, helping the Rams gain 13 first downs on offense (four rushing, nine passing). Irwin finished the season by starting at left guard in the team's final three games.

2001: Irwin played in all 16 regular season contests, starting the last seven. He also started at left guard in the Dolphins' Wild Card Playoff loss against Baltimore. Irwin started at center in place of injured Tim Ruddy at Buffalo (11/25), his first career start at center, and his first start as a Dolphin, and finished the season by starting in the last six games of the season at left guard.

2000: Irwin played in 13 regular season games, all in a reserve role in first season with the Dolphins. He was inactive for one contest, and dressed, but did not play in two others. Irwin appeared in both playoff games in a reserve role.

1999: Irwin played in 15 regular season games with 13 starts at left guard for the Patriots. While only being inactive for one contest, he started 11 of the first 12 contests.

1998: Irwin played in 13 regular season games with three starts at left guard, making his first start of season and the second of his career when he replaced an injured Max Lane at Buffalo (11/15). He started again the following week vs. Miami (11/23), but sustained a high ankle sprain in the game and was inactive for each of next three weeks. Irwin returned to starting lineup for season finale at New York Jets (12/27), and again saw action in reserve role in the Wild Card Playoff game at Jacksonville (1/3/99).

1997: Irwin played in all 16 regular season games (one start), and made the first start of his NFL career at Buffalo (11/9). He also appeared in both playoff games in a reserve capacity.

1996: During Irwin's rookie season, he gained valuable experience backing up veteran left guard William Roberts during, but did not see any playing time. He made the active roster, but was inactive for all 16 regular season games and each of the Patriots' three playoff contests.

COLLEGE: Irwin started each of his final three collegiate seasons (1993-95) at left guard at Colorado, and did not get called for a penalty or allow a sack during his senior campaign. He was named first-team all-conference and earned first-team all-America honors by Associated Press and received honorable mention recognition from UPI as senior. Irwin also saw action on CU's defensive line in goal line situations, and became first Colorado offensive lineman to score in 25 years when he recovered a fumble.

ble in the end zone against Nebraska. He started every game at left guard as junior, earning honorable mention all-America and second-team all-conference recognition, and was part of offense that amassed school-record 5,448 total net yards. As a sophomore, Irwin started all 12 contests, and played in final five games of freshman season. He was a sociology major.

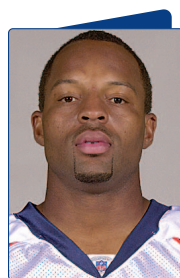

PERSONAL: Irwin earned first-team All-America honors from SuperPrep and Tom Lemming's Prep Football Report as senior at Boulder (Colo.) High, and was named all-state, all-county, and all-conference while playing offensive guard and defensive tackle. He also lettered in track, where he competed in shot put and discus. Irwin participated in the Dolphins Charity Fishing Tournaments to benefit the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, and assisted in building a house for Habitat For Humanity. His father, Phil, was a standout linebacker at Colorado (1968-70), and uncle, Hale, who was an all-America defensive back at Colorado (1964-66), was the 1967 NCAA golf champion, and currently is a member of the PGA Senior Tour. Born June 27, 1973 in Boulder, Colo., he is married to Molly, and the couple has a daughter, Bailee, and a son, Houston. His full name is Heath Spencer Irwin.

QUARTERBACK

Jarious Jackson returns for his fourth NFL season having taken positive steps in his growth and development as an NFL quarterback over his first three seasons. He figures to be a strong challenger for the backup quarterback position in 2003 as he applies his considerable athletic talent with the knowledge he has gained. Jackson has played in four regular season games with the Broncos and completed seven of 13 passes (53.8%) for 73 yds. with a long of 19, and has seen action in one post-season contest, completing five of 10 (50.0%) for 54 yds. with a long of 15. He was the starting quarterback for the Barcelona Dragons of the NFL Europe League in 2001 and directed his squad to the World Bowl after an outstanding season. He threw just one pass in his rookie season of 2000, but also played in Denver's AFC Wild Card Game at Baltimore. Jackson was selected by the club in the seventh round of the 2000 NFL Draft (214th overall), out of Notre Dame.

2002: Jackson was designated the third quarterback for 15 of the 16 games. He saw his only action of the season in the 4th qtr. of the season finale vs. Ariz. (12/29). Jackson was active as the backup quarterback vs. Ind. (11/24), but did not play.

2001: Jackson was designated the third quarterback for the first 13 games, but was elevated to the backup position for the final three games due to injuries to Brian Griese (1 gm.) and Gus Frerotte (2 gms.), and played in one. At K.C. (12/16) he moved up to the backup role for the first time all season with Griese still suffering the effects of a concussion. Jackson saw his only action of the season in that contest, replacing the injured Frerotte (shoulder) in the 3rd qtr., and directed the club's final six possessions, which resulted in two field goals. For the day he completed seven of 12 passes (58.3%) for 73 yards, with a long of 19 to Chris Cole and rushed for 7 yds. on five carries (1.4). He entered the game having thrown just one regular season pass in his career, and made his first NFL completion to Dwayne Carswell for a 16-yd. gain.

2000: Jackson played in two games (at K.C., 12/17 and vs. S.F., 12/23) and attempted one pass, which fell incomplete. He also had one rushing attempt for -1 yd. on a kneel-down to end the S.F. game. Jackson was designated the third quarterback for nine games and was the backup, but did not play, in the other five. (vs. K.C., 9/24; vs. S.D., 11/19; at Sea., 11/26; at N.O., 12/3 and vs. Sea., 12/10). He was elevated to the backup position because of an injury to starter Brian Griese. Jackson played in a reserve role in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and completed 5 of 10 passes (50%) for 54 yds. with a long of 19. He was also sacked once (-9). He replaced starter Gus Frerotte in the 4th qtr. and directed the Broncos' final two drives in his first postseason game.

COLLEGE: Jackson was a two-year starter at Notre Dame where he set school single-season records for passing yards (2,753), completions (184) and attempts (316) while throwing 17 touchdown passes as a senior in 1999. The marks for completions and attempts were held by Ron Powlus (1997) while the yardage mark was held by Joe Theismann (1970). For his career (37 games, 22 starts) Jackson completed 306 of 536 passes (57.1%) for 4,820 yards and 34 touchdowns with 21 interceptions, and rushed for 877 yards and 13 touchdowns on 251 carries (3.5). As a junior he guided the team to a 9-2 record by completing 104 of 188 passes (55.3%) for 1,740 yards and 13 touchdowns. Jackson played in nine games as a sophomore and six as a freshman. He was a marketing major, enrolled in the College of Business Administration.

PERSONAL: Jackson was an All-America pick by SuperPrep, Prep Football Report and Bluechip Illustrated and ranked sixth nationally among quarterbacks by Bluechip Illustrated and 10th by SuperPrep at Tupelo (Miss.) High School. He also was a USA Today honorable mention pick, one of five quarterbacks named to the Super Southern 100 by the Atlanta Journal-Constitution and rated one of top 100 players nationally by the Chicago Sun-Times after earning three letters in football as a quarterback, defensive back and outside linebacker. He was a first-team all-state quarterback as a senior in 1994 and played in the Mississippi-Alabama postseason all-star game. Jackson played defensive end as a sophomore and started seven games at safety as a senior. He earned two letters in track as a sprinter and one as a forward in basketball. Jarious K. Jackson was born May 3, 1977 in Tupelo, Miss., and makes his home in Littleton, Colo. His father, Jarious, played football at Alcorn State.

RUNNING BACK

Marlion Jackson returns to the NFL after being out of football in 2002. He was waived by the New York Jets in training camp on Aug. 31, and his last on-field action came as a member of the Frankfurt Galaxy last offseason. Prior to that, Jackson spent the 2001 season on New York's practice squad. The running back out of Saginaw Valley State originally signed as an undrafted free agent with Chicago in 2000. After he was released by the Bears in the final cutdown, Jackson was signed to the Jets' practice squad, and was elevated to the active roster for the final two games of the 2000 season. In the summers of 1997 and 1998, he played semi-pro football for the Detroit Seminoles. Playing only two years at Saginaw Valley after transferring from Virginia Union, Jackson rushed for 2,315 career yards on 346 attempts and 34 touchdowns, and added 22 receptions for 394 yards. He was signed by the Broncos as a free agent Jan. 8, 2003.

2002: Jackson was out of football after being waived by the New York Jets in training camp on Aug. 31.

2001: Jackson spent the entire season on New York's practice squad.

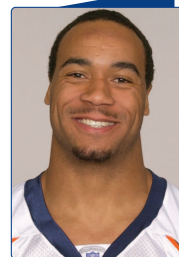

2000: Jackson originally signed as an undrafted free agent with Chicago in 2000. After he was released by the Bears in the final cutdown, Jackson was signed to the Jets' practice squad, and was elevated to the active roster for the final two games of the 2000 season, but was inactive for games 15 and 16.

COLLEGE: Jackson, in only two years at Saginaw Valley State after transferring from Virginia Union, rushed for 2,315 career yards on 346 attempts and 34 touchdowns, and added 22 receptions for 394 yards. In a game vs. Westminster, he scored five rushing touchdowns. Jackson was selected to the USA Football NCAA Division II All-American third team in 1999. As a sophomore, Jackson earned first-team all-Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic honors and was named SVSU's Most Valuable Player, after leading the team with 1,197 rushing yards on 233 attempts and 14 touchdowns. During his freshman year, Jackson led the nation (Division II) with a 9.9 yards per carry average on 113 rushes. Additionally, he was the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic 100-meter champion as a freshman. He transferred to SVSU after spending his first two years in college at Virginia Union.

PERSONAL: Jackson, born Oct. 11, 1977 in Detroit, Mich., lettered in both football and track at Detroit Central High School, and earned all-metro Detroit and all-state honors in football. In addition, he was the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic 100-meter champion as a junior. Jackson originally enrolled at Virginia Union University in 1995, but left the school after one semester. He worked for six months as a pipe fitter trainee, and played for the Detroit Seminoles, a semi-pro team, in the summers of 1997 and 1998, but was not paid. He then accepted an offer to play at SVSU in 1998 on a referral from the Detroit Lions, who hold their training camp at the college.

FULLBACK

Kyle Johnson returns to the Broncos after signing with the team on Dec. 11, 2002 from Detroit's practice squad. He was inactive for Denver's final three games. Johnson is a tough, physical fullback, who will try to compete for a spot behind Mike Anderson. In his second year in the NFL after being selected in the fifth round (145th overall) of the 2002 draft by the Carolina Panthers, he was waived by the Panthers in the final cutdown (9/1, 2002), and was signed to the New York Giants practice squad (9/3). After the Giants waived him on Oct. 24, he signed with Detroit's practice squad (11/13).

2002: Johnson signed with the Broncos Dec. 11 from Detroit's practice squad and was inactive for each of the final three games. A 2002 draft choice of the Carolina Panthers (5th round/145th overall), he was waived by the Panthers Sept. 1 and signed to the Giants' practice squad Sept. 3. Johnson was waived from the Giants' practice squad Oct. 24, then signed to Detroit's practice squad Nov. 13, where he remained until being signed to Denver's 53-man roster.

COLLEGE: Johnson was granted a sixth year of eligibility by the NCAA and started all 13 games at fullback. He gained a career-high 223 yards on 52 carries with three touchdowns and caught six passes for 75 yards and one touchdown. Johnson totalled a career-high 96 yards on six carries with a 13-yard touchdown at Rutgers and rushed for a touchdown at Pittsburgh. Elected team captain as a senior, Johnson started at fullback in the season opener versus Buffalo and had five carries for 27 yards with a 4-yard touchdown run before sustaining a season-ending ankle injury. A Big East Academic All-Star, Johnson played in all 11 contests for the Orangemen with four starts as a junior. He was Syracuse's third leading rusher with 157 yards on 32 carries with three touchdowns, and also posted six receptions for 40 yards and one touchdown. An All-Big East Academic choice, Johnson saw action in six games as a sophomore, contributing as a reserve tailback and on special teams. He finished the season with 33 yards on six carries and three special teams tackles. He scored his first career touchdown on a 17-yard run versus Rutgers and played on special teams in the Orange Bowl against Florida. Johnson saw action in three games as a redshirt freshman and gained 26 yards on six carries.

PERSONAL: Born Albert Kyle Johnson on Dec. 15, 1978, he earned second-team all-state recognition and earned all-county and all-area honors as a senior at Woodbridge (N.J.) High School after rushing for 1,235 yards. Johnson earned his undergraduate degree in electronic media in December, 2000, and is currently pursuing an M.B.A.

Danny Kanell returns to the National Football League for his sixth year and first with the Broncos after being out of football the past two seasons. The former starter for the New York Giants will add depth to the Broncos quarterback corps, as well as provide quality veteran leadership. In five professional seasons, Kanell has completed 438 of 853 passes for 4,687 yards (51.3%), 29 touchdowns, 29 interceptions, with a 64.9 quarterback rating. He entered the NFL as a fourth-round (130th overall) selection by the Giants in 1996, and played three seasons with the club (1996-98). He then moved to Atlanta, where he played two years (1999-2000). Out of the NFL since 2000, Kanell played for the New York Dragons in the Arena Football League in 2002. Kanell, a standout at Florida State, ranks second on the Seminoles' all-time list with 6,176 yards in total offense and 6,372 yards passing. He completed 529 of 851 passes, and owns FSU's all-time touchdown record with 72. He signed with the Broncos as a free agent June 3, 2003.

2002: Kanell played quarterback for the New York Dragons in the Arena Football League, where he completed 61 of 116 passes for 617 yards and posted a 15-to-7 touchdown-to-interception ratio and a 75.3 passer rating. Versus the Detroit Fury, he was named game MVP after coming off the bench at halftime and completing 14 of 18 passes for 80 yards and three touchdowns, bringing his team back from a 22-9 third-quarter deficit to a 44-37 win. A week later, he made his first AFL start and encountered difficulty, completing 21 of 41 passes for 217 yards with five touchdowns but four interceptions.

2001: Once his contract expired with the Atlanta Falcons, Kanell was out of football. However, he played professional baseball after signing with the Newark Bears of the independent Atlantic League on July 22, 2001.

2000: Kanell appeared in five games with Atlanta, making one start. He completed 57 of 116 passes (49.1%) for 524 yards, a long of 35, with two touchdowns and five interceptions. After coming back from an injured thumb suffered in the preseason, Kanell resumed his backup role in Week 4 vs. St. Louis (9/24), and saw his first action, completing one of three passes for nine yards. He relieved the injured Chris Chandler vs. New York (10/8) in the second quarter and went on to hit 15 of 36 passes for 166 yards and one interception. Seeing his most extensive action of the year, Kanell finished 26 of 43 for 213 yards with two touchdowns and two interceptions vs. Tampa Bay (11/5). The next week at Detroit (11/12), Kanell was named the starter due to the concussion suffered by Chandler. He completed 14 of 34 passes for 126 yards, but threw a pair of fourth-quarter interceptions.

1999: Kanell signed as a free agent with Atlanta on March 19, 1999, but his season was cut short when he sprained his right knee (MCL) and was subsequently placed on injured reserve two days later. In three games (1 start), Kanell connected on 42 of 84 passes (50.0%) for 593 yards, with four touchdowns and four interceptions. Coming out of training camp, Kanell was the third-string quarterback, and made two appearances in relief efforts. He was elevated to the back up the week before Atlanta's game against Tennessee (12/19), and made his first start since Nov. 15, 1998, when he was with the New York Giants (vs. Green Bay). In the game, Kanell passed for 237 yards on 18 of 29 throws with two touchdowns and two interceptions, but unfortunately, was forced out of the game with the knee injury that ended his season.

1998: Kanell started the first 10 games of the season before being replaced in the lineup by Kent Graham following the team's 3-7 start. He ended the year 160 completions on 299 attempts (53.5%) for 1,603 yards, 11 touchdowns and 10 interceptions for a 67.3 passer rating. As the opening day starter against Washington (9/6), Kanell was 15 of 28 for 159 yards with two touchdowns and one interception. He set single-game high marks with 25 completions on 45 attempts vs. Dallas (9/21), but it wasn't enough as Dallas held on to beat the Giants. Combine that loss, with the loss to Oakland the next week, and it marked the first time in Kanell's football career that he had suffered back-to-back losses. He bounced back against San Diego (9/27) and led the Giants to a win after completing 17 of 33 passes for 208 yards and one touchdown. At Tampa Bay (10/4), Kanell hit just 10 of 27 passes for 83 yards and three interceptions, marking his highest single-game interception total, and his lowest passing total. Kanell again struggled by completing only 11 of 21 passes for 100 yards and enduring five sacks and two fumbles vs. Atlanta (10/6), and was replaced by Kent Graham in the fourth quarter. Against Arizona (10/18), he matched a career-high with three touchdown strikes and set a career high with 259 yards passing in the Giants' win, and was awarded the offensive game ball by the coaching staff. In New York's game vs. Philadelphia (11/22), Kanell was replaced by Graham late in the third quarter, and served as the backup for the remaining six games of the season.

1997: Kanell entered the season as the Giants' backup quarterback and holder on placekicks, but was worked into the starting lineup where he finished the season with a 7-2-1 record and led the team to the NFC East title. On the year, he completed 156 of 294 passes (53.1%) for 1,740 yards, 11 touchdowns and nine interceptions for a 70.7 passer rating. Kanell came into the game vs. Dallas (10/5) in the second quarter after Dave Brown was forced to leave after aggravating a strained pectoral muscle that he originally injured against New Orleans (9/28). In that game, Kanell rallied the Giants to a 20-17 victory by completing 10 of 17 passes for 101 yards. He made his first NFL start of the year the next week at Arizona (10/12), where he completed 13 of 28 passes for 198 yards with one touchdown and one interception. In New York's overtime win at Detroit (10/19), Kanell connected with WR Chris Talloway for a 68-yard touchdown on the third play of extra time, lifting the Giants to a 26-20 win. He improved to 3-0 as a starter the next week vs. Cincinnati (10/26) by leading the team to two fourth-quarter touchdowns in the Giants' come-from-behind win. Kanell had the second two-touchdown game of his career vs. Arizona (11/16) in New York's win. The first touchdown was a 56-yarder to WR Amani Toomer in the second quarter, and the second was a 1-yarder to TE Howard Cross in the fourth quarter, which proved to be the game winner. He led the Giants to victory at Philadelphia (12/7) with three touchdown passes—the first three-touchdown passing game by a Giants quarterback since Phil Simms accomplished the feat at Washington on Oct. 10, 1993. In the NFC East title-clinching game vs. Washington (12/13), Kanell converted three key third downs with passes, including one which resulted in a 7-yard touchdown. He closed out the season 16 of 32 (50.0%) for 199 yards and one touchdown in the Giants' 23-22 NFC Wild Card loss to Minnesota.

1996: Kanell appeared in four games and completed 23 of 60 passes for 227 yards, one touchdown and one interception. He was inactive as the team's third quarterback for the first six weeks of the season, but was elevated to backup during the week prior to New York's game at Washington (10/20). Kanell saw his first NFL action when he came in to run out the clock on the final three plays at Detroit (10/27). Coming in relief of the injured Dave Brown vs. Arizona (11/3), Kanell took over on the team's third possession and finished the game 14 of 27 for 128 yards with one touchdown and one interception. He again saw action later in season, this time at Philadelphia (12/1), where he replaced Brown in the fourth quarter, but only completed four passes in 13 attempts for 47 yards. His final appearance of the season came against New Orleans (12/15). Kanell, after replacing Brown late in the first half, finished the game five of 20 for 52 yards, and was sacked five times.

COLLEGE: Kanell ranks second on Florida State's all-time passing lists with 6,176 yards in total offense and 6,372 yards passing, topped only by the 6,636 yards in total offense by Charlie Ward (1989-93) and 6,378 aerial yards by Gary Huff (1969-72). He also threw 57 touchdown passes, breaking the all-time Seminole record of 52 by Huff. His 529 completions in 851 attempts broke Ward's previous FSU marks (473 of 759). An All-Atlantic Coast Conference first-team choice his senior year, Kanell ranked 13th in the nation with a 145.5 passer rating and 11th with an average of 265.1 yards in total offense per game in 1995. That year, he completed 257 of 402 (63.9%) for 2,957 yards and 32 touchdowns, breaking the old school records of 27 scores by Ward (1993) and 385 attempts by Huff (1972). As a junior, Kanell was an All-ACC first choice and a finalist for the Davey O'Brien Award—given to the premier passer in college football—in his first year as FSU's starting quarterback. He hit on 227 of 380 (59.7%) passes for 2,781 yards and 17 touchdowns. Kanell shared the starting duties behind Charlie Ward and Jon Stark as a sophomore in 1993. He earned his first career start vs. Maryland and completed 36 of 49 passes (73.5%) for 499 yards with seven touchdowns and no interceptions. On the diamond while at FSU, Kanell lettered and performed as a reserve outfielder in 1992. He also appeared in three games as a pitcher, and finished with a .182 batting average with three runs batted in.

PERSONAL: Kanell was a Parade and Tom Lemmings Football Report All-American selection at Westminster Academy in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Rated the second best quarterback prospect in the nation by SuperPrep, he was the Gatorade Circle of Champions Player of the Year in 1991, after throwing for 1,528 yards and 18 touchdowns his senior season. A two-year letterwinner in football, he led his team to the state title as a junior and to a second-place finish as a senior. Following high school, Kanell was selected in the 19th round of the 1992 Major League Baseball Draft by the Milwaukee Brewers, and again drafted by the New York Yankees in 1995. Kanell was born Nov. 21, 1973 in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where he continues to make his offseason home.

SAFETY

Kenoy Kennedy continued to prove last year why he belongs as a starter in the Broncos secondary. He brings the same level of intensity and hitting power that former Broncos' safeties have brought to the field. In his second year as a full-time starter, Kennedy finished fourth on the team in tackles (98 total, 72 solo), and compiled eight passes defended. He roamed the secondary all season long, and became an intimidating presence that made all receivers wary of running over the middle of the field. He stands poised to climb to new heights in 2003 as he and his defensive mates grow even more comfortable under the guidance of new defensive coordinator Larry Coyer. Kennedy has played in 44 career games (31 starts) and posted 196 tackles (148 solo), including two sacks (-18), as well as two interceptions (6 return yds.) and 14 passes defended. He was the second of Denver's two second round draft choices in 2000 (45th overall) out of Arkansas, where he followed in the footsteps of former Broncos great Steve Atwater and broke several of Atwater's statistical records.

2002: Kennedy started 15 games at strong safety and ranked fourth on the team with a career-high 98 tackles (72 solo) and also ranked fourth with eight passes defended. He added one special teams tackle. Kennedy posted 10 tackles (7 solo) at S.D. (12/1) a week after recording a season-high 12 stops (9 solo) vs. Ind. (11/24). He did not play at K.C. (10/20) due to a league suspension levied for hits deemed to be helmet-to-helmet. Kennedy recorded nine tackles (4 solo) at Balt. (9/30) a week after posting 10 stops (8 solo) vs. Buf. (9/22). In the opener vs. St. Louis (9/8) Kennedy deflected a Kurt Warner pass that was ultimately intercepted by Keith Washington.

2001: Kennedy started all 16 games at strong safety and ranked fifth on the team with 92 tackles (70 solo), including two sacks (-18), while also posting six passes defended and one interception (6-yd. return). He registered his second sack of the season in the finale at Ind. (1/6), taking down Peyton Manning for a 7-yd. loss in the 4th qtr., among his seven tackles on the day (6 solo). Kennedy posted four tackles vs. Oak. (12/30) and intercepted his first pass of the season at the most opportune time. Kennedy put a stop to the Raiders' last scoring attempt, picking off Rich Gannon on a 4th-and-1 play from Denver's 17-yd. line with seven seconds left, with the Broncos clinging to a 23-17 lead. Kennedy registered the first sack of his career at K.C. (12/16), taking down Trent Green for an 11-yd. loss, while tying his season high with nine tackles (5 solo). In Wk. 13 vs. Sea. (12/9) Kennedy had his best game since Wk. 7, posting seven tackles (5 solo) and breaking up a pass. After missing most of the second half the week before vs. S.D. (11/11) because of a low-back bruise, Kennedy played the entire game vs. Wash. (11/18) and registered six tackles, as well as two more on special teams. In the S.D. game (11/11) he managed two solo tackles before being replaced George Coghill due to his back injury. Kennedy posted a season-high nine tackles (6 solo) vs. K.C. (10/7). He made his first career start in the opener against the Giants (9/10) and posted a then-career-high five tackles (4 solo) and a pass deflection. He also made four special teams stops.

2000: Kennedy saw action in 13 games and posted six solo tackles and one interception, and also had four tackles on special teams. He played on defense in Gms. 9-14, before playing on special teams only at K.C. (12/17). Kennedy's first three career tackles came on Monday Night Football vs. Oak. (11/13), followed by two more the next week vs. S.D. (11/19). He saw action on defense for the first time in his career at the Jets (11/5) and grabbed his first interception. Kennedy picked off a Vinny Testaverde pass at the Broncos' 6-yd. line to thwart a Jets scoring opportunity and set up a 94-yd. touchdown drive that put the Broncos ahead 17-0 in the 2nd qtr., en route to a 30-23 win. He played on special teams in the first three games, but suffered an injury to his posterior cruciate ligament at Oak. (9/17) and was declared inactive for the next three (vs. K.C., 9/24; vs. N.E., 10/1 and at S.D., 10/8). Kennedy returned to practice the week of the S.D. game, and returned to game action vs. Cleve. (10/15). He made his NFL debut in the opener at St. Louis (9/4) and posted his first two special teams tackles. Kennedy saw action on special teams in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and made one tackle.

COLLEGE: Kennedy is the only defensive back in Arkansas Razorback history to lead the team in tackles, doing so in both his junior and senior seasons, and broke the school's career tackle record for a defensive back, previously held by former Broncos great Steve Atwater (1985-88). A two-time All-Southeastern Conference choice and a third-team All-American as a senior, Kennedy moved into the starting lineup in the seventh game of his freshman season and did not miss a game, starting all 38 remaining contests. He finished his career with 287 tackles (182 solo), including two sacks (-13), as well as five interceptions (190 return yards), 20 passes defended, four forced fumbles and seven fumble recoveries. Kennedy was a vocational education major.

PERSONAL: Kennedy earned all-state, all-district and Dallas Morning News Texas Top 100 honors at Terrell (Texas) High School, excelling both at wide receiver and defensive back. He caught 39 passes for 652 yards and seven touchdowns as a senior, giving him 79 catches for 1,695 yards and 17 touchdowns for his career. On the other side of the ball he made 13 interceptions. Kennedy was also an all-district pick in basketball, while excelling in the 400 meters and triple jump for the track and field team. He was also a recipient of the school's perfect attendance award. Kenoy Wayne Kennedy was born Nov. 15, 1977 in Dallas. He and his wife, Charressa, reside in Aurora, Colo.

Micah Knorr enters his fourth NFL season, and his first full season with in Denver after playing the last eight games of the 2002 season with the Broncos. He started his career with the Dallas Cowboys. Knorr, in eight games, posted a 37.8 average and 34.1 net punting average, with a long of 59 and eight punts inside the 20-yard line. He has proven to be one of the NFL's top kickers in terms of hang time, directional ability and net average since playing at Utah State. He also brings another dimension by giving the Broncos options on kickoffs, which he performed for the last eight games of 2002 for Denver. Knorr, who signed with Dallas in 2000, has a career average of 40.8 on 207 punts (8,454), with a net average of 33.7. He played collegiately at Utah State where he earned second-team All-Big West honors as a senior in 1996 after nabbing first-team honors in '95. Knorr was primarily a kicker for the Aggies, converting 39 of 60 field goal attempts and notching 14 touchbacks on kickoffs.

2002: Knorr signed with the Broncos Oct. 30 after being released by Dallas Oct. 22. He played in eight games with Denver and punted 24 times for 906 yds. (37.8) with a long of 59, two touchbacks, eight placed inside the 20-yd. line and 10 fair catches for a net average of 34.1. He tied for fifth in the AFC in touchbacks on kickoffs (7). Knorr played the first seven games of the season with the Cowboys, and for the season averaged 39.9 yards on 71 punts (2,834 yds.), with a net average of 34.8, which ranked seventh in the AFC, and a long of 56. He placed 19 punts inside the 20, had six touchbacks and had 10 punts result in fair catches.

2001: Knorr averaged 40.2 yards-per-punt, and his 25 punts inside the 20-yard line tied for the fifth most in club history. He excelled on kickoffs, placing 13-of-56 kicks (not including onside kicks or squibs at the end of the half or game) into the end zone with four touchbacks. He averaged 65.8 yards per kickoff (to the four-yard line), and Dallas' opponent's average starting position following his kickoffs was the 26.8-yard line, placing Dallas ninth in the NFC, tied for 12th in the NFL, in opponents drive start. In the season opener against Tampa Bay (9/9), he recorded five punts for a 36.8 yard average, including two downed inside the Bucs 20-yard line. Knorr posted a 42.5 yard average on four punts against San Diego (9/23). With Tim Dwight forced into three fair catches and a two-yard loss on his only return, Knorr's net average of 43.0 yards against the Chargers was a career-high. At Philadelphia (9/30), he averaged 40.7 yards on six punts but suffered the first blocked punt of his career when N.D. Kalu broke through to get his second quarter kick. Not just a foot, Knorr also recorded a touchdown-saving tackle on Brian Mitchell's 54-yard punt return in the second quarter. He posted a 43.0 yard average on five punts against Arizona (10/28), including one downed at the Cards one-yard line that eventually led to a Dexter Coakley interception return for a touchdown. Knorr recovered a third quarter fumbled kickoff to set Dallas up at the Cardinals 44-yard line. Despite his second blocked punt of the season, Knorr had a nice day at the N.Y. Giants (11/4), averaging 44.2 yards on five punts and helping limit the Giants to a 17.0 average on five kickoff returns. He also led the team with two special teams tackles. He recorded two more special teams tackles the next week at Atlanta (11/11) and averaged 43.3 yards on four punts, including 53- and 54-yard kicks. After recording season-highs with eight punts and a 45.5 yards-per-kick average against Denver (11/22) - along with a special teams tackle in his fourth consecutive game - Knorr, against the N.Y. Giants (12/9), recorded six punts for a 41.5 yard average. Four of those boots pinned the Giants inside their own 20-yard line, tying the second most in club history. In the Cowboys win over San Francisco (12/30), Knorr suffered his third blocked punt of the season. In the season finale at Detroit (1/6/02), he placed three of his six punts inside the Lions 20-yard line.

2000: Knorr burst onto the NFL scene as a rookie, finishing fourth in the NFC, 11th in the NFL, with a club rookie record 42.8 gross punting average. Only one other rookie in the league posted a higher average in 2000 - Shane Lechler, 45.9. Knorr's net punting average of 35.8 - fourth highest rookie mark in club history - was the fifth best net average in the NFC and tied for 14th in the NFL. While handling kickoff duties, he placed 18-of-57 kickoffs into the end zone, posting 10 touchbacks. His 17.5 touchback percentage was the second highest percentage in the NFL (Jeff Wilkins - 22.7%). He made his professional debut against Philadelphia (9/3) and averaged 44.6 yards on seven punts while helping limit Brian Mitchell to a 5.0 average on four returns. At Arizona (9/10), Knorr averaged 57.0 yards on two punts, with both punts pinning the Cardinals inside their 20-yard line. He punted five times for a 46.4 average at Washington (9/18) to help limit Deion Sanders to three returns for zero yards. Knorr averaged 45.3 yards on three punts, including a career-long 60-yarder, against San Francisco (9/24). He had two punts downed inside the 20-yard line at Carolina (10/1) while averaging 44.0 yards-per-punt. Against Arizona (10/22), he posted a career-high eight kickoffs. At Philadelphia (11/5), he pinned the Eagles inside their 25-yard line four times in five punts, including twice inside their 10-yard line in the fourth quarter. Knorr suffered a hairline fracture of the tibial plateau in his left knee while being run into on his only punt against Cincinnati (11/12). The punt, however, was called back due to a roughing the punter penalty. Dallas did not have to punt again against the Bengals, marking the fourth time in club history that Dallas has not registered a punt in a game. Knorr's knee injury forced him to miss games at Baltimore (11/19) and against Minnesota (11/23). He returned to action at Tampa Bay (12/3) by averaging 41.6 yards on five punts. The next week against Washington (12/10), he punted three times for a 45.0 average to help limit Sanders to one return for 11 yards. His booming kickoffs against the Redskins helped hold them to a 17.9-yard average on eight kickoff returns. Knorr posted a 36.2 average on five punts against the N.Y. Giants (12/17), including two that were downed inside the Giants' 20-yard line. In the season finale against Tennessee (12/25), he recorded a career-high 10 punts, the most by a Dallas punter since Mike Saxon had 10 against Chicago on Nov. 17, 1985. It also tied the mark for the second most punts in a game in club history. Knorr averaged 39.8 yards on those 10 kicks against the Titans, including a 53-yarder. He also closed his initial pro campaign with two special team stops, one at Arizona (9/10) and one against the N.Y. Giants (12/17).

1999: Knorr was out of football coaching kickers for Irvine, Calif., High School while working at a gym and day spa.

1997-98: Knorr was out of football managing a sports retail store in California.

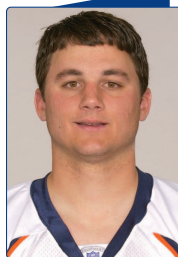

COLLEGE: As a senior at Utah State in 1996, Knorr earned second-team All-Big West honors after connecting on 12-of-21 field goals and 36-of-47 extra points to lead the Aggies in scoring with 72 points. He finished his collegiate career with a school record 39 field goals made. As a junior, he earned first-team All-Big West honors after tying for the league lead in field goals, connecting on 12-of-19 with four of the misses coming from beyond 50 yards. He also finished second on the team in scoring with 61 points. He led Utah State as a sophomore with 63 points on 15-of-20 field goals and 18-of-18 PATs while averaging 37.3 yards on 10 punts and posting 14 touchbacks on kickoffs. Knorr saw action in 11 games as a true freshman in 1993, averaging 38.6 yards on 33 punts.

PERSONAL: Knorr earned first-team All-CIF honors as both a junior and senior at Orange, Calif., High School, where he averaged 42-yards-per-punt as a senior. He participated in the Orange County North-South All-Star Game following his senior campaign. The history major finished his prep career with 81 career points on 42-of-47 PATs and 13-of-27 field goals. This past offseason, Knorr served as a celebrity escort while supporting the Children's Cancer Fund Fashion Show. He also donated time at the Ninth Annual Komen Tarrant County Race for the Cure, signing autographs, firing the start pistol and assisting with the awards ceremony. Knorr was born Jan. 9, 1975 in Orange, Calif., and this past offseason was married to wife Kandice.

TIGHT END

Mike Leach is in his fourth NFL season and second with the Broncos out of William & Mary. His primary role last season was as the teams' long snapper, but he also provided experience at the tight end position. He was with Chicago in training camp (signed Jan. 10, 2002) but was waived Aug. 26, 2002. Leach entered the league in 2000 as an undrafted free agent with Tennessee and played in 19 games before being waived by the Titans Oct. 16, 2001.

2002: Leach played in all eight games after signing with the Broncos Nov. 4 to handle the club's long-snapping duties. He played in his first game as a Bronco vs. Oak. (11/11). Leach was with Chicago in training camp (signed Jan. 10, 2002) but was waived Aug. 26, 2002. He was with Tennessee for the first four games of the 2001 season, and was the club's long snapper before being waived Oct. 16.

2001: Leach spent the first four games with Tennessee before being waived (10/16).

2000: Leach played in 15 games for the Titans after being signed to the active roster on Sept. 8. He originally was assigned to the team's practice squad following training camp. Though he did not record a reception, Leach did see action at tight end. He primarily played on special teams and did not record a tackle. Leach was credited with one kickoff return for 10 yards against Cleveland (11/19). In addition, he played on special teams in the Titans' 24-10 AFC Divisional Playoff loss to Baltimore (1/7).

COLLEGE: Leach was a two-year starter at tight end and punter at William & Mary after transferring from Boston University when the school dropped its football program. He was a first-team Walter Camp All-America choice at tight end as a senior in 1999, and led the Atlantic 10 Conference in punting both his junior and senior seasons. In his college career, Leach registered 106 receptions for 1,181 yards and 12 touchdowns. As a senior, he led his conference in receptions (33) among tight ends, gaining 305 yards and scoring four touchdowns. As a junior, he earned second-team All-American (AP) and second-team All-Atlantic 10 honors. He also set school records in both catches by a tight end (58) and season punting average (44.4). A history major, Leach played in 16 games with no starts in two years at Boston University and redshirted in 1995.

PERSONAL: Leach was a first-team all-state selection at Jefferson Township (N.J.) High School, and graduated as the school's all-time leading scorer in basketball. Michael Leach was born on Oct. 18, 1976 in Jefferson Township, N.J. He and his wife, Julie, make their home in Denver, with their "one child," a golden retriever named Snapper.

WIDE RECEIVER

Ashley Lelie, last year as the season progressed, started to develop into exactly what the Broncos hoped; a down-the-field receiving threat. Playing in all 16 games, Lelie caught 35 passes for 525 yards (team best 15.0 average), with a long of 48 and two touchdowns. He led all AFC rookies in receiving yards (4th NFL) and ranked third among AFC rookies (6th NFL) in receptions. Also, his 35 catches were the most by a Broncos rookie since running back Terrell Davis caught 49 out of the backfield in 1995, and ranked as the fourth best rookie out put in Broncos history. For the season Lelie caught three passes of 40 yards or longer, four passes of 30 yards or longer and nine passes of 20 yards or longer. He was the Broncos first-round selection (19th overall) of the 2002 NFL Draft.

2002: Lelie played in all 16 games and made one start (vs. Buf., 9/22), catching 35 passes for 525 yds. (team best 15.0 average), with a long of 48 and two touchdowns, and also rushed four times for 40 yds. (10.0), including a long of 24. He led all AFC rookies in receiving yds. (4th NFL) and ranked third among AFC rookies (6th NFL) in receptions. Also, his 35 catches were the most by a Broncos rookie since running back Terrell Davis caught 49 out of the backfield in 1995. For the season Lelie caught three passes of 40 yds. or longer, four passes of 30 yds. or longer and nine passes of 20 yds. or longer. Lelie caught one pass vs. Ariz. (12/29), a 5-yd. touchdown toss from Steve Beuerlein, for his second touchdown of the season. Lelie had four receptions for a career-high 106 yds. (26.5) at Oak. (12/22), including a career best 48-yd. reception from Beuerlein. It was the first 100-yd. receiving game of Lelie's career. He posted a then-career-high 68 yds. receiving on two catches (34.0) vs. K.C. (12/15), including his second catch of 40 yds. on the season. The big play put the Broncos at the Chiefs' 3-yd. line to set up a Portis touchdown run. Lelie caught the first touchdown reception of his career at the Jets (12/8) on a 10-yd. pass from Brian Griese just before halftime, one of his three catches on the day for 38 yds. (12.7). He had a career-high eight receptions for 65 yards (8.1) vs. Oak (11/11), and also carried twice for 12 yds. At N.E. (10/27) he caught a career-long 40-yd. pass on a 3rd-and-8 play late in the 4th qtr. to allow Denver to run out the clock. He also added a 4-yd. rush in the N.E. game. Lelie's 30-yd. reception in the 4th qtr. vs. Mia. (10/13) was the longest of his career at the time-en route to a then-career-high 41 receiving yds.-and set up a go-ahead field goal. Lelie caught at least two passes in five straight games from Wk. 3-7. He made his first NFL start vs. Buf. when the Broncos opened the game in a His first NFL catch came on a crucial 3rd-down play in the 4th qtr. at S.F. (9/15).

COLLEGE: Lelie finished his career at Hawaii as the Warriors' all-time leader in receptions (194), receiving yds. (3,341) and touchdown receptions (32), and averaged 17.2 yds. per catch. He was a first-team All-Western Athletic Conference selection and broke the WAC single-season records for receiving yds. (1,713) and touchdowns (19), while also tying the WAC record for most 200-yd. games in a season (3). He ranked first in the conference and second in the nation in receiving yds. per game (142.8) and ranked third in the WAC and ninth in the nation in receptions per game (7.0). Lelie also ranked fourth in the WAC and 19th in the nation in all-purpose yardage (142.8) and led the Warriors in receiving yds. in 9 of 12 games. He teamed with wide receiver Channon Harris to catch an average of 12.75 passes in 2001, forming the sixth best duo in the nation. As a sophomore, Lelie started every game at the "Z" receiver slot and finished third in the WAC in receptions per game (6.17) and third in receiving yds. per game (92.5). Lelie led the team in receptions (74), receiving yds. (1110), touchdowns (11), all-purpose yds. (92.5) and scoring (66), and gained over 100 yds. receiving in three contests, while adding three games with at least two touchdown catches. Lelie played in every game his redshirt freshman year, starting seven at the "Z" receiver slot and finished fourth on the team with 36 catches for 518 yds. (14.4 avg.) and two touchdowns.

PERSONAL: Lelie is a 1998 graduate of Radford High School in Honolulu, Hawaii, where he earned two letters each in football, track and basketball. He was selected to both the all-district and all-state teams in football and was an all-District choice in basketball and an all-league selection in track. Lelie was on the honor roll at Radford. Ashley Jovon Lelie was born Feb. 16, 1980 in Bellflower, Calif.

TACKLE

Matt Lepsis, in his seventh year, looks to continue the solid trend he has started as a top-flight NFL tackle and also as a model of durability. Lepsis has played in every game, since making the active roster in 1998. Last year, Lepsis contributed to a line that helped running back Clinton Portis rush for a rookie franchise-record 1,508 yards and earn NFL Offensive Rookie of Year honors. After spending his initial season on the reserve/non-football injury list and one season as a backup, Lepsis moved into the starting lineup in 1999 and showed considerable improvement throughout the season. Lepsis has played in 80 career games and made 63 starts. He signed with the Broncos as a rookie free agent, April 29, 1997.

2002: Lepsis started 15 of 16 games at right tackle, missing his only start at Balt. (9/30) when he saw action only on special teams to handle the snapping duties. He left the Buf. game (9/22) in the 2nd qtr. because a hamstring strain, and returned only to perform the deep-snapping duties for a portion of the second half. Lepsis made one special teams tackle.

2000: Lepsis started at right tackle in all 16 regular season games, as well as Denver's AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31).

1999: Lepsis started all 16 games at right tackle. He made his first NFL start in the opener vs. Miami (9/13). In the preseason Lepsis played in all five games and started four at right tackle, winning a battle with Trey Teague for the starting position entering the regular season.

1998: Lepsis saw action in all 16 games on special teams, and limited duty as a reserve tackle. He played in his first NFL game in the season-opener vs. N.E. (9/7), replacing Harry Swayne at right tackle early in the fourth quarter and playing the remainder of the game. At Wash. (9/27) Lepsis lined up as an eligible receiver on the line in a goal-line situation. He also played the 4th qtr. at right tackle vs. Phila. (10/4) and the third quarter at right tackle at Sea. (10/11). In the postseason Lepsis played in all three games, both on the offensive line and on special teams. He played the final 2-1/2 quarters at right tackle in the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9) after Tony Jones left the game (knee). Swayne moved to Jones' left tackle position, while Lepsis—playing in his first-ever postseason game—filled in admirably for Swayne on the right side, as the line gave up just one sack for the day and cleared the way for 250 rushing yards. Earlier in the game, Lepsis was in on several offensive snaps as an eligible receiver. He played on offense and special teams again in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17), seeing several offensive plays as an eligible receiver. Lepsis also saw action in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31).

1997: Lepsis spent the season on the reserve/non-football injury list due to a college knee injury.

COLLEGE: Lepsis played in 36 games as a tight end for Colorado (including bowl games), with 16 starts. He caught 45 passes for 519 yards and 3 touchdowns, including a two-yard reception for a score in the 1996 Cotton Bowl win over Oregon, capping a junior season in which he earned second-team All-Big Eight honors. Lepsis graded out as a 90% blocker during his career at CU and added seven special teams tackles to his credit. He also lettered three times in track at CU and was a two-time All-American in the discus with a collegiate best of 196 feet. Lepsis was a history major.

PERSONAL: Lepsis was an All-Southwest selection at Frisco (Texas) High School, where he was Class 3A Defensive Player of the Year and a two-time state discus champion. He had the second best throw in the country in 1992 (204'-8"), and was a member of the National Honor Society. He was born January 13, 1974 in Conroe, Texas. Matt and his wife, Shana, have a son, Hayden (1), and family resides in Castle Rock, Colo.

TIGHT END

Arther Love joins the Broncos as a free agent and looks to add depth at the tight end position. Originally drafted by New England in the sixth round (180th overall) of the 2001 draft, he was placed on the physically unable to perform list on Aug. 28, 2001. After being activated on Nov. 21, Love was on the active roster, but was inactive for the final six regular-season games and all three postseason games. He spent two weeks on the Patriots' practice squad in 2002 before being released (9/16). He signed with Denver as a free agent Jan. 8, 2003.

2002: Love spent two weeks on New England's practice squad before being released on Sept. 16, 2002.

2001: Love was on New England's physically unable to perform list for the first 10 weeks of the season. He was added to the 53-man roster on Nov. 21, where he remained for the rest of the year, including the playoffs. Love was inactive for the Patriots' final six regular-season games and all three in the postseason.

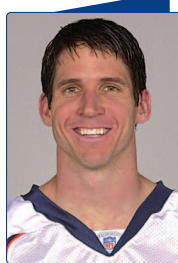

COLLEGE: Love was a four-year letterwinner and earned second-team all-Mid Eastern Athletic Conference honors his senior year at South Carolina St. Considered one of the premier blockers in his conference, he finished his career with 34 catches for 562 yards and four touchdowns. Love earned four letters (1997-2000) at South Carolina State, and was voted team captain. He started in nine of 10 games during his senior campaign, and caught a career-high 20 passes for 342 yards (17.1 avg.) and a pair of touchdowns, while registering 61 knockdown blocks. A junior team captain and Coca Cola Scholar-Athlete, Love collected 56 knockdown blocks, while starting in seven of the nine games he played in during the season. He finished the season with seven receptions for 109 yards (15.6 avg.) and a touchdown. Love started 11 games and caught six passes for 98 yards (16.3 avg.) and a touchdown his sophomore year. In addition, he scored his first career touchdown on a 22-yard reception against Bethune-Cookman. As a redshirt freshman, Love played in all 11 games and was utilized mostly as a blocker for the Bulldogs, finishing with one reception for 13 yards. In 1996, he was granted a medical redshirt after he suffered a fractured right hip in summer camp.

PERSONAL: Born Arther Lee Love on Sept. 18, 1977 in Vidalia, Ga., he earned four varsity letters in both basketball and football, and added three more in track at Montgomery (Soperton, Ga.) County High School. His brother, Travis, was a teammate and starting defensive lineman at South Carolina State (1998-present).

WIDE RECEIVER

Prior to the 2002 season, Ed McCaffrey faced perhaps the toughest challenge of his career, having to make a comeback from a broken left leg that wiped out most of his 2001 season. It didn't take long for the "Eddie" of old to reemerge as a force in the Broncos offense. McCaffrey caught 69 passes for 903 yards last year, which ranked second on the team behind Rod Smith. On March 18, 2003, he underwent surgery to repair a sports hernia, and missed the Broncos' May mini-camp during his recovery. McCaffrey is poised to get back to the level he was at in 2000, a season that looked great in the record books, and also served notice that his name belongs among those of the NFL's top wide receivers, and among the best to wear a Denver Broncos uniform. Though his record would be broken by Rod Smith in 2001, his 101 catches that season broke Lionel Taylor's 39-year-old franchise record, and put McCaffrey—along with Smith—among an elite group in NFL history to reach triple figures in receptions in the same season. McCaffrey has played in 173 games (102 starts) over his 12-year career, catching 546 passes for 7,227 yards (13.2) and 55 touchdowns, while posting 19 100-yd. games. In Broncos annals he ranks fourth in career receptions (443), fifth in receiving yards (6,005) and third in receiving touchdowns (46). He has also played in 14 postseason games (9 starts) and caught 42 passes for 554 yards (13.2) with a long of 47 and two touchdowns, winning three World Championships with the Broncos (1997 and 1998) and 49ers (1994). His postseason numbers as a Bronco rank third in receptions (36) and fifth in receiving yards (490). McCaffrey is one of just 35 players in NFL history to win a Super Bowl with two different teams, and one of only 15 to win one in each conference. He entered the NFL in 1991 as a fourth-round draft choice of the New York Giants (No. 83 overall) out of Stanford.

2002: McCaffrey—a finalist for the NFL Walter Payton Man of the Year Award—started all 16 games and caught 69 passes for 903 yds. (13.1) including a long of 69 and two touchdowns. He also rushed twice for 22 yds. (11.0) with a long of 17. McCaffrey finished the season having caught a pass in a franchise-record 68 consecutive games, and ranks fourth in team history in career receptions (443), fifth in receiving yds. (6,005), third in receiving touchdowns (46) and third in 100-yd. receiving games (18). McCaffrey had his fourth 100-yd. receiving game of the season and 19th of his career in the season-

OFF THE FIELD

Ed has been one of the Broncos' most community-minded players in his eight years with the club. The McCaffrey Family Foundation strives to improve the lives of children, assisting those whose medical situations have created financial or academic hardship and those who show great promise and work ethic who need additional resources. Ed has co-hosted the Watson-McCaffrey Golf Classic the past three summers at Breckenridge and Copper Mountain, with proceeds benefiting the Summit House and Ronald McDonald House Charities of Denver. He also hosted the fourth annual Celebrity Softball Classic in Denver in June. Ed has several food products bearing his name throughout the state of Colorado, including Ed's Rocky Mountain Mustard, Horseradish and a cereal named Ed's End Zone O's.

finale vs. Ariz. (12/29) by catching seven passes for 112 yds./, including a long of 52 yds. At S.D. (12/1) he recorded his third 100-yd. receiving game of the season, and 18th of his career, with seven catches for a season-high 126 yds. (18.0). McCaffrey caught a 47-yd. pass in the 2nd qtr. to set up a Broncos touchdown, and passed Riley Odoms (5,755) for fifth all-time on the Broncos receiving yards list. Versus Ind. (11/24) McCaffrey moved into sixth place in all-time receiving yards by a Bronco, passing Vance Johnson (5,695), and set a franchise record by catching a pass in his 63rd consecutive game, topping Lionel Taylor's streak of 62 from 1960-64. At Sea. (11/17) McCaffrey caught four passes for 36 yds. (9.0) to pass Vance Johnson (415) for fourth place on the Broncos' all-time receptions list. At N.E. (10/27) he tied his season high with eight receptions for a then-season-high 116 yds. (14.5), his second 100-yd. game of the season. Versus Mia. (10/13) McCaffrey passed Riley Odoms (396) to move into fifth place in career receptions by a Bronco, and passed Haven Moses (5,450) for seventh place in receiving yds. by a Bronco. He also recorded his 500th career reception on a 14-yd. pass from Brian Griese for a 1st down with 48 seconds remaining in the first half. McCaffrey caught six passes for 113 yds. vs. S.D. (10/6) to post his 16th career 100-yd. game, and his first since Dec. 10, 2000 vs. Sea. (8-112). His 69-yd. touchdown reception in the game was the second longest reception of his career (78, TD, vs. G.B., 10/17/99), and his 46th touchdown reception as a Bronco, moving him into fifth place in total touchdowns, passing Haven Moses (45). He caught a season-high (tie) eight passes for 90 yds. at Balt. (9/30). In the opener vs. St. Louis (9/8), his first game since breaking his left leg in the 2001 season opener, McCaffrey caught two passes for 50 yds. (25.0), including a 27-yarder for his first catch and a 23-yd. touchdown catch in the 4th qtr. that proved to be the game winner.

2001: McCaffrey started the season-opener vs. the Giants (9/10) and caught six passes for 94 yds. (15.7) and a touchdown, but broke the tibia and fibula in his left leg and was placed on injured reserve Sept. 12. His touchdown catch was the 44th of his career, tying him for the franchise record with Shannon Sharpe, Haven Moses and Lionel Taylor (and later Rod Smith). McCaffrey's injury occurred in the 3rd qtr. when he caught a 19-yd. pass over the middle and collided with Giants safety Shaun Williams. Surgery was performed later that night by orthopedic surgeons Martin Boublik and Ted Schlegel of the Steadman-Hawkins Clinic at Swedish Hospital in Denver. His recovery process was expected to last six months.

2000: McCaffrey—named All-Pro by Sports Illustrated—started all 16 games and posted the best numbers of his 10-year career with a franchise-record 101 receptions for 1,317 yds. (13.0), with a long of 61 and eight touchdowns. He ranked second in the AFC (3rd NFL) in receptions and fifth (10th NFL) in receiving yds. His 101 receptions topped the previous franchise record of 100 by Lionel Taylor in 1961, and his 1,317 yds. ranked second in team history behind the record-breaking total of 1,602 by teammate Rod Smith this season. McCaffrey became the 27th player in NFL history to log 100 receptions in a season, with his franchise record-breaking 101st fittingly coming on a 25-yd. touchdown pass in the third qtr. of the season finale vs. S.F. (12/23). With teammate Rod Smith also reaching 100 catches McCaffrey and Smith became the second tandem in NFL history each catch 100 passes in a season (Detroit's Herman Moore-123 and Brett Perriman-108 did so in 1995). McCaffrey also tied for third (T5th NFL) in third-down receptions (27-351-13.0-4); tied for fourth in the AFC (T6th NFL) in receiving touchdowns; ranked 13th in first downs earned (68) and third in receiving first downs (4th NFL). In Denver's 31-24 win over Sea. (12/10) McCaffrey logged his career best fifth 100-yd. receiving game of the season—and his 14th as a Bronco, tied with Shannon Sharpe for fourth most in franchise history—with eight catches for 112 yds. (14.0). It was a big day for McCaffrey whose 5-yd. touchdown reception from Gus Frerotte was his 42nd as a Bronco, moving him into sole possession of fourth place on the club's all-time list, ahead of Riley Odoms. He also passed Steve Watson (353) for fifth place on the club's all-time receptions list (now 368) and Mark Jackson (4,746) for eighth place in receiving yds. (now 5,008). McCaffrey tied his career-high for the third time this season with 10 receptions for a career-high 148 yds. (14.8) vs. S.D. (11/19), and caught two touchdown passes—the latter the game-winner with 1:33 remaining. On the day McCaffrey eclipsed his previous single-season high of 71 receptions (1999), and with two TDs moved into a tie with Riley Odoms (41) for most scoring receptions in franchise history. McCaffrey capped a five-game hot streak at the Jets (11/5) with a game-high (tie) six receptions for 96 yds. (16.0) and two touchdowns, including a long of 47. His 47-yd. touchdown reception in the 4th qtr. proved to be the game-winner, as it gave Denver a 30-20 lead in an eventual 30-23 win. In the Jets game he passed Rick Upchurch (4,369 yds.) for ninth place on Denver's all-time receiving yards list. McCaffrey eclipsed the 100-yd. receiving mark for the second straight game at Cin. (10/22) with a then-career-high 136 yds. on 10 catches, tying his career high. It was his third 100-yd. game of the season and 13th of his career. He has 12 as a Bronco, fifth most in franchise history. It marked the second straight week both McCaffrey and Rod Smith topped the 100-yd. receiving mark, just the second time in franchise history that feat has occurred, and the first since 1962. The previous week vs. Cleve. (10/15) McCaffrey caught five passes for 129 yds. (25.8) with a long of 61 yds. In the contest he moved past Al Denson (4,150 yds.) for 10th place on Denver's all-time receiving yards list. In Denver's 21-7 Week 6 win at S.D. (10/8) McCaffrey posted a new career-high 10 receptions for 71 yds. (7.1) and two touchdowns, moving him ahead of teammate Rod Smith (now seventh with 349) and Haven Moses (302) for sixth place on the Broncos' all-time receptions list. A week earlier vs. N.E. (10/8) McCaffrey had tied his previous career high with nine receptions for 91 yds. (10.1). He had seven receptions at Oak. (9/17) for 92 yds. and his first touchdown, which came on a 10-yd. pass from Brian Griese. McCaffrey was slowed by a groin injury vs. Atlanta (9/10), but still managed one catch for 5 yds. In the opener at St. Louis he hauled in a game-high seven passes for a season best 115 yds. (16.4). His night included a long of 35, en route to his 11th career 100-yd. game. McCaffrey finished the year ranked fifth in club history in career receptions (368), eighth in receiving yards (5,008) and fourth in receiving touchdowns (43). McCaffrey started in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and led all receivers with a postseason career-high eight catches for 75 yds. (9.4), with a long of 16. He moved into third place in both postseason receptions and receiving yds. in Broncos history, finishing the day with 36 for 490 (13.6) in his postseason career. McCaffrey passed Steve Sewell (31) on the receptions list and passed Mark Jackson (426) and Shannon Sharpe (474) on the yardage list.

1999: McCaffrey started 15 games and ranked second on the team with a career-high 71 receptions for 1,018 yds. (14.3) and seven touchdowns with a long of 78 (TD). He tied for seventh in the AFC in receiving touchdowns, while ranking eighth in the AFC in receptions and 10th in receiving yards. With 1,018 receiving yds. in 1999 McCaffrey became the sixth player in franchise history to post back-to-back 1,000-yd. seasons, and together with Rod Smith (1,020) made it two straight years with two receivers topping 1,000, and the fourth time overall in franchise history. McCaffrey was declared inactive (Fri.) for the Week 9 game at San Diego (11/7) because of a deep knee bruise. He led all receivers in the opener vs. Miami (9/13) with 105 yds., and matched his career high with three touchdowns. The first came on his then longest career reception (61 yds.) in the 1st qtr., followed by 11- and 4-yd. scoring catches in the 3rd and 4th qtrs., respectively, all from Brian Griese. It was McCaffrey's seventh career 100-yd. game. He added his fourth TD of the season at Tampa Bay (9/26) with a 12-yd. scoring reception from Griese. McCaffrey caught five passes for a game-high 88 yds. at Oakland to help Denver notch its first win of the season. He came up big again the next week vs. Green Bay (10/17) with his eighth career 100-yd. game, hauling in five passes for 116 yds. (23.2) and two touchdowns from Griese. His second score came on a 78-yd. reception — the longest of his career — and featured an outstanding show of strength and determination on McCaffrey's part, fighting off Packers safety Darren Sharper with an imposing stiff-arm to free himself for the final 15 yds. to the end zone. McCaffrey combined with Byron Chamberlain (123 rec. yds.) and Olandis Gary (124 rush. yds.) vs. Green Bay to give Denver two 100-yd. receivers and a 100-yd. rusher in the same game for the first time in franchise history. He was the game's leading receiver again at New England (10/24) in Week 7, notching his ninth career 100-yd. performance with 5 catches for 111 yds. His final catch left him with a mild concussion, as he landed partially on his head and neck after being upended while leaping to make the grab. A week later vs. Minnesota (10/31) McCaffrey caught two passes for 18 yds. (9.0) despite missing about one-third of the game because of a blow to the head in the first half and a deep bone bruise in his left knee in the second. McCaffrey posted his 10th career 100-yd. game at Seattle (11/14), catching six passes for a game-high 125 yds. (20.8) and one touchdown, with a long of 42. His touchdown came on a 23-yd. pass from Chris Miller in the 3rd qtr. to tie the game at 10-10. McCaffrey led all receivers with 82 yds. on seven receptions vs. Oakland (11/22), and was the game's high receiver with seven catches at Detroit (12/25), for 65 yds. He was exemplary in the community as well, being named the Denver Broncos nominee for the prestigious NFL Man of the Year Award.

1998: McCaffrey—selected to start in the Pro Bowl for the first time in his eight-year career and named second-team All-NFL by the Associated Press and All-AFC by Football News — started at wide receiver in 15 of the 16 games and enjoyed the finest statistical season of his career in all four receiving categories with 1,053 yds. on 64 receptions for an average of 16.5, with 10 touchdowns. He enjoyed an exemplary year off the field, as well, being named the "Sprint Broncos Man of the Year" for 1998. McCaffrey tied for the AFC lead in receiving TDs (T6th NFL), tied for sixth (T13th NFL) in total TDs, ranked sixth in the AFC (14th NFL) in receiving yards and tied for 15th in receptions, while his yards-per-catch avg. of 16.5 ranked sixth in the AFC (11th NFL). He posted a reception of 32 yds. or longer in 9 of the 15 games he played in '98 (32, 33, 37, 38, 41, 41t, 44, 48, 48), finished the year having scored 13 TDs in his last 18 regular season games, dating back to the 1997 season. He turned in an outstanding '98 debut vs. New England (9/7), leading all receivers with seven catches for 97 yds. (13.9), while also recovering a Patriots onside kick attempt in the final two minutes. His longest reception (44 yds.) came on the first play of the game and tied for the longest of his career. He followed that with a then-career-high 117 yds. on five receptions vs. Dallas (9/13), including a 38-yd. reception from backup QB Bubby Brister in the fourth quarter. His first two touchdowns of the season came in Week Three at Oakland (9/20), on a 1-yd. reception from John Elway and a 13-yd. grab from Brister, followed by a 19-yd. TD reception from Brister the next week at Washington (9/27). In Week 5 vs. Philadelphia (10/4) McCaffrey caught two passes for 60 yds., including a career best 48-yarder from Brister on the first play from scrimmage, and his fourth touchdown of the year on a 12-yd. reception in the second quarter. He led all Denver receivers in yardage vs. Jacksonville (10/25) with 92 on three receptions, including a 41-yd. TD from Elway on the first play of the 2nd qtr., his fifth TD of the year. McCaffrey posted a new career high with 133 receiving yds. at Cincinnati (11/1) on seven receptions (19.0), including his sixth TD of the season. The score came on a 25-yd. pass from Elway in the 4th qtr. of a 33-26 come-from-behind win. He matched that career high, as well as his career-high for receptions, with a 9-133 performance vs. San Diego (11/8), which included a 7-yd. touchdown reception from Brister, his seventh of the year. It came early in the 3rd qtr. and gave Denver a 20-0 lead. McCaffrey posted back-to-back 100-yd. games for the first time in his career during the 1998 season (7-133 at Cin., 11/1 and 9-33 vs. S.D., 11/8), and recorded four of his six career 100-yd. games in 1998. Additionally, it marked just the sixth time in Broncos history that a player has posted receiving totals of 130 yds. or more in back-to-back games. McCaffrey caught one pass for 19 yds. at Kansas City (11/16) before leaving the game in the 1st qtr. with a hamstring strain. That injury also forced him to miss his first start of the season a week later vs. Oakland (11/22), as he was declared inactive the day of the game. McCaffrey bounced back a week later at San Diego (11/29), returning to the starting lineup and catching 5 passes for 74 yds. (14.8) and 2 TDs, both coming in the 1st qtr. on passes of 15 and 37 yds. from John Elway. The two scores gave him a career-high 9 for the season, and the five receptions allowed him to match his career high of 49. McCaffrey extended his career-high TD total to 10 vs. Kansas City (12/6), part of a 6-catch, 103-yd. performance that saw him break his previous single-season best of 49 catches, finishing the day at 55. It was McCaffrey's fourth 100-yd. game of the year, and the sixth of his career, and included a 48-yd. reception from Elway, tying the longest of McCaffrey's career. McCaffrey joined Rod Smith (165 yds.) to give Denver two 100-yd. receivers in the same game for the first time since Nov. 20, 1994 vs. Atlanta (Cedric Tillman—175, Anthony Miller—102). McCaffrey went over the 1,000-yd. receiving mark for the season with his 42 yds. at Miami (12/21), joining Rod Smith (1,222) to give Denver two 1,000-yd. receivers in the same season for the just the third time in franchise history (1994 and '97). McCaffrey suffered a tendon tear in his left ring finger in practice Aug. 11, and missed one preseason game (vs. New Orleans, 8/14). McCaffrey started at wide receiver in all three postseason games and caught 11 passes for 190 yds. (17.3) with a long of 47, the longest postseason reception of his career (vs. the Jets, 1/17/99). In the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9) he caught three passes for 52 yds. (17.3), and followed that up with three more catches for a team-high 66 yds. (22.0) in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17). He was superb again in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31), catching five passes for 72 yds. with a long of 25, all in the second half.

1997: McCaffrey started 15 of the 16 games at wide receiver and ranked fourth on the team in receptions, with 45 for 590 yds. (13.1), a long of 35 yds. and a career best eight touchdowns, tied for fifth most receiving touchdowns in the AFC. McCaffrey missed his only game of the season in Week 15 at Pittsburgh (12/7) when he was declared inactive because of a strained hamstring. His first big performance of the 1997 season came at Seattle (9/7) in Week Two when he was matched up with rookie CB Shawn Springs and produced one of the biggest days of his career, catching eight passes for 93 yds. and two touchdowns in Denver's 35-14 victory. Against St. Louis the next week (9/14) he had just one reception, but it was a 23-yd. touchdown in the third quarter that put Denver ahead 35-7, en route to a 35-14 victory. The following week he caught his third touchdown of the season, a 32-yarder against Cincinnati (9/21) in Denver's 38-20 victory. He finished the day with four receptions for 62 yds. At Oakland (10/19) McCaffrey had three receptions for 61 yds. and a 28-yd. touchdown that brought Denver to within 28-25 in the fourth quarter, the score by which Denver would drop its first game of the season. In Denver's next matchup with the Raiders (11/24) he had four catches for 51 yds., including a diving 35-yd. reception that set up Denver's first touchdown of the game en route to a 31-3 win on Monday Night Football. The next Sunday at San Diego, McCaffrey caught seven passes for a career-high 111 receiving yds. (the second 100-yd. game of his career) in Denver's 38-28 win. In that game he caught two touchdown passes (4 and 21 yds.) to raise his total to seven, ending a five-game scoring drought since catching his fifth in the fourth quarter at Oakland (10/19). He closed the regular season with a four-catch, 32-yd. performance that included his eighth touchdown of the year to set a new personal high. The touchdown came on a 1-yd. reception from John Elway in the second quarter to put Denver ahead 21-3, en route to a 38-3 victory. In the post-season McCaffrey started at wide receiver in all four games and tied for the team lead in receptions (12) with Shannon Sharpe, covering 171 yds. (14.3) with one touchdown, as he joined a list of just 30 players in NFL history to win a Super Bowl with more than one team (San Francisco, SB XXIX). In the Wild Card Game against Jacksonville (12/27) he caught two passes for 35 yds., including a 25-yarder on the Broncos' first possession on third-and-15 that kept the drive alive and set up their first score of the day. In Denver's 14-10 AFC Divisional Playoff win at Kansas City (1/4/98), McCaffrey caught three passes for 56 yds., including a 43-yarder on third-and-five early in the fourth quarter that set up Terrell Davis' game-winning touchdown with 12:32 remaining. In the AFC Championship Game at Pittsburgh (1/11) he caught five passes for 37 yds., including a 1-yd. score right before the half to give Denver a 24-14 advantage. The Broncos held on to win 24-21 and advanced to their first Super Bowl in eight years. In Super Bowl XXXII against Green Bay, McCaffrey caught two passes for a team-high 45 yds., including a 36-yarder in the third quarter on Denver's 13-play, 92-yd. drive (the longest of the game) that put them ahead 24-17. He also threw a crushing block on Packers' linebacker Brian Williams to free Howard Griffith for the bulk of his yardage on a 23-yd. pass play from Elway that set up Denver's game-winning touchdown late in the fourth quarter.

1996: McCaffrey started 15 of the 16 regular season games at wide receiver opposite Anthony Miller and posted the second best totals of his career with 48 receptions for 553 yards (11.5) and a long of 39 yds. with a career-high seven touchdowns. He missed the Chicago game (11/10) when he was declared inactive because of a lower-back bruise. McCaffrey established a career high and tied a Broncos franchise record with three touchdown receptions against Baltimore (10/20). Easily his most dramatic touchdown catch of the year came at Minnesota (11/24) when he hauled in a 5-yd. John Elway pass that was tipped in the air three times by Vikings players, catching it at the 1-yd. line and diving backwards into the end zone for the score with 19 seconds left in the game. His longest reception of the year was a 39-yd. touchdown from Elway in the season-opener against the Jets (9/1), and his most historic was his catch of Elway's 250th career touchdown pass in the second quarter vs. Seattle (12/1). McCaffrey sprained his ankle in practice Sept. 11 but was able to play four days later against Tampa Bay (9/15). In the season-opener vs. the Jets (9/1), McCaffrey started at wide receiver and caught a team-high four passes (tied with Shannon Sharpe) for 61 yds. (15.3), including a 39-yd. touchdown to put the Broncos ahead 14-0. In week five at Cincinnati (9/29) he caught five passes for 80 yds. in a true iron-man performance. He was the victim of several vicious hits, but managed to return to the game each time, earning high praise from his teammates in the locker room after the Broncos' 14-10 victory. Versus San Diego (10/6) McCaffrey caught five passes for 58 yds. with one touchdown (9 yds.) and a long of 31 yds. His touchdown came with 8:22 remaining in the game, and put Denver ahead by the eventual final margin of 28-17. Two weeks later vs. Baltimore, McCaffrey tied a Broncos franchise record with three touchdown receptions, coming on passes of 4, 6 and 8 yds. from Elway. In all he caught seven passes for 76 yds. His third TD of the day, a 6-yarder with 10:57 remaining, put the Broncos on top 38-34 en route to a 45-34 win. He had one of his best games of the year at Minnesota (11/24), catching six passes for a season-high 83 yds. and one touchdown. His touchdown provided the winning points in Denver's 21-17 come-from-behind win, as he hauled in a thrice tipped 5-yd. pass from Elway with 19 seconds remaining in the game, and lunged backwards into the end zone for the score. It was his sixth touchdown of the year, surpassing his previous best of five as a New York Giant in 1992. Versus Seattle (12/1) he caught a team-high five passes for 43 yds. with a long of 12 and one touchdown. His 4-yd. touchdown reception in the second quarter was the 250th touchdown pass of Elway's career, ninth most in NFL history. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff vs. Jacksonville (1/4/97) McCaffrey started his first playoff game and caught five passes for 54 yds., including a long of 15 for his one touchdown on the day. His score came with 1:50 remaining in the game and pulled Denver to within 30-27.

1995: McCaffrey played in all 16 games and made four starts (vs. Buffalo 9/3, at San Diego 9/24, at Seattle 10/1 and vs. Kansas City 10/22). He had, at the time, the second most productive season of his career, catching 39 passes for 477 yds. (12.2), with a long of 35 yds. and two touchdowns, and also rushed once for -1 yd. In his debut as a Bronco vs. Buffalo (9/3), McCaffrey started in place of the injured Anthony Miller and caught four passes for 52 yds. He hauled in a 35-yarder from John Elway on the Broncos' final scoring drive to set up Terrell Davis' 3-yd. game-sealing touchdown run. In Week Three vs. Washington (9/17) McCaffrey caught a season-high five passes for 70 yds. (14.0), including a clutch 19-yarder from Elway during the Broncos' game-winning 80-yd. drive. Denver won the game on the final play 38-31. Against Arizona (11/5), McCaffrey caught one pass, a 23-yarder in the fourth quarter for his first touchdown as a Bronco and the 10th of his career. Against Jacksonville (12/3), McCaffrey saw action as the third receiver and made three catches for 48 yds., including a 24-yarder. He also rushed once on a reverse for -1 yd. In the season finale at Oakland (12/24), McCaffrey — who started in the Broncos' four-wide receiver set — caught a career-high nine passes for 99 yds. and one touchdown, with a long of 27 yds., to help lift the Broncos to a 31-28 win. McCaffrey's 4-yd., one-handed touchdown reception with 5:46 remaining in the game tied the score at 28-28. McCaffrey was acquired by the Broncos as an unrestricted free agent from San Francisco March 7.

1994: McCaffrey played in all 16 regular season games for the 49ers and in all three postseason games. He had 11 catches for 131 yds. (12.0 average) and two touchdowns in the regular season and one reception for five yds. in the playoffs. He also had eight special teams tackles in the regular season. McCaffrey caught one pass for eight yds., recorded two special teams tackles and forced a fumble at Detroit (10/9). He had three receptions for 34 yds., including a 34-yd. touchdown versus Tampa Bay (10/23), and recovered an on-side kick late in the fourth quarter of the 49ers 21-14 victory over Dallas (11/13). He caught five passes for 59 yds., including a 1-yd. touchdown in the regular season finale at Minnesota (12/26). His one reception against San Diego in the Super Bowl (1/29/95), a five-yarder, came in the second quarter. McCaffrey was acquired by the 49ers July 25, 1994 as a free agent after being waived by the Giants July 18.

1993: McCaffrey played in all 16 regular season games with one start for the New York Giants, and also played in both New York playoff contests. He finished fourth on the team with 27 receptions for 335 yds. and two touchdowns. He had touchdown receptions vs. Philadelphia (10/17) and Phoenix

(11/28). McCaffrey's one start came against the Jets (10/31) when he replaced an injured Mike Sherrard in the lineup. His most productive game of the season was the NFC Divisional Playoff Game at San Francisco (1/15/94) when he caught five passes for 59 yds.

1992: McCaffrey played in all 16 games with three starts and led the Giants in receiving with career best numbers of 49 catches for 610 yards. He was also the team's fourth-leading scorer with five touchdowns. McCaffrey had back-to-back five-reception outings to begin the season vs. San Francisco (9/6) and Dallas (9/13). He received his first NFL start vs. Green Bay (11/8) and also started against Philadelphia (11/11) and Dallas (11/26). He had career highs in receptions (6), yards (105) and longest reception (44 yds.) in the Thanksgiving Day clash with the Cowboys.

1991: McCaffrey played in all 16 games as a third wide receiver and on special teams. He finished his rookie year with 16 catches for 146 yards. He had three receptions vs. the Rams (9/8) and also at Philadelphia (11/4). The best game of his rookie season came at Tampa Bay (11/24) when he caught four passes for 35 yds., including two on the Giants' game-winning drive in a 21-14 victory. He was a third-round pick of the Giants in 1991 (No. 83 overall).

COLLEGE: McCaffrey was a Kodak All-America choice following his senior season at Stanford (1990) and was selected to play in the East-West Shrine Game. An All-Pac-10 choice as a junior and senior, he finished his career with 146 receptions for 2,333 yards (16.0 average) and 14 touchdowns. During his senior season he pulled down 61 receptions for 917 yds. (15.0) and eight touchdowns to earn second-team All-America honors from The Sporting News. The Cardinal pass-catchers that year compiled 2,763 yards receiving, the most for the school since 1985 (2,874). Ed received his bachelor's degree in economics from Stanford, as well as a master's degree in sociology, and plans to attend business or law school when he is finished playing pro football.

PERSONAL: Ed and his wife, Lisa, make their home in Castle Rock, Colo. They are the parents of four sons, Maxwell (9), Christian (7), Dylan (4) and Lucas (2). McCaffrey made an appearance on the television show "Live with Regis and Kathy Lee" during the week following Denver's Super Bowl XXXII victory over Green Bay (1/25/98), and was a guest on The Tonight Show with Jay Leno in the days after the Broncos' Super Bowl XXXIII triumph over Atlanta. Several food products bearing his name were introduced in the state of Colorado in 1998: Ed McCaffrey's Rocky Mountain Mustard, in both Spicy Brown and Creamy Dijon, as well as horseradish and a cereal named Ed's End Zone O's. McCaffrey was an All-America football player, MVP in baseball with a .540 batting average, and a 21.3-point per game scorer in basketball at Central Catholic High School in Allentown, Pa. His brother Billy was an All-America basketball guard at Vanderbilt after being a member of Duke's NCAA championship squad in 1991, and now plays professional basketball internationally. The athletic McCaffrey family also includes a sister, Monica, who played basketball at Georgetown, and another brother, Mike, who played basketball at Husson College in Bangor, Maine. Edward McCaffrey was born Aug. 17, 1968 in Waynesboro, Pa.

VINCE LOMBARDI TROPHY

The Denver Broncos claimed back-to-back World Championships with their 31-24 defeat of Green Bay in Super Bowl XXXII and their 34-19 triumph over Atlanta in Super Bowl XXXIII. The franchise now owns two Vince Lombardi Trophies, which are displayed in the lobby of the Paul D. Bowlen Memorial Broncos Centre. The sterling silver trophies are created by Tiffany & Company, named for the late Vince Lombardi before Super Bowl V. Each trophy is a regulation-size silver football mounted in a kicking position on a pyramid-like stand of three concave sides. The trophy stands 20.75 inches tall, weighs 107.3 ounces, and is valued in excess of $10,000. Each is engraved with the words "Vince Lombardi Trophy" above an NFL Shield. Below that is the engraving of the particular Super Bowl (XXXII and XXXIII), "AFC vs. NFC," the score of the game, the date and the location.

CORNERBACK

Willie Middlebrooks enters his third NFL season looking to continue the growth he showed the past two seasons. Beset by nagging injuries throughout his rookie season, he played in just eight games, but came back and played in 15 games in 2002. He underwent ankle surgery in March 2002, to clean up bone spurs and calcium deposits. He was the 24th overall selection in the 2001 NFL Draft out of Minnesota.

2002: Middlebrooks played on special teams in 15 games and led the Broncos with 16 special teams tackles. He posted a season-high three special teams stops at Balt. (9/30), and added two more vs. Mia. (10/13) and at Sea. (11/17). Middlebrooks was declared inactive for the San Diego game (12/1).

2001: Middlebrooks played in eight games on special teams. He saw action in the first four games, was declared inactive for seven of the next eight and then played in each of the final four games: vs. Sea., 12/9; at K.C., 12/16; vs. Oak., 12/30 and at Ind. (1/6). He was active but did not play at S.D., 10/21.

COLLEGE: Middlebrooks was a three-year starter and first-team All-Big Ten selection in 2000 at Minnesota. He entered the NFL Draft after his junior season, having played in 30 games (26 starts) and tallied 127 tackles (112 solo), four interceptions (55 ret. yds.; 1 TD), 30 passes defended and one fumble recovery. He missed the final portion of his last season because of a broken left fibula suffered in the eighth game. Middlebrooks was voted second-team All-Big Ten as a sophomore, and redshirted in 1997. He was an inter-college programs major.

PERSONAL: Middlebrooks was the District 16-6A Most Valuable Player and named to the All-Dade County team and first-team Class 6A all-state team as a senior cornerback at Homestead (Fla.) High School. He recorded 97 tackles with three interceptions and recovered three fumbles. One of his prep highlights was an interception to clinch a win vs. South Dade during his junior year. Middlebrooks was a three-year letterwinner on the gridiron and was an honorable mention all-state performer in track. Willie Frank Middlebrooks was born Feb. 12, 1979 in Miami, Fla.

THE CHOSEN FEW

The Arizona/St. Louis Cardinals franchise is the only one to have never beaten the Broncos in regular or postseason play. The Cardinals (0-4), Carolina (0-1), Green Bay (0-6) and Indianapolis (0-5) have never beaten the Broncos in Denver in regular or postseason play, while the Cardinals (0-1-1) are the only team to whom Denver has never lost on the road.

(*Note: Denver has not played Carolina on the road).

JOHN MOBLEY*6-1 • 236 • 8TH YR. • KUTZTOWN*BORN: October 10, 1973 in Chester, Pa.
HIGH SCHOOL: Chichester High School, Chester, Pa.RESIDES: Parker, Colo.ACQUIRED: Draft #1 (15th overall), 1996PRO YEAR: 8th • YEAR WITH BRONCOS: 8thNFL GAMES PLAYED/STARTED: 97/95 • POSTSEASON: 9/951*LINEBACKER

John Mobley came to the Broncos in 1996, and since then, has developed into a pillar of consistency on the defense. He has posted at least 132 tackles and led the team in four of his seven seasons in the NFL. Mobley is the team's starter at strongside linebacker for the second straight year after six years at weakside. In 2002, Mobley had another great campaign, picking up 142 total tackles (106 solo), one sack, seven passes defended and two fumble recoveries. He has started 95 of the 97 games in which he has played and posted 808 tackles (593 solo), including 10.5 sacks (-63), with 46 passes defended, 10 forced fumbles, seven fumble recoveries and five interceptions (45 ret. yds.). He has scored one touchdown, on a 13-yard interception return in 1997 (vs. N.E., 10/6), and earned his first All-NFL honors that season with selections by The Associated Press, The Sporting News, Pro Football Weekly, Football Digest and College & Pro Football Newsweekly. Mobley has one AFC Defensive Player of the Week award on his résumé, winning the honor for Week Six of the '97 season. He was named to the NCAA Division II Football Team of the Quarter Century (1973-1997) in 1998, joining the likes of Pro Football Hall of Famer Walter Payton and All-Pro performers Brent Jones, John Randle, Darrell Green and Greg Lloyd, and was added to his high school's Wall of Fame (Chichester HS/Chester, Pa.) in 2001. Mobley was the Broncos' first-round draft choice (No. 15 overall) out of Kutztown in 1996.

2002: Mobley—voted defensive captain by his teammates—started all 16 games at strongside linebacker and ranked third on the team in tackles with 142 (106 solo), including one sack (-9), as well as seven passes defended, two fumble recoveries and a forced fumble. He also made four special teams tackles. Mobley posted more than 130 tackles for the third year in a row and fifth time in the last six years, with the only exception being his 1999 season that was limited to two games because of a knee injury. Mobley's forced fumble came vs. K.C. (12/15) when he hit Chiefs running back Tony Richardson and knocked the ball loose, though it was recovered by the K.C. Mobley matched his season high with two passes defended at Sea. (11/17). He recorded his first pass defended against Mia. (10/13) and added two more a week later at K.C. (10/20). He recovered a Jamal Lewis fumble in the 4th qtr. at Balt. (9/30) to set up a Broncos touchdown. Mobley posted eight tackles (4 solo) vs. Buf. (9/22) and recorded his only sack of the season (-9 yds). He led the team with a season-high 12 stops (10 solo) in Wk. 2 at S.F. (9/15) after tying for the team lead with 12 (9 solo) in the opener vs. St. Louis (9/8). Mobley's first fumble recovery came at S.F. (9/15) after Jeff Garcia lost the ball on a snap from center. He underwent arthroscopic surgery on his right knee Jan. 8, 2003.

2001: Mobley started all 16 games at weakside linebacker and led the team in tackles for the fourth time in the last five years (also 1997-98, 2000) with 133 (101 solo), including one sack (-6), while also adding an interception, three passes defended, two forced fumbles and three fumble recoveries. He also made four tackles on special teams. Mobley and Al Wilson were voted defensive captains for the second half of the season, joining Bill Romanowski. For the fourth time in as many weeks, Mobley led the team in tackles in the season finale at Ind. (1/6) with a season best 13 (12 solo). A week earlier vs. Oak. (12/30) he tied with Eric Brown for game honors with 10 stops (7 solo), following an 11-tackle effort (7 solo) at K.C. (12/16). Mobley registered a team-high nine tackles vs. Sea. (12/9), while also making one on special teams. He recorded eight tackles (4 solo) at Mia. (12/2) and forced a fumble in the 2nd qtr. by Dolphins running back Lamar Smith that was recovered by Eric Brown. Mobley posted five solo tackles at Dal. (11/22), with two for losses, and also recovered a fumble that he returned 8 yds. to the Cowboys' 4-yd. line to set up a Broncos touchdown. Mobley registered his only sack of the season vs. Wash. (11/18), taking down Kent Graham on a 3rd-and-9 play for a 6-yd. loss. He also posted six tackles in the game and recovered his second fumble of the season. Mobley added to the Broncos' momentum vs. S.D. (11/11) with a 17-yd. interception deep in Chargers territory that set up a touchdown to lead the Broncos into the half with a 20-0 lead. He also registered four solo tackles, one for a loss. Mobley landed six tackles at Oak. (11/5), raising his career total to 600, while knocking down his third pass in as many weeks. He led the team in tackles with 11 vs. N.E. (10/28), while knocking down one pass. At S.D. (10/21) Mobley posted a then-season-high 12 tackles (10 solo), caused one fumble and had one pass break-up. At Sea. (10/14), Mobley posted eight tackles and recovered a fumble inside the Broncos 10-yd. line to thwart a Seahawks scoring opportunity. He made eight stops (6 solo) at Ariz. (9/23) after opening the season vs. the Giants (9/10) with a team-high nine tackles (7 solo).

2000: Mobley played in 15 games and started 14 at weakside linebacker, and led the team in tackles with 133 (92 solo), including two sacks (-16), while also adding two forced fumbles, an interception and a team-leading 10 passes defended. He also had two tackles on special teams. Mobley posted a career-high 16 tackles at K.C. (12/17), and forced a fumble. His previous best was 15 tackles, accomplished twice in 1997 (9/21 vs. Cin., and Oct. 6 vs. N.E.). Mobley did not start but saw significant action at N.O. (12/3) just six days after having surgery on his right thumb. Glenn Cadrez started in his place as Mobley played with a large cast on his hand and still managed to post five solo tackles. Mobley's first sack came at Sea. (11/26) on Brock Huard (-5) in the game in which he fractured his thumb. He underwent surgery Nov. 27 to insert a pin in the thumb. His second sack came in the finale vs. S.F. (12/23) when he dropped Jeff Garcia for an 11-yd. loss. Mobley posted a then-season-high 14 tackles vs. N.E. (10/1), a week after posting his previous high of 12 tackles vs. K.C. (9/24). His interception came at Oak. (9/17) on the Raiders initial possession of the second half, with the score tied 24-24. Mobley intercepted the ball in the end zone and turned the momentum for the Broncos as the defense shut out the Raiders in the second half. He started his first game in nearly a year in Week 2 vs. Atlanta (9/10) and led the team with 10 tackles (6 solo) and two passes defended. Mobley was declared inactive (Mon.) for Denver's Week 1 clash at St. Louis (9/4), as he continued to recover from arthroscopic knee surgery (right). Mobley began training camp on schedule with the club after season-ending knee surgery in 1999, but underwent arthroscopic surgery on his right knee Aug. 4 and missed all four preseason games. Mobley started at weakside linebacker in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and posted six solo tackles.

1999: Mobley was placed on injured reserve Sept. 22 after suffering a season-ending tear of his right anterior cruciate ligament in the 1st qtr. of Denver's Week 2 loss at K.C. (9/19). He underwent surgery Sept. 28. Mobley started at weakside linebacker in each of the first two games and posted 13 tackles (10 solo) with one pass defended. He led the team in the opener with 11 stops (9 solo).

1998: Mobley started at weakside linebacker in 15 of the 16 games and led the team for the second straight year with 132 tackles (105 solo), including one sack (-7), two forced fumbles, one fumble recovery, one interception and a career best 13 passes defended, third most on the team. The sack came at Oakland (9/20) in the fourth quarter. He has also recorded six tackles on special teams (high of 2 at Miami, 12/21 and vs. Phila., 10/4). Mobley recorded double-figure tackle totals in back-to-back games early in the season (11 vs. Dallas, 9/13; and 10 at Oakland, 9/20), and strung together three more later in the season (12 vs. S.D., 11/8; 10 at K.C., 11/16 and 12 vs. Oak., 11/22). Overall he posted no fewer than five tackles in every game of the season. Mobley strained his right hamstring in practice Sept. 24, but was able to start at Washington three days later. His only non-start came at Seattle (10/11) when the Seahawks opened the game in a three-wide receiver alignment. Mobley recorded seven tackles (5 solo) at Cincinnati (11/1), to go along with a forced fumble and a career-high four passes defended. He stepped up big and stripped Bengals RB Corey Dillon of the ball at the Broncos' 3-yd. line late in the 1st qtr., as Bill Romanowski fell on the fumble to squelch a potential Cincinnati scoring drive. Mobley posted a season-high 12 tackles the next week vs. San Diego (11/8), including 10 solo stops, and tied his season high vs. Oakland (11/22), including 9 solo stops. His third career interception came at San Diego (11/29), on an errant Craig Whelihan pass late in the first half. Mobley's fumble recovery came at the Giants (12/13) in the 4th qtr. after WR Ike Hilliard lost control of the football. He missed the preseason finale (at Tenn., 8/29) to rest a hyperextended left knee, injured vs. Green Bay (8/24). Mobley started at weakside linebacker in all three postseason games and tied for fourth on the team with 14 tackles (10 solo), including one sack (-6), as well as two passes defended and a fumble recovery. In the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9) he made two solo tackles with one pass defended. He contributed nine tackles (7 solo) in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17), along with a pass defended and his one fumble recovery, which came after Bill Romanowski knocked the ball out of Keith Byars' hands at the Broncos' 13-yd. line. Mobley's first career postseason sack came in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta, among three total tackles (1 solo). The sack of Chris Chandler came midway through the 3rd qtr. for a 6-yd. loss.

1997: Mobley—named first-team All-NFL by the Associated Press, The Sporting News, Pro Football Weekly and Football Digest; and second-team by College & Pro Football Newsweekly — started all 16 games at weakside linebacker and continued to blossom in his second NFL season, putting together a performance as outstanding as that of any other linebacker in the NFL. He led the team with 162 tackles (113 solo), including four sacks (-23), one interception which he returned for a touchdown (13 yds.), three forced fumbles, one fumble recovery and eight pass breakups, while also adding seven tackles on special teams. He posted double-figures in tackles a remarkable nine times in 16 games. In the regular season opener vs. Kansas City Mobley led the team with nine tackles (6 solo) in Denver's 19-3 victory. The game held extra significance for Mobley, as his father, Lee, watched him play in person for the first time since his sophomore year in high school (1990). Lee has been in a nursing home for seven years since suffering a stroke. The following week at Seattle (9/7) he made five tackles (3 solo) and one pass defended in Denver's 35-14 win. The next week vs. St. Louis (9/14) he recorded his first sack of the year (-4), among seven tackles (5 solo) he made on the day. In Week Three vs. Cincinnati (9/21) Mobley registered a career-high 15 tackles (11 solo) in an outstanding performance that included his second sack of the season (-3) and a pass breakup. On Monday Night Football vs. New England (10/6) he had the best all-around game of his young career, tying a personal best with 15 tackles (12 solo; career high), snaring his second career interception and returning it 13 yards for a touchdown for a 14-0 lead, causing a fumble, breaking up a pass and making a tackle on special teams in Denver's 34-13 victory. His efforts were recognized with AFC Defensive Player of the Week honors from the NFL. He wasted no time making an impact on the game, ending the Patriots game-opening drive at the Broncos' 28-yard line when he knocked the ball loose from Terry Glenn after a 19-yard reception, setting up the Broncos first touchdown. He then scored the second himself when he picked off a Drew Bledsoe pass and waltzed 13 yards into the end zone for his first professional touchdown, igniting a fired-up Mile High Stadium crowd of 75,821. On Nov. 2 vs. Seattle he posted a team-high 13 tackles (11 solo), while also adding another on special teams in Denver's 30-27 victory. On Nov. 9 vs. Carolina he had another fine all-around day with seven tackles (3 solo), including a sack (-12), and the first fumble recovery of his career. His sack of Kerry Collins came in the first quarter, and early in the second quarter he pounced on a fumble caused by Allen Aldridge, halting a Panthers scoring threat at the Denver 10-yard line. The next Sunday at Kansas City (11/16) he posted his fifth double-figure tackle total of the season, recording 10, including a team-high eight solos in Denver's 24-22 loss. Against Oakland on Monday Night Football (11/24), Mobley had another outstanding performance in prime time, posting 10 tackles (8 solo), including his fourth sack of the year (-4), to go along with two pass breakups. He also forced a fumble by Napoleon Kaufman early in the third quarter after he chased down the speedy Kaufman from behind in the backfield, setting up a recovery by Mike Lodish at the Raiders 28. The Broncos responded with a field goal to up their lead to 24-3. The next Sunday at San Diego (11/30) he tied for the team-lead with nine tackles (6 solo), while adding a forced fumble and a pass breakup. He posted a team-high 12 tackles (5 solo) with one pass defended at Pittsburgh (12/7), and led the team again the following week at San Francisco on Monday Night Football (12/15) with 10 tackles (8 solo), while also adding one more on special teams. He closed out the regular season vs. San Diego (12/21) by posting a team-high 12 tackles (8 solo), while also adding one more on special teams. In the postseason Mobley started all four games at weakside linebacker and led the team with 24 tackles (21 solo), in addition to two passes defended and one special teams tackle. In the AFC Wild Card Playoff vs. Jacksonville (12/27) Mobley started at weakside linebacker and led the team with six tackles (4 solo). In Denver's 14-10 AFC Divisional Playoff at Kansas City (1/4/98), he led the team with seven solo tackles. In the AFC Championship Game at Pittsburgh (1/11) he posted five tackles (4 solo) with one pass defended, and also added one tackle on special teams in Denver's 24-21 victory. In Super Bowl XXXII vs. Green Bay (1/25) Mobley posted six solo tackles with one very huge pass defended in Denver's 31-24 victory. The pass break-up occurred on fourth-and-six from Denver's 31-yard line with 32 seconds remaining. Mobley stepped in front of Brett Favre's aerial that was intended for Mark Chmura and knocked it to the ground to seal Denver's first ever world championship.

1996: Mobley turned in an outstanding rookie season, starting all 16 regular season games and the Broncos' one playoff contest at weakside linebacker. He was named to NFL All-Rookie teams selected by Pro Football Weekly, Football News and College & Pro Football Newsweekly, finishing fifth on the team with 93 tackles (67 solo) and 1.5 sacks (-2). Mobley also broke up four passes, intercepted another (at Minnesota, 11/24) and added four tackles on special teams. He registered a season-high 12 tackles (9 solo) at Cincinnati (9/29), including his first career sack as he dropped Bengals quarterback Jeff Blake. He also came up big at New England (11/17), leading the team with eight solo tackles to spearhead a defensive effort that limited the Patriots' rushing attack to 17 yards in a 34-8 win. At Green Bay (12/8), Mobley made seven tackles (3 solo), knocked down two passes and combined with Michael Dean Perry for the Broncos' only sack of Brett Favre. Mobley remained injury-free much of the season, missing significant time only during the San Diego game (10/6) when he strained a groin muscle in the first half. He started his first postseason game against Jacksonville (1/4/97) and came up with eight tackles (6 solo) and one pass defended. Mobley entered training camp second on the depth chart at weakside linebacker, but quickly cemented a starting position after producing a 14-tackle performance (12 solo) in the preseason opener at San Francisco (8/3). In that game, Mobley was all over the field in the second half and delivered a hit on Gino Torretta that knocked the 49ers' signal-caller out of the game. He finished the preseason with 19 tackles (16 solo), one interception and three pass break-ups.

COLLEGE: Mobley was a two-time Division II All-American (first-team 1995, second-team 1994), and was named Division II Player of the Year as a senior at Kutztown in 1995 by The Poor Man's Guide to the NFL Draft. He is the only player in the history of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference to named All-PSAC on both offense and defense. Mobley started all 41 games during his four-year career and made 387 tackles (198 solo), recovered eight fumbles, forced four, made eight interceptions with 22 pass deflections, registered 20 sacks (-169) and made 21 tackles-for-loss (-91). Offensively he carried the ball 12 times for 17 yards and five touchdowns, returned seven kickoffs for 226 yards (32.3) with a long of 69 yards, and returned 15 punts for 202 yards (13.5) with a long of 51 yards. In 1998 he was named to the NCAA Division II Football Team of the Quarter Century (1973-1997), joining the likes of Pro Football Hall of Famer Walter Payton and All-Pro performers Brent Jones, John Randle, Darrell Green and Greg Lloyd. Mobley was a telecommunications major. The school retired his No. 9 jersey May 11, 1999 on "John Mobley Day" at the university, as declared by the Borough of Kutztown and the Pennsylvania State Senate.

PERSONAL: Mobley earned third-team all-state, second-team All-Suburban and first-team All-Delco honors at Chichester High school in Chester, Pa. He and his wife, Rebecca, have two daughters, Jasmine (12) and Kameron Yvonne (5), and a son, Tyson Lee (2). The family makes its home in Parker, Colo. John Ulysses Mobley was born October 10, 1973 in Chester, Pa.

PILING UP THE POINTS

Through the 2002 season, the Broncos have scored 13,770 points in 43 seasons of play and 644 regular season games (320 per season; 21.4 per game). The 10,000th point in franchise history was scored Oct. 31, 1993 by running back Robert Delpino when he plunged into the end zone from one yard out in the third quarter of Denver's 28-17 win over Seattle. The total was at 9,997 points before the touchdown. At Denver's current seasonal pace, the club will score its 15,000th point sometime during the 2007 season. The 13,000th point was scored in 2000.

Despite a minor setback last season, one in which he was placed on injured reserve, Tom Nalen has established himself as one of the most accomplished offensive linemen in Broncos history. The only lineman in the history of the franchise to play in four Pro Bowls (1997-2000), Nalen continues to solidify his place among the best centers in the National Football League. In 2002, Nalen started the first seven games at center before being placed on injured reserve, after undergoing surgery to repair a torn anterior cruciate ligament in his left knee. He has garnered numerous All-NFL honors over the past six seasons while providing leadership and stellar play as veteran the anchor of the Broncos' offensive line. That line played a crucial role in Denver's back-to-back World Championships in 1997 and '98, and has paved the way for a 1,000-yard rusher in seven of the last eight years, including Terrell Davis' 2,008-yard effort in '98, and Clinton Portis' 1,508 yards last year, when he won NFL Rookie of the Year honors. His four Pro Bowl selections are one more than the three trips to Honolulu earned by former tackle—and future Hall of Famer—Gary Zimmerman in Denver. Nalen entered the NFL in 1994 as the Broncos' third choice in the seventh round (No. 218 overall) of the draft.

2002: Nalen started the first seven games at center before being placed on injured reserve Oct. 22. He underwent surgery to repair a torn anterior cruciate ligament in his left knee Nov. 5 at the Steadman-Hawkins Clinic. Nalen suffered the injury with three minutes remaining in regulation at K.C. (10/20), a game the Broncos won overtime.

2001: Nalen started all 16 games at center, and played at a high level as he ran his streak of consecutive starts to 108.

2000: Nalen started at center in all 16 games. He was named All-NFL by the Associated Press for the second straight year, garnering first-team honors after a second-team showing last year. He was also voted to his fourth straight Pro Bowl appearance, the most by an offensive lineman in franchise history. Tackle Gary Zimmerman set the previous standard with three straight selections (1994-96). Nalen was named All-Pro by USA Today, Sports Illustrated, The Sporting News and Football Digest, and earned second-team honors from College & Pro Football Newsweekly as well as All-AFC kudos from Pro Football Weekly and Football News. Nalen also started at center in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31). Nalen underwent surgery to repair a hernia after the season.

1999: Nalen started at center in all 16 games, and was selected to his third consecutive Pro Bowl—first as a starter—while also garnering first-team All-NFL honors from Football Digest and The Sporting News, and second-team honors from the Associated Press. Nalen underwent successful surgery on his right knee Jan. 5, precluding him from playing in the Feb. 6, 2000 Pro Bowl.

1998: Nalen—selected All-NFL by USA Today—started at center in all 16 games and was selected to play in the Pro Bowl for the second straight season. He played an integral role on an outstanding offensive line that allowed just 25 sacks—the third-lowest total for a full season in franchise history, and the lowest since 1971—while paving the way for the only the fourth 2,000-yard rusher in NFL history

NALEN AMONG GREATEST BRONCOS LINEMEN

Broncos Offensive Linemen to Earn Pro Bowl Berths

Tom Nalen	C	1997-2000
Gary Zimmerman	T	1994-96
Tony Jones	T	1998
Mark Schlereth	G	1998

(Terrell Davis-2,008) and the league's second-ranked rushing attack at 154.3 yards per game. The Broncos set a team record for points in a season for the second year in a row, this time with 505. Nalen started at center in all three postseason games and helped pave the way for a rushing attack that averaged 183 yds.-per-game as Denver won Super Bowl XXXIII.

1997: Nalen started all 16 games at center and had a breakout season, being selected to his first Pro Bowl and earning second-team All-NFL honors from College & Pro Football Newsweekly. He provided not only youth, but also tremendous talent, to a veteran offensive line regarded among the league's best. He made his first career pass reception at Oakland (10/19), catching a John Elway pass for -1 yard after it was batted at the line of scrimmage by the Raiders' Chester McGlockton. The Broncos' offense set a team record by scoring 472 points in one season and led the NFL in total offense (367 yards per game) for the second straight year, leading the AFC for the third straight year. Nalen was part of a unit that powered Broncos running backs to 15 individual 100-yard performances over the 20-game regular and postseason slate. In the postseason Nalen started at center in all four games as part of an offensive line that dominated opponents and allowed Denver to control games with its rushing attack. The Broncos averaged 187 rushing yards per game in the postseason, and the offensive line was named NFL Offensive Player of the Week for Denver's Wild Card win over Jacksonville (12/27/97). Nalen, starting at center, playing an integral role in the offensive unit piling up club postseason records of 511 total yards and 42 points in Denver's 42-17 win over the Jaguars. The line played a key role in running back Terrell Davis earning MVP honors in the Super Bowl with 157 rushing yards and three rushing touchdowns.

1996: Nalen started all 16 regular season games at center, playing a key role on a unit that cleared the way for AFC rushing leader Terrell Davis (1,538 yards) and allowed just 31 sacks. He suffered a partial tear to his medial collateral ligament early in the Minnesota game (11/24) and was listed as questionable for the Seattle game (12/1) but did start. He also started Denver's lone playoff contest. The Broncos rushed for over 100 yards in a game on 10 occasions during the 1996 season, and topped the 200-yard mark on four of those occasions. Overall, the Broncos' offense was the most productive in football in 1996, averaging 361.9 yards per game.

1995: Nalen started 15 of the Broncos' 16 games, missing only the Week Four matchup at San Diego (9/24) while recovering from arthroscopic surgery to repair a lateral meniscus tear in his left knee suffered in the Washington game (9/17). He underwent arthroscopic surgery at the Steadman-Hawkins Clinic in Vail, Colo., Sept. 18, and was expected to miss three to four weeks, but returned to his starting position at Seattle (10/1). Behind the blocking of Nalen and the rest of the offensive line, Denver was able to rush for over 100 yards in a game 11 out of 16 times during the 1995 season, and produce a 1,000-yard rusher in rookie Terrell Davis (1,117).

1994: Nalen played in seven games for the Broncos, including a start at left guard in his first NFL appearance against the Rams (11/6). Nalen continued to make appearances on the offensive line over the remainder of the season. Nalen entered camp in July as a rookie draft choice out of Boston College, was waived just prior to the start of the regular season and then re-signed to the practice squad Sept. 6. He was signed to the active roster the week of the Rams game to start in place of an injured Jon Melander.

COLLEGE: Nalen was a three-year starter at Boston College, earning numerous honors that included third-team Associated Press All-America, second-team All-Big East, and first-team ECAC citations. He closed out his outstanding college career with appearances in the East-West Shrine and Senior Bowl games. In 1993 Nalen was an honorable mention All-American and All-Big East second-team pick by The Poor Man's Guide to the NFL Draft, starting all year and leading the way as the Eagles ranked fourth in the nation in total offense (506.4 yards per game). Nalen's blocking was a key factor in the Boston College upset win over Notre Dame in South Bend. Nalen started every game from 1991-93 after serving as the deep-snapper, backup center and then starting center for the last three games in 1990. He redshirted in '89.

PERSONAL: A native of Foxboro, Mass., Nalen lettered three times each in football and basketball and twice in track at Foxboro (Mass.) High School. He was All-Hockomock League and an all-state selection by the Boston Globe, Boston Herald, Sun Chronicle and Patriot Ledger, adding state Lineman of the Year honors as a senior. Tom led the team to a pair of Division III titles and played in the Shriners All-Star Game, serving as team captain in both football and basketball. An all-conference and team MVP in basketball, he was named to the Academic All-State team by the Massachusetts Basketball Coaches Association. Tom has his degree in accounting from Boston College. He and his wife, Denise, have a daughter, Delaney, and a son, Kyle, and make their home in Littleton, Colo. Thomas Andrew Nalen was born May 13, 1971 in Boston, Mass.

GUARD

Clearing huge holes for Broncos' running backs to burst through has become the norm for guard Dan Neil. A model of consistency on the Broncos' highly-successful offensive line, Neil has emerged as not only a five-year starter, but a veteran leader on that unit. Neil was a major force on a line that helped paved the way for running back Clinton Portis to rush for a rookie-franchise record 1,508 yards on his way to earning NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year honors. In addition to that, over the past six seasons he has missed just two games and has helped clear the way for a 2,000-yard rushing season (Terrell Davis, 1998) and back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons by Broncos rookies in 1999 and 2000 (Olandis Gary and Mike Anderson). Neil had a breakthrough year in 1998, starting all 16 regular season and all three postseason games for the Broncos at right guard as Denver won its second straight World Championship. Neil seized the starting role in preseason and never relinquished it, giving the heralded Denver offensive line a much-needed infusion of young talent. Neil and his linemates played a key role in clearing holes for NFL MVP Davis, who posted the third-highest single-season rushing total in league history. He has played in 81 regular season games and started 78, and has also started in all four postseason games he has played. This past off-season, Neil underwent microfracture surgery on his right knee. Neil was selected by the Broncos in the third round (No. 67 overall) of the 1997 NFL Draft with a pick obtained in a trade with the New York Jets that allowed Denver to move up 21 places for the opportunity to select him.

2002: Neil started all 16 games at right guard. He left the game at S.D. (12/1) in the 3rd qtr. with a sprained left knee and did not return. Neil underwent arthroscopic surgery on the knee the next day (12/2) but did not miss a game, as he started six days later at the Jets (12/8). He underwent microfracture surgery on his left knee Jan. 13, 2003.

2001: Neil started 15 games at right guard, missing only the game at S.D. (10/21) when he was declared inactive because of a sprained ankle. He suffered the high ankle sprain vs. K.C. (10/7), and missed a few plays, but returned to finish the game.

OFF THE FIELD

One of Dan's hobbies is wood-working. He has made many pieces of furniture, including the cradle in which his two children, Alexandra and David, have slept.

2000: Neil started at right guard in all 16 regular season games and the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31). He turned in another solid season as the Broncos ranked No. 2 in the NFL in total offense while breaking several franchise records. Neil and his linemates cleared the way for running back Mike Anderson post the fifth best rushing total by a rookie in NFL history—1,487 yards—and score 15 touchdowns, while limiting opponents to just 30 sacks.

1999: Neil started at right guard in 15 games. He left the Detroit game (12/25) in the second half with a knee injury and was declared inactive for the season-finale a week later vs. San Diego (1/2). The sprain of his medial collateral ligament did not require surgery, but was estimated to need 4-6 weeks recovery time.

1998: Neil started all 16 games at right guard. He made his first professional start in the season-opener vs. New England (9/7). Neil played an integral role on an outstanding offensive line that allowed just 25 sacks—the third-lowest total for a full season in franchise history, and the lowest since 1971—while paving the way for only the fourth 2,000-yard rusher (Terrell Davis-2,008) in NFL history and the NFL's second most productive rushing attack at 154.3 yards per game. Neil started all three postseason contests at right guard and helped pave the way for a rushing attack that averaged 183 yds.-per-game en route to the Broncos' second straight Super Bowl win. He made his first career postseason start in the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9).

1997: Neil was declared inactive for 10 of the 16 games in his rookie season and played in three. He was active for the first time as a pro vs. Seattle (11/2), but did not play, and then saw his first NFL action vs. Oakland (11/24) on Monday Night Football. He played on special teams and as a reserve at guard in the fourth quarter. Neil was slowed at the start of the season by a groin injury that required surgery Aug. 27. His other game action came on special teams in both games against San Diego (11/30 and 12/21). In the postseason Neil was declared inactive for all four games. Neil was chosen by the Broncos in the third round with the 67th overall selection.

COLLEGE: One of the strongest players in school history at Texas, Neil was a consensus All-America and all-conference selection as both a junior and senior, and was a finalist for the Outland Trophy in 1996. He started every game for four years after redshirting as a freshman in '92, bringing his total to 48 straight, the school's longest streak at the time. Neil won the team Iron Man title every year he was at Texas, and in 1995 received the school's D. Harold Byrd Leadership Award. Neil was a sports management major at Texas, where he earned Athletic Director's Honor Roll accolades in 1993 and was very active in Longhorn Community Service efforts.

PERSONAL: Neil was a Parade All-America selection and earned Class 5A first-team all-state honors at Cypress Creek High School in Cypress Creek, Texas. He was rated as the state's best offensive line prospect by Max Emfinger's Blue Chip Illustrated and Tom Lemming's Prep Football Report, and one of the top line prospects in the nation by most recruiting lists. Neil was also twice named all-district and received honorable mention All-America consideration from USA Today. He married his high school sweetheart, Amylyn, after the 1996 Sugar Bowl on January 6, 1996. Dan and Amylyn have a daughter, Alexandra Lee (4), and a son, David Garner (2). The family makes its home in Lone Tree, Colo. Amylyn's uncle, Larry Cox, played defensive tackle for the Broncos from 1966-68. Daniel Neil was born October 21, 1973 in Houston, Texas.

Deltha O'Neal, in 2002, completed his second year starting at cornerback for the Broncos, and continued to show why he is quickly developing into one of the league's top cover men. Leading the team in interceptions with five (70 ret. yards), including two which he returned for touchdowns, O'Neal made it tough for opposing quarterbacks to pass on the team. He has begun to fulfill the considerable promise that accompanies a No. 1 draft choice after last year, and with his sterling sophomore season in 2001. Two seasons ago, O'Neal went beyond expectations by earning a spot on the AFC Pro Bowl roster. As a first-year starter, O'Neal tied the franchise mark for second most interceptions in a season with nine, including four in one game (vs. K.C., 10/7/01), which tied the NFL record. O'Neal became the fourth Bronco and 19th NFL player ever to record four in a game, and earned his first AFC Defensive Player of the Week award, along with Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week and AFC Defensive Player of the Month honors. O'Neal has played in 48 games over his first two seasons and started 30, posting 130 tackles (114 solo), 14 interceptions (185 ret. yds.), 38 passes defended, one forced fumble and one fumble recovery. He has also ranked among the top punt returners in the league for the past three years, averaging 10.6 yds. on 95 returns (1,010 yds.), with one touchdown. In 2002, he was the Broncos' leading punt returner with 30 for 251 yards (8.4 average per return) with a long of 53 and seven fair catches. O'Neal was Denver's No. 1 draft choice in 2000 (15th overall) out of California.

2002: O'Neal played in all 16 games and started 14 at left cornerback, posting a career-high 68 tackles (59 solo), while ranking as the team leader with five interceptions (T7th AFC/T10th NFL)—including two returned for touchdowns—and led the team with 15 passes defended. He also ranked fifth in the AFC with an average of 8.4 yds. on 30 punt returns (251 yds.), including a long of 53, with seven fair catches. O'Neal closed the season with four tackles (3 solo) and two passes defended vs. Ariz. (12/29), the fourth time in 2002 that he had two or more passes defended. In the Ariz. contest he also moved into a tie with Gerald Willhite (1,010) for third place in all-time punt return yds. by a Bronco, while remaining fourth all-time in career punt returns (95). O'Neal's second longest punt return of the season (44 yds.) came at Oak. (12/22) to set up a Broncos touchdown. He did not start but played as a reserve vs. K.C. (12/15). O'Neal moved into fourth place in career punt-return yardage by a Bronco at the Jets (12/8), passing Darrien Gordon (922) with a 9-yd. return in the 2nd qtr. At S.D. (12/1) O'Neal posted four solo tackles and recovered the ball after Trevor Pryce blocked a San Diego field goal attempt in overtime. Against Ind. (11/14) he had a season best 53-yd. punt return to set up a Broncos fourth-quarter go-ahead touchdown. He also recorded his fifth interception of the season, picking off Peyton Manning on the Colts' next possession. At Sea. (11/17) he intercepted a Matt Hasselback pass and returned it 22 yds. for a touchdown, his second touchdown return of the season to tie the team record, making him just the fifth Bronco to return two interceptions for scores in a season. Jimmy Spencer did so in 2000, and was preceded by Mike Harden (1986), John Rowser (1976) and Nemiah Wilson (1967). He also had four solo tackles and two passes defended. Versus S.D. (10/6) O'Neal posted his second and third interceptions of the season to post his third career game with more than one interception. The first came in the end zone in the second qtr. to thwart a Chargers scoring opportunity, and he returned his second 28 yds. for a touchdown. It was O'Neal's first touchdown on an interception return, to go along with two other touchdowns via a punt return (2001) and a kickoff return (2000) in his career. O'Neal posted a career-high eight solo tackles vs. Buf. (9/22). His first interception of the season came in the 4th qtr. at S.F. (9/15) and turned back a 49ers scoring threat.

2001: O'Neal—voted to the Pro Bowl at cornerback for the first time, and also voted second-team All-Pro by College & Pro Football Newsweekly and All-AFC by Pro Football Weekly—started all 16 games at left cornerback and made 60 tackles (53 solo), while finishing tied for second in the AFC (T3rd NFL) with nine interceptions (115 return yds.), as well as a team-leading 18 passes defended. His nine interceptions tied him with Willie Brown (1964) and Tyrone Braxton (1996) for the second most interceptions in a season by a Bronco, behind Goose Gonsoulin's 11 in 1960. The nine interceptions tied the most ever by a Broncos cornerback (Braxton and Gonsoulin were safeties). He also ranked second in the AFC (4th NFL) with an average of 13.1 yds. per punt return (31-405), including a long of 86 (TD), with nine fair catches. The 13.1-yd. avg. for the season ranked seventh in Broncos history, and elevated him to the fifth best career avg. by a Bronco (11.7). He also finished the season ranked eighth in Broncos career punt returns (65) and seventh in punt-return yds. (759). O'Neal picked off his ninth pass of the season in the finale at Ind. (1/6), intercepting Peyton Manning in the end zone in the 2nd qtr. It was the first interception of his career in a road game, after making each of his first eight at INVESCO Field at Mile High. O'Neal snared his team best eight interception of the season in the 4th qtr. vs. Oak. (12/30) to help preserve Denver's 23-17 win. He posted four tackles at K.C. (12/16) and returned his fifth punt of the season of more than 20 yds. (26). O'Neal recorded two solo tackles and tied his season high with three passes defended vs. Sea. (12/9), while returning three punts for 49 yds. (16.3), with a long of 41 yards—his third longest career return and his best since an 86-yd. return for touchdown at Sea. (10/14/01). He made three tackles at Mia. (12/2), while knocking down a season high three passes. O'Neal tied his season high (3rd time in '01) with six solo tackles vs. Wash. (11/18), and had one pass defended. O'Neal's seventh interception of the season came vs. S.D. (11/11) when he picked off a Doug Flutie pass in the 4th qtr. to help preserve a 26-16 Broncos win. O'Neal was named the AFC Defensive Player of the Month for October, after making a league-high six interceptions and registering 21 tackles in the month. He became the second Bronco in 2001 (of three) to win a Player of the Month award, after QB Brian Griese earned the offensive award in September. O'Neal intercepted Tom Brady twice vs. N.E. (10/28), giving him six interceptions in a span of two home games. O'Neal tied his season high with six tackles (5 solo) at S.D. (10/21). At Sea. (10/14) O'Neal scored his first career punt-return touchdown on an 86-yd. dash in the 4th qtr. The return was the longest of his career; tied for the second longest in the AFC for the season; the fourth longest punt return in Broncos history and led to a career best 92 yds. on punt returns for the game. His first four interceptions came against K.C. (10/7) as he tied the NFL single-game record, making him the 19th player in league history to notch four in a game. He joined former Broncos Gonsoulin (1960) and Brown (1964) on that elite list as he also tied the franchise record. O'Neal added two pass deflections and two solo tackles during his record-tying day. After his four-pick weekend, O'Neal was named both AFC Defensive Player of the Week and Miller Lite/NFL Player of the Week vs. K.C. (10/7). He was the Broncos second-leading tackler (tie) with six tackles (4 solo) at Ariz. (9/23) and added a pass deflection, while also returning two punts for 20 yds. (10.0). He made his first NFL start at left cornerback in the opener vs. the Giants and tallied four tackles (3 solo) with two pass breakups, one of which came in the end zone on a long pass from Giants QB Kerry Collins, which prevented a touchdown. He also returned three punts for 54 yds. (18.0) with a long of 27.

2000: O'Neal—named All-Rookie as a punt returner by Football News—saw action on special teams in all 16 games, and saw his first NFL action on defense at Cin. (10/22) in Week 8. He played on defense again in each of the final seven games (Gms. 10-16), totaling two solo tackles, five passes defended, one forced fumble and one fumble recovery. O'Neal recovered a fumble at K.C. (12/17) after the ball was stripped from Sylvester Morris by John Mobley after a catch. He saw his most significant action of the season at Sea. (11/26) and posted his first tackle and forced fumble, as well as two passes defended. He broke up his first pass in the S.D. contest. O'Neal ranked sixth in the AFC (11th NFL) in kickoff returns with an average of 24.0 yds. (46-1,102), and seventh in the AFC (11th NFL) in punt returns with an average of 10.4 yds. (34-354). He ranked second among NFL rookies in kick return average and third in punt returns. O'Neal's 46 kickoff returns tied for fourth most in a season by a Bronco, while his 1,102 yards on kick returns ranked fifth all-time. O'Neal's kickoff returns include an 87-yarder for a touchdown and a 62-yarder, while his punt returns include a 64-yarder. All three long returns came in a three-game period, Wks. 5-7, giving him a return of 62 yds. or longer in three straight games. He also added five tackles on special teams. O'Neal's 25-yd. punt return in the 4th qtr. vs. S.D. (11/19) gave the Broncos a first down at the Chargers' 45-yd. line with 3:44 remaining, setting up the game-winning touchdown drive. He also had a career-high six kickoff returns in the game (157 yds.; 26.2 avg.). O'Neal returned a kickoff 62 yds. vs. Cleve. (10/15), his second longest of the season. O'Neal had his best day on punt returns at S.D. (10/8), returning three for 72 yds. (24.0), including a career best return of 64 yds. in the 4th qtr. to set up Denver's final touchdown. He delivered the first big play of his young career vs. New England (10/1) when he returned a free kick after a safety 87 yards for a touchdown. It was his first NFL touchdown and the first kickoff return for a touchdown by a Bronco since Vaughn Hebron's 95-yard scoring return at Miami, Dec. 19, 1998. O'Neal saw action in a reserve role and on special teams in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31). He returned one kickoff for 13 yds. and three punts for 13 yds. (4.3) with a long of 7 in his first postseason game. O'Neal was Denver's No. 1 draft choice (15th overall) out of California.

COLLEGE: O'Neal finished his stellar career at California as the school's career leader in all-purpose yards with 5,005 (111.2 per game) and tied an NCAA career record by returning five interceptions for touchdowns. O'Neal set a school record with 356 yards via interception returns, and also finished his career with all-time records for punt returns (110), punt-return yards (1,169), kickoff returns (99) and kick-return yards (2,472). In his career he scored 12 touchdowns by five different methods: interception return (5), punt return (1), kickoff return (2), rushing (2) and receiving (2). He earned consensus first-team All-America and All-Pac-10 honors as a senior (both on defense and as a return specialist), and was named Pacific-10 Conference Defensive Player of the Year. O'Neal was named Pac-10 Conference Player of the Week four times—twice on defense and twice on special teams—and accounted for six touchdowns: four on defense and two on special teams. Starting all 11 games at left cornerback, O'Neal tied for the NCAA lead with nine interceptions, including an NCAA-record four returned for touchdowns. His 280 yards on interception returns outpaced any other player by more than 100 yards, and represented a new school record. On special teams O'Neal ranked seventh in the nation and No. 1 in the conference with 19 kickoff returns for 555 yards (29.2) and a touchdown, and also returned 42 punts for 428 yards (10.2) and another score, leading the team with an average of 114.5 all-purpose yards per game. He had a school-record-tying 100-yard return for a touchdown vs. Oregon. In the season-fine vs. Stanford, O'Neal scored twice on special teams, taking a kickoff back 100 yards and a punt 58 yards. He was honorable mention All-Pac-10 as a junior after switching from tailback to cornerback midway through his sophomore season. O'Neal graduated from Cal with a degree in social welfare.

PERSONAL: O'Neal earned Blue Chip Illustrated All-America honors as the 10th-ranked defensive back in the West at Milpitas (Calif.) High School, where he was student body president as a senior. He was named second-team all-state as a multi-purpose player by Student Sports magazine, and still holds the school record for career rushing yards with 2,312—including 1,301 yards as a senior. O'Neal capped his prep career with 14 rushing touchdowns and one receiving score as a senior in 1994. As a return man he scored four touchdowns on punt and kickoff returns. Born Deltha Lee O'Neal III Jan. 30, 1977 in Palo Alto, Calif., he and his wife, Lisa, have a daughter, Talia Mihu (2).

Jake Plummer comes to Denver after playing his first six NFL seasons with the Arizona Cardinals. Plummer, in his first full season as a starter in 1998, guided Cardinals to their first playoff appearance since 1982 and their first postseason victory since 1947. He was elected offensive co-captain by his teammates during the 1998 training camp at 23 years of age, with just 10 NFL games (9 starts) under his belt. Plummer possesses an uncanny ability to produce amid the mayhem and pressure of helter-skelter last-minute situations, as demonstrated by his 21 comeback victories (defined as tied or trailing in the fourth quarter or overtime) in 84 pro games. He suffered through frustrating 1999 and 2000 seasons that included finger, thumb, hip, rib, sternum and groin injuries, then rebounded in 2001 and did not miss an offensive play as a 16-game starter. Plummer started all 16 games in 2002 and equalled a career-high with 18 touchdown passes. In 84 NFL games (82 starts), Plummer has completed 1,540 of 2,754 passes (55.9%) for 17,622 yards with 90 touchdowns and 114 interceptions. He also owns 1,183 rushing yards on 247 attempts with 10 scores, including four in 1998, the most by a Cardinal quarterback in over 20 years. Plummer entered the NFL in 1997 as Arizona's second-round draft choice (42nd-overall). He signed with the Broncos as an unrestricted free agent March 6, 2003.

2002: Plummer connected on 18 touchdown passes for second consecutive year to match single-season best, but finished the season with a 65.7 passer rating and 5.61 average-per-attempt. Overall, he started all 16 games and completed 284 of 530 passes (53.6) for 2,972 yards with 18 touchdowns and 20 interceptions. Plummer was sacked 36 times (248 yards) and rushed 46 times for 283 yards and (6.2)—both single-season highs—and two scores. Against Seattle (9/15), Plummer had 10 completions in 22 attempts for just 107 yards and two sacks, but engineered key second-half touchdown drives of 84 and 90 yards in a 24-13 win, his 17th career comeback victory. Reaching a career milestone, Plummer blew past the 15,000-yard passing mark in first quarter vs. San Diego (9/22) with 65-yard scoring strike to MarTay Jenkins, achieving the mark in his 71st career game. In that game, he completed 16 of 36 for 229 yards, including a 65-yard scoring toss to Jenkins on first possession of game. While hosting the New York Giants (9/29), Plummer hit 23 of 32 passes (71.9%) for 168 yards while picking up his 18th career comeback victory in 21-7 win by guiding the Cardinals to two fourth-quarter touchdowns. Plummer posted another steady performance in Arizona's 16-13 win at Carolina (10/6) with 18 completions in 40 attempts for 221 yards—his 19th comeback victory. Plummer authored career comeback victory No. 20 in a 9-6 overtime win vs. Dallas (10/20), where he connected on 23 of 46 attempts for 232 yards and added another 46 yards on four carries. The key play, in overtime, set the table for a game-winning field goal as he and wide receiver David Boston pulled off an improvisation that resulted in a 20-yard interference call to set up a 40-yard field goal four plays later. Plummer overcame nightmarish start at San Francisco (10/27) as Cards fell to 31-7 deficit at halftime, but rallied in second half, however, to score on three consecutive possessions, beginning with a vintage 34-yard touchdown scramble up the middle to cut deficit to 31-14—the longest touchdown run of his career. He later guided team to long scoring drives of 68 yards in 12 plays and 69 yards in 11 plays, but the comeback bid fell a little short. He had an impressive first half vs. St. Louis (11/3) with 11 completions in 14 attempts for 124 yards including a seven-yard scoring toss to Frank Sanders, and added 24 yards on four rushing attempts, including a 17-yard run in third quarter. Plummer opened game at Philadelphia (11/17) with six consecutive completions, and threw two first-half touchdown passes of 12 yards to rookie McAddley and 2 yards to fullback Joel Makovicka. He finished the game 20 of 35 for 170 yards, but succumbed to season-high four quarterback sacks and threw one interception. In an efficient game vs. Detroit (12/8), Plummer completed 24 of 43 passes for 228 yards, including two touchdowns and just one interception but was sacked a season-high six times for 48 yards in the Cardinals' 23-20 overtime win. He opened the scoring with 1-yard touchdown toss to Makovicka in first quarter, then found Nate Poole on 3rd-and-3 for a 10-yard scoring connection with just 45 seconds left in first half. Plummer capped a solid day by arching a touch pass to Kevin Kasper for a diving, 23-yard gain on third-and-seven in overtime to the Detroit 28-yard line, which set up the game-winning field goal three plays later in his 21st career comeback victory. In producing one of his best efforts of the season, Plummer hit 17 of 27 passes for 258 yards and two touchdown passes at St. Louis (12/15). He brought the Cards back from a 24-7 halftime deficit with outstanding third quarter, when he completed five-of-five passes for 135 yards, highlighted by an 80-yard scoring connection to Shipp—the longest touchdown pass of his career. Plummer opened the season finale at Denver (12/29) with effective first half of 10 completions in 18 attempts for 91 yards and a 1-yard scoring connection to Kasper to pull Cards within 9-7 at half-time, but struggled in second half, however, with just three completions in nine attempts before he was pulled for Josh McCown midway through fourth quarter.

2001: Plummer received high marks for exhibiting patience, intelligence, and judgement in efficient season, and joined N.Y. Giant passer Kerry Collins as the only two quarterbacks to take every snap from center for their teams. He connected on 304 of 525 pass attempts (57%) for 3,653 yards (6.96 average-per-attempt) with 18 touchdowns and 14 interceptions. Additionally, he rushed 35 times for 163 yards (4.7-yard average), and was sacked 29 times (-204 yards). Plummer finished as the NFL leader with 1,277 fourth-quarter passing yards, and threw 10 touchdown passes in the final period to tie with San Francisco's Jeff Garcia for tops in the NFC. At the conclusion of the season he had a stretch of 142 passes without an interception until a fourth-quarter toss at Washington (1/6) bounced off the hands of intended receiver into arms of a Redskin defender. The pick marked only his second interception in final 205 attempts of the season. During the season, Plummer engineered his 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th career comeback victories. Plus the four touchdown passes and only one interception vs. Detroit (11/18) helped him finish the season with a +4 touchdown-to-interception ratio, which was the first time it happened in his career. In the season opener vs. Denver he completed a 26-yard strike to David Boston on first play of game, where he surpassed the 11,000-yard career passing mark. Plummer finished the game with 16 completions on 28 attempts for 242 yards with one touchdown and one interception. In the game vs. Atlanta (9/30), he had an impressive completion mark of 65.7 percent on 23 of 35 passes for 276 yards, including a stretch of 11 consecutive pass completions. However, this was overshadowed by three interceptions and a fumbled center exchange. Plummer spun his fourth-quarter comeback magic for the 13th time in his career—fifth against the Eagles—with a 21-20 win in Veterans Stadium (10/7). He guided the team on a 74-yard, eight-play drive that took just 64 seconds. With the Eagles leading 20-14, Plummer hit MarTay Jenkins for gains of 16 and 28 yards setting up a first down at Philadelphia's 35-yard line with 28 seconds left. Plummer looked down the left side to a blanketed Boston, then threw a blind pass toward the opposite corner, where Jenkins adjusted to the under-thrown pass, spun away from Pro-Bowl cornerback Troy Vincent at the 3-yard line, and dove across the goal line with nine seconds left in the game. Posting another fine outing, he connected on 16 of 25 passes for 228 yards, with one touchdown, no interceptions, and suffered no sacks in the Cardinals' 24-16 win over Kansas City (10/21). Plummer demonstrated impressive game management in the Cardinals' 45-38 win over Detroit (11/18). Compiling his 14th-career comeback victory, he brought the Cards back from a 31-21 deficit in fourth quarter. Plummer was efficient, completing 21 of 33 passes for 334 and four touchdowns as he found Boston, Sanders, and Jenkins for scoring plays with a season best 10.14-yard average-per-attempt. The 45 points tied for the most by a Cardinal team since 49 vs. New Orleans in 1977. Authoring his 15th-career comeback-win at San Diego (11/25), he hit nine of 13 passes in the fourth quarter for 112 yards and guided his team to a 20-17 victory. Overall in the game, he hit 19 of 31 attempts for 241 yards, including a 37-yard scoring toss to Boston in the second quarter. Plummer etched career comeback number 16 in the books with a 34-31 overtime victory at Oakland (12/2). Hidden in his 22 of 38 for 249 yard effort, was his outstanding second-down numbers of 12 of 14 for 182 yards. He finished the first half 13 of 20 for 136 yards as Cards took 20-7 lead into the locker room. After Oakland took a 24-23 lead with 1:47 left, Plummer needed just 29 seconds to regain the lead as he found Boston on a 50-yard crossing route with 1:26 to play to give Cards 29-24 advantage. He followed that with key effort on two-point conversion as he slithered into the end zone for a 31-24 advantage, which later sent game into overtime as Raiders scored on 10-play, 78-yard drive with ensuing possession. Arizona went on to win the game in overtime on a field goal in the extra period. Plummer connected on 17 of 31 passes for 144 yards in a 17-10 win over Dallas (12/23), including a key 58-yarder to Frank Sanders in second quarter to set up go-ahead touchdown. He came back the next week at Carolina (12/30) and hit 12 of 23 passes for 173 yards and a pair of scoring passes to Boston to enjoy his third consecutive game without interception and a 30-7 win.

2000: As 14-game starter, Plummer completed 270 of 475 pass attempts (56.8%) for 2,946 yards with 13 touchdowns and 21 interceptions, and his passer rating of 66.0 was nearly 16 points higher than 1999's 50.8 figure. During the course of the season, Plummer had touchdown passes of 50 yards or more in three consecutive games (weeks 5 through 7), matching the same feat accomplished by Neil Lomax in 1983. Plummer was named NFC Offensive Player of the Week after the Cards' 32-31 win over Dallas (9/10). In the game, he posted a career best 75 percent completion figure (18 completions in 24 attempts) as he brought Cards back from an 11-point deficit with two fourth-quarter touchdown passes for his 12th career comeback victory. Along the way, he twice hit wide receiver Frank Sanders on 3rd-down touchdown passes of 4 and 17 yards, the latter with 1:54 remaining to bump the final margin to 32-31. Plummer had an efficient, mistake-free effort in the Cards' 29-21 victory over Cleveland (10/8), by completing 17 of 30 attempts for 171 yards with two touchdowns and no interceptions. He had an up-and-down performance vs. Washington (11/5), but finished with 12 completions in 19 attempts for 146 yards and was able to pull out a pivotal 16-15 victory. With those 146 passing yards against Washington, Plummer became the fastest Cardinal to reach 10,000 career passing yards in only his 47th appearance. The next week, he had a solid, mistake-free game at Minnesota (11/12) and completed 19 of 28 passes for 219 yards, suffered two sacks, and avoided an interception. He endured a beating at Philadelphia (11/19), leaving game twice, the final time early in the fourth quarter as back-up quarterback Dave Brown finished the contest. He left that game with bruised ribs and sprained thumb, and was declared the inactive third quarterback vs. N.Y. Giants (11/26). Back in the lineup at Cincinnati (12/3), Plummer connected on 22 of 44 attempts for 278 yards and a pair of scoring strikes of 38 and 15 yards to Boston. The next week, he again was inactive, this time at Jacksonville (12/10) while recovering from rib/sternum injuries. After a full week of practice, he returned vs. Baltimore (12/17) and performed impressively against the league's top defense. Plummer concluded a frustrating season with a 14 for 31 effort and 144 yards at Washington (12/24) with three interceptions (2 at the goal line) and lost one fumble.

1999: Plummer suffered a sprained thumb in the second preseason game, a broken finger midway through the year and nagging hip and groin injuries, which all contributed to his 50.8 passer rating. Additionally, a five-week absence contributed to him completing just 201 passes in 381 attempts (52.8%) for 2,111 yards, nine touchdowns, and 24 interceptions. The thumb injury came in the preseason vs. Tennessee (8/20), when early in first quarter while Titan defensive end Mike Jones was sacking Plummer, defensive tackle Jason Fisk slapped at the ball in Plummer's hand and yanked his thumb. He was diagnosed with a sprained thumb, and Plummer saw little or no practice time in the coming weeks while the injury healed. The inactivity was obvious over the first six weeks of the regular season, as he completed just 93 of 181 passes (51.4%) for 928 yards, 3 touchdowns, and 14 interceptions. A broken finger vs. Washington (10/17) forced him to miss five starts. On the opening possession of second half, Plummer was sacked by Washington linebacker Shawn Barber, who came in untouched on fierce blindside hit. Plummer's ring finger of his right hand got lodged between Barber's facemask and helmet, and was bent sideways. In-stadium x-rays disclosed a spiral fracture that sidelined Plummer for the next five weeks. Plummer returned to action by opening the second half at the Meadowlands vs. N.Y. Giants (11/28) in relief of Brown with Cardinals down 10-6 at halftime. On his second possession following a turnover, Plummer guided the Cardinals 16 yards in five plays for a touchdown, with 2-yard toss in left corner of end zone that Moore stole away from a Giant defender to give Cards 13-10 lead. He later connected with tight end Johnny McWilliams for 9-yard touchdown toss to open fourth quarter and extended their lead to 20-10, completing five consecutive passes on the drive. Plummer again responded with nine-play, 60-yard drive that put the Cardinals up 34-17, in a game they eventually won 34-24. Back in starting saddle the next week vs. Philadelphia (12/5), Plummer had completed just eight of 15 passes for 53 yards and faced a 17-7 deficit after three quarters. With 10:50 left in the game, the Cards had managed just 79 yards total offense to the Eagles' 252 yards. Plummer rallied the Cards in the fourth quarter with two touchdowns in the final five minutes for his 11th come-from-behind victory by completing 12 of 19 passes for 126 yards, throwing for one touchdown and running for another, in 21-17 win. He came out smoking at Atlanta (12/26) and guided the Cards to scoring drives of 86 yards (13 plays) and 74 yards (8 plays). Finishing the game 11 of 13 for 179 yards, his only misfires were an incompleteness and game-ending interception. Plummer concluded an injury-plagued season with career-high 35 completions on 57 attempts for 396 yards (second highest), a pair of touchdowns and three interceptions at Green Bay (1/2). He was excellent on first-down, completing 20 of 29 for 246 yards. After a first half of 15 completions on 27 attempts for 149 yards and two interceptions, Plummer heated up in second half with 20 completions in 30 pass attempts for 247 yards and two scores. Seven times he converted third-down situations with pass completions for first-down yardage, and showed authority on his passes and good decision-making in three second-half scoring drives for touchdowns.

1998: Plummer—second to Green Bay's Brett Favre (347-551) in the NFC with 547 pass attempts and 324 completions—earned Pro Bowl alternate status. He guided the Cardinals to a single-season league record seven wins in eight games decided by three points or less. He opened the season with 14 completions in 36 attempts for 166 yards in a loss at Dallas (9/6), and suffered sub-par performance at Seattle (9/13) against fierce Seahawk pass rush that sacked him seven times and pressured him throughout the game. Displaying patience with just 137 yards passing on 35 attempts (21 completions) in home opener vs. Philadelphia (9/20), Plummer connected on key 7-yard scoring play to McWilliams on third-and-seven with seven minutes left to give Cards 10-3 lead. On next drive, he found McWilliams again on third down for 26 yards to midfield, as the Cards eventually scored and held on for 17-3 win. Plummer played an efficient, near error-free game at St. Louis (9/27) with 211 yards on 21 of 31 passing, with one touchdown and one interception, as Arizona won 20-17. He connected with Sanders for 13-yard scoring play in the second quarter, and later sealed game by completing his final five passes, including four-for-four for 21 yards on the game-winning 10-play, 75-yard scoring drive. Against Chicago (10/11), Plummer finished with a 72 percent completion mark on 18 of 25 passes for 157 yards, including outstanding third-down numbers of seven of 10 attempts for 67 yards. Twice he converted fourth-and-short plays with quarterback sneaks of one and three yards, the first of which kept a drive going for an eventual touchdown and 10-0 first-half lead. Plummer later converted a third-and-seven situation at Chicago's 11-yard line with 9-yard throw to Sanders on crossing pattern, which set up Bates' second score and a 17-0 Cards' lead in their eventual 20-7 win. Plummer weathered an inauspicious start at Detroit (11/1) to engineer a hard-fought 17-15 victory against a pressing Lion defense. In the first quarter, he was sacked on three consecutive third-down plays, fumbled twice (losing 1), and tossed an interception to open second quarter which Detroit converted into a field goal and 3-0 lead. After regrouping, he tossed a 16-yard scoring pass to Sanders midway through second period, and finished the first half with five completions in nine attempts for 44 yards. Plummer heated up in the second half when he hit Moore for 21 yards, McWilliams for 19, and then found Moore over the middle in the end zone from 36 yards to give Cards a 14-9 lead. He guided team into field-goal range in fourth quarter, and kicker Joe Nedney booted home the game-winner from 53 yards with 2:46 left. Plummer finished the contest with 15 completions on 25 attempts for 198 yards. After a mediocre first half of six completions in 13 attempts for 48 yards vs. Washington (11/8), Plummer completed a franchise-record 15 consecutive completions to open second half of the Cardinals' 29-27 win, finishing the second half 16 of 17 for 138 yards. Overall in the contest, Plummer hit 22 of 30 attempts for 186 yards and a single-game best 73.3 completion percentage, including a four-yard touchdown pass to Centers in third quarter. But he saved his best for last when he took the Cardinals 50 yards in five plays and 22 seconds to set up the game-winning field goal with two seconds left. Playing before a national television audience and sold-out Sun Devil Stadium vs. Dallas (11/15), Plummer authored one of the most improbable comeback efforts in recent NFL history, as he rallied the Cardinals from a 28-0 deficit. He compiled 465 passing yards—314 in the second half—in a furious comeback to bring Arizona to within 35-28 and the football on the Cowboy 5-yard line. Had either of the two game-ending end zone incompleteness been completed and led to a Cardinal victory, the outcome would have equalled the greatest regular-season comeback in NFL history, matching an effort authored by Joe Montana vs. New Orleans, Dec. 7, 1980 when the 49ers overcame a 35-7 deficit and won 38-35 in overtime. In the second half, he completed 18 of 33 attempts for 314 yards and two touchdowns, and the 465 passing yards set a Sun Devil Stadium NFL high and ranked third overall in Cardinal history, trailing only 522 yards by Boomer Esiason at Washington (1996) and 468 by Neil Lomax at Washington (1984). The 56 attempts rank fourth in team history and the 31 completions rate eighth. Plummer's 465 passing yards is just five yards shy of most by second-year player in NFL history behind Dan Marino (470 in 1984), Vinny Testaverde (469 in 1988) and Johnny Lujack (468 in 1949). The next week at Washington (11/22), Plummer led the Cards to a 31-0 lead in first half, only to see the Redskins stage improbable comeback in a wild 45-42 Arizona victory. He connected on eight of 16 attempts for 154 yards and a touchdown in first half, and added scoring runs of 1 and 10 yards as Arizona vaulted to 31-6 lead at halftime. Washington scored on three straight possessions to pull within 38-35 with nine minutes left, but Plummer took Cards 55 yards in 10 plays, capped by a 1-yard sneak for his third touchdown of the game and a 45-35 advantage. He finished the game with 17 completions on 28 attempts, 251 yards, with two touchdowns and one interception. His three rushing touchdowns were most by an NFL quarterback since New Orleans' Archie Manning did it against Chicago (10/2, 1977). Plummer waved the magic wand again at Philadelphia (12/13) with his seventh fourth-quarter comeback victory in just 23 NFL starts—a 20-17 overtime win. In the first half, he completed five of nine attempts for 65 yards, then responded in second half with 13 completions in 17 attempts for 169 yards, including eight of final 10 pass attempts in fourth quarter and overtime. Plummer celebrated his 24th birthday (12/19) with another impressive comeback effort as he took Cards 73 yards on six plays with just 1:21 left to allow kicker Chris Jacke to nail game-winning 36-yard field goal as time expired in a 19-17 win over New Orleans (12/20). He started game red hot with 22 completions in 30 attempts for 239 yards in first half, including eight connections for 85 yards to Sanders, but the Cards still faced a 10-6 deficit after New Orleans' Sammy Knight returned a second-quarter interception 39 yards for a touchdown. Rising to the challenge in fourth quarter, Plummer faced a 17-16 deficit with 1:21 to play. He backed up to his own 8-yard line, connected with Sanders over the middle for gains of 25 and 28 yards on consecutive plays, and following a procedure penalty that resulted in a second-and-15 near midfield, Plummer scrambled up the middle for 21 yards to the New Orleans 23-yard line. He then ran a quarterback keeper for four yards with 30 seconds left, setting up the game-winning field goal. For his effort, he was honored as the NFL's Player of the Week. Plummer capped an improbable season in unlikely fashion in the finale vs. San Diego (12/27), as he delivered the Cardinal franchise to its first postseason berth since 1982 by completing 10-yard pass to Sanders with three seconds left to set up a 52-yard game-winning field goal by Jacke in the 16-13 win. Postseason: Plummer guided Arizona to its first postseason victory in 51 seasons as he led the way in a 20- upset victory in the wild-card playoff win at Dallas (1/2). He connected on 19 of 36 pass attempts for 213 yards while avoiding a sack for only the second time in 1998. The next week, Plummer suffered through a nightmarish start in divisional playoff at Minnesota (1/10) with no completions in four attempts and two interceptions by the midway point of the second quarter. After the Vikings sailed to 17-0 lead, Plummer regrouped to guide Cards on 13-play, 80-yard scoring drive that consumed 7:52 and cut deficit to 17-7. He connected on five of six passes for 59 yards on the drive, twice hitting receivers to convert third-down yardage and keep drive alive. After posting first-half stats of six completions in 12 attempts for 65 yards with two interceptions, he settled down in second half to complete 17 of 29 passes for 177 yards.

1997: Plummer established himself, to quote former San Francisco 49er Head Coach and Pro Football Hall of Famer Bill Walsh, as "one of the bright young stars in the NFL in years" with his memorable rookie season. He opened the campaign as the third quarterback behind starter Kent Graham and back-up Stoney Case, but after Graham started the first six games and yielded to Case due to a knee injury, Plummer received his first NFL action in Week 7 at Philadelphia (10/19). After that, he never looked back. In 10 appearances (9 starts), Plummer recorded Cardinal rookie passing records by completing 157 of 296 passes (53%) for 2,203 yards and 15 touchdowns with 15 interceptions. In what amounted to little more than one-half of a season, he nearly equalled the season touchdown pass totals of such marquee quarterbacks as San Francisco's Steve Young (19), Dallas' Troy Aikman (19), Detroit's Scott Mitchell (19), Jacksonville's Mark Brunell (18), Baltimore's Vinny Testaverde (18), Washington's Gus Frerotte (17) and Miami's Dan Marino (16). His average per attempt of 7.44 yards ranked sixth in the league, bettering Denver's John Elway (7.24), New England's Drew Bledsoe (7.10), Seattle's Warren Moon (6.97), Marino (6.90), Pittsburgh's Kordell Stewart (6.86), Mitchell (6.84), Minnesota's Rob Johnson (6.72), Frerotte (6.67), Tampa Bay's Trent Dilfer (6.62), Tennessee's Steve McNair (6.42), Aikman (6.34), Chicago's Erik Kramer (6.31) and the N.Y. Giants' Danny Kanell (5.92). Plummer led the league with an average-per-completion mark of 14 yards, a full one-half yard ahead of Oakland long-baller Jeff George (13.5). In his fourth NFL start against the N.Y. Giants at the Meadowlands (11/16), Plummer set an NFL rookie single-game passing record with 388 yards, breaking Aikman's previous mark (379 yards) established against the Cardinals in 1989. His four touchdown passes vs. Washington (12/7) were most by an NFL rookie since Bledsoe also notched four in 1993. Plummer joined Aikman, Bledsoe, and Jim Plunkett as the only NFL quarterbacks to throw four touchdown passes in one game as a rookie, and was named NFC Offensive Rookie of the Month for November with 76 completions in 133 attempts (57.1%) for 1,156 yards and five touchdowns, a passer rating of 82.7. After being the inactive third quarterback for first six games, his first NFL appearance provided a spark at Philadelphia (10/19) as the Cardinals' offense faltered into the fourth quarter. He entered game at 10:26 of the fourth stanza with the ball on the Cards' 2-yard line, and marched the Cards 98 yards for a touchdown in 14 plays, the longest touchdown drive in the NFL in 1997. He also became the first NFL quarterback to take his team more than 66 yards for a score in his first possession. Plummer made his second consecutive start vs. Eagles (11/2), but struggled through three quarters before Graham relieved him in the fourth period of Cards' 31-21 victory. He completed 13 of 22 attempts for 148 yards at Dallas (11/9) and gained 51 yards on seven rushing attempts but suffered eight sacks. The next week, he established an NFL rookie passing mark at N.Y. Giants (11/16) with 388 yards on 22 completions in 33 attempts, including scrambling away from pressure for 70-yard scoring toss to Sanders on third play of the second half—Arizona's longest play from scrimmage in 1997. Plummer fought through frustrating first half at Baltimore (11/23) with just seven completions on 15 attempts for 64 yards, but responded in second half to connect with Sanders on 4-yard touchdown pass on fourth down with four minutes left in the game. He took the Cards

55 yards in six plays and 34 seconds with four completions in five attempts to set up game-winning 43-yard field goal. Plummer smoked Washington's fourth-ranked pass defense, including talented cornerbacks Darrell Green and Cris Dishman, for 337 yards and four touchdowns, while bringing the Cards back from numerous deficits along the way. Facing a 17-0 hole in second quarter, Plummer guided Arizona to two quick scores narrowing the lead to 17-14 at the half. The highlight of the game was a 37-yard touchdown toss to tight end Gedney in third quarter when Plummer rolled out on a naked bootleg, juked a Redskins defender in the flat, and delivered a perfect throw to the middle of the field. Unfortunately, he saw Dishman return a third-quarter interception 29 yards for a touchdown, and lost a fumble on a sack midway through the fourth quarter as Washington converted the turnover into a 38-28 lead. Plummer cruised through an impressive first half at New Orleans (12/14) on 13 of 21 passing for 142 yards and just one sack. He guided Cards on a 15-play, 80-yard scoring march to open the game and stake Arizona to a 7-0 lead. Plummer later scrambled 10 yards for his first rushing touchdown as a pro to cap the drive—in run reminiscent of his Rose Bowl touchdown against Ohio State as he stepped around numerous defenders and dove head first into the end zone. In the second half, however, he managed just four completions in 16 attempts, 38 yards, was sacked four times, fumbled once and threw two interceptions. Plummer recovered and had a memorable performance in the season finale against Atlanta (12/21). Though he completed just nine of 20 attempts in the first half, he tossed a 1-yard scoring pass to Gedney and vaulted over from the 1-yard line in the second quarter. After a single possession in the third quarter resulted in two incomplete passes and a sack, Plummer stepped up for scintillating fourth-quarter comeback. Trailing 26-14 with less than eight minutes remaining, he guided Arizona 69 yards in eight plays, capped by a 21-yard scoring toss to Moore to cut the lead to 26-21 with five minutes left. He once again worked his magic on a 12-play, 80-yard drive in the final two minutes, highlighted by a 4-yard run converting a fourth-and-one situation with 24 seconds left, then connected with Centers for a 1-yard touchdown pass with nine ticks left on the clock. A two-point conversion run on the following play vaulted the Cardinals to a 29-26 win.

COLLEGE: Plummer captured the hearts and imagination of college football fans nationwide with his exciting, improvisational style that carried Arizona State to an undefeated 1996 regular season and a trip to the Rose Bowl. He finished third in the Heisman Trophy balloting, which was the highest finish for a Pac-10 Conference player since Washington defensive tackle Steve Emtmann placed fourth in 1991. A rare four-year starting quarterback as a collegian, he started 40 consecutive games, and rolled to a 15-8 record in Sun Devil Stadium (.652). Plummer set A.S.U. career records for completions (632), pass attempts (1,142), and passing yards (8,827), with the latter surpassing the mark (6,717 yards) of future Dallas Cowboy Danny White (1971-73). His 65 touchdown passes also surpassed White's Sun Devil record. Only Steve Stenstrom of Stanford (75 touchdowns, 1991-94) and John Elway of Stanford (77 touchdowns, 1979-82) threw more touchdown passes in Pac-10 Conference history. A consensus All-America selection and unanimous Pac-10 offensive player-of-the-year as a senior, he was the first A.S.U. player named Pac-10 Conference Player of the Year. Plummer completed 198 of 348 passes (56.9%) for 2,776 yards and 24 touchdowns, and also scored four touchdowns on 95 rushing attempts and posted a pivotal 16-yard touchdown reception at UCLA. In addition, he led the Sun Devils to a stunning 19-0 shutout of defending national champion Nebraska at Sun Devil Stadium, completing 20 of 36 passes for 292 yards. It marked the Cornhuskers' first loss since the 1993 Orange Bowl and their first regular-season setback since a 19-10 defeat to Iowa State in 1992. Earning first team all-Pac-10 Conference honors as a junior, he finished with 173 completions on 301 attempts for 2,222 yards and 17 touchdowns. Plummer was the first true freshman quarterback in 1993 to start at Arizona State since John Walker in 1984, and led A.S.U. to a 4-2 record in games he started, including wins in four of the last five outings.

PERSONAL: Plummer was a prep All-American at Capital High School in Boise, Idaho, after passing for 6,097 yards and 68 touchdowns in his final two years. He completed 205 of 297 passes (69%) and rushed for 645 yards and 10 touchdowns as a senior. A two-time All-Idaho selection as quarterback and punter, he captained the football and baseball teams as a senior. His brother, Brett, holds Brown University's 800-meter dash record. Plummer created the Jake Plummer Foundation in 1999, which was founded to provide opportunities for children's causes as well as raise funds and generate awareness for Alzheimer's disease organizations. His foundation holds a bowl-o-rama each spring in Phoenix, and the first four events in 1997-2002 raised approximately $300,000 for Phoenix Children's Hospital, the Alzheimer's Association, and Homeward Bound. Plummer appeared on the "Wheel of Fortune" game show in January, 1999 as one of 12 NFL players participating for their charities featured during Super Bowl week, and he won the nationally-televised Quarterback Shootout in 1999 and 2000. He owns two Bassett hounds named Willis and Shelby, and is an avid golfer. Jason Steven Plummer was born on Dec. 19, 1974 in Boise, Idaho.

DEFENSIVE TACKLE

Monsanto Pope made a big impact in the middle of the Broncos' defensive line as a rookie, and comes back in 2003 with hopes of competing for a starting role. Last year, Pope racked up 22 tackles (19 solo) in 14 games, and picked up four sacks (-16 yards), and did this after making the team as a seventh-round draft pick. He is a big, powerful run-stuffing force who will fight with Lionel Dalton for playing time. Pope was selected with the Broncos' second pick of the seventh round (231st overall) of the 2002 NFL Draft.

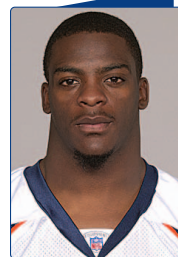

2002: Pope played in 14 games and made one start (at Oak., 12/22), posting 22 tackles (19 solo), including four sacks (-16), as well as a pass defended. He recorded his fourth sack in the season finale vs. Ariz. (12/29) by dropping Jake Plummer for a 7-yd. loss. He also batted down a Plummer pass for his only pass defense of the year. Pope made his first career start and recorded his first multi-sack game at Oak. (12/22) when he brought down Rich Gannon twice (-7), among his season-high-tying three solo tackles. Pope also tied his season high in games 11 and 12 with three tackles at Sea. (11/17) and vs. Ind. (11/24), matching his total from Wk. 1. Pope was declared inactive at K.C. (10/20) and at N.E. (10/27) because of a sprained ankle. His first sack came in his NFL debut, vs. St. L. (9/8), as he dropped Kurt Warner for a 2-yd. loss among his three solo tackles. Pope left the Mia. game (10/13) in the 3rd qtr. with a sprained right ankle and went to the locker room for x-rays. He returned to the game, but missed the next two contests.

COLLEGE: Pope earned All-Atlantic Coast Conference honorable mention and shared the Ned McDonald Award as the team's Outstanding Defensive Player with linebacker Angelo Crowell. He came into his own as a senior, starting every game at nose guard and tying the school season record for interior linemen with 98 tackles (59 solo), including five sacks (-21) and nine stops for losses (-29), while also forcing a fumble and recovering one. Pope recorded a career-high 15 tackles (10 solo) vs. both Virginia Tech and Maryland, and added 12 (8 solo) vs. Clemson, including a 3-yd. sack of Woodrow Dantzler. His also had a solo sack vs. Florida State. As a junior, Pope received the Colonel Frank C. McCue Award as the team's Outstanding Interior Lineman, starting all 11 games at strongside defensive tackle. He recorded 33 tackles (27 solo), including two sacks (-23) and six stops for losses (-31), and also forced a fumble, deflected two passes and blocked a kick. Pope started five games at defensive tackle (season opener) and end as a sophomore, finishing with 11 tackles (8 solo) and two stops for losses (-4). He missed six games because of a knee injury. He appeared in every game, with five starts at nose guard, as he recorded 28 tackles (10 solo), including three stops for losses (-9), and also recovered a fumble and deflected two passes as a redshirt freshman.

PERSONAL: Pope was a three-year starter at Hopewell (Va.) High School, where he was chosen first-team all-state Group AAA by The Associated Press and all-region at defensive end as a senior. He was also named the Central District's Defensive Player of the Year after helping lead Hopewell to the playoffs for the first time since 1988. Pope made the all-district first team at defensive end, tight end and punter, as a senior, when he was also team captain. His defensive statistics also included 88 tackles, six quarterback sacks, an interception, a blocked kick and six forced fumbles. As a tight end he caught 10 passes for 250 yds. (25.0) and a touchdown. Pope also earned three letters in basketball and helped lead Hopewell to the Group AAA state finals as a junior. He was a first-team all-state Group AAA selection and the state's leading scorer as a senior, averaging 28 points per game. Monsanto Leshawn Pope was born Jan. 27, 1978 in Norfolk, Va.

RUNNING BACK

Clinton Portis exploded on the NFL scene last season and helped guide the Broncos' rushing attack to a fifth overall ranking in the NFL. After playing in all 16 games and starting each of the last 12, he ranked fourth in the NFL in rushing with a franchise rookie-record 1,508 yards and 15 touchdowns on 273 carries and was named NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year. Portis' 1,872 total yards from scrimmage ranked fifth in the AFC (6th NFL), while his 95 first downs ranked fourth in the AFC and the NFL. Portis scored 11 touchdowns (10 rush., 1 rec.) in the last six games of the season, and in the five December games averaged 134.4 rushing yards, 165.2 total yards, 1.8 touchdowns and 6.5 yards per carry. He led all NFL rookies in rushing yards (1,508), total yards from scrimmage (1,872), rushing touchdowns (15) and total touchdowns (17), and led the NFL in yards-per-carry (5.52) among all running backs with 100 or more carries. Portis' 1,508 yards rushing are the fifth most by a rookie in NFL history, most ever by a Broncos rookie and fourth most by any Denver player. His 1,872 total yards from scrimmage were most ever by a Broncos rookie, and third most by any Bronco. Portis' 15 rushing touchdowns tied a Broncos rookie record (Mike Anderson, 2000) and tied for second most by any Bronco. He was the Broncos' second-round (51st overall) selection of the 2002 NFL Draft, entering the draft after his junior year.

2002: Portis was named NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year by AP, Pro Football Weekly, Football Digest and the Touchdown Club of Columbus; NFL Rookie of the Year by The Sporting News and Sports Illustrated and named to Pro Football Weekly's All-Rookie team. He played in all 16 games and started each of the last 12, and ranked fourth in the NFL in rushing with a franchise rookie-record 1,508 yds. and 15 touchdowns (tying the franchise rookie record) on 273 carries (franchise-record 5.52 yds. per carry), with a long of 59, while also ranking fifth on the team with 33 receptions for 364 yds. (11.0) and two touchdowns, with a long of 66. Portis' 1,872 total yds. from scrimmage ranked fifth in the AFC (6th NFL), while his 95 first downs ranked fourth in the AFC and the NFL.

- Portis scored 11 touchdowns (10 rush., 1 rec.) in the last six games of the season, and in the five December games averaged 134.4 rushing yds., 165.2 total yds., 1.8 touchdowns and 6.5 yds. per carry.
- He led all NFL rookies in rushing yards (1,508), total yards from scrimmage (1,872), rushing touchdowns (15) and total touchdowns (17), and led the NFL in yds.-per-carry (5.52) among all running backs with 100 or more carries.
- Portis' 1,508 yards rushing are the fifth most by a rookie in NFL history, most ever by a Broncos rookie and fourth most by any Denver player.
- His 1,872 total yards from scrimmage were most ever by a Broncos rookie, and third most by any Bronco.
- Portis posted the second best yards-per-carry avg. (5.52) for a rookie in NFL history behind Franco Harris' 5.61 in 1972, and set a franchise record.

*NFL rookie records

- His 17 total touchdowns set a franchise rookie record, were second most by any Bronco in a season and tied for third most by a rookie in NFL history.
- Portis' 15 rushing touchdowns tied a Broncos rookie record (Mike Anderson, 2000) and tied for second most by any Bronco.
- His 17 total touchdowns and 102 points both tied for third in the NFL (non-kickers) in 2002.
- Portis posted eight 100-yard rushing games in 2002, a Broncos rookie record and third most by an Bronco in a season.
- His 228 rushing yds. in the season-finale vs. Ariz. (12/29) were the fourth most by a rookie in NFL history, and tied for the 16th best single-game total by any player in league history.
- Portis was named NFL Offensive Rookie of the Month for October, rushing for 358 yds. and three touchdowns on 79 carries (4.5), and catching 11 passes for 98 yds. (8.9) and one TD.

Portis closed the season on a high note vs. Ariz. (12/29), rushing for 228 yds. and two touchdowns on 24 carries (career best 9.5 avg.), tying the best rushing performance in the NFL in 2002 (also done by Ricky Williams, at Buf., 12/1), and posting the second best rookie and overall rushing mark in Broncos franchise history, trailing only Mike Anderson's 251-yd. rushing output in 2000 (at N.O., 12/3). It tied for the 16th best individual rushing day in NFL history, and was the fourth best single-game rushing performance by a rookie in league history. He also added 18 rec. yds. on two catches for a career-high 246 total yds. from scrimmage on the day, and posted the first two 100-yd. rushing halves of his career, chalking up 120 yds. on 8 carries (15.0) in the first half and 108 more on 16 attempts in the second. His longest run of the season, of 59 yds., came in the 2nd qtr. Portis had the previous best all-around game of his young career vs. K.C. (12/15) posting single-game highs in several categories and notching his seventh 100-yd. rushing game of the season, setting a franchise record for a rookie and tying for third most overall by a Bronco. He broke Anderson's record of six. Portis rushed for 130 yds. on 21 carries (6.2) on the day, and caught three passes for a career-high 75 yds. (25.0), totaling a then career-high 205 total yards from scrimmage and four touchdowns, to tie the franchise record and earn "Pepsi NFL Rookie of the Week" through online fan balloting on NFL.com. He rushed for a career-high three touchdowns-including a then career best 51-yd. touchdown dash-and caught a career-long 66-yd. touchdown pass from Brian Griese on a screen play. His four total touchdowns were a career high and tied Anderson's franchise record (12/3/00 at New Orleans; all 4 by rush). He surpassed the 1,000-yd. mark at the Jets (12/8) by gaining 103 yards on 24 carries (4.3). It was his sixth 100-yd. rushing game of the season, tying Anderson's franchise rookie record. Portis had a banner day at S.D. (12/1), posting single-game high in rushing. He rushed for a then-career-high 159 yds. and two touchdowns on 23 carries, which was the best rushing effort by a Bronco since Anderson had 251 yds.-the NFL rookie record-at N.O. (12/3/00). With his fifth 100-yd. rushing game he tied Bobby Humphrey for the second most 100-yd. rushing games by a Broncos rookie. Portis had a 43-yard touchdown scamper in the game, and he added 34 yds. receiving on 3 catches to give him 193 total yds. from scrimmage. The two scores-third time this season-gave him four touchdowns over a two-game span. Also, Portis recorded his second straight 100-yd. game against the Chargers, giving him two of just eight total 100-yd. games allowed by the Chargers in their last 78 outings. Portis tied a career high with two touchdowns vs. Ind. (11/24), one from 11 yds. out and one from 9, to post his second multi-touchdown game of the season. Portis rushed for 136 yds. at Sea. (11/17) on 23 carries and caught two passes for 52 yds. (26.0), en route to a 188 total yds. from scrimmage. His day included a 34-yd. rush and a 38-yd. reception, at the time the longest of his career, and was the best rushing performance by a Bronco since Mike Anderson rushed for 155 yards vs. K.C. (10/7/01). He scored his fifth rushing touchdown (sixth total) vs. Oak. (11/11) on a 1-yd. run, giving him four rushing scores in a three-game span. Portis had a big day at N.E. (10/27) with 26 carries for 111 yds. (4.3) and two touchdowns, recording his third 100-yd. rushing game of the season. He scored on runs of 1 and 4 yds. to post the first multi-touchdown game by a Broncos running back since Anderson had two rushing scores vs. Sea. (12/10/00). Portis had a then-career-high 142 total yds. from scrimmage against Mia. (10/13) when he tallied 75 yds. rushing on 18 carries (4.2) and caught six passes for 67 yds., including a long of 21. Versus S.D. (10/6) he made his first NFL start and rushed for 102 yds. on a then-career-high 20 carries for his second 100-yd. rushing game in a three-week span. It was also just the fifth individual 100-yd. rushing game allowed by the Chargers in their last 72 outings. He also caught an 8-yd. touchdown pass, the first of his career. Portis had a break-out game vs. Buf. (9/22), replacing the injured Olandis Gary (ankle) and rushing for 103 yds. and a touchdown on 18 carries. It was Portis' first career touchdown and 100-yd. rushing game, and made Portis the second youngest player in NFL history to rush for 100 yds. in a game. He was 21 years and 21 days old at the time, three weeks older than Chicago's Rashaan Salaam, who posted his first 100-yd. game on his 21st birthday in 1995. Portis also caught his first career pass for 4 yds. in the Buffalo contest. In his NFL debut, in Wk. 1 vs. St. L. (9/8), Portis gained 15 yds. on a 4th-and-1 play in the 4th qtr. to keep the eventual game-clinching scoring drive alive.

COLLEGE: Portis earned first-team All-Big East honors from the league's coaches and third-team All-America acclaim from the Associated Press his junior year. He took over the tailback duties full-time for the first time in his career as a true junior and rushed for 1,200 yds. and 10 touchdowns on 220 carries (5.5 avg.), becoming only the fifth player in school history to gain more than 1,000 yds. on the ground in a season. Portis' performance ranked No. 3 on the Hurricanes' all-time single-season list behind Edgerrin James (1,416 in 1998) and Ottis Anderson (1,266 in 1978), and he helped guide Miami to an undefeated season and a national championship with a win over Nebraska in the Rose Bowl. He also caught 12 passes for 125 yds. (10.4 avg.) and a score. Portis' 10 rushing touchdowns and 11 total scores rank seventh on the school's single-season, and his eight 100-yd. performances tied the school record first set by Anderson in 1978. As a sophomore, he rushed for 485 yds. and two touchdowns on 77 carries (6.3 avg.) in eight games. He also added 103 yds. on five receptions (20.6 avg.). Portis was a freshman All-America selection by The Sporting News, as he became just the second true freshman to start at running back at Miami since the 1975 season. He became an integral part of the offense following Najeh Davenport's season-ending injury in the Kickoff Classic and injuries to James Jackson. Portis set a school freshman record with five 100-yd. performances, and led the team with 838 yds. and eight touchdowns on 143 carries (5.9 avg.) in 10 games. He also caught four passes for 44 yds. (11.0 avg.) and a pair of scores and recovered a fumble.

PERSONAL: Portis was a USA Today Honorable Mention All-American at Gainesville (Fla.) High School. He was named the No. 10 running back in the SEC Region by PrepStar; was Florida's #4 tailback on the Florida Times-Union Super 75; was rated the 39th best player on the Tampa Tribune Florida top 50; was a Tampa Tribune Blue Chip selection; a Super Prep All-SEC Region Honorable Mention and No. 27 player in Florida, as well as first-team all-state, all-region and all-area selection. A three-year starter, Portis was the Gainesville Sun Player of the Year and set a school record rushing for 2,036 yds. as a senior. He averaged 8.0 yds. per carry and scored 26 touchdowns, and also saw action at defensive back where he had 79 tackles, three sacks and two interceptions. Portis was a standout in track and field, as well, clocking 10.6 in the 100 meters and participating on a state-record 4x100-meter relay team (40.8) and state champion 4x400-meter relay team. He posted a leap of 6'-6" in the high jump and 22'-8" in the long jump. Clinton Earl Portis was born Sept. 1, 1981 in Laurel, Miss.

DEFENSIVE END

Trevor Pryce was given the tall task of switching from defensive tackle to end in 2002, and he did a little more than just make a smooth transition. The seventh-year veteran out of Clemson earned his fourth straight trip to the Pro Bowl and led the team in sacks with nine (-68 yards). With 41 sacks over the past four seasons Pryce has established himself as one of the elite defensive linemen in the NFL, and hopes to continue his climb this year. Pryce earned his first Pro Bowl berth and consensus All-NFL honors in 1999 and made numerous All-Pro lists again in 2000 along with his second Pro Bowl nod. A five-year starter for the Broncos, Pryce ranked in the NFL's top 10 in sacks in 1999 and 2000, and has either shared or held outright the team sack lead for five straight seasons. His 13 sacks in 1999 are fifth most in franchise history, and his 42.5 career sacks rank ninth on the Broncos' all-time list. Pryce has now played in 87 games (81 starts) and made 297 tackles (233 solo), including 51.5 sacks (-335.5), as well as two interceptions, four passes defended, eight forced fumbles, three fumble recoveries, a blocked field goal and a touchdown on a fumble return. He has also played in eight postseason games (3 starts) and added 13 tackles (9 solo), including one sack, as well as a pass defended. Pryce was the Broncos' first round draft choice (28th overall) in 1997, entering the draft after his junior year.

2002: Pryce—voted to start in the Pro Bowl for the fourth consecutive season—started all 16 games at left defensive end and posted 61 tackles (51 solo), including a team-leading nine sacks (-68), which tied for seventh in the AFC, as well as a pass defended, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery. Pryce had a sack in each of the Broncos' first three games and also posted 5.5 in a five-game stretch in mid-season. He brought his season sack total to nine with half a sack (-5) in the season finale vs. Ariz. (12/29). Pryce blocked a Steve Christie field goal in overtime at S.D. (12/1) that was recovered by Deltha O'Neal, the second field-goal block of Pryce's career. He had his seventh career multi-sack game at Sea. (11/17) with 1.5 sacks (-9) among his five tackles (3 solo). He posted three solo tackles vs. Oak. (11/11) before suffering a first-degree medial collateral sprain in his left knee in the 3rd qtr. Pryce raised his sack total to seven with a 7-yd. sack of Tom Brady at N.E. (10/27). He recorded his sixth career multi-sack at K.C. (10/20) with two sacks (-17) of Trent Green. Pryce recorded a season-high seven tackles (6 solo) vs. Mia. (10/13), including a sack (-9) of Jay Fiedler on which he forced a fumble and recovered it to set up a field goal. Versus Buf. (9/22) Pryce's one solo tackle was a sack of Drew Bledsoe for a 9-yd. loss. He dropped Jeff Garcia for an 8-yd. sack at S.F. (9/15) to pass Tom Jackson (44) for seventh on the Broncos' all-time sacks list, finishing the day with 44.5 for his career. In Wk. 1 vs. St. L. (9/8) Pryce posted his first sack of the year (43.5 career) to pass Rich Jackson (43) for eighth in team history.

2001: Pryce—voted to start in the Pro Bowl for the third year in a row, while also earning second-team All-NFL honors from the Associated Press and College & Pro Football Newsweekly, and All-AFC kudos from Football News—started all 16 games at right defensive tackle and posted 55 tackles (42 solo), including a team-leading (tie) seven sacks (-50), while also adding three passes defended and two forced fumbles. He recorded his seventh sack of the season at K.C. (12/16), dropping Trent Green for a 3-yd. loss, among his five tackles. Pryce recorded five tackles (4 solo) vs. Sea. (12/9), including a sack of Matt Hasselback for an 8-yd. loss in the 2nd qtr. Pryce made four tackles at Dal. (11/22), one for a loss, and caused a fumble. He added to his team-leading sack total vs. S.D. (11/11) by taking down Chargers quarterback Doug Flutie for an 18-yd. loss. Pryce made four tackles at Oak. (11/5) and caused a fumble that led to a Denver field goal. He posted his fourth sack of the season vs. N.E. for -6 yds., among his three solo tackles. His third sack of the season, vs. K.C. (10/7), raised his career total to 38.5 (42.5 by year's end) to move into ninth on the Broncos' all-time list, ahead of Dave Costa (37.5). Pryce dropped Trent Green for a 4-yd. loss. His second sack of the season came at Ariz. (9/23) on Jake Plummer for a 3-yd. loss. Pryce's first sack came in the opener vs. the Giants (9/10) on Kerry Collins, and resulted in an 8-yd. loss.

Trevor owns a record label called Outlook Music Co., which opened in 2002 and was recently picked up by Hollywood Records. The first release on the label, by the group Roman Candle, is called "Says Pop," and was issued this year. The Outlook label also includes the group 33 Hz—an urban pop band from Brooklyn, N.Y.—and 17-year old singer Melissa Lujan. Trevor is also an accomplished DJ who has been working on his own CD of originally produced music, called "Revenge," which has been in the works for about six years.

2000: Pryce—voted as a Pro Bowl starter for the second straight season, while earning second-team All-Pro honors from College & Pro Football Newsweekly and All-AFC nods from Pro Football Weekly and Football News—started at right defensive tackle in all 16 games and posted 44 tackles (36 solo), including a team-leading 12 sacks (-76.5), as well as two forced fumbles and one fumble recovery (at Oak., 9/17) which he returned 28 yds. for his first NFL touchdown. Pryce ranked fifth in the AFC (T9th NFL) in sacks—No. 1 among defensive tackles (No. 3 NFL)—and recorded 5.5 (-33) in the three-game period of Weeks 5-7. His 12th sack came in the finale vs. S.F. (12/23) when stripped the ball from Jeff Garcia for a 9-yd. loss. He posted sacks in back-to-back games, dropping Rich Gannon for a 4-yd. loss vs. Oak. (11/13) and Ryan Leaf for a 5-yd. loss vs. S.D. (11/19) to raise his total to nine for the season, and made it four sacks in four weeks with his two sacks at N.O. (12/3). It was Pryce's fifth career multi-sack game, and gave him 34.5 sacks for his career to move ahead of teammate Maa Tanuvasa (33) for 10th on the all-time franchise list. He missed the second half at Cin. (10/22) with a knee sprain. In Week 7 he dropped Cleve. quarterback Tim Couch (10/15) for a 5-yd. loss in Denver's 44-10 win, a week after his stellar performance at S.D. (10/8) when he tied his career high with three sacks of Jim Harbaugh (-17). That performance was preceded by a 1.5-sack effort on New England's Drew Bledsoe (10/1). The San Diego game marked the third time in his career Pryce had posted three sacks in a single game, and was his fourth career multi-sack game. He posted a solo sack of Atlanta's Chris Chandler (-8) in Week 2, on which he forced a fumble, and shared a 7-yd. sack of Chandler with Harald Hasselbach later in the game. Pryce started at right defensive tackle in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and posted a career postseason-high seven solo tackles and a pass defended.

1999: Pryce was chosen as a starter in his first Pro Bowl appearance; named first-team All-NFL by the Associated Press, Sports Illustrated and College & Pro Football Newsweekly; second-team All-NFL by Football Digest and All-AFC by Pro Football Weekly. He started at right defensive tackle in 15 games and ranked eighth on the team — tops among defensive linemen — with 50 tackles (36 solo), including a team-leading and career-high 13 sacks (-75), as well as one interception, three forced fumbles and one fumble recovery. Pryce ranked second in the AFC (5th NFL) in sacks, and posted more than any other defensive tackle in the league. His 13 sacks tied for fifth on Denver's all-time single-season list, and were the most by a Bronco since Alfred Williams notched 13 in 1996. Pryce's interception came in the backfield at K.C. (9/19), as he pulled the ball out of the air after Elvis Grbac was hit by Neil Smith while trying to throw. It was his second career interception. Pryce's first three sacks came at Tampa Bay (9/26) on Trent Dilfer, establishing a career high. It marked the first time since Oct. 6, 1997 (Maa Tanuvasa) that a Bronco had registered three sacks in one game. He added his fourth a week later (10/3), dropping the Jets' Rick Mirer for a 5-yd. loss, and made it three weeks in a row with a sack by dropping Oakland's Rich Gannon for a 9-yd. loss in Denver's 16-13 Week 5 win (10/10). Pryce raised his season total to six sacks vs. Minnesota (10/31) with an 8-yd. sack of Jeff George for a safety to give Denver a 9-0 lead in the 1st qtr. His seventh came at San Diego (11/7) on Jim Harbaugh (-3). Pryce turned in perhaps the most important play of the game in Denver's 27-21 overtime win against Oakland (11/22) on Monday Night Football, stripping the ball from Raiders quarterback Rich Gannon on a sack in overtime, and recovering the fumble to give Denver possession at Oakland's 24-yd. line in overtime. Denver's Olandis Gary scored on a 24-yd. run on the next play to win the game. Pryce tied his single-game career high with three sacks (-11) of Mark Brunell at Jacksonville (12/13), and ran his season total to 12 with a 7-yd. sack of Jon Kitna vs. Seattle (12/19). He knocked the ball loose on his first sack to record his third forced fumble of the season. Pryce sustained a knee injury in the Seattle game that was bothersome enough to keep him out of the following week's game at Detroit (12/25). He returned a week later for the season-finale vs. S.D. (1/2) and posted his 13th sack, dropping Moses Moreno for a 3-yd. loss.

1998: Pryce started at right defensive tackle in 15 of the 16 games and ranked seventh on the team — No. 1 among defensive linemen — with 59 tackles (48 solo), including a career-high 8.5 sacks (-56.5) to tie for the team lead and tie for 10th in the AFC. He played but did not start at Seattle (10/11) because the Seahawks opened the game in a three-wide receiver alignment. Pryce's first sack came in Week 3 at Oakland (9/20) on the Raiders' Jeff George (-7), and his second came two weeks later vs. Philadelphia (10/4) when he dropped Bobby Hoving for a 4-yd. loss. He posted his third (-7) a week later at Seattle (10/11) on John Friesz in the fourth quarter, and followed that with his first career two-sack game vs. Jacksonville (10/25), dropping Mark Brunell for 17 yds. in losses. He ran his sack total to six at Kansas City (11/16) on Monday Night Football, dropping Rich Gannon for a 10-yd. loss midway through the 4th qtr. on a 4th-and-9 play from the Broncos' 10-yd. line, and added his seventh the next week on Oakland's

Donald Hollas (11/22). He combined with Maa Tanuvasa to sack Giants QB Kent Graham (-11) in the 2nd qtr. at New York (12/13) to raise his total to 7.5, and finished the year with a 4-yd. sack of Seattle's Jon Kitna in the season-finale (12/27). Pryce recorded his first career interception at Washington (9/27), picking off a Trent Green pass in Broncos territory to thwart a Redskins drive just before halftime. His first career blocked field goal came early in the second quarter of the season-opener vs. New England (9/7) when he penetrated the Patriots' line to thwart a 37-yd. attempt by Adam Vinatieri, making the recovery as well, to set up Denver for a drive that would result in a touchdown and a 17-0 lead. Pryce recorded a career-high eight tackles (6 solo) at Cincinnati. Preseason: Pryce started all four games at right defensive tackle and recorded eight tackles (5 solo), in his first preseason as a full-time starter. Pryce saw action at defensive tackle in all three postseason games and started two, making four tackles (1 solo). In the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9) he did not start as the Broncos opened the game in their nickel formation. He did see starter's playing time, however, and made two assisted tackles. He posted one solo tackle in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17) and added one assisted tackle in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31), starting both contests, as Denver repeated as Super Bowl champions.

1997: Pryce played in the final eight games of the season and started three (at San Diego, 11/30; at Pittsburgh, 12/7 and vs. San Diego, 12/21) at right defensive tackle in place of Maa Tanuvasa (ankle). He was declared inactive for the first eight games. For the season he posted 28 tackles (20 solo), including two sacks (-9.5), as he notched a half a sack in each of his first two NFL appearances (Seattle, 11/2 and Carolina, 11/9), and his first solo vs. San Diego (12/21). He split the two sacks with Tyrone Braxton and Mike Lodish, respectively. Pryce saw his first professional action vs. Seattle (11/2) and responded with two tackles, including half a sack (-0.5). He made his first NFL start at San Diego (11/30) and performed well with three solo tackles. Pryce started his second straight contest at Pittsburgh (12/7). His high-tackle games on the season came vs. Oakland (11/24) and at San Francisco (12/15), posting seven stops (5 solo) in each. In the postseason Pryce played in all four games as a reserve defensive tackle and recorded two tackles (1 solo), including a sack of Jacksonville quarterback Mark Brunell in the Wild Card game (12/27/97) and an assisted tackle at Pittsburgh (1/11) in the AFC Championship Game.

COLLEGE: Pryce played one season (1996) at defensive end for Clemson, starting all 11 games and earning first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors, after transferring from Michigan where he played linebacker in 1993-94 (20 games/8 starts). He sat out the 1995 season due to NCAA transfer rules. Pryce finished his collegiate career with 118 tackles (72 solo), including 11.5 sacks (-105 yards) and 24 tackles for loss (-127), as well as 31 quarterback pressures, three forced fumbles, three fumble recoveries and two passes defended. He was a communications major.

PERSONAL: Pryce was a consensus All-American and the top-rated defensive line prospect in the country by The Sporting News at Lake Howell High School in Casselberry, Fla. He earned All-Central Florida, all-conference and all-district accolades, and also excelled in track, finishing second in the district finals in the 110-meter high hurdles (15.0). Pryce owns a recording label called Outlook Music Co., which after opening in 2002 was recently picked up by Hollywood Records. The first release on the label, by the group Roman Candle, is called "Says Pop," and was issued in the spring of 2002. The Outlook label also includes the group 33 Hz—an urban pop band from Brooklyn, N.Y.—and 17-year old singer Melissa Lujan. He is also an accomplished DJ who has been working on his own CD of originally produced music, called "Revenge," which has been in the works for about six years. Trevor was born Aug. 3, 1975 in Brooklyn, N.Y. He has two daughters, Khary (4) and Kamryn (1) and resides in Aurora, Colo.

TIGHT END

Jeb Putzier brings great size and skill to the Broncos and looks to make an impact coming off his rookie season. Last year, he played in three games, and was on the active roster the entire season. He came to Denver after an outstanding career at Boise State, in which he caught 128 passes for 2,050 yds. and 19 touchdowns after walking-on to the program as a freshman. He earned first-team All-Western Athletic Conference honors in his senior season after being tabbed for honorable mention as a junior and second-team all-conference as a sophomore, playing both wide receiver and tight end. He was the Broncos' sixth-round selection (191st overall) in the 2002 NFL Draft.

2002: Putzier played in three games and made one start (at Sea., 11/17), and was declared inactive for 11 of the other 13 games. He made a start at Sea. (11/17) as the Broncos opened the game in a two-tight-end set, and also played on offense the next week vs. Ind. (11/24). Putzier saw the first action of his career on special teams at Balt. (9/30), then was active but did not play at N.E. (10/27) and at S.D. (12/1).

COLLEGE: Putzier started all 12 games and caught a career-high 44 passes for 824 yds. (18.7) and 12 touchdowns as a senior at Boise State, most by any tight end in the nation. He was named first-team All-Western Athletic Conference, and posted three 100-yd. receiving games, while ranking sixth in the WAC in receiving yards. As a junior, Putzier earned honorable mention All-Big West consideration at wide receiver, playing in all 11 games and ranking second on the team with 35 receptions for 592 yds. (16.9) and three touchdowns. He ranked seventh in the conference in yards and 10th in receptions, and made six catches of 25 yds. or longer on the season. Putzier's sophomore campaign saw him play in all 12 games and earn second-team All-Big West Conference honors in his first year as a wide receiver, catching a team-high 39 passes for 514 yds. (13.2) and two touchdowns. He made five catches of 35 yds. or longer, and ranked sixth in the Big West in receptions and eighth in receiving yards. Putzier was a pleasant surprise a tight end as a redshirt freshman, playing in all 11 games and catching 10 passes for 120 yds. (12.0). He was a walk-on to the Boise State program and was redshirted his first season.

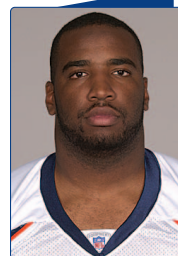

PERSONAL: Putzier was a tremendous all-around athlete at Eagle (Idaho) High School, just outside of Boise. He earned two varsity letters each in football and basketball, and one each in track and baseball. Putzier was a first team all-state selection in both football and basketball as a senior, making 54 catches for 1,024 yds. and 13 touchdowns as a wide receiver/tight end. In basketball he averaged 14 points and eight rebounds per game. Putzier also qualified for the state track meet in four events, receiving a medal in the 200 meter dash. Jebediah Lee Putzier was born Jan. 20, 1979 in Eagle, Idaho.

TACKLE

Ephraim Salaam joined the team in 2002 after signing as an unrestricted free agent from Atlanta, where he spent his first four NFL seasons. He made an instant impact in the lineup, starting all 16 games last year. The Broncos offensive success last season was highlighted by the play of rookie phenom Clinton Portis, who rushed for 1,508 yards and earned Offensive Rookie of the Year honors behind Salaam and his linemates. Salaam was a four-year starter at right tackle for the Falcons, starting 71 of the 76 career regular season games in which he has played, and made a successful transition to left tackle with the Broncos. He is one of only four players in NFL history to start 19 games in his rookie season (1998), combining the regular season and playoffs. He was Atlanta's seventh-round draft choice in 1998 (199th overall) out of San Diego State. His first name is pronounced "EE-frum."

2002: Salaam started all 16 games, 15 at left tackle and one at right tackle (at Balt., 9/30). He underwent arthroscopic surgery on his right ankle Jan. 8, 2003.

2001: Salaam played in 14 games and started 13 at right tackle, missing the Falcons' opener at San Fran. (9/9) and the finale at St. Louis (1/6/02) because of an ankle sprain. He played on special teams only at Ind. (12/16), because of an ankle sprain suffered the week before vs. N.O. (12/9).

2000: Salaam started 10 of the 14 games in which he played at right tackle after his season began slowly because of a training camp knee injury that required arthroscopic surgery to remove loose bodies July 24. He returned to practice the week of the season-opener vs. S.F. (9/3) but did not return to the starting lineup until Wk. 7 at St. Louis (10/15). Salaam was inactive at Phila. (10/1) and vs. the Giants (10/8) because of a knee injury suffered in the 3rd qtr. the week before vs. St. Louis (9/24) while playing right tackle.

1999: Salaam started all 16 games at right tackle for the second consecutive season to begin his career. He injured his ankle and missed much of the 4th qtr. at St. Louis (10/17), but returned to the starting lineup a week later at Pitt. (10/25).

1998: Salaam earned the starting right tackle position coming out of training camp as a rookie and started all 16 regular season games and three postseason games, including Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Denver (1/31/99). He helped open holes for NFC rushing champion Jamal Anderson (1,846 yds.), who posted 12 100-yd. games on the season. Salaam became the first Falcons rookie to start all 16 games since 1993 (LG Lincoln Kennedy) and just the fourth player in NFL history to start all 19 games (regular and postseason) in his rookie season.

COLLEGE: Salaam was a three-year starter as both a right and left tackle at San Diego State, playing in 31 career games. As a freshman he lined up at defensive end, but was moved to the offensive line as a starter in 1995. Salaam was a teammate and roommate of New Orleans Saints tackle Kyle Turley at SDSU, and also averaged 4.4 ppg for the Aztecs' basketball team. His powerful inside moves to the hoop earned him the nickname "Shaq of the WAC." Salaam's academic prowess allowed him to skip two grades in elementary school and he enrolled at SDSU as a 16-year old freshman.

PERSONAL: Salaam was a two-time all-league and second-team All-Metro choice during his three-year career as a two-way lineman at Florin High School in Sacramento, Calif. He was also a standout on the basketball team and earned two Bronze Panther academic awards. Salaam's brother played on the defensive line for legendary coach Eddie Robinson at Grambling and his father was a basketball player at South Carolina. He and his mother, Dr. Malikah Salaam, head up the EMS Foundation, which helps underprivileged children further their education. Ephraim Mateen Salaam was born June 19, 1976 in Chicago, Ill.

OFF THE FIELD

Salaam is CEO of a movie and promotions company called 4XL Entertainment, in which he is a partner with former college teammate and New Orleans Saints tackle Kyle Turley. He is also involved in Taylor Made Music, a recording and marketing label.

TIGHT END

The 2002 season saw the return to Denver of one of best tight ends in NFL history, after two years away. Shannon Sharpe came back to the city in which he first embraced stardom and helped the Broncos win back-to-back World Championships. Sharpe re-signed after two seasons with the Baltimore Ravens, with whom he won his third Super Bowl in 2000. The 13-year veteran is the NFL's all-time leader in receptions (753) and yards (9,290) by a tight end, and has been voted to eight Pro Bowls (1992-98, 2001) in his Hall-of-Fame-worthy career, as well as the NFL's All-Decade team for the 1990s (first team). He has caught 54 touchdown passes and three two-point conversions for 312 total points. Sharpe is the Broncos' all-time leader in receptions (613) and is second in yards (7,669) behind teammate Rod Smith, and is second in receiving touchdowns (47). In addition, he holds the Broncos' single-game record for receiving yards, 214 on 12 catches, when he helped guided the Broncos to a 37-34 overtime win at Kansas City on Oct. 20, 2002. He has played in 189 games (154 starts), and has also started all 17 postseason games in which he's played, adding 57 receptions for 783 yards (13.7) and four touchdowns. Eleven of those postseason games came as a Bronco, and he is the club's all-time leader in postseason receptions (42), while ranking fourth in yards (474). Sharpe has produced 17 career 100-yard games, three 1,000-yard receiving seasons (tied for 1st in NFL history by a tight end, with Todd Christensen and Kellen Winslow) and a franchise-record seven straight 50-catch seasons from 1992-98, during which he was selected to seven straight Pro Bowls. The seven straight 50-catch seasons also represents an NFL record for a tight end, as does his total of nine 50-catch seasons. Sharpe entered the NFL in 1990 as the Broncos' seventh-round selection (192nd overall) out of Savannah State. Here is a look at some of Sharpe's more prominent career statistical notes after 12 seasons:

- Sharpe became the NFL's all-time leader in receptions and receiving yards by a tight end during the 2001 season, displacing Hall of Famer Ozzie Newsome. He has caught 753 passes for 9,209 yards in his career.
- Sharpe holds the NFL postseason record for longest reception, with his 96-yard catch-and-run for a touchdown at Oakland in the 2000 AFC Championship Game (1/14/01).
- Sharpe holds the post-1970 NFL record for consecutive postseason wins with 12 (seven with the Broncos from 1997-98, and five with the Ravens from 2000-01).
- Sharpe has played in 157 games (124 starts) as a Bronco and ranks No. 1 in franchise history in receptions (613), second receiving yards (7,669) and receiving touchdowns (47). He also ranks fourth in total yards from scrimmage (7,678) and fifth in combined yards (7,678).
- Sharpe owns the franchise and NFL record (among tight ends) for yards receiving in a game (214), and shares the club's second-highest total for receptions in a game (13) and most touchdown receptions in a game (3). He also holds the record for most receptions in a postseason contest (13), which is also tied with Kellen Winslow (1981) and Thurman Thomas (1989) as an NFL postseason record.

- Sharpe ranks fourth in franchise history with 17 games of 100 or more receiving yards (including one in the postseason), and has 19 total for his career.
- Sharpe has played in 11 postseason contests as a Bronco—all starts—and ranks No. 1 in franchise playoff history in receptions (42) and No. 3 in receiving yards (474), for an average of 11.3 yards per reception, with two touchdowns.
- Sharpe has been selected to seven Pro Bowls as a Bronco, tied for third most in club history, and with all seven coming in consecutive seasons (1992-98) he is tied for the longest string of consecutive selections (Steve Atwater—1990-96).
- He is one of only four tight ends in NFL annals to post more than one 1,000-yard receiving season (3), and one of four to amass 6,000 receiving yards.

2002: Sharpe started all 13 games in which he played and ranked third on the team with 61 receptions for 686 yds. (11.2) and three touchdowns, with a long of 82 (TD). He ranked third among AFC tight ends (4th NFL) in both receptions and receiving yds. Sharpe ranks No. 1 among all tight ends in NFL history in receptions (753) and receiving yds. (9,290), while ranking second in touchdown receptions (54), and ranks 11th in receptions in NFL history. During the 2002 season he pased Gary Clark (699), Andre Rison (743), Michael Irvin (750) and Pro Football Hall of Famer Charlie Joiner (750). He is the Broncos' all-time leader in receptions (613), ranks second in receiving yds. (7,669) and receiving touchdowns (47) and ranks fourth in 100-yd. gms. (16). Sharpe led the team in receptions for the second consecutive week at Oak. (12/22) with seven catches for 84 yds. (12.0). He led the team with five receptions vs. K.C. (12/15), for 31 yds. (6.2). Sharpe made a major impact in his return from an elbow injury at the Jets (12/8), catching nine passes for 100 yds. (11.1). It was Sharpe's second 100-yd. game of the season, his 16th as a Bronco and 18th of his career (regular season). The 16th 100-yd. game moved him into fourth place on the Broncos all-time list, passing Steve Watson (15). Sharpe dislocated his right elbow vs. Oak. (11/11) in the 1st qtr., and missed the next three games. He was declared inactive at Sea. (11/17), vs. Ind. (11/24) and at S.D. (12/1). At N.E. (10/27) he caught an 8-yd. touchdown pass from Brian Griese to temporarily regain the franchise lead for career touchdown receptions (47). At K.C. (10/20) he caught 12 passes for a franchise-record and career-high 214 yds. (17.8) and two touchdowns to earn AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors for the second time in his career. His performance also set a single-game receiving yardage record for an NFL tight end, eclipsing Jackie Smith's 212-yd. effort for the Rams vs. Pittsburgh in 1963 (10/13). Sharpe topped the previous franchise mark of 199 yds. by Lionel Taylor (vs. Buf., 11/27/60), and his own personal best of 180 yds. (vs. Buf., 9/3/95). The 12 receptions were the second most of his career behind the 13 he notched vs. S.D. on Oct. 6, 1996. The two touchdown catches gave him 53 for his career and surpassed Hall-of-Famer Dave Casper (52) for second most by a tight end in NFL history. Sharpe's 82-yd. touchdown catch was the second longest reception of his career and propelled him to his first career 200-yd. game and 17th 100-yd. game, and his first since 11/19/00 at Dallas (5-101), as a Baltimore Raven. In the Buffalo game (9/22) he did not catch a pass for the first time since Sept. 3, 2000 vs. Pittsburgh, in his first game with Baltimore. Versus S.F. (9/15) Sharpe caught five passes for 52 yds. (10.4), including his 700th career catch, which came in the 4th qtr.

2001: Sharpe played in 15 games for the Baltimore Ravens and became the most effective pass-catching tight end in the history of professional football with his performance. By Week 4 against Tennessee (10/7), Sharpe had accumulated 8,018 yards receiving, moving past Hall of Famer and Ravens Vice President of Player Personnel Ozzie Newsome, who had 7,980 yards in his illustrious career. In Week 10 against the Browns (11/18), Sharpe made his 663rd career reception to best Newsome's record of 662 career receptions. He finished the season with 73 receptions, which was tied for the NFL lead among tight ends, 811 yards and two touchdowns while starting all but one game. His performance earned him a spot on the AFC Pro Bowl team, his eighth selection to the squad. In two postseason games he totaled nine catches for 79 yards with a long of 27. In a 20-3 Wild Card victory at Miami (1/13/02) he caught four passes for 23 yards. The following week at Pittsburgh (1/20/02) he made five receptions for 56 yards in a 27-10 defeat. In the final game of the regular season, on Monday Night Football at PSINet Stadium, Sharpe caught two passes for 51 yards with a long of 37 in a 19-3 victory over the Vikings (1/7/2002) to clinch a playoff berth. At division rival Jacksonville in Week 11 (11/25), he caught six passes for 55 yards and one touchdown, which came with nine seconds remaining in the game as he grabbed a 3-yd. pass from Elvis Grbac to put Baltimore in the lead. At home against the Browns (11/18) came Sharpe's record day. His first catch of the game, a 29-yard pass from Elvis Grbac was the 663rd reception of his career to give him the record for a tight end. Despite a 27-17 loss, Sharpe made seven receptions for 78 yards. He caught his first touchdown pass of the season in Week 8 at Pitt. (11/4), on a 13-yard pass from Randall Cunningham in the second quarter to put the Ravens up 7-3. Against Jacksonville (10/28) in Week 7 Sharpe caught seven balls for a season-high 89 yds., a week after his only non-start of the season, at Cleve. (10/21), when he caught six passes for 61 yds. He broke Newsome's record for career receiving yds. by a tight end in Baltimore's Week 4 matchup with Tennessee (10/7), finishing the game with three receptions for 57 yards, surpassing Newsome's previous career record of 7,980 yds. At Denver in Week 3 (9/30), Sharpe had five receptions for 50 yards in his first game back in the Mile High City since leaving after the 1999 season. He posted a season-high eight receptions in Week 2 at Cincinnati (9/23), for 84 yds. after catching four for 34 in the opener vs. Chicago (9/9).

2000: Sharpe signed with the Baltimore Ravens as an unrestricted free agent Feb. 22 and went on to help lead the franchise to its first Super Bowl win, as Sharpe won his third World Championship in the past four seasons. He played in all 16 games and started 15, leading the team with 67 receptions for 810 yds. and five touchdowns, while also adding six more receptions in four postseason games for 230 yds. and two scores. Sharpe ranked fifth among NFL tight ends in receptions, and was voted a first alternate to the AFC Pro Bowl squad. His 96-yd. touchdown reception in the AFC Championship Game at Oakland (1/14/01) is the longest pass reception in NFL postseason history, and came on a 3rd-and-18 play to help propel the Ravens to the Super Bowl. He also caught a game-winning touchdown pass from Tony Banks in Week 2 of the regular season vs. Jacksonville (9/10) to give Baltimore its biggest come-from-behind win, having trailed by 17 points. Sharpe caught one pass for five yds. in the Ravens' 34-7 win over the Giants in Super Bowl XXXV, and had a 56-yd. catch to set up a touchdown at Tennessee (1/7/01) in an AFC Divisional Playoff game. In a Wild Card matchup with his former team, Denver (12/31), Sharpe caught a then-career-long 58-yd. touchdown pass that began as a screen pass to Jamal Lewis, but bounced off Lewis' hands, as well as a Broncos defender, before Sharpe plucked it from the air and raced down the sidelines for the score. On the day he caught three passes—all for first downs—for 73 yds. He posted his 17th career 100-yd. receiving game (regular season) vs. Dallas (11/19) with five receptions for 101 yds., including a 59-yarder for a touchdown that was the third longest regular season touchdown of his career and his fourth longest catch overall. It was Sharpe's 49th career touchdown reception, tying him with Keith Jackson for fourth place all-time among tight ends. He came up big at Tennessee (11/12) in a Baltimore win, catching a game-high eight passes for 92 yds. to give the Titans their first lost ever at Adelphia Coliseum. In the contest he recorded his 600th career catch and surpasses his brother Sterling's career total of 595. Sharpe posted his seventh career two-touchdown game at Cin. (11/5), among his seven receptions for 66 yds., and moved past Ozzie Newsome into a tie with Raymond Chester for fifth place on the all-time tight end scoring list. He recorded his first 100-yd. game as a Raven vs. Tennessee (10/22), as he hauled in eight passes for 104 yds. Sharpe's only non-start of the season came at Jacksonville (10/8) as Baltimore opened the game in a four-wide set. Four weeks earlier vs. Jacksonville (9/10), Sharpe surpassed the 7,000-yd. mark for his career, including the game-winning reception with 41 seconds remaining on a 29-yd. pass from Banks. In the opener vs. Pitt. (9/3) he was held without a reception for the first time in a game in which he started and finished since Sept. 24, 1995, at San Diego.

1999: Sharpe started the first five games of the season for Denver and caught 23 passes for 224 yds. (9.7) with a long of 24 before fracturing his left clavicle in the third quarter of Denver's 16-13 win at Oakland in Week 5 (10/10). He was originally expected to be sidelined 8-10 weeks, but suffered a setback in his rehabilitation in late November, and was placed on injured reserve Nov. 30. Sharpe became Denver's all-time leading receiver in Week 3 at Tampa Bay (9/26), surpassing Lionel Taylor's previous standards of 543 receptions and 6,872 yards. Sharpe finished the season with 552 receptions for 6,983 yards.

1998: Sharpe turned in another spectacular season, being selected to play in the Pro Bowl for the seventh straight year, and his third in a row as a starter, as well as being named first-team All-NFL by the Associated Press (5th time; 4th as first-teamer), The Sporting News, USA Today, Pro Football Weekly, College & Pro Football Newsweekly and Football Digest, and All-AFC by Pro Football Weekly and Football News. He started at tight end in all 16 games for the second straight and caught 64 passes for 768 yards (12.0) with a long of 38 (TD) and 10 touchdowns. Sharpe led all NFL tight ends in receiving yards, and ranked third among his peers in receptions. He shared the AFC lead (T6th NFL) in receiving touchdowns and tied for sixth in the AFC (T13th NFL) in total touchdowns, and posted his seventh straight 50-catch season, a first by a tight end in pro football history. The seven total and seven straight also represent new franchise records in both categories. His first touchdown of the year came on a 12-

yd. scoring toss from Elway in the first quarter of the season-opener vs. New England (9/7) to give Denver a 10-0 lead. His 51 yds. in that contest gave him 6,042 for his career, making him just the third Bronco to surpass 6,000 receiving yds. (L. Taylor—6,872; S. Watson—6,112), and only the fourth tight end in NFL history to do so, joining Ozzie Newsome (7,980), Jackie Smith (7,918) and Kellen Winslow (6,741). Sharpe missed most of the second quarter after sustaining a mild concussion while leveling a crushing block on Patriots linebacker Chris Slade to free Howard Griffith on a screen pass at the beginning of the period. He returned to the game after halftime. Sharpe posted his fifth career multi-touchdown game in Week 2 vs. Dallas (9/13), hauling in 23- and 38-yard touchdown tosses from John Elway in the first half to help Denver mount a 35-17 lead at the break. Those two touchdowns moved him past Steve Watson (36) into a tie for fourth on the club's all-time receiving touchdowns list. In that game Sharpe (6-97) also moved into second place on Denver's all-time receiving yardage list, passing Watson (6,112), and finished the year with 6,759. Sharpe caught six passes for 46 yards and a touchdown vs. Philadelphia (10/4) to move into sole possession of fourth place on Denver's all-time receiving-touchdowns list, breaking a tie with Vance Johnson (37), and added his 39th (5th of '98) a week later at Seattle (10/11) on a 19-yd. pass from Elway in the first quarter. Sharpe caught his 500th career pass in Week 9 at Cincinnati (11/1), on his last of 3 receptions for 35 yds. The milestone catch came on a 2-yd. pass from Elway just before halftime, which, incidentally, will go down as Elway's 4,000th career completion. Sharpe became one of just three tight ends in NFL history with 500 receptions, joining Ozzie Newsome (662) and Kellen Winslow (541), and he and his brother Sterling form the only brother combination in pro football history to record 500 receptions apiece. Sharpe caught three passes for 31 yds. and a TD at San Diego (11/29), his seventh of the year, and the 41st receiving TD of his career to tie Riley Odoms (1972-83) for third place on the Broncos' all-time list. Sharpe moved into sole possession of third place on Denver's receiving TDs list vs. Kansas City (12/6), doing so in dramatic fashion with a 24-yd. fourth-quarter scoring reception from Elway to give Denver a 35-31 win. It was Sharpe's only catch of the day, and his eighth TD catch of the season to help Denver tie the all-time league record of 18 consecutive wins (regular and postseason), set by four other teams. Sharpe finished the season on a high note vs. Seattle (12/27) with his sixth career multiple-touchdown game, hauling in two from John Elway as part of a 6-catch, 68-yard performance. The two TDs gave him 44 for his career to tie the franchise record (Lionel Taylor, Haven Moses), and moved him into a fifth-place tie (Taylor, Riley Odoms) on the franchise list for total TDs. He also moved past Sammy Winder for fourth place on the Broncos' all-time career list for total yards from scrimmage, finishing the season at 6,759. Postseason: Sharpe started at tight end in all three games and caught nine passes for 78 yds. (7.8) with a long of 14. He became the Broncos' all-time leader in postseason receptions (42), and remained third in postseason receiving yards (474). In the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9) Sharpe caught a team-high five passes for 38 yds. (7.6), and followed that showing with two catches for 14 yds. in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17). He caught two passes for 26 yards (13.0) in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31) before leaving the game with a knee sprain. His 14-yd. reception to the 1-yd. line set up Denver's first touchdown, but he was upended by Atlanta's Ray Buchanan on the play, resulting in the injury. Sharpe returned to game but left after one more series, missing the game's final three quarters.

1997: Sharpe started all 16 games and was selected to his sixth straight Pro Bowl, named All-NFL by the Associated Press for the fourth time in his career (third time as a first-teamer), and also named first-team All-NFL by The Sporting News, USA Today, Pro Football Weekly and College & Pro Football Newsweekly. He was also named second-team All-NFL by Football Digest and All-AFC Pro Football Weekly. Sharpe ranked second on the team with 72 receptions for 1,107 yards (15.4; career best) with three touchdowns, posting the third 1,000-yard season of his career to tie Todd Christensen for the NFL tight end record. He began his milestone pursuit in Week One by moving into third place on the Broncos' all-time receiving list, catching four passes to raise his career total to 397. The second-quarter 15-yard catch moved him past Riley Odoms, and also made him the leading pass-catching tight end in franchise history. Two weeks later vs. St. Louis (9/14) he caught two passes for 20 yards in the first quarter to top the 5,000-yard career mark before a twisted left ankle forced him from the contest. He returned to the starting lineup a week later vs. Cincinnati (9/21). Sharpe's 11th regular season 100-yard game came the following week in his return to his native Georgia to take on the Atlanta Falcons (9/28). He caught six passes for 119 yards on the day, including a then-career best 65-yard touchdown from John Elway on the fourth play from scrimmage in Denver's 29-21 win. Sharpe had 93 receiving yards by the half, and his three first-half receptions put he and his brother Sterling at over 1,000 receptions for their careers, a first by a brother combination. His one TD reception tied Al Denson (32) for sixth place in all-time touchdown receptions by a Bronco. Sharpe passed Vance Johnson (416) on the Broncos' all-time receptions list at Oakland (10/19), catching eight passes for 94 yards. His highest yardage output of the season came in Denver's 34-0 shutout of Carolina (11/9), as he caught eight passes for 174 yards, the second-highest total of his career, topped only by the 180 he had in Week One of 1995 (vs. Buffalo, 9/3). It was also his second eight-catch game of the season. This was the 13th 100-yard receiving game of Sharpe's career and the 12th such game in the regular season, third most in franchise history behind Lionel Taylor (24) and Steve Watson (15 regular season). He also moved past Haven Moses (5,450) for fifth place in club history in receiving yards during the contest. The next week at Kansas City (11/16), he caught three passes for 27 yards and a touchdown in Denver's 24-22 loss. The TD was the 33rd of Sharpe's career, moving him into sixth place in franchise history, passing Al Denson. In Denver's 31-3 Monday Night Football win over Oakland (11/24) he caught 10 passes for 142 yards, the fifth 10-catch game of his career, one off the NFL record for tight ends (Kellen Winslow). He also became just the second player in franchise history to record six total and consecutive 50-catch seasons, joining Lionel Taylor (1960-65). He closed the regular season vs. San Diego (12/21) on a high note with eight receptions for 162 yards and a 68-yard touchdown, the longest of his career. It marked his 15th career 100-yard game, the 14th in the regular season. He and his brother Sterling have now combined for 99 career touchdowns, the most ever by a brother combination. In the postseason Sharpe finished in a tie for the team lead in receptions with 12 for 149 yards (second on team), for a 12.4 average with a long of 23. In Denver's 42-17 Wild Card victory over Jacksonville (12/27/97) Sharpe moved into sixth place in postseason receiving yards by a Bronco, passing Ricky Nattiel (251) and Michael Young (255). He also passed Mark Jackson (21) for third place in postseason receptions by a Bronco. He added two receptions for 33 yards (long of 22) in Denver's 14-10 Divisional Playoff win at Kansas City (1/4/98). In Denver's 24-21 AFC Championship victory at Pittsburgh (1/11/98) Sharpe caught three passes for 49 yards, including an 18-yarder on third-and-six with 2:00 remaining in the game to all but wrap up Denver's fifth Super Bowl appearance. During the game he passed Haven Moses (314) for fifth place and tied Steve Watson (358) for fourth place on the Broncos' all-time postseason list for receiving yards. In the Broncos' 31-24 victory over Green Bay in Super Bowl XXXII (1/25/98) Sharpe was Denver's leading receiver, reeling in five passes for 38 yards with a long of 12. He also did a magnificent blocking job on Green Bay LB Seth Joyner, enabling teammate Terrell Davis to rush for 157 yards (the team ran for 179) and earn MVP honors. During the contest, Sharpe moved past Steve Watson (358) for fourth place and Steve Sewell (375) for third place on the teams' all-time postseason receiving yardage list. He also passed Sewell (31) for second place all-time in postseason receptions by a Bronco.

1996: Sharpe — selected to his fifth consecutive Pro Bowl and named first-team All-Pro by the Associated Press, Sports Illustrated, The Sporting News, Pro Football Weekly, Football Digest and College & Pro Football Newsweekly — started 15 of the 16 regular season games at tight end, missing only the season finale at San Diego (12/22) when he was declared inactive to rest a sore ankle for the playoffs. He was also named All-AFC by UPI and Football News. For the year he tied for eighth in the AFC in receptions (80; 16th NFL) and was ninth in receiving yards (1,062; 15th NFL) for an average of 13.3 yards per catch with 10 touchdowns (T8th AFC/T13th NFL), establishing a new career high. His 1,062 receiving yards also represented a career high, topping his 1,010-yard effort in 1993. Sharpe led all NFL tight ends in receptions, receiving yardage and receiving touchdowns. With his 10 touchdowns Sharpe joined Terrell Davis (15 TDs) to give Denver two players with double-figure touchdowns in the same season for the first time in franchise history. Sharpe had a seven-game stretch early in the year (9/22-11/10) in which he topped the 100-yard mark three times and was over 90 twice, for an average of 107.6 yards per game. His four-catch, 21-yard, one-touchdown performance vs. Seattle (12/1) gave him career single-season bests in receiving yardage (finished at 1,062) and receiving touchdowns (10; previous best was nine in '93). Sharpe's longest reception was a 51-yarder vs.

Chicago (11/10), and he also had a 46-yard touchdown to his credit, vs. Kansas City (10/27). He, along with Davis and quarterback John Elway, made the Broncos just the fifth team in NFL history to have a 3,000-yard passer, 1,500-yard rusher and a 1,000-receiver in the same season. Sharpe's 1,000-yard effort was the second of his career, making him one of only four tight ends in league annals to have more than one 1,000-yard receiving seasons. He left the season-opener vs. the Jets (9/1) in the third quarter with a mild ankle sprain after recording four receptions for 55 yards and a touchdown, but was well enough to start at Seattle a week later (9/8). In Week Four at Kansas City (9/22) Sharpe had his first big breakout game of the season, hauling in a game-high nine passes for 131 yards, followed by a game-high six passes for 60 yards and one touchdown the following week at Cincinnati (9/29). The next week vs. San Diego (10/6) Sharpe had a career day, hauling in a franchise-record (tie) 13 passes for 153 yards and three touchdowns in Denver's 28-17 come-from-behind victory. The three touchdowns tied his previous best, which he shares with several other players as the franchise record. Sharpe's touchdowns came on passes of 20, 20 and 3 yards from John Elway. In the game, Sharpe also moved ahead of Al Denson (4,150) into eighth place on the Broncos' career receiving yardage chart, and moved into seventh all-time on the touchdown reception chart, surpassing Mark Jackson, Bob Scarpitto and Rick Upchurch. He was named the Miller Lite/NFL Player of the Week for his performance. Versus Baltimore (10/20) Sharpe caught a game-high nine passes for a season-high 161 yards, with a long of 32 yards, his longest of the season. It was his third 100-yard game in the past four outings. The following week vs. Kansas City (10/27) Sharpe continued his midseason onslaught by catching a game-high six passes for 99 yards, with two touchdowns. Both scores came in the first quarter: the first a season best 46-yarder and the second a 10-yarder in Denver's 34-7 win. Against Chicago (11/10) he caught five passes for a game-high 92 yards, and hauled in his ninth touchdown pass of the year to tie his previous career high set in 1993. Two weeks later at Minnesota (11/24) Sharpe caught four passes for a game-high 90 yards to move ahead of Mark Jackson (4,746) into sixth place on the Broncos' all-time receiving yardage chart. He took a vicious blow under his chin in the second quarter from Orlando Thomas, but remained in the contest and helped lead Denver to a 21-17 come-from-behind win. The next week vs. Seattle (12/1) Sharpe moved past his previous single-season yardage best of 1,010 set in 1993, and topped his previous single-season touchdown best of nine (also '93). His one-yard touchdown reception in the first quarter put Denver ahead 7-0 en route to a 34-7 win. Two weeks later vs. Oakland (12/15) he was hit hard after making his one catch on the day and sustained an injury to his lip that kept him out of the rest of the game. In the regular season finale at San Diego (12/22) Sharpe missed his only game of the year when he was declared inactive to rest a sore ankle. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff vs. Jacksonville (1/4/97) he started at tight end and caught two passes for 31 yards, including an 18-yard touchdown from John Elway to put Denver ahead 12-0 in the first quarter.

1995: Sharpe, who was selected as a Pro Bowl reserve (fourth straight Pro Bowl), played in the first 13 games and started 12, despite continuing to be bothered by sore ankles. He was named second-team All-Pro at tight end by the Associated Press. Sharpe's 63 receptions were the 12th most in the AFC, while his 756 receiving yards ranked 16th, despite missing three games entirely, and playing sparingly in three others due to injury. He was second among all NFL tight ends in both receptions and receiving yards. In the season opener vs. Buffalo (9/3), Sharpe made a magnificent 1995 debut, tying a regular season career best with 10 receptions, and establishing a new career high with 180 yards, fourth most all-time by a Bronco in a single game. It was the seventh 100-yard game of his career, and the most receiving yards by a Bronco since Steve Watson accumulated 183 on 10 catches at the L.A. Raiders on 12/12/82. Sharpe suffered an ankle sprain against Washington (9/17) and missed the final three quarters of that game, but was back in the lineup—though not at 100%—the following week at San Diego (9/24). His first touchdown reception of the year came at New England (10/8). Sharpe's second best game of the year came vs. San Diego (11/19) when he caught a game-high eight passes for 137 yards and one touchdown, with a long of 40. Sharpe's fourth and final TD of the season came Dec. 3 against Jacksonville, before he took a blow to the face and suffered an orbital fracture to his left eye in the second quarter. He underwent surgery on the eye Dec. 7, forcing him to miss the final three games of the season (against Seattle, 12/10; at Kansas City, 12/17; and at Oakland, 12/24), but he was not placed on the injured reserve list.

1994: Sharpe was selected to his third straight Pro Bowl as he posted career best numbers in receptions (87) and yardage (1,010), though he did not play in the Pro Bowl game because of ankle and knee injuries. His 87 catches were the most by any Bronco since 1961 (Lionel Taylor, 100) and the third most all-time for a Denver player. He ranked fourth in the AFC and eighth in the NFL in receptions. His 1,010-yard total was second best on the team as well as ninth in the AFC, and gave Sharpe his first 1,000-yard season after just missing with 995 in 1993. He joined Anthony Miller (1,107 yards) to give Denver two 1,000-yard receivers in the same season for the first time in franchise history. He scored four touchdowns and had six or more catches on eight occasions. He and his brother Sterling (Green Bay Packers) remain the only brother combination to lead their teams in receptions in the same year, as they have now done for three straight seasons. Sharpe matched his career high with 10 receptions (95 yards) in Denver's dramatic overtime victory at Kansas City (12/4), and followed that a week later with nine catches for 89 yards at the Raiders (12/11). His career high in yardage came in game seven at San Diego (10/23) when he gained 121 yards on six catches, including a 44-yard pass from Elway for his longest reception of the year. Sharpe played in 15 of the Broncos' 16 games and made 13 starts. After an outstanding opening day (9/4) on which he caught nine passes for 97 yards against San Diego, he was placed on the inactive list for game two at the N.Y. Jets (9/11) because of a knee injury suffered in the opener. He was expected to miss up to five weeks, but returned for spot duty the next weekend at the L.A. Raiders and went without a catch for the first time since Nov. 30, 1992. He returned to the starting lineup in game five at Seattle and stayed there the rest of the season, playing through the pain of aching knees and ankles. He did not practice at all the week of the Cleveland game (10/30), but showed up on Sunday to lead the team in receptions (9) and yards (85).

1993: Sharpe was named to his second straight Pro Bowl, along with being named to virtually every All-NFL team. He led the Broncos in receptions with 81, which ranked third in the AFC and eighth in the NFL. His 81 receptions ranked fourth in Bronco history, and were at the time the most since Lionel Taylor's 85 in 1965. Sharpe was also on the receiving end of nine TD passes, which tied for second in the AFC. He accounted for at least two receptions in every game in 1993, with his season high coming against Kansas City (12/12). In that game Sharpe recorded 10 receptions for 65 yards and three touchdowns. His best game yardage-wise came in the season finale at the L.A. Raiders (1/2) when he accounted for 115 yards on six receptions with two touchdowns. The next week in the wild card matchup with the same Raiders (1/9), Sharpe tied a playoff record with 13 receptions.

1992: Sharpe led all Denver receivers in 1992 with a career-high 53 receptions for 640 yards and two touchdowns. Shannon and his brother Sterling of the Green Bay Packers became the only brother combination in NFL history to lead their respective teams in receiving in the same season. Sharpe had two 100-yard receiving games in '92, catching seven passes for 109 yards at Buffalo (12/12) and nine for a career-high 118 yards vs. Kansas City (10/4). He also had nine receptions at Washington (10/12) and had seven in the season finale at Kansas City (12/27). Sharpe, who was in the starting lineup 12 times in 1992, also set a new career high with a 55-yard reception at Cleveland (9/27).

1991: Sharpe was converted from wide receiver to H-back in 1991 and had a fine season, catching 22 passes for 322 yards and a touchdown and also gaining 15 yards on a reverse. He made half of his receptions in the final three weeks of the campaign, with 11 catches for 159 yards. Sharpe established new career highs at Cleveland (12/8) with four receptions for 59 yards, and had four catches the following week vs. Phoenix (12/15). On special teams he posted a team-high 12 tackles, with five assists and two knockdown blocks. Sharpe appeared in Denver's starting line-up nine times during the regular season. He closed out the postseason with six catches for 60 yards, with three for 20 against Houston (1/4) and three for 40 at Buffalo in the AFC Championship Game (1/12).

1990: Denver's seventh-round draft choice in 1990, Sharpe saw more playing time as the season progressed and closed out the year with seven receptions for 99 (14.1) yards and a score. He had his top receiving game at Kansas City (12/9) with three catches for 41 yards and his first professional touchdown. Sharpe was also one of the Broncos' top special teams performers, netting 16 total tackles, six knockdown blocks, and a forced fumble.

COLLEGE: Sharpe had a tremendous career at Savannah State College, where he was a three-time All-American, All-Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, and all-state selection, as well as the three-time conference Offensive Player of the Year. Sharpe closed out his college play with 192 receptions for 3,744 yards, a 19.5 average, and 40 touchdowns. He ended his career with appearances in the East-West Shrine and Blue-Gray all-star games. Sharpe set school records for most consecutive games with a reception (39), with a touchdown (14), and for most games with over 100 yards receiving (17). As a senior he caught 61 passes for 1,312 yards and 18 TDs, and had three games with more than 200 yards receiving and one game with four touchdown catches. Sharpe was a criminal justice major.

PERSONAL: Sharpe hails from Glennville, Ga., where he was all-county, all-region and all-area in football at Glennville High School. In addition to four letters in football, Sharpe lettered three times in basketball and four times in track, setting a Georgia state Class A record in the triple jump (48'-3") as a junior, and breaking that mark as a senior (49'-5"). He won the regional triple jump title three straight years and the regional discus throwing title twice. Shannon was also a two-time all-area selection in basketball, scoring more than 1,000 points in three seasons, and averaging 30 points and 15 rebounds as a senior. He once scored 52 points in a game and once grabbed 27 rebounds in a game. His brother Sterling was an All-American at South Carolina who earned All-Pro status in five of his seven NFL seasons with the Green Bay Packers. Sterling is now a reporter for ESPN television, and a studio host for the network's award-winning NFL Countdown and Monday Night Countdown programs. Shannon has several cousins who played college football, and he lists his hobbies as fishing, basketball, weight lifting, and his two Rottweilers, Kane and Killian. Shannon is single and makes his home in Glennville, Ga.

LONG DROUGHT

The Broncos' longest current drought between meetings with any NFL opponent is with Tennessee, whom the Broncos have not faced since Nov. 26, 1995, when the franchise played in Houston as the Oilers. In 2001 Denver ended its previous longest drought by facing Indianapolis for the first time in eight years.

WIDE RECEIVER

Ever the tireless worker—whether in the offseason or during the season—Rod Smith continues to prove himself as a constant for the Broncos, on the field and in a leadership role. Always setting the bar higher each year, he manages to take his game to levels few but himself thought possible when he entered the NFL as a rookie free agent in 1994. He has not only established himself as one of the finest wide receivers in Denver Broncos history, but has also placed himself among the best in the NFL over the past six seasons. The ninth-year pro has now played in 120 games and started 95, catching 559 passes for 7,783 yards (13.9) with a franchise-record 49 touchdowns and a long of 78 yards. Smith ranks first in Broncos history in career receiving yards and second in career receptions, and first in receiving touchdowns. He also holds the Nos. 1, 2, 6 and 7 spots on the Broncos' all-time single-season receiving-yardage list, with his 2000 total of 1,601 yards at the top, followed by 1,343 yards in 2001; 1,222 yards in 1998 and 1,180 in '97. Smith holds the franchise single-game record for receptions with 14, and his combined five-year regular season receiving total of 6,367 yards from 1997-2001 is the best over a five-year span in franchise history. Smith has also played in nine postseason games (8 starts) and caught 27 passes for 538 yards (19.9) and three touchdowns, with a long of 80, which went for a touchdown in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta. The 80-yard score tied for the second longest play from scrimmage in a Super Bowl game, and ranks as the longest play from scrimmage in Broncos postseason history. Smith's 152 yards in Super Bowl XXXIII rank as the fourth-highest receiving figure in Super Bowl history, and moved him into second place on Denver's all-time postseason receiving chart. He also ranks fifth in receptions (24), second in receiving touchdowns (3) and fourth in avg. yds. per catch (20.0). Smith's first NFL touchdown in 1995—on his first NFL reception—may forever remain his most memorable, as he outleaped Washington Redskins future Hall of Famer Darrell Green to haul in a 43-yard Elway pass in the end zone as time expired, giving Denver a 38-31 victory. Smith entered the NFL in 1994 as a rookie free agent with the Broncos out of Missouri Southern. He spent that season on the practice squad before making the 53-man roster for the first time in '95.

2002: Smith—voted offensive captain by his teammates—started all 16 games and led the team with 89 receptions for 1,027 yds. (11.5) with a long of 46 and a team-leading five touchdown receptions. He posted his sixth consecutive 1,000-yd. receiving season, and sixth total, extending franchise records in both cases. Smith tied for eighth in the AFC in receptions (11th NFL) and ranked tied for ninth in receiving yards. He is the Broncos' all-time leader in receiving yards (7,783), receiving touchdowns (49) and 100-yd. games (27); ranks second in receptions (559) and third in total touchdowns (51). Smith caught at least seven passes in four straight games (Mia., 10/13-Oak., 11/11) in the middle of the season, and caught at least five passes in 13 of the 16 games. He caught five passes for 62 yds. (12.4) in the season finale vs. Ariz. (12/29), including a 10-yd. touchdown pass from Steve Beuerlein. The touchdown was his fifth of the season, 49th of his career through the air to extend his franchise record, and the 51st total of his career (includes one by rush and one by fumble recovery). Smith's longest reception of the season came vs. K.C. (12/15), on a 46-yd. pass from Brian Griese, en route to three catches for 83 yds. on the day (27.7). At the Jets (12/8) he passed Lionel Taylor (543) for second place in career receptions by a Bronco, as he caught six passes for 38 yds. (6.3). Versus Ind. (11/24) Smith became the Broncos' all-time receiving yards and touchdown receptions leader,

OFF THE FIELD

A 1994 graduate of Missouri Southern, Rod holds three different degrees: economics and finance, general business, as well as marketing and management. He began supporting an orphanage in Mexico City in 1994, and in August 1997 had the opportunity to meet the children when the Broncos traveled to Mexico City for a preseason American Bowl game. Rod hosted a group of the children for several hours at the team hotel and donated Broncos hats and t-shirts to more than 400 others.

passing teammate Shannon Sharpe in both categories. At Sea. (11/17) Smith caught a 14-yd. touchdown pass from Steve Beuerlein with 5:20 remaining in the game, his third of the season and the 47th scoring reception of his career to tie Shannon Sharpe for the franchise record. He also passed Sammy Winder (48) for third place in total touchdowns by a Bronco. He caught a season-high nine passes for 88 yds. (9.8) vs. Mia. (10/13), surpassing the 500-catch plateau for his career. His 500th catch came on a 10-yd. toss from Brian Griese with 2:25 remaining in the 1st qtr. He attempted a pass at Balt. (9/30), which fell incomplete, the second pass attempt of his career, following a 14-yd. completion to John Elway in 1998 vs. Oak. (11/22). Versus Buf. (9/22) he caught a then-season-high seven passes for a season-high 94 yds. (13.4) and a touchdown and passed Lionel Taylor (6,872) for second place in Broncos history for receiving yards. The score also allowed him to tie Sammy Winder (48) for third in total touchdowns by a Bronco.

2001: Smith—voted to play in the Pro Bowl for the second year in a row, and first time as a starter, and also named second-team AP All-NFL, first-team Football Digest All-Pro and Pro Football Weekly All-AF, while also being voted a team captain by his teammates—played in 15 games and started 14, missing only the Miami game (12/2) because of a sprained left ankle and playing but not starting at K.C. (12/16) because the Broncos opened the game with an extra tight end. He led the NFL in receptions with a franchise-record 113, and ranked third in the AFC in receiving yds. (1,343; 6th NFL), for an 11.9 average, with 11 receiving touchdowns. He became one of only six players in NFL history to catch 100 or more passes in back-to-back seasons (Jerry Rice, Herman Moore and Marvin Harrison-3; Cris Carter, Sterling Sharpe and Smith-2), and his 1,343 receiving yds. were the second most in a season by a Bronco, behind only his franchise-record 1,602 yds. in 2000, giving Smith four of the top 7 single-season marks in franchise history. Smith ranked second in the AFC (3rd NFL) in receiving touchdowns; fifth (7th NFL) in total touchdowns and fifth (8th NFL) in scoring (non-kickers) with 68 points. Smith also tied for eighth (16th NFL) in total yds. from scrimmage (1,370); fifth (T8th NFL) in total first downs (77); tied for first (M. Harrison-IND) in the NFL in receiving first downs (75) and tied for the NFL lead in third-down receptions (30-286-9.5-4TDs) with Minnesota's Randy Moss. His 67 receptions through the first eight games were the most ever by an NFL player at that stage of a season, breaking the record of 60 held by Minnesota's Cris Carter (1994) and Phoenix's J.T. Smith ('89). Smith capped off the season at Ind. (1/6) the way he began it, leading the team in receptions. On the afternoon he caught seven passes for 92 yards (13.1), with a long of 20. The seven catches gave him 113 on the season, the most in the NFL and the best ever by a Bronco. The 1,343 yards were good for second best in a season, passing Ed McCaffrey's 1,317 set last season. Smith continued to carve out his place in the Broncos record book vs. Oak. (12/30), catching eight passes for 56 yards (7.0) and scoring one touchdown. His eight catches on the day give him 106 for the season, a new franchise single-season high, breaking the old record of 101 set last season by McCaffrey when Smith caught 100. Smith's record-breaking 102nd catch came on a 5-yd. pass from Brian Griese with 5:12 remaining in the 3rd qtr. He became the first Bronco in history to catch 100 passes in consecutive seasons, and just the sixth in NFL history. The touchdown catch was the 11th of the season for Smith (one shy of his career best, set in 1997) and the 44th of his career to tie the franchise record shared by Lionel Taylor, Haven Moses, Shannon Sharpe and Ed McCaffrey. Smith hit the century mark in receiving yds. for the fifth and final time in 2001 at K.C. (12/16), extending his franchise career record to 26. On the day he caught eight passes for 100 yds. (12.5) and a touchdown. Smith's 11-yd. TD reception from Gus Frerotte in the 2nd qtr. was his 10th of the season and 43rd of his career. Smith returned to the starting lineup vs. Sea. (12/9) and caught a game-high eight passes for 66 yds. (8.3) with a long of 12, after missing the previous game, at Mia. (12/2), because of a severely sprained left ankle suffered at Dal.

(11/22). Smith played in his 100th career NFL game at Dal., catching seven passes for 81 yds. (11.6) with a long of 23 yds. He saw little playing time vs. Wash (11/18) because of a sprained ankle suffered the week before vs. S.D. (11/11), but caught three passes for 25 yds (8.3), including a 1-yd. touchdown in the 2nd qtr. to raise his career total to 42, passing Riley Odoms for fifth place all-time in touchdown receptions by a Bronco. Smith continued his steady pace vs. S.D. (11/11), catching five passes for 74 yds. (14.8), with a long of 32. He left the game with a twisted ankle late in the 3rd qtr. and did not return. Smith was once again the go-to guy for the Broncos at Oak. (11/5) catching 10 passes for 91 yds. and two touchdowns to tie Riley Odoms for fifth on the Broncos' career receiving touchdowns list. His first came on a 2-yd. pass from Brian Griese in the 3rd qtr. and his second came on a 26-yd. toss from Gus Frerotte in the 4th. Smith also caught a two-point conversion from Griese. In the 2nd qtr. at Oak. (11/5), Smith caught his fourth pass of the night, the 416th of his career, moving him into third place on the franchise list, ahead of Vance Johnson (415). Smith posted his fourth 100-yd game of the season vs. N.E. (10/28), catching six passes for 159 yds. and one touchdown, which came on a season best 65-yd. pass play. The 100-yd game was the 25th of Smith's career, giving him the franchise record, passing Lionel Taylor. He also passed Steve Watson (6,112) for third place on the Broncos' all-time list for receiving yards, finishing the day with 6,171. The 159-yd. effort was his second best of '01, fifth best of his career. Smith caught his 400th career pass in the 1st qtr. at S.D. (10/21)—an 8-yd. reception from Brian Griese—and topped the 6,000-yd. career receiving mark in the 4th qtr. on a 13-yd. reception from Griese. At Sea. (10/14) Smith claimed sole possession of sixth place on the Broncos all-time list for touchdown receptions, catching his 38th to break a tie with Vance Johnson. He also moved into fourth on the club's career receptions list in the Sea. contest, passing Riley Odoms (396). Smith posted his third 100-yd receiving game of the season vs. K.C. (10/7), catching eight passes for 110 yds. (13.8) and a touchdown. It marked the first time he had 100 yds. receiving in three of the season's first four games and was also his 24th career 100-yd game (regular season), tying him with Lionel Taylor for the franchise record. Smith led the team vs. Balt. (9/30), catching five passes for 83 yds. (16.6), with a long of 31 yds. to move into fourth on Denver's career receiving yds. list, passing Riley Odoms (5,755) and Vance Johnson (5,695). He continued to be the go-to guy in Wk. 2 at Ariz. (9/23), catching a franchise-record 14 passes for 162 yds. (11.6) with two touchdowns, one a fingertip grab in the back of the end zone and other his longest catch of the night, a 34-yarder. He broke the club record of 13 catches in a game, which he shared with three others. It was also his second straight 100-yd. game to open the season, the first time he has started the season in such a manner and only the second time a Bronco has done so (Mike Pritchard, 1994). Smith's second touchdown of the Arizona contest was the 36th of his career, tying Steve Watson for seventh place in Bronco annals. His 162 receiving yds. represent his third best single-game total. Smith started the season opener against the Giants (9/10) and caught nine passes for 115 yds. with one touchdown. He also rushed twice for 24 yards. He finished the season ranked third on the Broncos' career receiving yds. list (6,756); third in career receptions (470) and tied for first in receiving touchdowns (44).

2000: Smith—voted to play in his first Pro Bowl; named second-team All-NFL by the Associated Press; named first-team All-Pro by USA Today, College & Pro Newsweekly and Football Digest and All-AFC by Pro Football Weekly and Football News—started at wide receiver in all 16 games and led the AFC in receiving yards (2nd NFL) while ranking third in the AFC (4th NFL) in receptions, with a career-high 100 catches for a franchise-record 1,602 yds. (16.0), an average of 100.1 yards per game. He also had eight receiving touchdowns with a long of 49 yds., and had one touchdown rushing (50 yds.) among his six carries for 99 yds. (16.5). Smith's 100 receptions tied for second most by a Bronco in a single season, trailing only teammate Ed McCaffrey's franchise-record 101 this year and matching the previous standard held by Lionel Taylor (1961). It made him the 28th player in NFL history to reach 100 in a season, and made Smith and McCaffrey the second tandem in NFL history each catch 100 passes in a season (Detroit's Herman Moore-123 and Brett Perriman-108 did so in 1995). Meanwhile his 1,602 receiving yards tied for ninth most in a season in NFL history (with San Diego's Lance Alworth, 1965). Smith was named AFC Offensive Player of the Month for November when he caught 26 passes for 479 yds. (18.4) and one touchdown, and rushed three times for 78 yds. (26.0) and a score to help the Broncos to a 4-0 record. It was the first such honor of his career. Smith ranked third in the AFC (8th NFL) in yds.-per-catch avg.; tied for sixth in the AFC (T11th NFL) with eight receiving touchdowns; ranked fifth in the AFC (10th NFL) in total yards from scrimmage (1,701); led the NFL in receiving first downs (77) while ranking seventh (11th NFL) in total first downs (80); tied for eighth in the AFC (T12th NFL) in third-down receiving (22-408-18.5-LG49-3TD) and tied for the NFL lead in pass receptions of 20 yards or longer, with 28 (Torry Holt). Stretching back to the 1999 season Smith finished 2000 on a tear in his last 25 games, averaging 6.4 receptions for 93.1 yds. per game (160-2,328). Smith caught eight passes for 80 yds. in the finale vs. S.F. (12/23) to reach 100 catches for the season, becoming just the 28th player in NFL history to accomplish the feat in a single season. He also moved past Steve Watson (353) for sixth place on Denver's all-time receptions list (now 357). Smith claimed several more milestones at K.C. (12/17) with his club-record eighth 100-yd. receiving game of the season (6-101), breaking the previous standard of seven set by Taylor in 1960. It was also the 21st of his career, second most in franchise history (Lionel Taylor-24). He had another strong performance vs. Sea. (12/10) with 82 yds. on five receptions (16.4), and also rushed for a first down on a 5-yd. carry out of the backfield. In Denver's 38-31 win two weeks earlier at Sea. (11/26) Smith broke Steve Watson's franchise record for receiving yards in a season (1,244) by catching four passes for 82 yds. (20.5) to reach 1,314 yds. for the year, with four games remaining. He also had the best rushing day of his career at the Seahawks with three carries for 78 yds. (26.0), including a career best 50-yd. run for a touchdown. Smith was key to the Broncos' 38-37 win over S.D. (11/19), hauling in a game-high 11 receptions for a career-high 187 yds. (17.0), the second highest total in club history. It was Smith's seventh 100-yd. receiving game of the season, tying the previous club record. Smith caught his eighth touchdown pass of the season in the S.D. game, a 26-yarder from Gus Frerotte to trigger a 21-point 4th-qtr. outburst that propelled Denver to the dramatic come-from-behind win. It was the 33rd receiving TD of his career, moving him into sole possession of eighth place on the Broncos' all-time list. Smith also went over the 5,000-yd. receiving mark for his career in the game. In the 10th game, vs. Oak. (11/13), Smith went over the 1,000-yd. mark for the season, his fourth straight 1,000-yd. campaign to extend his own franchise record. Additionally, his four career 1,000-yd. receiving seasons ties the franchise record held by Lionel Taylor (1960-61, '63, '65). A week earlier at the Jets (11/5) Smith tied a franchise record with his third straight 100-yd. receiving game (Taylor-1961, Mark Jackson-1988 and Anthony Miller-1994), catching five passes for a game-high 134 yds. In the contest he passed Mark Jackson (4,746) for seventh place on the club's all-time receiving yards list, and now has 5,413. He eclipsed the 100-yd. receiving mark for the second straight week at Cin. (10/22) with 110 yds. and a touchdown on seven receptions. Additionally, his touchdown was the 32nd receiving score of his career, tying him with Al Denson for eighth in franchise history. It marked the second straight week both Smith and Ed McCaffrey topped the 100-yard receiving mark, just the second time in franchise history that feat has occurred, and the first since 1962. A week earlier vs. Cleve. (10/15) he caught a career high three touchdown passes, on a day in which he moved past Haven Moses (302) for seventh place on the Broncos' all-time career receptions list. Smith caught five passes for 111 yds. (22.2) vs. the Browns and rushed once for 8 yds. and recorded his seventh career multiple-touchdown game (1 with 3 TDs, 6 with 2). In Week 5 vs. New England (10/1) Smith tied the franchise record for receptions, hauling in 13 passes for 160 yds. (14.8) with a long of 27. In the game he also moved into eighth place on the Broncos' all-time receiving yards list, passing Rick Upchurch (4,369). Versus K.C. (9/24) Smith caught eight passes for a game-high 134 yds. (16.8) with a long of 25. At Oak. (9/17) he had seven catches for the second week in a row. He was sensational vs. Atlanta (9/10) with a game-high seven receptions for 117 yards (16.7) and two touchdowns—one from 11 yds. and one from 37. It was his 14th career 100-yard game and catapulted him over the 4,000-yard mark in career receiving. In the opener at St. Louis (9/4) Smith caught three passes for 88 yds. (29.3) with a long of 47 and one touchdown and rushed once for 8 yds. Smith's touchdown came on a 25-yd. pass from Brian Griese in the 2nd qtr. to put Denver ahead 17-14. Smith started in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and caught three passes for 58 yds. (19.3) with a long of 24. He also rushed twice for three yds. (1.5) with a long of 7.

1999: Smith started 15 games and led the team with 79 receptions for 1,020 yds. (12.9) and four touchdowns with a long of 71. He ranked fifth in the AFC in receptions and ninth in receiving yards, and was magnificent over the final nine games, catching 60 passes for 726 yds., an average of 6.7 and 80.7 per game. By finishing with 1,020 yards, Smith became the first player in franchise history to post three consecutive seasons with 1,000 or more receiving yards, and together with Ed McCaffrey (1,018) made it two straight seasons with two receivers topping 1,000, and the fourth time overall in franchise history. Smith missed the Kansas City game (9/19) due to a groin injury suffered late in the 1st half of the opener vs. Miami (9/13). His first two catches of the season came in Week 3 at Tampa Bay (9/26), and he added three more for a season-high 90 yds. vs. the Jets (10/3). Smith's total vs. the Jets included a 71-yd. reception from Brian Griese in the 1st qtr. He topped all receivers at Oakland (10/10) with 79 yds. on seven receptions (11.3), including his first touchdown of the season, on a 3-yd. toss from Griese just before halftime, despite being hampered by a sore groin. Smith posted his highest yardage total of the season vs. Minnesota (10/31) with seven catches for 117 yards—his 10th career 100-yd. game and first of the year. He led all receivers the following week at San Diego (11/7) with five catches for 70 yds. (14.0), and was the leader again in terms of receptions a week later at Seattle (11/14) with seven for 63 yds. (9.0). Smith posted a then-season-high eight catches in recording his second 100-yd. performance of the season (106) vs. K.C. (12/5). His third touchdown of the season came from Griese at Jacksonville (12/13), and gave Denver a 7-0 1st-qr. lead. He led all receivers with 6 catches for 92 yds. (15.3) for the game. Smith caught his fourth touchdown of the season vs. Seattle (12/19) on a 14-yd. pass from Griese to move into sole possession of ninth place on Denver's career receiving-touchdown list. He was outstanding in the season-finale vs. S.D. (1/2), tying his career high with nine receptions for a game-high 106 yards (11.8), pushing him over the 1,000-yard receiving mark for a franchise-record third consecutive season. It was Smith's third 100-yard game of the season, and the 12th of his career. Smith was recognized by his teammates for his toughness and dedication by being chosen as the team's nominee for the Ed Block Memorial Award for Courage.

1998: Smith—named second-team All-NFL by College & Pro Football Newsweekly—started at wide receiver in all 16 games and continued to establish himself as one of the league's most productive receivers with a team-leading 86 receptions (fourth best in club history) for 1,222 yds. (third best in club history) for a 14.2-yard average and six touchdowns, including a long of 58 (vs. K.C., 12/6). He also gained 63 yards rushing on six reverses (1-37 at Wash., 9/27; 1-9 vs. Phila., 10/4; 1-8 vs. Jax., 10/25; 1-7 at K.C., 11/16; 1-12 at S.D., 11/29 and 1-(-10) at Miami, 12/21) to give him 1,285 total yards from scrimmage, and threw one pass, a 14-yd. completion to John Elway (vs. Oak., 11/22). Smith tied for second in the AFC (T3rd NFL) in receptions and ranked second in the AFC (4th NFL) in receiving yards, while also tying for fifth in the AFC (T8th NFL) in third-down receptions (24-352) and ranking eighth (14th NFL) in first downs earned (63). With 1,222 receiving yards this season, on the heels of his 1,180-yd. campaign in 1997, Smith became just the fifth player in franchise history to post 1,000 or more receiving yards in back-to-back seasons (Lionel Taylor, 1960-61; Steve Watson, 1983-84; Anthony Miller, 1994-95 and Shannon Sharpe, 1996-97), and with Ed McCaffrey (1,053) gave Denver two 1,000-yd. receivers in the same season for just the third time in franchise history (1994, '97). He tied his then-career high for receptions vs. Philadelphia (10/4) with 7 for a then-season-high 95 yds. (13.6) and his first two touchdowns of the season. The first score came on an 8-yd. toss from Bubby Brister in the 1st qtr. and a 31-yarder in the 3rd. A week later at Seattle (10/11) Smith shattered his previous career bests with a game-high eight receptions for 136 yards (17.0) and a touchdown, on a season best 50-yd. reception from John Elway in the first quarter. He posted six catches for 95 yds. (15.8) and a touchdown (28 yds., 4th qtr.) vs. Oakland (11/22), but made the day even more memorable by throwing a pass back to Elway for a 14-yd. completion after taking the ball on a reverse. It was Smith's first career pass completion in the NFL, though he was a part-time quarterback in college. Smith would later haul in a 28-yd. TD pass from Elway in the 4th qtr. to increase Denver's lead to 26-14. At San Diego (11/29), Smith tied his then-career high with 8 receptions and posted his eighth career 100-yd. game (101), while adding a TD on a 13-yd. pass from John Elway in the 2nd qtr. He would post back-to-back 100-yd. games for the first time in his career by virtue of his career-high-tying eight receptions for a career-high 165 yds. (20.6) the next week vs. Kansas City (12/6), which included his longest catch of the season (58 yds. from Elway). It was Smith's ninth career 100-yd. game and his third in '98, as he joined Ed McCaffrey (103 yds.) to give Denver two 100-yd. receivers in the same game for the first time since Nov. 20, 1994 vs. Atlanta (Cedric Tillman—175, Anthony Miller—102). He closed the regular season on a high note vs. Seattle (12/27), catching a career-high nine passes for 158 yards (17.6) and a touchdown with a long of 36. His touchdown came on a 33-yd. pass from Elway in the 2nd qtr. to tie the score at 7-7. Smith started at wide receiver in all three postseason games and was the Broncos' leading receiver with 12 receptions for 260 yds. (21.7) and two touchdowns, including an 80-yard score in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31). His previous postseason long accounted for his other touchdown, on a 28-yd. strike from John Elway in the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9). In that contest he caught four passes for a team-high 71 yards, including the 28-yd. touchdown reception from Elway early in the 4th qtr. Smith added three more receptions for 37 yds. (12.3) with a long of 15 in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17). But he saved his best for last with a five receptions for a game-high 152 yards in the Super Bowl, including the 80-yd. scoring reception from Elway in the 2nd qtr. to give Denver a 17-3 lead. It tied for the second longest play from scrimmage in Super Bowl history and the longest pass play in Broncos postseason history, and was the longest in the club's Super Bowl history. Additionally, Smith's yardage total was the fourth-highest in a Super Bowl game, and moved him into second place (from seventh) on the Broncos' postseason career list (480).

1997: Smith started all 16 games at wide receiver and finished second on the team in receptions with 70 for a team-leading 1,180 yards (16.9) with a long of 78 yards and 12 touchdowns in his first year as a full-time starter. The yardage and touchdown totals both represented the third-highest single-season totals in franchise history at the time. He also carried the ball five times on reverses for a net total of 16 yards rushing (3.2), with a long of 21 (at San Diego, 11/30). Smith's 16.9 yards per catch average ranked third in the NFL, and he also ranked fourth in the AFC (T8th NFL) in receiving yardage, tied for 10th (T18th NFL) in receptions, tied for first in the AFC (T2nd NFL) in receiving touchdowns, tied for third (T5th NFL) in total touchdowns and points scored by a non-kicker (T6th NFL), and 11th in total yards from scrimmage (1,143). Smith posted six 100-yard receiving performances in 1997, the second-highest total in franchise history behind Lionel Taylor's seven in 1960. He posted back-to-back two-touchdown games in Weeks Four and Five, and added two more multi-TD games (at Pittsburgh, 12/7 and vs. San Diego, 12/21). Smith posted nine receptions of 30 yards or longer during the regular season (30, 37t, 40, 41, 43, 47, 59t, 72t and 78), plus two more in postseason play (43t and 40). His 72- and 78-yard receptions represent the two longest completions by Elway to the same receiver in a single season. Smith also returned one punt for 12 yards against St. Louis (9/14). It all began on opening day for Smith vs. Kansas City (8/31) when he set then-career highs with five receptions for 122 yards to lead both teams. His total included a career best 78-yard reception from John Elway late in the second quarter to set up a Denver field goal. It was the third longest non-scoring reception in Broncos history. Versus St. Louis (9/14), he caught four passes for 126 yards and two scores (from 72 and 38 yards out) in Denver's 35-14 victory. Smith set a career high for receptions (7) in Week Four vs. Cincinnati (9/21)—a feat he would match at Kansas City on 11/16—on 82 receiving yards in Denver's 38-20 victory. He also caught two touchdowns in the game from 1 and 8 yards out for his second straight two-TD game. Smith posted a new career high with 130 yards on five receptions in the Broncos' 34-13 Monday Night win over New England in Week Six (10/6). He registered his first NFL rushing attempt at Oakland (10/19), gaining 14 yards on a reverse, to go along with five passes for 58 yards (11.6). His next 100-yard game came vs. Seattle (11/2) when he caught five passes for 114 yards (22.8), including a 59-yard touchdown reception from Elway in the third quarter to put Denver ahead 27-20. It was Smith's fourth 100-yard game of '97, the most by a Bronco since Anthony Miller had five in 1994. Smith also carried once on a reverse and gained three yards. The next Sunday vs. Carolina (11/9), Smith caught four passes for 40 yards (10.0), including his sixth touchdown of the season on a 20-yard pass from John Elway in the third quarter of Denver's 34-0 romp. At Kansas City (11/16), he tied his career high with a game-high seven receptions for 114 yards, including a long of 43, to notch his fifth 100-yard game of the season, tied for second most in franchise history. His 43-yarder in the first quarter will likely be remembered as one of the most outstanding the league has seen in recent years, as Smith showed remarkable concentration while drawing a pass interference call and nearly being tripped as the ball neared his hands. Smith's seventh touchdown (15 yds.) came vs. Oakland (11/24) on Monday Night Football, and he added his eighth the following week at San Diego (11/30) on a 5-yard reception from Elway, in addition to a career best 21-yard rushing gain on a reverse. Smith came up big at Pittsburgh (12/7), catching four passes for 115 yards with a long of 41 and two touchdowns, his third two-touchdown game of the season. His scores came on a 37-yard pass play from Elway in the first quarter and a 25-yard play from Elway in the second, as he eclipsed the 1,000-yard receiving mark for the season. He closed the regular season on a high note vs. San Diego (12/21) with his fourth two-TD game, catching four passes for 53 yards and scoring on tosses of 11 and 15 yards from Elway. In the postseason Smith started all four games at wide receiver and caught 11 passes for a team-leading 205 yards (18.6) with a long of 43 yards, which accounted for his only postseason touchdown. The play came in the first quarter of Denver's Wild Card win over Jacksonville (12/27/97) and gave the Broncos a 14-0 lead. He would catch three passes for 99 yards and one TD on the day. All three receptions came in the first half, and came on third down, including a later 40-yard reception on 3rd-and-6 from the Broncos' 12-yard line. That kept the drive alive, as Denver went on to score for a 21-0 lead. His and Ed McCaffrey's blocking from the wide receiver position helped turn reasonable gains on the ground into long ones as Denver racked up 310 yards rushing in the contest, a franchise postseason record and the fifth most ever in a playoff game. In Denver's 14-10 AFC Divisional Playoff win at Kansas City (1/4/98), he caught two passes for 19 yards. His longest reception, of 17 yards, came on a 3rd-and-7 play late in the second quarter and spotted the Broncos at the Chiefs' 4-yard line, from which they would punch it in to produce their first touchdown of the day and take a 7-0 lead. In Denver's 24-21 AFC Championship Game victory at Pittsburgh (1/11/98), he caught a career playoff-high six passes for 87 yards to lead all Broncos receivers. His longest catch covered 20 yards. Smith started at wideout in Super Bowl XXXII vs. Green Bay (1/25/98), but he did not catch a pass, only recording a fair catch on a punt in the ballgame.

1996: Smith handled the role of No. 3 receiver for much of the season and caught 16 passes for 237 yards (14.8) and two touchdowns, returned 23 punts for 283 yards (12.3) with a long of 36 and posted one special teams tackle after beginning his season late (vs. Baltimore, 10/20) because of injury. Smith's 12.3-yard punt return average was second best in the AFC and fourth in the NFL. His first touchdown of the year was the game-winner in Game 9 at Oakland, as he hauled in a 49-yard John Elway pass with 4:14 remaining to give the Broncos a 22-21 win on Monday Night Football. On the night he finished with a career-high four receptions for 72 yards. It was the second time in his two seasons that Smith had caught a game-winning pass, following the dramatic final-play 43-yard touchdown grab from Elway to push the Broncos over the Redskins 38-31 (9/17/95) during his rookie season. His other '96 touchdown came against Oakland in Denver's 24-19 victory Dec. 15. Smith was inactive for the first six games of the season while recovering from a broken collarbone suffered in the preseason at Dallas (8/17). He saw his first action of the regular season vs. Baltimore (10/20), catching one pass for 35 yards and returning a kickoff for 29 yards. Smith regained his No. 1 punt returner job prior to the Kansas City game (10/27), in which he fielded seven punts for 99 yards, including a 36-yarder in the first quarter. He also caught two passes for 22 yards against the Chiefs. Smith began throwing and catching again during the week of the Tampa Bay game (9/15). Prior to his injury, Smith was pushing Ed McCaffrey in competition for a starting wide receiver spot, and was the No. 1 punt returner. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Jacksonville, Smith caught one pass for 15 yards, returned two punts for 12 and made two special teams stops.

1995: Smith was used in all 16 games both at wide receiver and on special teams, where he recorded six tackles and forced a fumble. On the season he had six catches for 152 yards (25.3) with a long of 43, and returned four kickoffs for 54 yards (13.5) with a long of 17. Smith's spectacular game-ending 43-yard touchdown reception from John Elway in Week Three gave the Broncos a 38-31 win over Washington (9/17), and was the first of his NFL career. Smith out-jumped and out-dued Redskins All-Pro Darrell Green for the ball before landing just inside the end zone as time expired. He recorded his first career kickoff return, for 16 yards, at New England (10/8), and forced a fumble on special teams coverage vs. San Diego (11/19). Smith had his best all-around performance in the season-finale at Oakland (12/24), starting at wide receiver as the Broncos opened in a four-wide receiver set. He caught two passes for 56 yards, including a 26-yarder in the fourth quarter on a third-and-10 play, helping the Broncos continue their game-tying drive, en route to a 31-28 come-from-behind victory.

1994: Smith spent the season as a member of the Broncos' practice squad, showing steady improvement each week, after being signed as a rookie free agent.

COLLEGE: Smith enjoyed a stellar career at Missouri Southern, finishing with league records in career receiving yards (3,043) and touchdowns (34). He also broke the school's reception record (153), and was named first-team All-America by AP, Kodak, Football Gazette and NCAA Div. II sports information directors after his senior year. In his final season, Smith caught 63 passes for 986 yards and 13 touchdowns, and was a finalist for the Harlon Hill Award, given annually to the top football player at the Division II level. He was named Missouri Southern's Outstanding Graduate in 1994, after completing his collegiate studies with three degrees, in economics and finance, general business, as well as marketing and management.

PERSONAL: Smith was all-league, all-area, all-state and an Arkansas all-state game choice as a senior at Texarkana High School in Texarkana, Ark. He lettered twice in football and basketball and once in baseball. A 1994 graduate of Missouri Southern, Rod holds three different degrees: economics and finance, general business, as well as marketing and management. He began supporting an orphanage in Mexico City in 1994, and in August 1997 had the opportunity to meet the children when the Broncos traveled to Mexico City for a preseason American Bowl game. Rod hosted a group of the children for several hours at the team hotel and donated Broncos hats and t-shirts to more than 400 others. Smith has two sons, Devin and Roderick, Jr., and a daughter, Vanessa. He was born May 15, 1970 in Texarkana, Ark. Rod makes his home in Parker, Colo.

ADDITIONAL STATISTICS: Special teams tackles — 1995 (6), 1996 (1), TOTAL (7). Smith attempted one pass in 2002, an incompletion intended for Ed McCaffrey (at Baltimore, 9/30/02), for a passer rating of 39.6; and one pass in 1998, a 14-yard completion to John Elway (vs. Oakland, 11/22/98), for a passer rating of 118.8. Jimmy Spencer begins his 12th season as a player in the NFL, and in 2003, will take on the additional role as assistant defensive backs coach. He becomes the first person in the NFL to perform a player/coaching role since Dan Reeves with the Dallas Cowboys in 1970-71. Spencer, who has played the past three seasons with the Broncos, has played in 161 career games (79 starts) with the Saints (1992-95), Bengals (1996-97), Chargers (1998-99) and Broncos he has 26 interceptions and 123 passes defended, to go along with 435 tackles (377) solo. He has also played in two postseason contests. He entered the NFL in 1991 as an eighth-round selection (215th overall) of the Washington Redskins, and spent his rookie season on the club's practice squad.

2002: Spencer played in five games and was declared inactive for the other 11. He made all four of his tackles for the season at Oak. (12/22). He recorded his first pass defense of the season vs. K.C. (12/15), a week after seeing his first defensive action at the Jets (12/8). Prior to New York, his only playing time came on special teams at K.C. (10/20).

2001: Spencer played in all 16 games and started one (vs. Oak. 12/30), posting 23 tackles (21 solo), three interceptions, nine pass defended and a fumble recovery, while adding eight more stops on special teams. Spencer posted a season-high five tackles vs. Oak. (12/30), starting his only game of the season in place of Denard Walker (sprained knee) at right cornerback. He made his second interception in as many weeks—and his third of the season—at K.C. (12/16) with 14 seconds remaining in regulation, and returned it 18 yards. It was his 26th career interception, and came after Spencer had played most of the game at right cornerback because Walker left the game in the 1st qtr. with a knee injury. He made his second interception of the season—in the 3rd qtr. vs. Sea. (12/9) a week earlier, while also posting two tackles. Spencer registered a then-season-high three solo tackles at Mia. (12/2) and deflected a pass, one week after posting a season-high four passes defended at Dal. (11/22), along with two solo tackles. He made one tackle vs. Wash. (11/18) and recovered a fumble at the Redskins' 37-yd. line, while also adding a special teams stop and two passes defended. Spencer had an outstanding game vs. S.D. (11/11), registering two solo tackles and grabbing an interception. He played only on special teams at Ariz. (9/23), at Sea. (10/14) and at S.D. (10/21). Spencer replaced Walker after the starter left with a concussion vs. K.C. (10/7).

2000: Spencer saw action in all 16 games and made six starts, posting 40 tackles (35 solo), including a sack (-1), six passes defended, a forced fumble and three interceptions (career-high 102 return yds./2 TDs). He also had three tackles and a fumble recovery on special teams. Spencer started four games late in the season (at Sea., 11/26; at N.O., 12/3; vs. Sea., 12/10 and at K.C., 12/17) in place of the injured Ray Crockett (hamstring), and when not starting was the team's nickel back. Spencer picked off a pass in three straight games (at Sea., 11/26; at N.O., 12/3 and vs. Sea., 12/10)—one shy of the team record (Tyrone Braxton, 1996)—and returned two for touchdowns. His 79-yd. return of a Jon Kitna pass vs. Sea. (12/10) was the third longest in franchise history and the longest of his career, and was his third NFL touchdown. With it he became the first Bronco since Mike Harden in 1986 to score twice on interception returns in the same season, and the fourth in club history to do so (also John Rowser, 1976 and Nemiah Wilson, 1967). His other scoring return (21 yds.) came at Sea. (11/26) in a 38-31 Denver win, and was the first of his career. Spencer forced a fumble at N.O. (12/3) in the same game in which he recorded his second interception of the year. His sack—the first of his career—came vs. Oak. (11/13), as he dropped Rich Gannon for a 1-yd. loss among his season-high seven tackles. He

This season, Jimmy is taking on dual roles. In addition to his role as a cornerback for the Broncos, Spencer becomes the first person in the NFL since Dan Reeves in 1970-71 to act as a player/coach. Jimmy is also very involved in youth leadership activities in the Tampa, Fla., area and is curator of the Jimmy Spencer Foundation, which helps send underprivileged kids from his hometown of Belle Glade, Fla., to camps for sports, education, computers and music. He spends time during the offseason speaking in schools about education, drug abuse and religion.

also started vs. Cleve. (10/15) as the Broncos opened the game in a nickel defensive alignment, and started at Oak. (9/17) in place of Crockett. Crockett was injured on the opening kickoff, but entered the game on the first series and Spencer returned to his nickel back role. Spencer saw action in a reserve role in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31). He signed with the Broncos as a free agent March 6, after being released by the Chargers Feb. 10.

1999: Spencer tied for the San Diego team lead with four interceptions and led the squad with 16 passes defended, despite missing the final two weeks of the season. He also ranked fifth on the team with 48 tackles. Spencer started seven of the 14 games in which he played before being placed on injured reserve Dec. 20. He notched his first interception of the season in Week Two against Indianapolis, then two weeks later replaced Charles Dimry in the starting lineup at Detroit and racked up a career-high 12 tackles and two pass breakups in a 20-10 victory. Spencer recorded six tackles and his second interception of the season in Week Six against Green Bay and added his third pick of the year in Week 12 against Cleveland. Spencer had a solid all-around game in Week 13 at Seattle in a 19-16 win, recording his fourth interception of the year to go along with four tackles and two pass breakups.

1998: Spencer signed as free agent with San Diego Sept. 1 and saw action in 15 games with four starts, missing only the opener vs. Buffalo (9/6). He finished the season with 29 tackles (all solo), one interception and eight passes defended, and added seven tackles on special teams. His three starts came in games 12-14 at right cornerback. Spencer also started at the third cornerback spot and had an interception vs. Oakland (12/20). Spencer had five tackles vs. Denver (11/29) and had a season-high six tackles at Seattle (12/13).

1997: Spencer played in all 16 games and started nine at right cornerback for Cincinnati, posting 38 tackles, one interception and 12 passes defended. He had the Bengals' first interception of the season in the opener vs. Arizona (8/31), tipping a second-quarter pass intended for Rob Moore and catching his own deflection. He also added seven tackles in the contest. Spencer tied for the team lead with nine tackles at Baltimore (9/7).

1996: Spencer started 14 of 15 games at right cornerback for the Bengals and posted a career-high 73 tackles while tying his career high with five interceptions and recovering a fumble. Spencer led the Bengals with a career-high 21 passes defended, which was one better than teammate and Pro Bowl starter Ashley Ambrose. He scored his first career touchdown on a 59-yd. fumble return vs. Houston (10/6) and added a 19-yd. interception return to set up a Cincinnati field goal. Spencer also intercepted a Steve Young pass at Cincinnati's 2-yd. line in the fourth quarter at San Francisco (10/20). He intercepted a Vinny Testaverde pass in endzone in the second quarter at Baltimore (11/3) and had a season-high 34-yard return on an interception against Jim Kelly at Buffalo (11/17). Spencer was limited to a reserve role in Game 4 because of a thumb injury, and was also inactive for Game 16 at Houston due to a sprained knee, breaking a string of 79 consecutive games played. He originally joined the Bengals as an unrestricted free agent on March 21, 1996.

1995: Spencer started 15 of 16 games for New Orleans and led the team with four interceptions, while also tallying 66 tackles and 16 passes defended. The latter figure led the team and was seven more than the next-highest player. He was awarded a game ball for the Oct. 29 win at San Francisco when he had one interception, three passes defended and seven solo tackles. Spencer had two interceptions, both of which led to scores, in a victory vs. Carolina (11/26) and tied his career high with nine tackles at the Jets (12/24), while adding one interception and two passes defended. He became the first Saint to lead the team in interceptions for two straight seasons since Dave Waymer in 1985-86.

1994: Spencer earned the starting left cornerback job for all 16 games and set a career high with five interceptions, while adding 19 passes defended. He led the team in both interceptions and passes defended and earned a game ball vs. the Giants (10/2) when he had first career interception and four passes defended. Spencer intercepted two passes vs. the Rams (10/23), including one on the final series to clinch a 37-34 victory.

1993: Spencer was the Saints' nickel back for the second straight year, starting against multiple-wide receiver sets. He played in all 16 games (3 starts), posting 25 tackles and six passes defended. Spencer also tied for the team lead with three fumble recoveries, including one he returned 53 yards in a season-opening win over Houston. His special teams play included a blocked PAT at Philadelphia (12/26).

1992: Spencer started four of 16 games for New Orleans in his first season of NFL action. He was signed by the Saints April 12 and saw considerable action, playing cornerback in nickel and dime packages. He had 38 tackles and tied for fourth on the team with nine passes defended. Spencer's four starts came in games when the Saints opened with five or six defensive backs. He had a season-high six tackles vs. Chicago Sept. 13. In the Saints' Wild Card Playoff loss to Philadelphia, Spencer recorded one tackle and one special teams tackle.

1991: Spencer entered the NFL as an eighth-round selection of the Washington Redskins (215th overall) in the 1991 NFL Draft. He spent his entire rookie season on Washington's practice squad.

COLLEGE: A three-year letterman at Florida, Spencer started every game as a senior. He collected 29 tackles and one interception as a senior. He also stood out on special teams where he had three blocked kicks, including two place kicks and one punt. Spencer majored in sociology.

PERSONAL: Spencer was a first-team all-state Class 3A choice at defensive back and Palm Beach County Player of Year at Glades Central High School in Belle Glade, Fla. He also played quarterback, throwing for 1,137 yards and seven touchdowns as senior. Spencer was selected by a committee appointed by former Florida Governor Bob Martinez to attend a youth leadership conference at the University of Tampa in 1986. He is very involved in youth leadership activities in the Tampa area and is curator of the Jimmy Spencer Foundation, which helps send underprivileged kids from Belle Glade to camps for sports, education, computers and music. He spends time during the offseason speaking in schools about education, drug abuse and religion. James Arthur Spencer, Jr., was born March 29, 1969, in Manning, S.C. He and his wife, Tanya, reside in Davie, Fla.

Donnie Spragan completed his first full season with the Broncos last year, and in 2003 looks to compete for a role at linebacker by adding depth at the position. He played in all 16 games last season, and was a major contributor on special teams, making 13 tackles and forcing a fumble on a kickoff return at Oakland (12/22). He originally signed with the Broncos Dec. 11, 2001, spending the final four weeks of the season on the practice squad, and then signed a new contract for 2002 on March 22. Spragan entered the NFL in 1999 as an undrafted free agent with New Orleans and spent his rookie season on injured reserve, before being waived at the end of training camp in 2000. He played in the NFL Europe League in the spring of 2001, then signed with Green Bay July 18, with whom he went through training camp before being waived Sept. 2. He spent a month on Cleveland's practice squad before signing with Denver.

2002: Spragan played on special teams in all 16 games and tied for second on the team with 13 tackles. At Oak. (12/22) he made two special teams tackles and forced a fumble by Raiders kick returner

Marcus Knight that was recovered by Reuben Droughns. Spragan saw his only defensive plays from scrimmage—and first of his career—at Sea. (11/17).

2001: Spragan spent a month on Cleveland's practice squad before signing with Denver on Dec. 11, where he was on Denver's practice squad for the last four weeks of the season. Prior to the season, he was selected in the third round of the 2001 NFL Europe League free agent draft by Amsterdam. He finished the Admirals' season with 44 tackles (36 solo), including 3 1/2 sacks, plus two forced fumbles and one pass defensed.

2000: Spragan re-signed with New Orleans prior to training camp (July 15), but was released a month later. He then spent the remainder of that season out of football.

1999: Spragan was signed by New Orleans as an undrafted rookie free agent and spent the entire season on injured reserve after suffering a torn anterior cruciate ligament in his knee during the preseason.

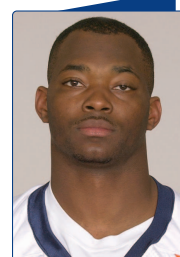

COLLEGE: Spragan was a two-year starter and three-time letterwinner at Stanford (32 games/21 starts), earning All-Pac-10 honors as a senior. He finished his career with 103 tackles (75 solo), five sacks, three interceptions and 12 stops for loss. In his final year, he won the Jim Reynolds Award as the team's most inspirational senior. Spragan transferred to Stanford after Pacific dropped its football program following the 1995 season. While at Pacific, he appeared in nine games and recorded 20 total tackles, one stop for a loss and one fumble recovery.

PERSONAL: A civil engineering major, Spragan was all-league at linebacker and quarterback at Logan High School in Union City, Calif., where he also lettered three times in basketball and twice in track. Donald Spragan was born July 12, 1976 in Oakland, Calif.

Quincy Stewart comes to Denver after playing his first two seasons in the NFL for the San Francisco 49ers (2001-02), and will add depth at linebacker. Stewart has played in 31 career games, including all 16 as a rookie, and has excelled on special teams, picking up 26 tackles, including nine solo in 2002. He was a four-year performer at Louisiana Tech, where he saw action in 46 career games and totaled 334 tackles (205 solo), 5.5 sacks and three interceptions. He signed with the Broncos as a free agent April 2, 2003.

2002: Stewart saw action in 15 games, mostly on special teams, finishing with team high 17 special teams tackles, but also recorded six tackles at linebacker. He posted three special teams tackles (2 solo) vs. St. Louis (10-6), and tallied three tackles (1 solo) vs. Arizona (10-27). Stewart registered one tackle and his first career interception—in the end zone to stop fourth quarter scoring threat at San Diego (11-17). Additionally, he was credited with three special teams tackles against the Chargers. He missed his only game of the season when he was inactive with neck injury at Arizona (12-21), but came back the next week and posted one tackle at St. Louis (12-30). He was credited with one special teams tackle vs. N.Y. Giants (1-5) in NFC Wild Card Game, and was inactive at Tampa Bay (1-12) in NFC Divisional Playoff Game.

2001: Stewart Played in all 16 games as rookie, seeing action mostly on special teams, adding nine stops. He recorded two special teams tackles (one solo) at Carolina (11-18), and tallied three more (one solo) at Indianapolis (11-25). Stewart totaled two solo tackles on special teams in NFC Wild Card Game at Green Bay (1-13), in first postseason action of career.

COLLEGE: Stewart was a four-year linebacker at Louisiana Tech, where he saw action in 46 games during his career. He finished with 334 tackles (205 solo), 16 tackles for loss, 5.5 sacks and three interceptions. As a senior, he totaled 78 tackles (60 solo), three sacks (19 yards) and one interception in 12 games. Stewart started all 11 games at linebacker as junior, and ranked second on team with 112 tackles, including four for loss, and career-high two interceptions. His sophomore season, he saw action in all 12 games, starting seven at linebacker, and registered 111 tackles and five passes defended. He appeared in all 11 games as freshman, finishing with 33 tackles, including 21 solo.

PERSONAL: Stewart was a fullback and linebacker at John Tyler (Texas) High School. He led the team to a state championship as junior, led team in tackles as junior and senior. He and his wife, Gladys, reside in Tyler, TX. Quincy Jermaine Stewart was born March 27, 1978 in Tyler, Texas.

CORNERBACK

Lenny Walls begins his second season with the Broncos, having made the 2002 roster as an undrafted rookie free agent. He played in 13 games last season, primarily in a special teams capacity, making six tackles and forcing a fumble in his first-career game. After a season of rapid development, Walls will compete for a starting job at right cornerback this season. He was a standout at Boston College, where he played two years (21 games/16 starts) and recorded 84 tackles (64 solo), including four sacks, as well as nine interceptions, 17 pass breakups and one touchdown on an interception return. He signed with the Broncos as an undrafted rookie free agent in 2002.

2002: Walls played in 13 games on special teams and had six tackles, to go along with a forced fumble and a fumble recovery. Walls was inactive vs. Ariz. (12/29), at the Jets (12/8) and vs. K.C. (12/15). He saw his only defensive action at Balt. (9/30), in a game in which he added two special teams tackles. Walls downed a punt on the 1-yd. line vs. Buf. (9/22). He forced a fumble by Rams kick returner Lamar Gordon in the 1st qtr. of the opener vs. St. L. (9/15), and teammate KaRon Coleman made the recovery.

COLLEGE: Walls spent two seasons at Boston College, where he played two years (21 games/16 starts) and recorded 84 tackles (64 solo), including four sacks, as well as nine interceptions, 17 pass breakups and one touchdown on an interception return. He transferred to B.C. from City College of San Francisco, where he played one year, 1999, and won a national junior college championship playing on the same team as Broncos' quarterback Nick Rolovich. He began his career at St. Mary's College in Moraga, Calif. (1997-98).

PERSONAL: Walls was team captain his senior year at Galileo High School in San Francisco, Calif., where he won the state AAA title that year. He also excelled on the track team (100m and 4x100m) and was a two-time all-city selection in basketball. Walls' twin brother, Kenny, plays basketball at B.C. Walls. He was born Sept. 26, 1979 in San Francisco, Calif.

LINEBACKER

Al Wilson has not only developed into one of the best linebackers in the NFL, but has firmly established himself as one of the leaders on the Broncos' defensive unit over his first four seasons in Denver. The group's emotional leader, he is known for his hard-hitting style and relentless pursuit of ball-carriers. Wilson's hard work has paid off in 2002, as he earned his second straight Pro Bowl nod. Last season, Wilson led the team in tackles with 199 (158 solo) and added five sacks for -35 yards. He helped guide the defense to an overall ranking of sixth in the NFL, including fourth against the rush. Denver's defense held it's opponents to just 93.1 yards rushing per game, and 3.9 yards a carry. Wilson, in four years, has displayed the exceptional talent and bone-crushing hitting ability that made him the club's first-round draft choice (31st overall) in 1999. In 63 career games (57 starts) Wilson has posted 519 tackles (399 solo), including 14 sacks (-92), as well as three interceptions (21 ret. yds.), 23 passes defended, four forced fumbles and four fumble recoveries. He has also started one postseason game and posted six tackles (4 solo). He was selected by the Broncos in the first round (31st overall) of the 1999 NFL Draft.

2002: Wilson—voted to his second straight Pro Bowl and named second-team All-NFL by Football Digest—played in all 16 games at middle linebacker and started 15. He led the team with a career-high 199 tackles (158 solo), including five sacks (-35) to tie his career high, as well as four passes defended, a forced fumble and two fumble recoveries. Wilson's 199 tackles rank seventh on Denver's all-time single-season list, and are the most by a Bronco since Randy Gradishar posted 224 in 1983. He posted double figures in tackles in 12 of the 16 games, and had three sacks in a four-game stretch in mid-season. Wilson posted 16 tackles (14 solo) for the second consecutive week at Oak. (12/22), after recording his fifth sack of the season (-5) among his 16 stops (12 solo) at the Jets (12/8), getting to Chad Pennington for a 5-yd. loss. Wilson was not credited with a start at S.D. (12/1), but did play every snap after the first series and posted a career-high 21 tackles (18 solo), his second 20-tackle effort of the season. Versus Ind. (11/24) he recovered a Peyton Manning fumble, his second, in the 2nd qtr. which led to a Broncos touchdown. Wilson added his fourth sack of the season at Sea. (11/17), dropping Matt Hasselbeck for an 8-yd. loss. He posted his third sack of the season at N.E. (10/27) when he dropped Tom Brady for an 8-yd. loss among his 13 tackles (9 solo). He also forced a fumble in the game and posted his first two pass breakups of the season. Wilson had a then-career-high 20 tackles (17 solo) at K.C. (10/20), including a sack (-5) of Trent Green. He recovered his first fumble by Chargers' running back LaDainian Tomlinson in Wk. 5 (10/6), after it was stripped by Izell Reese. Wilson's first sack came in the opener vs. St. L. (9/8) when he dropped Kurt Warner in the 3rd qtr. for a 9-yd. loss.

2001: Wilson—selected to play in the Pro Bowl for the first time in his career—started all 16 games at middle linebacker and ranked second on the team with a career-high 128 tackles (98 solo), including three sacks (-25), while also adding seven passes defended and a forced fumble. He was voted a co-defensive captain for the second half of the season, along with fellow linebacker John Mobley. They joined Bill Romanowski who was selected at the beginning of the year. Wilson made at least five tackles in every game of the season. Wilson posted 11 tackles (8 solo) in the season finale at Ind. (1/6)—his second-highest total of the season—and deflected one pass. He recorded his second nine-tackle performance in as many weeks vs. Sea. (12/9) to raise his season total to 102, topping the 100-tackle plateau for the second year in a row. Wilson posted nine tackles (8 solo) at Mia. (12/2) after recording a team-high seven stops at Dal. (11/22), with one pass defended. He had nine tackles vs. Wash. (11/18), while forcing one fumble and knocking down one pass. Versus S.D. (11/11) he led the team for the second week in a row, registering seven tackles (6 solo) to go along with a pass breakup, following an eight-tackle (6 solo) effort on Monday Night Football at Oak. (11/5). At S.D. (10/21) Wilson tallied nine tackles (7 solo), including one sack of Doug Flutie for a loss of 7 yds. He made a season high 14 tackles at Sea. (10/14), including one tackle for a loss. In Wk. 4 vs. K.C. (10/7) Wilson registered four tackles and a sack of Trent Green for 10 yds. His first sack came in Wk. 2 at Ariz. (9/23), as he dropped Jake Plummer for a loss of 8 yds. Wilson posted eight tackles (6 solo) in the season opener vs. the Giants (9/10).

2000: Wilson played in 15 games and started 14 at middle linebacker, and ranked fourth on the team with a career-high 104 tackles (73 solo), including a career-high five sacks (-31), while also adding one forced fumble, six passes defended and three interceptions. He posted a career-high 15 tackles at K.C. (12/17) for his first career double-digit tackle effort. Wilson's third interception of the season came vs. Sea. (12/10) and was returned 20 yds. to the Seahawks' 7-yd. line to set up Denver's first touchdown in a 31-24 win. He raised his sack total to five when he dropped San Diego's Ryan Leaf for a 6-yd. loss (11/19) in Denver's 38-37 win. Wilson posted a sack in back-to-back games when he dropped Cincinnati's Scott Mitchell for a 9-yd. loss in Week 8. A week earlier vs. Cleve. (10/15) he sacked Tim Couch for an 11-yd. loss. Wilson raised his season sack total to 2 by sharing a sack of Drew Bledsoe with Trevor Pryce vs. N.E. (10/1). He returned to action in Wk. 3 at Oak. (9/17) after missing a game (vs. Atl., 9/10) with a dislocated shoulder and posted six tackles (4 solo), including 1.5 sacks (-5) of Raiders QB Rich Gannon. He also forced a fumble in the game. Wilson started at middle linebacker in the opener at St. Louis (9/4) and was spectacular, posting his first two career interceptions. His first came at the Denver 7-yd. line with St. Louis threatening, and his second came in the end zone early in the 4th qtr. as he ran stride-for-stride with Marshall Faulk and held perfect position. Wilson also added four tackles (3 solo). He dislocated his left shoulder in the contest and was inactive for Denver's Week 2 contest vs. Atlanta (9/10). Wilson did not start but played the entire Cleve. game (10/15) because the Broncos opened the game in a nickel defensive package. Wilson started at middle linebacker in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and posted six tackles (4 solo) in his first postseason game.

1999: Wilson played in all 16 games and started 12, and ranked third on the team in tackles with 88 (70 solo), including one sack (-1), as well as six passes defended, a forced fumble and two fumble recoveries. He also has three special teams tackles. Wilson moved into a starting role at middle linebacker in Week 3 after John Mobley was placed on injured reserve. He played the full game but did not start vs. the Jets (10/3) and Seattle (12/19) because the Broncos opened both games with an extra defensive back (Chris Watson/Tory James). After Mobley's injury in Week 2, Glenn Cadrez moved from the middle to fill Mobley's weakside spot, opening the door for Wilson. Wilson played primarily in goal-line situations and on special teams in the season-opener vs. Miami (9/13), but saw extensive action at middle linebacker at K.C. (9/19) after Mobley left the game in the 1st qtr, and posted nine tackles (8 solo). Wilson put together the finest all-around game of his young career at Oakland (10/10), matching his previous high-tackle total with 9 (8 solo), and adding a sack, a forced fumble and a pass defended. He tied his career high again at New England (10/24) with nine stops (5 solo). Wilson recovered his first NFL fumble at San Diego (11/7), at the Chargers' 31-yd. line to set up a Broncos touchdown. His second fumble recovery came vs. Seattle (12/19) and set up a Broncos field goal after a Maa Tanuvasa sack of Jon Kitna, which produced the fumble.

COLLEGE: Wilson was a four-year letterwinner and three-year starter at Tennessee, where he was team captain as a senior, helping lead the Volunteers to a 13-0 record and the National Championship. Starting at middle linebacker he recorded 77 tackles (54 solos) with four sacks (-41) and six stops for losses (-7). Wilson was a second-team All-America selection by Football News, American Football Coaches Association and the Football Writers Association, and was a first-team All-Southeastern Conference pick. He was an Associated Press second-team All-SEC selection as a junior, starting at left outside linebacker and also calling the defensive signals. Wilson also started at left outside linebacker as a sophomore. He majored in educational business training.

PERSONAL: Wilson was a Blue Chip Illustrated, SuperPrep and Prep Football Report All-America selection at Central Merry High School in Jackson, Tenn., as well as all-state and West Tennessee Player of the Year by the Lawrenceburg Quarterback Club. He recorded 163 tackles with three forced fumbles as a linebacker and rushed for 1,160 yards with 15 touchdowns his senior year. He rushed for more than 1,000 yards in each of his three years on offense — two at tailback and one at quarterback. Wilson was a three-year starter for a team that reached the playoffs in his junior and senior seasons. He also participated in basketball and track. Aldra Kauwa Wilson was born June 21, 1977 in Jackson, Tenn. He has a son, Carrington Demond Wilson (5), and resides in Aurora, Colo.

TACKLE

George Foster has a solid, athletic frame with very quick feet and good strength. He played in 43 career games at Georgia, making 10 starts. Generating a strong finish once he gets his hands on the defender, he is very quick out of his stance and stays focused at the job in hand. Foster sits well, keeps his weight over his feet, and is a strong reach blocker who delivers a powerful hand punch. Regarded as the Bulldog's best combination blocker (pass/rush), the two-year starter provided valuable leadership and depth to the offensive line with his ability to play either tackle position. Foster saw his senior season hindered after suffering a right wrist injury in a car accident in August 2002, but returned the lineup for the final nine games of the season.

2002: Foster dislocated his right wrist in an auto accident in August, which left him sidelined for several weeks. He came back and appeared in the final nine games of the year, making one start at strong-side tackle vs. Kentucky, in which he registered eight knockdowns and cleared a rush lane used by tailback Ronnie Powell to score a 1-yard touchdown. Against Auburn, his block leveled a pair of defenders to spring tailback Musa Smith for a 32-yard touchdown run as the team totaled 335 yards. He was the recipient of Bill and Jane Young Endowed Football Scholarship. Foster was a member of a team that won Georgia's first SEC championship in 20 years, defeated Florida State for the Nokia Sugar Bowl title, set school record for most victories in a season (13) and finished with a final national ranking of No. 3. He helped pave the way for the SEC's top scoring offense (32.14) and passing efficiency offense (138.91). At the conclusion of the season, he was selected to play in the Senior Bowl postseason all-star game.

2000: Foster was a key member of the offensive line's second unit, lining up at right tackle. One of Georgia's top offensive line reserves, he played in every game of the season (12), and in the Bulldog's 37-14 victory over Virginia in the 2000 Oahu Bowl, Georgia's fourth consecutive bowl victory.

1999: Foster played in every game, earning his first career start in the Bulldogs' game against Louisiana State at right tackle. He earned valuable playing time in Georgia's 28-25 come-from-behind overtime victory over Purdue in the Outback Bowl—the biggest comeback in bowl history (from 0-25 deficit) and the first major sporting event of the 21st century (11:07 a.m., Jan. 1, 2000).

1998: Foster redshirted as a freshman.

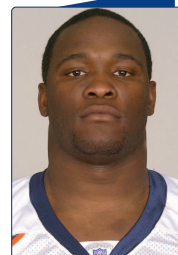

HIGH SCHOOL: Foster attended Southeast (Macon, Ga.) High School and was named AAAA All-State first-team by the Atlanta Journal-Constitution and the Georgia Sports Writers Association. He was named to the Super Southern 100 and Top 50 in Georgia by the Atlanta Journal-Constitution and the Macon Telegraph's "Sweet 16". An all-city pick in his junior and senior seasons, Foster also earned all-Middle Georgia honors as a senior by the Macon Telegraph. He was the Most Valuable Team Lineman his junior and senior seasons, and named a team captain his senior season. Foster had 25 tackles and seven quarterback sacks his senior season, and was the recipient of the Coaches' Most Improved Player Award in both his sophomore and junior seasons.

PERSONAL: Foster was born June 9, 1980 in Macon, Ga.

LINEBACKER

Terry Pierce was the undisputed leader of the Kansas State defensive unit, and has a knack for feeling out the play while it is developing. The three-year starter for the Wildcats recorded 216 tackles (145 solos) with eight sacks (-49 yards), 33 stops for losses of 103 yards, one interception, a forced fumble, a fumble recovery and 10 deflected passes in 35 career games. Pierce earned All-American second-team honors, and was an All-Big 12 Conference first-team selection by The NFL Draft Report, earning second-team All-Big Twelve honors from the league's coaches his senior year. He is the type of linebacker that fills holes with force and has superb quickness at the point of attack. Using his strength to easily disengage from the larger blockers, he utilizes his hands and arms to deliver a solid jolt to tight ends in the short area passing game.

2002: Pierce earned All-American second-team honors, and was an All-Big 12 Conference first-team selection by The NFL Draft Report, earning second-team All-Big 12 honors from the league's coaches. Pierce also earned academic all-district as a senior. He lined up at middle linebacker, recording a career-high 110 tackles (70 solo) with five sacks (-39 yards) and 16 stops for losses of 63 yards. Additionally, he deflected six passes, had one quarterback pressure and one caused a fumble. Against Western Kentucky, Pierce posted eight tackles (7 solo) with one stop behind the line of scrimmage, and he had 10 tackles (7 solo) against Eastern Illinois. Pierce registered 12 tackles (6 solo) and returned an onside kickoff six yards against Southern California, which earned him Big 12 Co-Defensive Player of the Week honors. Against Colorado, he was in on eight tackles (6 solo) with one pressure. Pierce deflected three passes and made seven tackles (4 solo) against Oklahoma State. In the Wildcats game against Texas, he collected 12 tackles (7 solo), assisted in sacking Chris Simms for a 3-yard loss and made another stop behind the line of scrimmage. He followed that game up with 10 tackles (5 solo), 1.5 sacks (-6 yards) and a deflected pass against Baylor. In the following game against Iowa State, he had 10 tackles (9 solo), sacked QB Seneca Wallace for an 18-yard loss and recovered a fumble. Pierce closed out his career with two stops for minus 7 yards, two pass deflections and six tackles (4 solo), against Arizona State in the Holiday Bowl.

2001: Pierce was an All-Big 12 Conference first-team selection by The NFL Draft Report and the Kansas City Star, adding honorable mention from Associated Press and the league's coaches. In addition, he was an academic All-Big 12 Conference choice, and named the Wildcat's Most Improved Defensive Player for the second-straight year. Playing in 11 games with 10 starts at middle linebacker, he recorded 68 tackles (49 solo) with two sacks (-10 yards) and 11 stops for losses of 26 yards. He posted a career-high 12 tackles, including a career best 10 solo stops, at Nebraska (11/10), and was one of three Wildcats with double-figure tackles against the Cornhuskers, joining Josh Buhl and Jon McGraw. Pierce twice led the team in tackles with eight vs. Texas A&M (10/20) and nine at Iowa State (11/3), and was credited with five solo tackles in the opener at USC (9/8). He picked up his first sack of the season against New Mexico State (9/22) to highlight five tackles on the day, including two tackles for a loss. Pierce had nine tackles against Colorado (10/6), including eight solo stops, and registered a team-high eight tackles against Texas A&M (10/20). Against Iowa State (11/3), he had a season-high three tackles for a loss, including one sack, to go with team best nine tackles.

2000: Pierce was a freshman All-American second-team pick by The Sporting News, and named Big 12 Conference Defensive Freshman of the Year by the league's coaches—the fourth Wildcat under Bill Snyder to be named Big 12 Conference Defensive Freshman of the Year (Chris Canty '94, Travis Ochs '95, Mark Simoneau '96). He was an academic All-Big 12 Conference choice, and listed as the team's Most Improved Defensive Player. Starting the final six games of the year and playing in 13 total, he recorded 38 tackles (26 solos) with six stops for a loss (-14 yards), one interception and three passes defended. Pierce made his defensive debut against Ball State, and racked up seven tackles (6 solos). Against Iowa State, he had three solo tackles and his first career interception. He totaled seven tackles in each game against Nebraska and Missouri, and had three tackles in the Cotton Bowl against Tennessee.

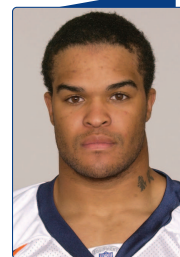

1999: Pierce redshirted as a freshman, and was the winner of Kansas State's Overachiever Award—given for work done in the team's strength and conditioning program.

HIGH SCHOOL: Pierce attended Western Hills High School in Fort Worth, where he earned all-district and all-state honors in Class 4A in 1998. He was a four-year letterwinner, and earned first team all-district as a freshman, sophomore and junior before winning district defensive MVP honors as a senior. A second-team all-state pick by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, Pierce also was a third-team all-state pick by the Texas Sportswriters Association. He was the team MVP as a sophomore, junior and senior, and a Super Prep All-Southwest Region selection. Pierce had 93 solo, 41 assisted tackles, 10 tackles for losses of 134 yards, three interceptions (1 for touchdown), one safety, one forced fumble and one recovery in 1998, including three 20-tackle games as a senior. He averaged more than 14 tackles per game throughout his high-school career, and was labeled as the "Most-Fear'd" Defensive Player in District 9-4A as a senior. Pierce also participated in track & field for four years, finishing third at the 4A State meet for the shot put as a junior, and winning three district titles in the shot and two in the discus entering his senior year. He won the shot put and discus at the 1999 Texas Relays with a career best throw of 59-0.50 and 192-4 respectively. He set a Texas all-class record in the discus with a throw of 210-9 to become the first Texas athlete to throw the discus more than 200 feet. The toss was the 11th best all-time at the high-school level and came in the 4A regional meet.

PERSONAL: Terry DeWayne Pierce was born June 21, 1981 in Fort Worth, Texas. He was a pre-law major at Kansas State, and says that his ambition is to one day attend law school. Pierce's uncle, Ozell Cooks, played football at North Texas State.

RUNNING BACK

Quentin Griffin is a powerfully built, compact runner with good hands and pass-catching ability. As a three-year starter at Oklahoma, Griffin rushed for 3,756 yards (5.4 avg) on 702 carries and 44 touchdowns during his career. Only Billy Sims (3,813, 1975-79), Steve Owens (3,867, 1967-69) and Joe Washington (3,995, 1972-75) gained more yards rushing in Sooners history. Griffin's 702 attempts rank second in school annals behind Owens (905), and his 44 scores rank third on the OU all-time record list behind Sims (50) and Owens (56). He also caught 146 passes for 1217 yards (8.3 avg) and six touchdowns, with only Trent Smith (154, 1999-2002) and Antwone Savage (148, 1999-2002) caught more passes in Oklahoma history. His 4,973 all-purpose yards rank second on the school's career-record chart behind Joe Washington (5783), and he joined Sims (52) and Owens (56) as the only players in school history to score 50 times in a career.

2002: Griffin was a consensus All-Big 12 Conference first-team selection, and started every game, rushing for a career-high 1,884 yards and 15 touchdowns on 287 carries (6.6 avg). In the process, he topped the school single season-record of 1,762 yards by Billy Sims in 1978. Griffin also snatched 35 passes for 264 yards (7.5 avg) and three scores. He scored 108 points, which was the most by a Sooner in a season since Sims tallied 132 in 1979. In addition, he gained 2,148 all-purpose yards (153.4 ypg), surpassing the OU season-record of 1,946 yards by Greg Pruitt in 1971. He ran for over 100 yards in 12 games, topping the single season-record of 10 set by Sims in 1978. His three 200-yard performances were one shy of the school-record four by Sims in 1978. Averaging 13.9 yards per carry, Griffin totaled 237 yards on 17 attempts against Tulsa. Against Missouri, he carried 16 times for 105 yards including a 53-yard score and had four catches for 44 yards. In the game against Texas, Griffin rushed 248 yards on 32 carries with a 17-yard touchdown and added a 3-yard touchdown reception. He had 21 rushes for 128 yards and a solo tackle against Colorado, and added 141 yards on 23 carries and caught a 6-yard touchdown against Texas A&M. Griffin rushed 17 times for 152 yards and three touchdowns while adding another touchdown on a 35-yard reception against Baylor, and carried 21 times for 207 yards and three touchdowns, including a 62-yarder against Texas Tech. In the Big-12 Championship Game, he rushed 29 times for 188 yards with 27 and 36-yard touchdowns, and caught four passes for 28 yards. He finished his college career in the Rose Bowl against Washington State with 144 yards on 30 attempts and a 19-yard touchdown.

2001: Griffin was an All-Big 12 Conference third-team pick by the league's coaches and adding honorable mention by the Associated Press. He started every game, carrying 182 times for a team-high 804 yards (4.4 avg) and nine touchdowns, and finished second on the team with 55 receptions for 440 yards (8.0 avg) and two touchdowns. His 55 catches rank third on the school's single-season record list for most ever by a running back. Griffin rushed 15 times for 71 yards and a touchdown while catching 10 passes for 111 yards and a 14-yard touchdown against North Texas. Against Tulsa, he scored three touchdowns, and carried 11 times for 90 yards and caught eight passes for 72 yards, including an 18-yard touchdown reception. He was named the MFVP of the Cotton Bowl against Arkansas, after catching nine passes for 32 yards and carrying 19 times for 56 yards.

2000: Griffin was an All-Big 12 Conference first-team selection by the Associated Press, adding second-team honors from the league's coaches. He also earned All-Big 12 Academic second-team honors. Griffin led the National Champion Sooners with 189 carries for 783 yards (4.1 avg) and 16 touchdowns, and was second on the squad with 45 receptions for 406 yards (9.0 avg). Against Rice, he totaled 117 yards with three touchdowns on 14 runs, and added 11 yards on three catches. He set a school game-record and tied the conference game mark as he ran for six touchdowns against Texas, while racking up 23 carries for 87 yards and two receptions for 57 yards. Against Texas A&M, he collected 70 yards and two touchdowns on 17 carries, and posted 42 yards on three receptions. Griffin rushed for 115 yards on 21 carries and made five catches for 59 yards against Oklahoma State. In the Big-12 Championship Game vs. Kansas State, he rushed for a career-long 87 yards on one carry and hauled in seven passes for 38 yards. He finished out the season in the Orange Bowl against Florida State, helping the Sooners capture the National Championship by scoring the game's lone touchdown on a 10-yard run.

1999: Griffin was destined to redshirt before injuries to the Sooner running backs unit forced him into action. He missed the first seven games of the regular season, but still finished as the Sooners' second-leading rusher with 285 yards on 44 carries (6.5 avg) and four touchdowns. He added 11 catches for 107 yards (9.7 avg) and a score.

HIGH SCHOOL: Griffin attended Aldine-Nimitz (Aldine, Tex.) High School and was the District 5A-21 Offensive Player of the Year. He was also a finalist for the Houston Area Offensive Player of the Year, after he rushed for 1,053 yards and eight touchdowns while sharing time at running back. He guided his team to a combined 22-8 record his final three seasons, including a 9-1 mark his last year.

PERSONAL: Quentin LaVell Griffin was born Jan. 12, 1981 in Houston, Texas.

DEFENSIVE TACKLE

Nick Eason comes to Denver as one of the team's two fourth-round draft picks, and looks to make an impact on the defensive line. He is a hard worker, can hold the point and does a nice job of fighting off low blocks. As a three-year starter at Clemson, he started 35 of 47 games, recording 153 tackles (87 solo) with 15 sacks for -128 yards, 30 stops for losses of 194 yards and 38 quarterback pressures. Additionally, he caused and recovered a pair of fumbles, and deflected six passes. Following his senior year, he was named to the Goodworks Team by the American Football Coaches Association, and became just the second Tiger to be honored. He was the only Atlantic Coast Conference player to be named to the team, which honors players for their considerable community service activities. Eason will join his defensive line mate at Clemson, Bryant McNeal, this season in Denver. The Broncos selected Eason with their second of three fourth-round picks (114th overall), and McNeal with their third fourth-round pick (128th overall).

2002: Eason was an All-Atlantic Coast Conference first-team selection, after starting all year at weakside defensive tackle, and was the first player in school history to graduate with two years of eligibility remaining. On the season, he recorded 62 tackles (36 solo) and ranked second on the team with seven sacks for minus 63 yards. Additionally, he picked up nine stops for losses of 70 yards and had 17 quarterback pressures. Against Louisiana Tech, Eason had four pressures, a 12-yard sack and seven tackles (6 solo). He posted six tackles (4 solo), two sacks for minus 29 yards and two pressures against Georgia Tech. Eason tallied six tackles (4 solo), including one for a 5-yard loss against Virginia, and was credited with an eight-tackle performance against Wake Forest. He had seven tackles (6 solo), two sacks for losses of 9 yards and two pressures against Duke, and closed with six tackles (4 solo), including an 8-yard sack, two stops for losses of 10 yards and two pressures against North Carolina.

2001: Eason started every game at strongside defensive tackle except one (vs. North Carolina State), recording 37 tackles (19 solo) with seven stops for losses of 19 yards and 10 quarterback pressures. He also had two fumble recoveries and deflected two passes. Against Central Florida, Eason posted three tackles and a stop for a 2-yard loss, while against Wofford, he garnered six tackles (4 solo), including one for a 6-yard loss and recovered a fumble. Against both Florida State and Duke, Eason made four tackles and a stop behind the line of scrimmage. He delivered a season-high five tackles with a stop for a 2-yard loss against Wake Forest, and finished the season with three tackles against Louisiana Tech in the Humanitarian Bowl.

2000: Eason was named Clemson's Defensive MVP, which was quite an honor considering he was a member of a defense that featured four first-team All-ACC players (award was voted on by the Clemson coaches). He also won the Hustle Award on defense and the Dedication Award for the defense. Eason tied with All-American Keith Adams as the team leader in quarterback sacks with seven (tied for eighth in the ACC), and ranked 12th on the Clemson team and second among defensive linemen in tackles with 36 (21 solo). Of those 36 tackles, his 11 stops for losses of 97 yards ranked second behind Adams. Eason posted a 9-yard sack against The Citadel, and registered a 9-yard sack against Missouri. Against Wake Forest, he posted four tackles including a 5-yard sack and two stops for losses of 11 yards. Eason picked up an 8-yard sack, two stops for minus 22 yards and three solo hits against Duke. He came back with five tackles (4 solo), an 11-yard sack and two stops behind the line of scrimmage against North Carolina, made a season-high nine tackles (6 solo), including a 7-yard sack and two stops for losses of 20 yards against Georgia Tech.

1999: Eason started the season opener at weakside defensive end vs. Marshall and appeared in every game, recording 18 tackles (11 solo), one sack for 2 yards and three stops for losses of 8 yards. He picked up his first career sack vs. North Carolina, and posted three hits and a stop for a 4-yard loss against Maryland. He collected a season-high five tackles including a stop for a 2-yard loss against South Carolina.

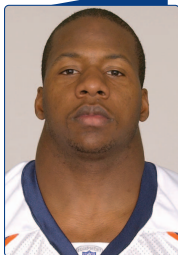

1998: Eason redshirted as a freshman.

HIGH SCHOOL: Eason attended Toombs County (Lyons, Ga.) High School and averaged over 10 tackles per game as a senior, and collected 75 tackles, eight sacks, and seven recovered fumbles as a junior. He earned Class 2A all-state honors as a tight end and all-conference as a junior and senior, in addition to being a WTOC first-team selection. A four-year letterman in football, he played in the Georgia North/South All-Star Game. Eason also was named the Class 2A Georgia Basketball Player of the Year, and earned All-Region on the hardwood. Adding a third sport to his resume, Eason was a two-year letterman in track, and also received the U.S. Marine Corp Excellence Award.

PERSONAL: Eason graduated in August, 2001 with a degree in Sociology, and is presently working on his master's degree in Human Resource Development. One of the leaders at Clemson in terms of community service, he was honored with a Top Six Award, which is presented by the ACC to the top six student-athletes at each school in terms of community service. He was named a Top Six winner each of the past four years, the only ACC athlete to hold that distinction. After football, he aspires to work for the secret service. An active participant in FCA, he traveled to Spain with an FCA group, where he lectured to youth groups about American sports, and also worked out with a Spanish Rugby team. Born Nicholas Eason on May 29, 1980, he resides in Lyons, Georgia.

BRYANT McNEAL*6-4 • 248 • CLEMSON

BORN: July 13, 1979 in Swansea, S.C.
HIGH SCHOOL: Swansea High School, Swansea, S.C.
RESIDES: Swansea, S.C.
DRAFTED: Fourth Round (128th overall)

90DEFENSIVE TACKLE

Bryant McNeal will join his former Clemson teammate, Nick Eason, as a pair of defensive linemen looking to add depth to the Broncos' defensive line. A two-year starter for the Tigers, McNeal recorded 156 tackles (89 solo), 21 sacks (-147 yards), 46 quarterback pressures, five forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries in 48 career games (25 starts). One of the top pass rushers in college football, McNeal has drawn comparisons to Miami Dolphin Jason Taylor for his explosive burst off the line of scrimmage. He is quick off the snap and shows the ability to use his hands effectively to escape blocks. Additionally, McNeal has good ball reaction skills, dropping off in coverage quickly, plus he keeps his feet and strings plays wide with his lateral agility. McNeal was the third of three fourth round (128th overall) selections by the Broncos in this year's draft.

2002: McNeal was an All-Atlantic Coast Conference second-team selection after he recorded a career-high 64 tackles (40 solo) and led the team with eight sacks for minus 56 yards. He added 14 quarterback pressures, three deflected passes and a fumble recovery. Against Georgia, McNeal recovered a fumble and raced 55 yards for a touchdown, adding four tackles with two pressures. He made four tackles, a pressure and deflected a pass against Louisiana Tech. In the Tigers' game against Ball State, McNeal registered five tackles, two sacks for minus 16 yards and one pressure, and followed that up with a 10-yard sack, six tackles and a pressure against Virginia. McNeal totaled six solo tackles and a pressure against Wake Forest, and made five tackles (3 solo), including a stop for a 4-yard loss, three pressures and a pass deflection vs. Duke. Against North Carolina, McNeal posted five tackles (4 solo), a pressure and an 8-yard sack, while against Maryland, had five tackles, adding a 10-yard sack, a pass break-up and two stops behind the line of scrimmage. He collected seven tackles including a 5-yard sack vs. South Carolina.

2001: McNeal earned the Solid Rock Award, given to the team's most consistent down lineman, after finishing third in the Atlantic Coast Conference with eight sacks (-51 yards), and tying for second in caused fumbles with four, and ninth in stops for losses with 12 for minus 61 yards. He added 18 quarterback pressures and a pass deflection, and also recovered a fumble. Against Wofford, McNeal made six tackles (4 solo), two sacks for minus 15 yards, four stops for losses of 19 yards and a pressure. He posted six tackles and three pressures against Georgia Tech, and against North Carolina, had a 3-yard sack, six tackles and two stops behind the line of scrimmage. In the Tigers' game vs. Wake Forest, McNeal recorded a career-high 11 tackles (5 solo), including a 17-yard sack. He collected five tackles (3 solo) with a pressure and a stop for a 5-yard loss against Louisiana Tech.

2000: McNeal played in every game, recording 23 tackles (10 solo) with two sacks for minus 13 yards and three stops for losses of 14 yards. He was credited with six quarterback pressures and caused a fumble. Against Wake Forest, McNeal totaled four assisted stops, and picked up a 3-yard sack. McNeal came back with a 10-yard sack and a season-high five tackles against Maryland, and played in the Gator Bowl against Virginia Tech.

1999: McNeal was named the team's Defensive Rookie of the Year, and played in every game as a reserve defensive end, recording 15 tackles (9 solo) with three sacks for minus 27 yards and six stops for losses of 40 yards. He also was credited with eight quarterback pressures. Against Marshall, he had two tackles and two pressures, and against North Carolina, McNeal registered his first career sack (-9 yards). Against Wake Forest, he picked up a 9-yard sack and made three solo stops. McNeal posted three tackles, a 9-yard sack, two stops for losses of 15 yards and a pressure against South Carolina, and finished the year in the Peach Bowl against Mississippi State with an assisted tackle and a pressure.

1998: McNeal redshirted as a freshman.

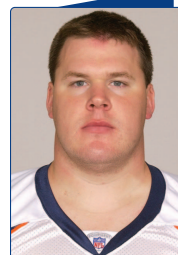

HIGH SCHOOL: McNeal attended Swansea (S.C.) High School and was a Class 2A All-State and All-Region selection both his senior and junior seasons. In addition to playing in the North-South All Star game, he was the region Defensive Player of the Year. An All-Area Lineman of the Year, McNeal was voted the team's Defensive Player of the Year. McNeal was a High School Sports Report Top 100 selection, a Super Prep honorable mention All-American and a PrepStar All-American defensive lineman. He also was a three-year letterman in basketball and one year letterman in track, and was voted the basketball squad's MVP in his senior season. As an all-area selection in basketball his senior season, he averaged 12 points and 10 rebounds a game.

PERSONAL: McNeal was a Parks, Recreation and Tourism Management major at Clemson and comes from a large family (6 brothers and five sisters). Born Bryant Ashley McNeal on July 13, 1979, he resides in Swansea, S.C.

BEN CLAXTON*6-2 • 301 • MISSISSIPPI

BORN: July 30, 1980 in Dublin, Ga.
HIGH SCHOOL: Dublin High School, Dublin, Ga.
RESIDES: Dublin, Ga.
DRAFTED: Fifth Round (157th overall)

53CENTER/GUARD

Ben Claxton comes to the Broncos as the team's first of two fifth-round draft choices (157th overall). Displaying the quickness needed to consistently get off the snap, his fluid lateral agility, showing proper slide on the move will help him compete for a spot on the final roster. A mainstay on what was regarded as one of the nation's best offensive lines at Mississippi, Claxton anchored a front wall that allowed the fewest quarterback sacks of any team in the Southeastern Conference over the last four years (50 total, Georgia is second with 84). He played in 44 career games for the Rebels, while making 37 starts.

2002: Claxton was an All-Southeastern Conference first-team selection by The Sports Xchange, a second-team pick from the league's coaches and was an All-American third-team choice by The NFL Draft Report. He was also the recipient of the J. Richard Price Courage and Compassion Award, which goes to a rising senior interior lineman who, in the opinion of his coaches, has demonstrated extraordinary courage and unusual compassion in his dedication to his team and to Ole Miss. Claxton was also nominated for the Rimington Award, given annually to the nation's top center, and was One of 15 players nominated for the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame National Scholar-Athlete post-graduate Scholarship Award. Seeing action in every game and starting 12, Claxton did not allow a sack (the team had the fewest sacks in the SEC, 17) and delivered 97 key blocks/knockdowns for an offense that generated 4,663 yards. Against Louisiana-Monroe, he was credited with touchdown-resulting blocks on runs of 1 and 4 yards by Robert Williams as the team totaled 378 yards. Following that up against Memphis, he blocked defensive end Tony Brown to protect Eli Manning's blind side as the Ole Miss quarterback tossed a 20-yard touchdown to Bill Flowers. He took down defensive tackle Tron LaFavor as Pearson burst up the middle for a 4-yard touchdown run in a 17-14 upset victory over Florida, and finished the day with eight knockdowns. Against Arkansas State, he posted 10 knockdowns, including a key hit that let Manning find the time to lob a 2-yard touchdown to Flowers as the offense piled up 508 yards. Claxton was named Ole Miss Quarterback Club Player of the Week after the game against Alabama. In the Rebels' game against Mississippi, he halted a blitz by upending strong safety Michael Gholar on Manning's 77-yard touchdown bomb to Chris Collins, and later blocked linebacker Mario Haggan as Manning went into the end zone for a 1-yard scoring run. Claxton played in the Independence Bowl against Nebraska and delivered a block on nose guard Jon Clanton as Toward Sanford went up the middle for a 1-yard touchdown run. The team amassed 365 yards vs. the Huskers.

2001: Claxton was a consensus All-Southeastern Conference second-team choice by the league's coaches and the Associated Press, after he started every game. He made 83 key blocks/knockdowns on an offensive line that allowed the fewest sacks (10) in the SEC, and helped the offense average 415.0 yards per game. Against Murray State, Claxton teamed with left tackle Terrence Metcalf to clear a path for a 1-yard touchdown run by tailback Joe Gunn as Ole Miss totaled 499 yards. He sent defensive tackle Demarco McNeil to the ground with a block to spring fullback Charles Stackhouse for a 5-yard touchdown run as the team gained 315 yards against Auburn. He made a timely upfield block on defensive end Dennis Johnson when Chris Collins took a reverse for a 36-yard scoring scamper around the left side, as the offense piled up 497 yards vs. Kentucky. In the season finale, Claxton made nine knockdowns, including one that upended linebacker Hunter Hillenmeyer on Gunn's 10-yard touchdown run, as the team closed with 487 yards vs. Vanderbilt.

2000: Claxton appeared in eight games, making two starts. He opened the year as the starting center, but suffered a fractured left ankle in the season opener vs. Tulane, and missed four games. Claxton returned to action later in the season, and earned a starring job in the Music City Bowl vs. West Virginia, where he blocked defensive tackle Antwan Lake on Eli Manning's 23-yard touchdown pass to Jamie Armstrong as the team gained 484 yards.

1999: Claxton was a freshman All-American choice by The Sporting News, and an Freshman All-SEC team pick by the Knoxville News Sentinel on an offensive line that allowed only 16 sacks, the second-lowest total in the conference. He received the Offensive Newcomer Award from Rebel Club of Jackson, after he saw action on virtually every play, starting 12 games. The Rebels averaged 182.5 yards rushing, which ranked second in the SEC.

1998: Claxton played vs. Memphis and Vanderbilt, before injuring his right knee and missing the remainder of the season. He was awarded a medical hardship, thereby retaining four years of eligibility. Additionally, he received the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame Scholar-Athlete Award from the Ole Miss Chapter.

HIGH SCHOOL: Claxton attended Dublin (Ga.) High School, where he was a first-team All-State AAA pick in 1997, and also ranked as a Top 21 recruit in Middle Georgia. He also earned first-team All-Region 2-AAA, first-team Heart of Georgia and first-team All-Middle Georgia. Claxton was one of Max Emfinger's National Super 800 Bluechips, and was selected to play in the Georgia-Florida High School All-Star Game in Atlanta's Georgia Dome. As a junior in 1996, Claxton was first-team All-Region 2-AAA, Heart of Georgia All-Star, All-Middle Georgia, and honorable mention All-State. He helped lead Dublin High to a 13-2 record and the 1994 North Georgia Class AAA title. In the ninth grade, he started out at center, but was moved to guard. Claxton earned three letters in football and two in wrestling, and placed second in the Georgia 3-AAA wrestling finals. Additionally, he received the Highest Academic Award in wrestling, and was a Dublin Booster Club Scholar-Athlete in 1997. Claxton was awarded Eagle Scout in 1998, and was a Beta Club member four years.

PERSONAL: Ben Zachariah Claxton was born July 30, 1980, and resides in Dublin, Ga. He is the son of M.Z. and Nancy Claxton, and his twin brother, Jon, was a reserve running back and teammate at Mississippi (1998-2002).

WIDE RECEIVER

Adrian Madise is a fast, explosive player, who can come in and add depth to the Broncos receiving corps and be a nice addition returning kicks. A two-year letterwinner at TCU, Madise made 82 catches for 1,343 yards (16.4 avg) and seven touchdowns in 22 games for the Horned Frogs. He will make the tough catches in the crowd and is quick to tuck the ball away and head upfield after the reception. An unheralded athlete who seemingly came out of nowhere after transferring from Middle Georgia Junior College, he earned the team's MVP honors as a junior. His greatest strength might be his ability to adjust to the ball while it's in the air, and he is also known for his excellent work ethic and great attitude. Madise was the Broncos second of two fifth round selections (158th overall) in the 2003 Draft.

2002: Madise played in 11 games, starting 10 at wide receiver. He led the team with 32 receptions for 524 yards (16.4 avg) and two scores. The touchdowns came against Army, where he had three catches for 77 yards, and against Louisville, on a 20-yard pass. Against Northwestern, he had catches for 85 yards, and four receptions for 74 yards vs. Houston. In the Liberty Bowl vs. Colorado State, Madise gained 16 yards on two catches.

2001: Madise, despite not joining the team until August, earned the Rogers Trophy as the team's Most Valuable Player. He started the final eight games, leading the team with 50 receptions (sixth best season total in school history) for 819 yards and five touchdowns. Against Northwestern State (La.), Madise caught six passes for 99 yards including a 23-yard touchdown, and came back with a career-high 10 passes for 109 yards and a 12-yard touchdown vs. East Carolina. He gained 104 yards on six catches against Alabama-Birmingham, and caught four passes for 116 yards including an 80-yard touchdown (7th longest in school history) against Louisville. Against Southern Mississippi, Madise became the first player in school history to gain over 100 yards receiving in a fourth straight game as he totaled 177 yards on six catches and a touchdown.

2000: Madise finished his sophomore season at Middle Georgia Junior College by catching five passes, of which four went for touchdowns.

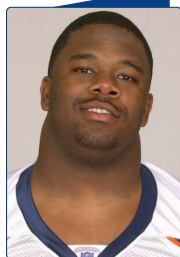

2000: Madise played primarily on special teams at Middle Georgia Junior College, where he returned two kickoffs for touchdowns and blocked three punts.

HIGH SCHOOL: Madise attended Lancaster (Tex.) High School, where he lettered twice in football and three times in track.

PERSONAL: Born Adrian James Madise on March 23, 1980, he is the son of Andrea and Martin Madise. He resides in Lancaster, Texas.

DEFENSIVE END

Aaron Hunt—the all-time career leader in sacks at Texas Tech—has the speed and quickness to make an instant impact on Denver's defensive line. As a four-year letterman, Hunt played in 47 games, making 192 total tackles (121 solo), 25 sacks for -150 yards, eight passes defended, seven forced fumbles and scored two touchdowns. In the first game of his senior season, he recorded three sacks and became the Red Raiders all-time leader in sacks, passing the mark set by former Broncos defensive tackle Montae Reagor. In addition, he also set the Big 12 record for career sacks. Hunt was the Broncos sixth-round selection (194th overall) of the 2003 Draft.

2002: Hunt had a great senior season and left Texas Tech as the school's all-time leader in sacks. He made 108 tackles (62 solo) that year, and added nine sacks (-57 yards), one forced fumble and four passes defended. The Dallas Morning News named him All-Big 12 first team, and earned honorable mention All-Big 12 by the coaches. In the first game of the season against Ohio State, Hunt set the Texas Tech career sack record with first sack of the season, and finished the game with a career-high three. He also made eight stops, four tackles for 20 lost yards, a forced fumble and a quarterback hurry in the game. Against Texas, he picked up the 32nd sack of his career, and set the Big 12 sack record with one against Oklahoma State. Hunt posted a solid performance with a season and career-high 18 tackles against Iowa State, logged nine stops and two tackles for loss in a win over New Mexico. Against N.C. State, Hunt recorded six tackles, including one for loss, and also blocked a field goal and had a quarterback pressure. In the Tangerine Bowl vs. Clemson, Hunt closed his career with impressive 10-tackle performance, including four sacks.

2001: Hunt was named a Football News third-team All-American and first-team All-Big 12, while adding All-Big 12 second team honors as voted by the coaches. He racked up 85 total tackles (57 solo), and added 12 sacks for -83 yards. The Dallas Morning News and the Associated Press named him first-team All-Big 12, and finished the season second place all-time at Tech with 25 career sacks. He trailed former Broncos defensive tackle Montae Reagor by a half of a sack, with his senior season left to play. Hunt had an impressive effort vs. Iowa when he made five tackles, including four for loss and two sacks. Against Oklahoma, he had 11 tackles and two sacks, and made eight tackles and two sacks vs. Oklahoma State. Hunt had another fine effort vs. Texas A&M, by making 12 tackles, two tackles for loss and one sack. A career-high three sacks and four tackles for loss helped Hunt finish the Kansas State game with 12 total stops. Hunt had six tackles, including two for loss, two forced fumbles and logged a sack for a seven-yard loss vs. New Mexico.

2000: Hunt developed into a strong defensive end his sophomore year, making many big plays on the season, including a 63-yard fumble return for a touchdown. He was named second-team All-Big 12 by The Sporting News, after posting 71 total tackles (43 solo) and eight sacks for -27 yards. Against Oklahoma, Hunt recorded eight stops, one QB hurry and one pass deflection. Hunt posted a great defensive effort vs. Oklahoma State by making six tackles (5 solo), two quarterback hurries and also blocked a field goal that was returned for a touchdown. He recorded seven tackles, including one for loss against Kansas, and make 10 tackles with one pass deflection vs. Kansas State. Hunt was solid against Baylor posting five tackles, including three sacks, and against New Mexico made three tackles and had a 63-yard fumble return for a touchdown.

1999: Hunt emerged as one of top young defensive players and big play makers in Big 12, as he was named a third-team freshman All-American. He played in 10 games and started one, finishing the season with 36 total tackles. Despite missing the Texas game and most of Iowa State game with a knee sprain, he still finished second on team with five sacks (-40). Hunt's shining moment defensively came when scooped up a fumble and returned it 53 yards for a touchdown at Arizona State and recorded four quarterback pressures.

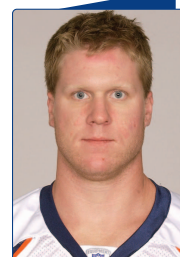

1998: Hunt redshirted in 1998.

HIGH SCHOOL: Hunt was a first-team class 4A all-state selection as defensive end by the Associated Press, and a first-team all-district 17-4A defensive end and tight end at Denison (Texas) High School. A two-year starter at defensive end and tight end, he was credited with 93 solo tackles, 61 assists, 35 tackles for loss, 12 sacks, four blocked punts and one interception as a senior. He also caught 16 passes for 340 yards and five touchdowns. Hunt was an All-Texoma Land selection, and lettered and started on three consecutive class state finalists. The team went 47-4 during his time there, and he was named to the "Who's Who Among Young American Athletes" list.

PERSONAL: Born June 19, 1980, in Denison, Texas, he is the son of Regina Hunt. His brother, Reggie, played football at TCU, and his cousin, Fred Washington, played football for the Chicago Bears of the NFL. Hunt graduated in May 2002 with a degree in communications.

DEFENSIVE END

Clint Mitchell is an extremely quick player with an explosive initial burst, who looks to come in and compete at defensive end. One of the top defensive linemen in college football, he started 20 of 26 games during his career at Florida, finishing with 118 tackles (76 solo), six sacks for minus 34 yards and 17 stops for losses of 55 yards. Add to that 38 quarterback pressures, two fumble recoveries, two forced fumbles, two pass deflections and a blocked kick, and it is no secret why was considered one of the nation's top defensive linemen. Mitchell was the Broncos first of two seventh-round (227th overall) selections in the 2003 NFL Draft, entering the draft after his junior year.

2002: Mitchell started the final 11 games at weakside defensive end, and recorded a career-high 75 tackles (48 solo) with 1.5 sacks for minus 6 yards and 10 stops for losses of 25 yards. He was credited with 20 quarterback pressures, caused and recovered a fumble and also batted away one pass, while leading Florida's down linemen by participating in 645 plays. Mitchell registered eight tackles and two stops behind the line of scrimmage against Ohio, and vs. Tennessee, totaled five tackles (4 solo) and caused a fumble that he recovered and advanced 10 yards. Against Mississippi, he was given six pressures, a pass deflection and four tackles. Mitchell caused a fumble, batted away a pass and collected seven tackles vs. Auburn, and registered eight tackles (6 solo) against Georgia. He posted a 12-tackle (6 solo) performance against Vanderbilt, registered a 4-yard sack, three solo tackles and a deflected pass to close out his career against Michigan in the Outback Bowl.

2001: Mitchell only appeared in two games, finishing the year with four tackles, four quarterback pressures, a fumble recovery and a blocked kick. His best game defensively came against Vanderbilt, as he collected three tackles with three pressures, a 3-yard sack, a fumble recovery and a blocked kick.

2000: Mitchell was a freshman All-American second-team selection by The Sporting News, and an All-Southeastern Conference Freshman Team pick by the Knoxville News-Sentinel and the conference's coaches. He played in every game, starting against Mississippi State, LSU, Auburn, Georgia, Vanderbilt, South Carolina, Florida State and in the SEC Championship game vs. Auburn at left defensive end. On the season, Mitchell recorded 39 tackles (27 solo) with 3.5 sacks for minus 25 yards and six stops for losses of 27 yards. He also caused one fumble and deflected one pass, plus was credited with 14 quarterback pressures. Against Louisiana State, Mitchell made six tackles and added two pressures, and totaled seven tackles, 1.5 sacks for minus 14 yards, a pass deflection and three pressures against Georgia.

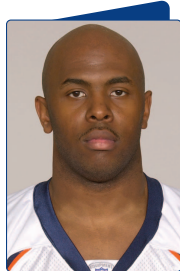

1999: Mitchell redshirted as a freshman, performing on the scout team.

HIGH SCHOOL: Mitchell attended Countryside (Clearwater, Fla.) High School where he was one of the state's elite defensive linemen in 1998, and was named to the National Bluechips All-American team. He was also named to Super Prep's All-American team, and that publication ranked him among the nation's top 25 defensive linemen. Among Mitchell's other accolades were earning a spot on Prep Star's All-American team, honorable mention All-American honors by USA Today and a first-team All-State (5A) pick. He was credited with 122 tackles (64 solo) in 1998 with 10.5 quarterback sacks, and was named his area's Defensive Player of the Year.

PERSONAL: Born Clint Edward Mitchell on Sept. 21, 1980 in Austin, Texas, he resides in Clearwater, Texas. His brother, Jeff, was a All-American center on Florida's 1996 national championship team, and was the starting center for the Baltimore Ravens in Super Bowl XXXIV. He is now with the Carolina Panthers.

AHMAAD GALLOWAY

5-11 • 223 • ALABAMA

BORN: March 10, 1980 in Millington, Tennessee
HIGH SCHOOL: Millington High School, Millington, Tennessee
RESIDES: Millington, Tennessee
DRAFTED: Seventh Round (235th overall)

RUNNING BACK

Ahmaad Galloway looks to overcome the severe knee injury he suffered his senior season and make his way onto the Broncos' roster. Galloway suffered torn anterior cruciate and medial collateral ligaments in his left knee in Alabama's fourth game of 2002, and underwent reconstructive surgery, missing the final nine games. Before the injury, he was as good a running back as there was in college football, as he finished his career with 1,830 yards on 376 carries (4.9 avg) and 17 touchdowns. The winner of the Sylvester Croom Commitment to Excellence Award as a senior, he was also a very good student, as he twice earned Academic All-Southeastern Conference honors. Galloway is a powerful runner inside the tackles and keeps his feet running through holes. If he can effectively come back from the knee injury, he can make an instant impact for the Broncos. Galloway was Denver's second of two seventh-round (235th overall) selections in the 2003 Draft.

2002: Galloway started Alabama's first four games, gaining 257 yards with four touchdowns on 58 carries (4.4 avg), but his season was cut short after suffering a torn ACL and MCL in his left knee in the Tide's game against Southern Mississippi. He started the year with 77 yards rushing and a 32-yard touchdown against Middle Tennessee, and followed that up with 66 yards on 18 carries and a 4-yard score vs. Oklahoma. He totaled 89 yards and a 6-yard touchdown on 14 attempts against Southern Mississippi, before incurring the injury.

2001: Galloway—for the second straight year—earned Academic All-Southeastern Conference honors, and started every game but one (vs. Auburn) at tailback. He led the team with 881 yards on 174 carries for (5.1 avg), six touchdowns, and added three receptions for 20 yards (6.7 avg). Against Vanderbilt, he gained 144 yards on 24 attempts, and rushed 22 times for 75 yards and a 3-yard touchdown vs. South Carolina. Galloway posted a solid game vs. Mississippi, by gaining 61 yards, including a 6-yard score, on 16 carries. He carried 14 times for 127 yards against Auburn, and followed that up with 126 yards on 24 carries and two touchdowns vs. Southern Mississippi. He closed out the season vs. Iowa State in the Independence Bowl by rushing for 90 yards on 16 carries.

2000: Galloway was an Academic All-SEC choice, and started 10 games for the Crimson Tide, leading the team with 659 yards (4.8 avg) on 137 carries and seven touchdowns. He added 48 yards on four receptions (12.0 avg). Against Vanderbilt, Galloway ran for 172 yards on 13 carries, including a 79-yard score. Galloway scored on a 2-yard run as he totaled 52 yards on 14 carries against Central Florida, and ran 21 times for 129 yards including a 55-yard touchdown against Louisiana State.

1999: Galloway played sparingly in every game, gaining 33 yards on seven carries (3.7 avg).

1998: Galloway redshirted as a freshman.

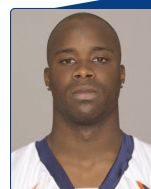

HIGH SCHOOL: Galloway attended Millington (Tenn.) High School and was one of the South's finest running backs and the best senior running back in the state of Tennessee. He rushed for 1,935 yards and 23 touchdowns on 293 carries as a senior, which came on the heels of a 2,172-yard, 25 touchdown performance as a junior. Galloway earned MVP honors in his district as well as Class 5A All-State honors as a senior, and was the Player of the Year in west Tennessee, and was a third-team Fox Sports-South "All-South" pick.

PERSONAL: Born Ahmaad Yaqui Galloway on March 10, 1980, he resides in Millington, Tenn. He was an English major at Alabama, earning Southeastern Conference academic accolades in 2000 and 2001.

Cecil Sapp joins the Broncos as a rookie free agent from Colorado State, where he finished his collegiate career with 2,482 yards and 28 touchdowns on 504 carries (4.9 avg.) in 28 games. His career rushing total ranks seventh on the school's all-time rushing list. Sapp made a successful return to the gridiron in 2002 after missing the previous season due to surgery to remove a benign tumor from his right heel, and became only the 15th player in school history to rush for over 1,000 yards in a season during his final campaign. In his career, Sapp scored at least two touchdowns in nine games, including accomplishing the feat six times as a senior. He attended Palmetto (Miami, Fla.) High, where he was earned All-Conference first-team and All-State honorable mention honors in football as a senior. Sapp was Born Dec. 23, 1978 in Miami, Fla.

GUARD/CENTER

Chris Watton was signed by the Broncos on Sept. 18, 2002, and spent the remainder of the season on the practice squad. He spent training camp that year with the Green Bay Packers before being released in the final cutdown. In his first year out of Baylor, Watton originally signed with the Arizona Cardinals as an undrafted free agent in 2000, but was released prior to training camp. The Baltimore Ravens then waived him in the final cutdown of 2001 before signing with the Packers on Jan. 17, 2002. Watton lettered two years (1996-97) at Southwest Mississippi Community College before transferring and lettering for two seasons at Baylor (1998-99). He played and started in eight games his senior year, and earned an associate's degree from SMCC. While attending Foley (Ala.) High School, Watton lettered four times in football, two times in track and once in baseball. He was named to all-county, all-region and all-state teams his senior year. Chris is married, and he and his wife, Emily, have a daughter, Zoey (2), and a son, Gage (1). The family resides in Clute, Texas. Christopher Lee Watton was born Oct. 6, 1977 in Sioux Falls, S.D.

ACQUIRED: Draft #7 (228th overall), 2002

SAFETY

Chris Young returns to the Broncos for his second training camp, after spending the 2002 season on the team's practice squad, and this past spring in NFL Europe as a member of the Frankfurt Galaxy. A three-year starter at Georgia Tech, he started 35 consecutive games, beginning with the final game of his true freshman season. Also a team captain, Young finished his career ranked 10th among all-time Georgia Tech defensive backs in career tackles with 219 (154 solo). His statistics also included four interceptions, five sacks (-47), nine tackles for loss (-47), two forced fumbles, three fumble recoveries and 26 pass deflections. Young began his career as a strong safety, but switched to cornerback midway through his junior season and remained at the position for the rest of his career. He was rated one of the Top 20 wide receivers in the Southeast by Prep Star at East Coweta High School in Sharpsburg, Ga. As a senior he recorded 102 solo tackles, 45 assists, one interception and four forced fumbles—one of which he returned for a touchdown—to earn all-area and all-region honors. Young also rushed for 252 yards on 36 carries and three scores and had 10 receptions for 180 yards and three more touchdowns, en route to team MVP honors. Christopher Lamont Young was born Jan. 23, 1980 in Senoia, Ga.

SAM YOUNG (I)

HIGH SCHOOL: Simeon High School, Chicago Ill.

ACQUIRED: Free Agent, 2003

CORNERBACK

Sam Young is back with the Broncos for another training camp, after competing this past spring with the Arena Football League's Colorado Crush. Last year, he signed with Broncos Jan. 22, 2002, but was released in the final cutdown after training camp. He entered the NFL in 2001 as a rookie free agent with Chicago (signed 4/27/01), out of Illinois State, but was waived July 18, 2001. He then signed with Green Bay Aug. 4 and went through three weeks of training camp with the Packers before being waived Aug. 27. Young played in three preseason games with Green Bay, including one vs. Denver, Aug. 20. He was a three-year letterman at Illinois State, where he holds the school record for career pass deflections (44) and single-season pass deflections (20). Young was named first-team All-Gateway Conference in 1999 and 2000. A native of Chicago, Young was an all-city pick at Simeon High School, where he also won the city titles in the 110-meter and 300-meter hurdles as a senior. He was born Aug. 1, 1978 in Chicago.

Weather: Mostly Cloudy, 83°. Wind E 4 mph • Attendance: 75,710 • Time: 2:51

The Broncos got off to the start they wanted in 2002 by knocking off St. Louis 23-16 in front of 75,710 at INVECO Field at Mile High, and a national television audience.

Denver's offense, after a slow start, was forced to punt on their opening series of the game, but a roughing the punter penalty was called on St. Louis, giving Brian Griese, and the offense new life. The Broncos marched down the field, led by a combination of passing and rushing plays, and scored with just under four minutes left in the first quarter on a 7-yard pass from Griese to Rod Smith.

The Broncos were able to hold St. Louis' powerful offense back once again, and capitalized by driving down the field on the Rams' defense. Denver added a 41-yard field goal by Jason Elam to take a 10-0 lead. St. Louis cut Denver's lead to seven after Jeff Wilkins hit a 41-yard field goal. Later in the second quarter, Elam hit two more field goals, from 34 and 32 yards, increasing the lead to 16-3. St. Louis closed out the first half with a field goal and only trailed by 10 points at halftime.

On its first possession of the second half, St. Louis scored its first, and only, touchdown of the game less than a minute into the third quarter. After Aeneas Williams intercepted a Brian Griese pass on the first play of the second half, St. Louis took only three plays to get in the end zone, on Marshall Faulk's 3-yard run, which cut the Denver lead to 16-13.

Denver was able to get some breathing room in the fourth quarter when Griese hit wide receiver Ed McCaffrey for a 23-yard touchdown, putting the Broncos on top 23-13. But on the Rams' next possession, Kurt Warner led the team on a drive that ended with a 39-yard Wilkins field goal. After a failed onside kick by St. Louis, the Broncos ran out the clock out and secured their sixth opening game win in eight tries under Head Coach Mike Shanahan.

During the contest, Rod Smith and Ed McCaffrey each picked up their 45th career touchdown reception, moving them into first place all time.

DENVER 24. SAN FRANCISCO 14

Sun., Sept. 15, 2002 • 1:15 p.m. PDT • 3COM Park • San Francisco, Calif.

Weather: Partly Cloudy, 67°, Wind W 11 mph • Attendance: 67,685 • Time: 3:06

The Denver Broncos improved to 2-0 after their 24-14 win over San Francisco in front of 67,685 fans at 3Com Park. After a sluggish start offensively in the first half, Denver took control in the third quarter and was able to pull away down the stretch. The key for the Broncos was the rushing attack and a solid defensive effort.

Fullback Mike Anderson led the Broncos with a game-high 95 yards rushing on 10 carries, and added a 1-yard touchdown reception. Running back Olandis Gary chipped in with 61 yards on 12 carries and a touchdown.

Quarterback Brian Griese finished the game 14 of 19 passing for 119 yards and one touchdown. Tight end Shannon Sharpe led the Broncos with 52 yards receiving and a team-high five catches, while Rod Smith added three catches for 22 yards.

Defensively, the Broncos were able to hold the 49ers to just 71 yards rushing and 205 yards passing, and running back Kevan Barlow was only able to muster 47 yards on seven carries, while Garrison Hearst was held to 5 yards on five carries. Quarterback Jeff Garcia completed 27 of 36 passes for 205 yards with one touchdown and one interception.

After a scoreless first quarter, San Francisco took a 7-0 lead midway through the second when Garcia hit wide receiver Terrell Owens for an 8-yard touchdown. Denver was able to finally get the offensive gears in motion, as they drove to San Francisco's 10-yard line. But, the drive was stymied and Denver had to settle for a 28-yard Jason Elam field goal.

It was a different story in the second half, as Denver was able to post 21 points and hold on for the 10-point win. On Denver's first drive of the second half, the Broncos went 74 yards on 10 plays, capped off with a 1-yard touchdown pass from Griese to Anderson.

Denver increased its lead to 17-7 in the opening minute of the fourth quarter on Gary's 1-yard scoring run, and put the game away with 2:58 left when Griese hit wide receiver Scottie Montgomery for his first career touchdown, 11-yarder.

San Francisco managed a late score with 1:23 to play, on Jeff Garcia's 1-yard run, to make the final score 24-14.

Denver improved to 2-0 for the second consecutive year and the fifth time in eight seasons under Head Coach Mike Shanahan. Sharpe caught his 700th career pass in the fourth quarter and Brian Griese passed Frank Tripucka (1,277) for third most career pass attempts by a Bronco. Defensively, Trevor Pryce moved into seventh on Denver's all-time sacks list, passing Tom Jackson (44).

The Broncos moved to 3-0 on the season for the first time since 1998, defeating the Buffalo Bills 28-23 in front of 75,359 at INVESCO Field at Mile High.

After a slow offensive start through almost three quarters, the Broncos took control of the game at the end of the third quarter, and were able to hold off a strong Bills passing attack to win their third straight game. A balanced offensive attack and an outstanding rush defense keyed the Broncos to the win.

Olandis Gary left the game in the first quarter with a sprained ankle, which allowed running back Clinton Portis to garner most of the carries during the rest of the game. Portis finished the game with 103 yards on the ground and one touchdown, the first 100-yard game of his career.

Quarterback Brian Griese led the passing attack by throwing for 211 yards and two touchdowns on 19 of 31 passing. Wide Receiver Rod Smith hauled in 7 passes for 94 yards and the game-winning touchdown in the fourth quarter. Receivers Ed McCaffrey and Ashley Lelie had 35 and 36 yards receiving respectively.

After both teams struggled offensively through most of the first quarter, it was the Denver defense that sparked the games' first big play. Travis Henry took a handoff and ran to the right, where he was immediately hit by Montae Reagor and stripped of the football by Ian Gold. Chester McGlockton picked up the ball and ran it in for a 24-yard touchdown to put the Broncos up 7-0.

The Broncos offense sustained its only long drive of the first half, during the second quarter. The 85-yard drive ended with a Clinton Portis 1-yard touchdown run to put the Broncos on top 14-0. With only a few minutes left in the first half, the Bills finally got on the board after they sustained their own 80-yard drive, which ended with a 1-yard touchdown run by Travis Henry.

After a field goal early in the third quarter by Buffalo made the score 14-10, the Denver offense finally got going. Griese hit Dwayne Carswell for a 1-yard touchdown pass to put the Broncos up 21-10 to begin the fourth quarter. The Bills pulled to 21-16 after a touchdown by Josh Reed, but the Broncos put the game out of reach after Griese hit Rod Smith for a 26-yard touchdown with 2:45 remaining. Buffalo added a late touchdown to pull within five at 28-23, but Denver's special teams came up big when they recovered the onside kick by Buffalo to seal the win.

During the contest, Rod Smith moved into first place in Broncos history with 46 career touchdown receptions and passed Lionel Taylor for second in receiving yards, finishing the day with a career figure of 6,919.

BALTIMORE 34, DENVER 23

Mon., Sept. 30, 2002 • 9 p.m. EDT • Ravens Stadium • Baltimore, Md.

Weather: Mostly Clear, 71°, Calm • Attendance: 69,538 • Time: 3:31

The Broncos suffered their first defeat of the season, falling to the Baltimore Ravens 34-23 in front of 69,538 at Ravens Stadium, and a national television audience on ABC's Monday Night Football.

After a Jason Elam 40-yard field goal put the Broncos up 3-0 in the first quarter, the Ravens took control of the game in the second quarter with a 31-point outburst. Denver tried to make a comeback in the second half, but was thwarted by a stingy Baltimore defense. The loss dropped the Broncos to 3-1 on the season, and into third place in the AFC West.

The Broncos held the Ravens scoreless in the first quarter, maintaining an unblemished mark in the opening period through four games, but the second quarter belonged to Baltimore. Less than a minute into the period, Ravens quarterback Chris Redman hit tight end Todd Heap for a 23-yard touchdown pass to put the Ravens on top 7-3. On the Broncos' next possession, the offense was unable to move the ball, and Ravens safety Ed Reed broke through the middle to block a Tom Rouen punt, which set up Baltimore's next score, just three plays later, a Jamal Lewis 2-yard touchdown run.

The Broncos punted on their next possession, and the defense allowed the Ravens a field goal to increase their lead to 17-3. After a Brian Griese interception, Chris Redman hit Todd Heap for his second touchdown of the night, which opened the margin to 24-3. With one second remaining in the first half, Elam's 57-yard field goal attempt came up short and was received in the back of the end zone by Chris McAlister, who returned it 107 yards for a touchdown to put Baltimore up 31-3 at halftime. McAlister's missed field goal return was the longest play in NFL history.

After an early third quarter Ravens field goal increased the lead to 34-3, the Broncos scored their first touchdown of the game on their initial possession of the second half, a 1-yard run by Reuben Droughns. Neither offense was able to do anything again until late in the third quarter when Griese hit Patrick Hape for a 2-yard touchdown. The two-point conversion failed, but the deficit had been cut to 34-16.

After two Broncos possessions ended with interceptions to open the fourth quarter, Denver got back on track with a 1-yard Griese touchdown run to cut the margin to 34-23 with 4:42 remaining. The Broncos then stopped the Ravens' offense, and advanced to the Baltimore 26-yard line on their ensuing possession, but Elam missed a 44-yard field goal attempt, and the Ravens ran out the clock.

Griese's 35 completions and 53 pass attempts were career highs, and represented the third- and fourth-highest (tie) totals, respectively, in franchise history.

The Broncos improved to 4-1 on the season by defeating San Diego 26-9 before 75,065 at INVESCO Field at Mile High. Denver got off to a quick start and never looked back, combining consistent play on both sides of the ball with a solid special teams effort to key the win over a division rival.

After forcing San Diego to punt on its first drive, Denver wasted no time in scoring the first points of the game. On the second play from scrimmage, Brian Griese hit Ed McCaffrey for a 69-yard touchdown pass to put the Broncos up 7-0 two minutes into the game. Deltha O'Neal thwarted San Diego's first scoring attempt of the day two series later, intercepting a Drew Brees pass in the end zone to set up an 84-yard touchdown drive that consumed nearly eight minutes and increased the lead to 14-0. Clinton Portis capped the drive by catching an 8-yard shovel pass from Griese for the score. The Broncos actually posted 109 yards of offense on the drive, as they overcame 25 yards in penalties on their march.

Denver pushed the lead to 16-0 late in the first half when rookie Sam Brandon broke through the Chargers' line to block a Darren Bennett punt, which rolled out of the end zone for a safety. Jason Elam closed the half with a 36-yard field goal, sending the Broncos to the locker room with a 19-0 lead.

San Diego finally got on the board with its own field goal to cut the lead to 19-3 with 10:40 remaining in the third quarter. That score was maintained until 2:54 remained in the game, when O'Neal intercepted his second pass of the day, and returned it 28 yards for a touchdown to increase the lead to 26-3. The Chargers got a late touchdown by Curtis Conway, but failed to convert the two-point attempt, providing the final score of 26-9.

Griese sparked the offense by throwing for 316 yards—his second straight 300-yard effort—and two touchdowns on 26 of 35 passing (74.3%), his highest career completion percentage for a single game. Griese also had 13 consecutive completions over the course of two drives, which resulted in 10 points.

Portis made his first NFL start and finished with 102 rushing yards—his second career 100-yard game. Portis also caught a touchdown pass from Griese for his first career receiving touchdown.

McCaffrey led all receivers with 113 yards and one touchdown on six catches. It marked McCaffrey's first 100-yard receiving game since Dec. 10, 2000 when he had 112 yards receiving against Seattle. He also tied Rod Smith for first place all-time with his 46th touchdown reception as a Bronco.

Denver lost for the second time on the season, falling to Miami 24-22 in front of 75,941 at INVESCO Field at Mile High, and a national television audience on ESPN's Sunday Night Football.

The Broncos got off to a good start offensively, as Jason Elam connected on three field goals on Denver's first three drives of the game to lead 9-0 four minutes into the second quarter. The defense was just as effective, holding the Dolphins scoreless until the 7:16 mark of the second quarter when Ricky Williams found the end zone on a 10-yard run to cut the Denver lead to 9-7. With two seconds left in the first half, the Broncos had the chance to increase their lead by three, but an Elam field goal was nullified by a holding penalty, and the Denver lead remained at 9-7 going into halftime.

Just two plays into the third quarter, Trevor Pryce forced and recovered a Jay Fiedler fumble on a 9-yard sack, and less than one minute later, Elam knocked through his fourth field goal of the night to put the Broncos up 12-7. Early in the fourth quarter, Williams scored his second touchdown of the night on a 2-yard run to cap a drive that began after Brian Griese was intercepted by Sam Madison. On the Broncos' ensuing possession, Griese threw his second interception, which was returned for a touchdown by Patrick Surtain putting the Dolphins ahead 21-12 with their second touchdown in a span of 1:35.

On Denver's next possession, Griese marched the offense 80 yards, and hit Mike Anderson for a 1-yard touchdown pass to cut the Miami lead to 21-19 with 3:37 remaining. After the Broncos' defense held, Elam tied his career high with his fifth field goal of the night, from 55 yards, to put Denver on top 22-21 with 45 seconds left.

Although the Broncos defense had been stout throughout the game, they were unable to slow down the Dolphins offense at the end, as the visitors drove 39 yards in five plays to set up a 53-yard Olindo Mare field goal for the 24-22 win.

Griese finished the game with 335 yards—his third straight 300-yard game, tying the franchise record—one touchdown and two interceptions on 27-of-46 passing (58.7%). It was his 21st consecutive game with a touchdown pass, extending his franchise record and the longest active streak in the NFL. Rod Smith led all receivers with 88 yards on nine catches and Clinton Portis led all rushers with 75 yards on 18 carries. Both Smith (505) and Ed McCaffrey (503) caught their 500th career pass during the contest. Among Elam's five field goals were two from beyond 50 yards in the same game for the first time in his career, and the 55-yarder tied for the third longest of his career.

Denver got back on the winning track by defeating Kansas City 37-34 in overtime in front of 78,446 at Arrowhead Stadium. Both the Broncos and Chiefs struggled offensively in the first half, as only one touchdown was scored between the two teams—a 1-yard run by Priest Holmes early in the first quarter. Kansas City, however, added a pair of field goals, and kept Denver out of the end zone while taking a 13-6 lead into halftime.

After punts by each team on their opening possessions of the second half, the teams traded touchdowns on each of their next two drives. Brian Griese hit Shannon Sharpe for an 82-yard touchdown pass, and the Chiefs countered with a Tony Richardson 14-yard touchdown run. Denver pulled even at 20 on Clinton Portis' 2-yard touchdown run, but Kansas City regained the lead after Priest Holmes ran for a 4-yard touchdown to give Kansas City the lead heading into fourth quarter.

On Denver's first possession of the fourth quarter, Kansas City blocked a Tom Rouen punt, and the Chiefs were able to score two plays later on a Holmes 1-yard run, making the score 34-20. On the Broncos' ensuing drive, Griese hit Sharpe for his second touchdown on the day—28-yard touchdown pass, pulling Denver to within seven at 34-27 with 10:51 remaining. With 3:47 left in the game, the Broncos got the ball back and marched down the field. Mike Anderson's 2-yard touchdown run with 21 seconds left brought the Broncos back and sent the game into overtime.

In the extra stanza, Kansas City held off Denver, and forced the Broncos to punt. Denver's defense held strong, forcing the Chiefs into a punting situation of their own. Linebacker Keith Burns blocked and recovered a Dan Stryniskis punt at the Kansas City 32-yard-line. Three plays later, Rod Smith was interfered with on the Chiefs 7-yard-line, setting up Jason Elam's third field goal of the day—a 25-yarder—to give the Broncos the 37-34 win.

Griese finished the day with a career high 376 yards—his fourth straight 300-yard game, breaking his own franchise record he shared with John Elway. He also threw two touchdowns on 30-of-50 passing (60.0%). In addition, he extended his streak of games with at least one touchdown pass to 22, which was the longest current streak among active NFL quarterbacks at the time. Sharpe finished the day with a franchise record 214 yards receiving, and added two touchdowns, and his total is also the all-time single-game receiving record among tight ends.

The Broncos won on the road for the second straight week, to enter their bye week at 6-2, defeating New England 24-16 in front of 68,436 at Gillette Stadium and a national television audience.

The Broncos' offense got off to a quick start by scoring on their first possession of the game, as Clinton Portis capped a seven-play, 48-yard drive with a 1-yard touchdown run. After holding the Patriots' offense in check through the first quarter, Denver added another touchdown to open the second quarter, an 8-yard pass from Brian Griese to Shannon Sharpe to put the Broncos up 14-0.

Midway through the second quarter New England's offense got going, and capped a 42-yard drive with an Antowain Smith 3-yard touchdown run. Denver answered when Portis scored his second touchdown of the day on a 4-yard run to increase the lead to 21-7 at halftime.

The Patriots scored the only points of the third quarter on a 26-yard Adam Vinatieri field goal, making the score 21-10. Then, on the first play of the fourth quarter, Tom Brady hit Christian Fauria on an 8-yard touchdown pass, but the two-point conversion failed, leaving the score at 21-16. The Broncos added a 19-yard Jason Elam field goal with 9:45 remaining, and after the Patriots were unable to score on their next two possessions, Denver ran out the clock to seal the 24-16 victory.

Griese completed a career-best 78 percent of his passes (18-23), for 229 yards and one touchdown, with one interception. He also extended his franchise-record streak of consecutive games with a touchdown pass to 23, the longest current streak in the NFL. Portis notched career highs in all rushing categories with 111 yards and two touchdowns on 26 carries, his third career 100-yard game. Ed McCaffrey led all receivers with 116 yards on eight catches, his 17th career 100-yard game and second of the season. Betrand Berry had two sacks on the day to post his first career multi-sack game. Sharpe's touchdown reception was his 47th as a Bronco, allowing him to overtake McCaffrey and Rod Smith for the franchise career lead. Elam's streak of 30 straight field goals of under 43 yards came to an end after he missed a 39-yarder in the fourth quarter.

Denver lost for the third time on the season, falling to Oakland 34-10 in front of a Broncos home-record 76,643 at INVESCO Field at Mile High, and a national television audience on ABC's 500th Monday Night Football broadcast. The night's attendance topped the previous record of 76,098 for a regular season game (San Francisco, 12/23/00) and 76,105 for a postseason game (New England, 1/4/87).

The Raiders got off to a quick start, taking a 3-0 lead on a 47-yard Sebastian Janikowski field goal to open the game. The Broncos' opening drive ended when Rod Woodson intercepted a Brian Griese pass and returned it 98 yards for a touchdown to put Oakland ahead 10-0. It was the second-longest interception return in Raiders history and the third-longest by a Broncos opponent. After Janikowski added a 32-yard field goal for the Raiders, Denver put together a 13-play, 68-yard drive capped by a Clinton Portis 1-yard touchdown run to pull the Broncos within six at 13-7.

Oakland answered when Rich Gannon hit Jerry Rice for a 6-yard touchdown pass with 1:22 remaining in the first half, and converted the two-point attempt to take a 21-7 lead into the half.

The only scoring of the third quarter came late when Gannon hit Jerry Porter for a 22-yard touchdown to increase the Raiders lead to 27-7. Early in the fourth, Jason Elam connected on a 27-yard field goal, but less than two minutes later, Oakland responded with their own score, a 34-yard touchdown pass from Gannon to Rice to put the lead at 34-10. Denver was unable to put another scoring drive together, sealing just their third loss to the Raiders—and first at home—since Mike Shanahan became head coach in 1995.

Griese finished the game with 293 yards and one interception on 34-of-47 passing (72.3%). His franchise record of throwing at least one touchdown pass in 23 consecutive games, also the longest current streak among active NFL quarterbacks, came to an end. Portis led all rushers with 50 yards and one touchdown on 14 carries, while Ed McCaffrey (6-54) tied Vance Johnson (415) for fourth place on the Broncos' all-time receptions list.

DENVER 31, SEATTLE 9

Sun., Nov. 17, 2002 • 1:15 p.m. PST • Seahawks Stadium • Seattle, Wash.

Weather: Partly Sunny, 53°, Wind SW 8 mph • Attendance: 65,495 • Time: 2:57

The Broncos won their third straight road game by defeating Seattle 31-9 in front of 65,495 at Seahawks Stadium, playing for the first time in the new home of their former AFC West rival.

Steve Beuerlein replaced an injured Brian Griese late in the third quarter and sparked the offense with two fourth-quarter touchdown passes, while Clinton Portis rushed for a career-high 136 yards to lead a second-half surge that sparked the 22-point victory.

Both teams struggled to get their offenses going in the first half, as the only points came on a 45-yard Jason Elam field goal to give Denver a 3-0 lead at halftime.

Seattle opened the third quarter with their own field goal, a 52-yarder by Rian Lindell to tie the game, beginning a string of six straight scoring possessions between the two teams. Denver answered with a 9-yard Mike Anderson touchdown run to make the score 10-3. After Lindell connected on his second field goal, the Broncos drove 72 yards and capped it with a 1-yard touchdown pass from Beuerlein to Patrick Hape to increase the lead to 17-6 just seconds into the fourth quarter. On the drive, Griese was knocked out of the game with a sprained right knee with 2:31 remaining in the third quarter, after being hit by Seattle defensive tackle Rocky Bernard.

The Seahawks' Lindell converted his third field goal of the game, a 29-yarder, to pull Seattle to within eight at 17-9, but Denver had an answer once again, as Beuerlein hit Rod Smith for a 14-yard touchdown with 5:20 remaining. The Broncos got a defensive touchdown late in the game when Deltha O'Neal intercepted a Matt Hasselbeck pass and returned it 22 yards to seal the 31-9 win.

Griese was 17-of-27 for 194 yards and one interception, while Beuerlein finished the day 2-of-2 for 15 yards, completing both of his passes for touchdowns. Portis notched his fourth 100-yard game of the season, and set a career high for all-purpose yards with 188. Smith led all receivers with 58 yards receiving and one touchdown on five catches. The Broncos' defense played a key role, holding the Seahawks rushing game to just 51 yards, and also added five sacks for the second time in the last three games.

INDIANAPOLIS 23. DENVER 20 (OT)

Sun., Nov. 24, 2002 • 6:30 p.m. MST • INVESCO Field at Mile High • Denver

Weather: Light Snow, 25°, Wind E 6 mph (wind chill 18°) • Attendance: 75,075 • Time: 3:17

The Broncos lost at home for the third game in a row and fell to 7-4 on the season with a 23-20 overtime loss to Indianapolis in front of 75,075 at INVESCO Field at Mile High, and a national television audience on ESPN's Sunday Night Football. Snow fell throughout the game and covered the field by the second half as temperatures dropped into the low 20s.

Indianapolis got on the board first after Mike Vanderjagt connected on a 41-yard field goal midway through the first quarter to give the Colts a 3-0 lead. Denver was held scoreless until the middle of the second quarter when Steve Beuerlein hit Rod Smith for a 12-yard touchdown to cap a seven play, 61-yard drive. Jason Elam missed the extra point, just the second miss of his career and first since Nov. 14, 1993, ending his NFL-record streak at 371. Denver's 6-3 lead would hold up going into halftime.

The Broncos took the opening kickoff of the second half and marched 67 yards in six plays, culminating in an 11-yard Clinton Portis touchdown run to put Denver up 13-3. The Colts answered with their own touchdown on a James Munro 1-yard run to pull within three at 13-10. After a Beuerlein interception on Denver's next series, Indianapolis scored their second touchdown in a 1:34 span on an Edgerrin James 2-yard run to go ahead 17-13 entering the fourth quarter.

After holding Indianapolis to a punt early in the quarter, Portis scored his second touchdown of the game on a 9-yard run to give the Broncos a 20-17 lead with less than 10 minutes left in the game. Deltha O'Neal halted the Colts next drive with an interception at the Broncos' 18-yard line with 4:56 remaining. Despite converting two third downs, Denver was forced to punt the ball back to Indianapolis with 1:51 on the clock. The Colts then drove 44 yards to move into field goal range, and with just three seconds left, Vanderjagt made a 54-yard field goal to tie the game at 20, and send it into overtime.

Indianapolis won the coin toss, marched down the field, and Vanderjagt connected on his third field goal of the game, a 51-yarder, to give the Colts the 23-20 victory.

Beuerlein finished the game with 185 yards, one touchdown and two interceptions on 15-of-24 passing (62.5%). Portis led all rushers with 88 yards on 18 carries and two touchdowns, while Ed McCaffrey caught a pass in his 63rd consecutive game, breaking Lionel Taylor's 38-year old franchise record. Rod Smith moved ahead of teammate Shannon Sharpe for the lead in career touchdown receptions (48) and receiving yards (7,500) by a Bronco. Indianapolis ran 85 offensive plays to Denver's 48, and doubled Denver's time of possession, 43:45 to 21:53.

Denver lost for the second week in a row, and the third time in four games, falling to San Diego 30-27 in overtime in front of 66,357 at Qualcomm Stadium. The Broncos played an overtime game for the second week in a row, just the second time in franchise history they have done so, and the first time they have lost in overtime on successive weekends.

The Broncos got off to the start they wanted, going up 10-0 after the first quarter thanks to a Jason Elam 54-yard field goal and a Clinton Portis 43-yard touchdown run. However, the second quarter belonged to the Chargers, who outscored Denver 24-7 in the period. LaDainian Tomlinson scored on runs of 3, 1 and 5 yards, and Steve Christie added a 20-yard field goal. Portis scored his second touchdown of the day, an 8-yard run, late in the quarter, but San Diego took a 24-17 lead into the half. The Chargers dominated the first-half statistics, out gaining the Broncos 270-171 and had 17 first downs to Denver's 7.

The Broncos' 10-play, 65-yard opening drive of the second half was capped by a 22-yard touchdown pass from Steve Beuerlein to Reuben Droughns to tie the game at 24. The two teams traded possessions for the rest of the third quarter, and on Denver's first series of the fourth quarter, Beuerlein's pass to Rod Smith was intercepted by Alex Molden. Four plays later, Christie connected on his second field goal of the day, a 40-yarder to put the Chargers up 27-24 with 13:12 to go.

After an 11-play, 53-yard drive, the Broncos tied the game at 27 on an Elam 24-yard field goal with 1:39 remaining, which ultimately sent the game into overtime.

Denver won the coin toss, but was unable to produce anything on their first possession of the extra period. San Diego then drove into field goal range, but Christie's attempt was blocked by Trevor Pryce and recovered by Delta O'Neal. The Broncos came up empty on their next series when Elam missed a 53-yard field goal. The Chargers again drove into field goal range and this time Christie hit the game-winner from 27 yards out.

Beuerlein finished the game with 288 yards, one touchdown and two interceptions, on 22-of-39 passing (56.4%). Portis finished with a career high 159 yards rushing and two touchdowns on 23 carries. He also posted career highs in all-purpose yards with 193 and longest run from scrimmage, the 43-yard scoring run. Ed McCaffrey led all receivers with 126 yards receiving on seven catches. He also passed Riley Odoms to move into fifth place all-time in most receiving yards by a Bronco.

The Broncos dropped their third straight game-and fourth in their last five-falling to the New York Jets 19-13 in front of 78,521 at Giants Stadium in East Rutherford, N.J.

Denver got on the board first, courtesy of a Jason Elam 22-yard field goal, following an impressive 14-play, 68-yard opening drive that lasted 8:01. New York answered with its own impressive 13-play, 68-yard drive that resulted in a 1-yard Curtis Martin touchdown run. Kavika Pittman blocked the extra point to hold the Jets lead to 6-3 early in the second quarter. Denver's ensuing possession was capped by Elam's second field goal of the day, a 23-yarder to tie the game at 6.

After the Broncos' defense held New York to two consecutive punts, Denver got the ball with 1:36 left in the first half, drove down the field, and with 11 seconds remaining, Brian Griese hit Ashley Lelie for a 10-yard touchdown pass, the first of Lelie's career, to give the Broncos a 13-6 lead at halftime. Denver dominated the first-half statistics, topping the Jets in yards (254-121), first downs (14-6), and time of possession (20:24-9:36). The Broncos drove to the Jets' 5, 5, 10 and 30 on its four first-half possession, but managed just a touchdown and two field goals.

The Jets' opening drive of the second half resulted in a John Hall 43-yard field goal to pull New York to within four at 13-9. Denver reached New York's 15 and 28 yards lines on its next two drives, but Elam missed field goals in difficult, windy conditions to squelch both drives. The Jets took over at their own 36-yard line after the second miss and drove for a touchdown, on a Chad Pennington-to-Laveranues Coles 28 yard pass for a 16-13 lead. After Hall added a second field goal with 5:56 remaining, Denver mounted what looked to be a promising go-ahead drive, converting four straight times on third down, and moving from its own 21-yard line to the Jets' 23 with 1:32 remaining. But on first down, Griese was intercepted by Jon McGraw at the Jets' 2-yard line as he tried to hit Rod Smith, sealing the Jets' 19-13 win.

Griese finished the game with 266 yards, one touchdown and one interception, on 28-of-37 passing (75.7%) in his first game back since missing two games with a sprained left knee. Portis led all rushers with 103 yards on 24 carries for his sixth 100-yard game of the season, tying Mike Anderson's franchise rookie record. Deltha O'Neal moved into fourth place in career punt return yardage by a Bronco, Shannon Sharpe posted the 16th 100-yard game of his career and Rod Smith passed Lionel Taylor (543) for second place in career receptions by a Bronco.

Sun., Dec. 15, 2002 • 2:05 p.m. MST • INVESCO Field at Mile High • Denver

Weather: Mostly Cloudy, 54°, Wind SW 3 mph • Attendance: 75,947 • Time: 3:20

Denver got back on the winning track by defeating Kansas City 31-24, in front of 75,947 at INVESCO Field at Mile High, to sweep the season series. The Broncos swept the Kansas City series for the first time since 1998, and had 989 yards of total offense (338 rush, 651 pass) in the two wins.

Denver got off to a quick start, scoring just three minutes into the game on a Clinton Portis career-long 51-yard touchdown run. After forcing the Chiefs to punt on their first two series of the game, Portis added his second touchdown of the day on a 3-yard run to give the Broncos a 14-0 lead late in the first quarter.

Both teams went scoreless in the second quarter, though Denver came close, mounting what would have been their longest scoring drive of the season, 19 plays covering 9:54 on the clock. But it was dashed when Portis fumbled on the 1-yard line, leaving the halftime score 14-0.

The two teams punted on their opening drives of the second half, but on Kansas City's second possession, Trent Green hit Dante Hall for a 75-yard touchdown play to cut the lead to 14-7. The Broncos answered with two more Portis touchdowns on their next two drives, the first on a 1-yard run, and then a career-long 66-yard pass play from Brian Griese, to put Denver up 28-7 late in the third quarter. After a Griese pass was intercepted by Mike Maslowski in the Kansas City 29-yard line, Michael Cloud scored on a 4-yard run to cap the 5-play, 69-yard drive to make the score 28-14 at the start of the fourth quarter.

Denver increased its lead to 31-14 on a Jason Elam 30-yard field goal with 10 minutes remaining. Kansas City made a late run, scoring 10 unanswered points, but the Broncos were able to hold on to garner the victory.

Portis had a career day, rushing for 130 yards on 21 carries, and adding a career-high 75 yards receiving and one touchdown on three receptions. He tied the franchise record with his four touchdowns, including a career-high three rushing scores, matched the franchise record for points in a game (24). Portis accumulated a career-high 205 all-purpose yards and posted his seventh 100-yard game of the season to set a franchise rookie record. Griese finished the game with 297 yards, one touchdown and one interception, on 18-of-26 passing (69.2%), while rookie wide receiver Ashley Lelie posted a career-high 68 receiving yards.

OAKLAND 28, DENVER 16

Sun., Dec. 22, 2002 • 1:15 p.m. PST • Network Associates Coliseum • Oakland, Calif.

Weather: Mostly Cloudy, 56°, Wind NW 13 mph • Attendance: 62,592 • Time: 3:17

The Broncos dropped a key divisional game to Oakland 28-16 at Network Associates Coliseum in front of 62,592 and a national television audience on CBS. The loss prevented Denver from securing a chance to win the AFC West title, and left the team clinging to hopes of a Wild Card spot with one game remaining.

The Raiders jumped out to a 21-0 lead by early in the second quarter, taking advantage of two Denver turnovers, and began all three scoring drives in Broncos territory. Zack Crockett (1 yard) and Rich Gannon (3 yards) provided the first two scores on the ground, and Gannon hit Charlie Garner with an 8-yard pass for the third touchdown. Brian Griese re-injured his left knee late in the second quarter, and was replaced by Steve Beuerlein, who led the Broncos on an 8-play, 91-yard drive to set up Jason Elam's 25-yard field goal at the end of the first half.

The Denver defense held Oakland to a punt on its first possession of the second half, and the Broncos offense responded with an 11-play, 80-yard touchdown drive to cut the deficit to 21-10 with 5:17 remaining in the third quarter. Beuerlein scored on a 1-yard run to punctuate Denver's longest drive of the game. Two series later, Denver added another touchdown when Clinton Portis scored on a 2-yard run to cap a 3-play, 32-yard drive, but the two-point conversion attempt failed and the Broncos trailed 21-16 early in the fourth quarter. Deltha O'Neal's 44-yard punt return set up Denver's favorable field position.

But that was as close as they would get, as Denver failed to capitalize on two second-half Oakland turnovers, the first two obtained by the Broncos in 14 quarters of play. The Raiders padded their lead with 6:58 remaining when Zack Crockett scored on a 1-yard run to produce the final score of 28-16.

Beuerlein finished the game with 234 yards and one interception, on 13-of-28 passing (46.4%). Portis finished the day with 52 yards rushing on 12 carries. His touchdown run in the third quarter tied Mike Anderson's franchise record for most touchdowns by a rookie with 15. Ashley Lelie led all receivers with his first 100-yard receiving game, totaling a career-high 106 yards on 4 catches.

The Broncos finished the season on a good note by defeating Arizona 37-7 in front of 75,164 at INVESCO Field at Mile High. They out gained the Cardinals 450-207 in the game, and 259-84 on the ground, to finish the season with a 5-3 home record.

Denver got off to a slow start, unable to get into the end zone in the first half, but managed get nine points on field goals of 44, 54, and 21 yards by Jason Elam. The Cardinals scored their only points of the game on a 1-yard pass from Jake Plummer to Kevin Kasper on the last play of the first half to narrow the margin to 9-7.

The Broncos dominated the second half by scoring on their first four possessions to outscore Arizona 28-0 in the half. The first score came on a 5-yard pass from Steve Beuerlein to Ashley Lelle to put the Broncos up 16-7 midway through the third quarter. Early in the fourth quarter, Denver scored again when Beuerlein hit Rod Smith on a 1-yard touchdown pass. Clinton Portis finished off his record-breaking day with touchdown runs of 4 and 12 yards to secure the 37-7 victory.

Portis rushed for a career-high 228 yards and two touchdowns on 24 carries, topping 100-yards in each half (8-120 and 16-108). His rushing total tied for the best rushing performance in the NFL in 2002 and tied the 16th-best rushing day in NFL history, and was the fourth-best single-game rushing performance by a rookie in NFL history. He broke the Broncos' rookie rushing record with 1,508 yards on 273 carries. It was also the fourth-best single-season performance in franchise history, and fifth-best by a rookie in NFL history. His 1,872 total yards from scrimmage also set a franchise rookie record, and were the third most by any Bronco in team history.

Beuerlein finished the game with 203 yards and two touchdowns, on 16-of-24 passing (66.7%), in his third start of the season. Ed McCaffrey led all receivers with 112 yards on seven catches, and Smith extended his franchise record with his 49th career touchdown reception. He also finished the season with 1,027 yards receiving, his sixth straight 1000-yard season, and sixth total, extending both franchise records.

The term NFL ROOKIE is defined as a player who is in his first season of professional football and has not been on the roster of another professional football team for any regular-season or postseason games. A ROOKIE is designated by an "R" on NFL rosters. Players who have been active in another professional league or players who have NFL experience, including their preseason training camp or being on an Active List or Inactive List, or on Reserve/Physically Unable to Perform for fewer than six regular season games, are termed NFL First-Year Players. An NFL First-Year Player is designated by a "1" on NFL rosters. Thereafter, a player is credited with an additional year of experience for each season in which he accumulates six games on the Active List or Inactive List, or on Reserve/Injured or Reserve/Physically Unable to Perform.

DENVER BRONCOS STARTERS, 1960-2002

Listed below are the usual starters, by position, for the Denver Broncos on a season-by-season basis from 1960-2002. A player must have been the starter for the majority of the games that season to be designated as the starter. If the number of starting assignments at a position were virtually equal, two players have been listed, with the player who had the greater playing time listed first. The term "Ret" is used to designate someone who was a kick return specialist.

2000 AFC WILD CARD PLAYOFF GAME

BALTIMORE 21, DENVER 3

Sun., Dec. 31, 2000 • 12:35 p.m. EST • PSINet Stadium • Baltimore, Md.

Weather: Mostly Sunny, 22° (wind chill 5°), Wind NNW 20-25 mph • Attendance: 69,638 • Time: 2:54

The Broncos' season ended in a disappointing 21-3 defeat at the hands of the Baltimore Ravens in an AFC Wild Card Playoff Game at PSINet Stadium in Baltimore on a blustery New Year's Eve day. Denver's offense managed just 177 yards—the club's third lowest output in 28 postseason games—and nine first downs against a record-setting Ravens defense, which put an end to the Broncos' seven-game postseason win streak.

After a scoreless first quarter, Baltimore put the first points on the scoreboard when Jamal Lewis' reach the end zone from 1 yard out early in the second quarter to cap a 10-play, 75-yard drive. The Broncos answered with a 31-yard Jason Elam field goal to narrow the deficit to 7-3 when a promising 12-play, 68-yard drive stalled after a 3rd-and-1 opportunity at the Ravens' 12-yard line. What followed would prove to be the play of the game, if not one of the more bizarre plays of the year.

The Ravens' Corey Harris returned the ensuing kickoff 15 yards to the Baltimore 42-yard line. On 1st-and-10, Baltimore's Trent Dilfer attempted a screen pass to Lewis, who tipped the ball into and out of the hands of Denver cornerback Terrell Buckley. The loose ball was grabbed out of the air by former Broncos tight end Shannon Sharpe who dashed 58 yards for a touchdown, boosting the lead to 14-3.

Baltimore increased its halftime lead to 21-3 late in the third quarter when Lewis ran 27 yards for this second touchdown of the day to cap the scoring.

Denver managed just 83 yards on its eight second-half possessions and was held scoreless to preserve the lowest scoring output (3) in franchise postseason history. The Broncos penetrated Ravens territory just once all day, and ran just seven plays on the Baltimore side of the field.

Broncos quarterback Gus Frerotte, subbing for the injured Brian Griese, completed 13 of 28 passes for 124 yards with one interception, while Ed McCaffrey led all receivers with eight catches for 75 yards. Mike Anderson led the Broncos in rushing with 40 yards on 15 carries. Safety Billy Jenkins and defensive end Maa Tanuvasa each had sacks for the Broncos' defense, which held Baltimore to 244 yards total offense and forced 10 punts.

DENVER 34. ATLANTA 19

Sun., Jan. 31, 1999 • 6:25 p.m. EST • Pro Player Stadium • Miami, Fla.

Weather: Mostly Cloudy, 73°, Wind E 10 mph • Attendance: 74,803 • Time: 3:18

The Denver Broncos clinched their second straight World Championship with a 34-19 victory over the Atlanta Falcons in Super Bowl XXXIII before 74,803 at Miami's Pro Player Stadium, and millions more watching around the world. With the win, Denver joined five other franchises who have won back-to-back Super Bowl titles, and posted just the seventh repeat championship in Super Bowl history. The win also gave Denver 33 wins in the past two seasons, and 46 wins in the past three, both NFL records.

Quarterback John Elway claimed the game's Most Valuable Player award by completing 18 of 29 passes for 336 yards (3rd-most in Super Bowl history), including an 80-yard touchdown toss to Rod Smith in the second quarter that tied for the second-longest TD pass in Super Bowl history. He also ran for a 3-yard score in the fourth quarter, making him the oldest player (38) to score a touchdown in the Super Bowl, eclipsing the record he set a year earlier by scoring in Super Bowl XXXII.

Elway's accurate passing and Terrell Davis' effective running (25 carries, 102 yards) kept the Falcons off balance all day. The Broncos' defense chipped in, as well, with two sacks and four forced turnovers, including two interceptions by Darrien Gordon, who set Super Bowl records for most interception-return yards in a game (108).

Atlanta took the opening kickoff and capped its drive with a 32-yard Morten Andersen field goal, before Denver answered with the game's next 17 points. The first score came on a 1-yard run by fullback Howard Griffith that capped a 10-play, 80-yard opening drive by the Broncos, and the lead was increased to 10-3 on a 26-yard Jason Elam field goal that capped Denver's third possession. After Andersen missed a 26-yard field goal attempt the Broncos' answered with the Elway-to-Smith 80-yard score on the next play to push the lead to 17-3. The Falcons narrowed the margin to 17-6 at halftime with a 28-yard Andersen field goal.

After a scoreless third quarter, Denver took advantage of Gordon's first interception by capping a short 24-yard drive with another Griffith 1-yard touchdown run early in the fourth quarter. Gordon's second pickoff set up Elway's 3-yard touchdown run that put Denver ahead 31-6 with 11:20 remaining. Two late touchdowns by Atlanta sandwiched around a 37-yard Elam field goal to produce the final margin.

Davis set an NFL record with his seventh straight 100-yard game in the postseason, defensive tackle Mike Lodish set a record by playing in his sixth Super Bowl, and Bill Romanowski became just the second player to win back-to-back titles with two different teams.

DENVER 23, NEW YORK JETS 10

Sun., Jan. 17, 1999 • 2:15 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 41°, Wind NW 24 mph (wind chill 18°) • Attendance: 75,482 • Time: 3:16

The Broncos clinched their AFC-record sixth berth in a Super Bowl by defeating the New York Jets 23-10 in the AFC Championship Game before a crowd of 75,482 at Mile High Stadium and a CBS national TV audience. The win was Denver's 19th straight at home including postseason.

After not scoring in the first half, the Broncos scored 20 third-quarter points and reached the Super Bowl for the second consecutive season—matching the back-to-back AFC Championships of the 1986 and '87 Broncos.

The Jets had taken a 10-0 lead on a John Hall 32-yard field goal and a 1-yard Curtis Martin touchdown run that was set up by a blocked punt at the Broncos' 1-yard line. That touchdown proved to be just the wake-up call that Denver needed to ignite its offense, as well as the unusually quiet Mile High crowd. On 1st-and-10 from the 36-yard line, John Elway connected with Ed McCaffrey on a 47-yard pass play, and two plays later found fullback Howard Griffith with an 11-yard touchdown pass to get Denver on the board and narrow the Jets' lead to 10-7.

Then, a wind-stifled kickoff was recovered by Keith Burns and turned into a 44-yard Jason Elam field. Another Elam kick of 48 yards gave Denver the lead, and then a 31-yard touchdown run by Terrell Davis gave the Broncos a 10-point cushion they never relinquished.

The Broncos defense—which deserved credit for keeping the Broncos in the game in the first half while the offense sputtered—forced six turnovers (including two interceptions by Darrien Gordon) on the day and held the Jets to 14 yards rushing on 13 carries. The four opponent fumbles recovered by Denver set a franchise postseason record.

Davis set numerous records during the contest, including passing his own NFL-record total of 2,331 yards rushing in an entire season (regular and postseason combined) set in 1997, and rushing for 100 yards for the sixth straight postseason game, tying John Riggins for the most all-time. He also passed Larry Csonka and Riggins for seventh and sixth place in career postseason rushing yards. Tight end Shannon Sharpe tied Vance Johnson (40) for the most receptions in postseason by a Bronco. Elam's three field goals tied a Denver single-game postseason record. The Broncos maintained a perfect record (10-0) in the postseason when outrushing the opponent and a perfect mark (12-0) when leading after three quarters.

1998 AFC DIVISIONAL PLAYOFF GAME
DENVER 38, MIAMI 3Sat., Jan. 9, 1999 • 2:15 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver*Weather: Sunny, 49°, Wind W 13 mph • Attendance: 75,729 • Time: 2:48

The Denver Broncos won their fifth straight postseason contest and advanced to the AFC Championship Game for the second year in a row with a record-setting 38-3 win over Miami in an AFC Divisional Playoff Game played before 75,729 raucous fans at Mile High Stadium.

The 35-point differential represented Denver's largest margin of victory in a postseason game, and was punctuated by a defensive effort that limited Miami to just 14 yards on 13 carries for an average of 1.1 yards per rush—all of which set new franchise records. The three points allowed were also the fewest allowed by Denver in a postseason game.

The Broncos offense was just as sharp, putting points on the board in all four quarters, including 14 in both the first and fourth quarters. Denver's two first quarter TD both came courtesy of T.D. himself—Terrell Davis—who scored on runs on 1 and 20 yards, the latter of which would qualify for any highlight film as Davis juked two Dolphins defenders with separate moves as he dashed to the end zone. Davis was, unequivocally, the offensive star, posting a franchise-record 199 yards on 21 carries, which also represented the fourth-highest single-game total in NFL postseason history. Davis, who moved into eighth place all-time in NFL postseason rushing in just his sixth game, had rushed for 129 yards by halftime to notch his first 100-yd. half in the postseason, to go along with 10 in the regular season.

Miami closed the gap to 14-3 in the second quarter, scoring it's only points of the game on a 22-yd. Olindo Mare field goal, but Denver answered with an 11-play, 87-yard drive capped by Derek Loville's 11-yard TD run to increase the lead to 21-3 at halftime. The Broncos pushed the margin to 24-3 early in the third quarter when Jason Elam converted a 32-yd. field goal, and put the game far out of reach early in the fourth quarter when John Elway hooked up with Rod Smith for a 28-yd. touchdown play that was his 25th career postseason TD, tying him for fourth-place all-time.

The icing on the cake was provided when Neil Smith picked up a fumble forced by Darrius Johnson at the Broncos' 21-yd. line and ran it back 79 yards for his first career postseason and a 38-3 Broncos lead, that would stand up over the final 9:49 for Denver's most lopsided postseason win.

Shannon Sharpe led all Denver receivers with five catches, while Smith was the top yardage-gainer through the air with 71 on four catches. Defensively, Darrius Johnson and Bill Romanowski each intercepted Dan Marino, with Johnson returning his pickoff 48 yards for the second-longest interception return in franchise postseason history.

DENVER 24, PITTSBURGH 21

Sun., Jan. 11, 1998 • 12:35 p.m. EST • Three Rivers Stadium • Pittsburgh, Pa.

Weather: Sunny, 38°, Wind SW 3 mph • Attendance: 61,382 • Time: 2:59

The Denver Broncos advanced to their fifth Super Bowl—and their first since 1989—with a 24-21 victory at Pittsburgh in the AFC Championship Game, in front of 61,382 fans at Three Rivers Stadium. The Broncos became just the fifth Wild Card team to advance to the Super Bowl, since the Wild Card format was established in 1970.

The passing of John Elway and the running of Terrell Davis, along with a defensive effort that included big play after big play, combined to propel Denver to a 24-14 halftime lead, that they rode to a 24-21 win.

Elway was intercepted by Levon Kirkland on the game's second play, but the Steelers failed to answer when Norm Johnson's 38-yard field goal attempt sailed wide to the left. Denver then got on the board when Davis—who would rush for 139 yards and become the club's all-time postseason rushing leader—capped a six-play, 72-yard drive with an 8-yard touchdown run on the Broncos' second possession.

Pittsburgh evened the score on its next possession, as quarterback Kordell Stewart rushed 33 yards around right end for a touchdown to punctuate a 6-play, 65-yard drive that covered 3:02 on the clock. The Steelers' then broke the deadlock early in the second quarter when Jerome Bettis powered his way into the end zone from one yard out to put the finishing touches on an 11-play, 68-yard drive.

But the Broncos would score the game's next 17 points, and, in effect, put the game away as the defense held up its end of the bargain down the stretch. The scoring began with a 43-yard Jason Elam field goal with 8:20 remaining in the half. After each team punted on its next possession, Denver got the ball back when Ray Crockett intercepted a Stewart bomb in the end zone, setting up a 14-point assault that would send Denver to the locker room ahead 24-14. Elway hit Howard Griffith for a 15-yard touchdown with 1:47 remaining, and Denver then forced a Pittsburgh punt and found the end zone again when Elway connected with Ed McCaffrey for a 1-yard touchdown with 13 seconds left in the half.

Denver rode that 24-14 lead into the fourth quarter before the Steelers scored the only points of the second half on a 14-yard Stewart-to-Charles Johnson touchdown pass with 2:46 remaining. But the Broncos succeeded in running out the clock on their final possession, and established a new franchise record with their 15th win of the season.

Elway tied Roger Staubach for fourth place on the NFL's all-time list for postseason touchdown passes (24) with his two on the day, and the Broncos' three interceptions tied the franchise postseason record for most in a game.

Sun., Jan. 4, 1998 • 3 p.m. CST • Arrowhead Stadium • Kansas City, Mo.

Weather: Overcast, 32° (wind chill 26°), Wind NW 6 mph • Attendance: 76,965 • Time: 2:59

The Denver Broncos posted their first road playoff win in 11 years—and only the second in franchise history—with a 14-10 victory over Kansas City in front of 76,965 at Arrowhead Stadium. Denver advanced to its first AFC Championship Game since the 1991 season, on the strength of two Terrell Davis touchdowns—tying the franchise postseason record for the second week in a row—and a defensive effort that limited the Chiefs to just 10 points, tied for the fewest in club playoff history.

Davis broke a scoreless tie late in the second quarter, plowing into the end zone from 1 yard out to give Denver a 7-0 lead with 1:56 remaining in the half, capping an 8-play, 65-yard drive that covered 4:51 on the clock. Key to the drive was a 17-yard John Elway completion to Rod Smith on a third-and-seven play that gave the Broncos a first down at the Kansas City 4.

The Chiefs, limited to 58 yards total offense in the first half, came out strong after the break, moving the ball to the Denver 6-yard line, before settling for a 20-yard Pete Stoyanovich field goal. Kansas City struck again late in the quarter when Elvis Grbac found tight end Tony Gonzalez in the back of the end zone for a 12-yard score and the Chiefs' only touchdown of the day.

The Broncos, however, would answer on their ensuing possession, driving 49 yards in 6 plays for what would prove to be the game-winning touchdown. The key play of the drive was a 43-yard Elway-to-Ed McCaffrey completion on third-and-five from the Chiefs' 44-yard line, which gave Denver a first down at the Chiefs' 1-yard line. After two unsuccessful attempts from close range, Davis muscled his way through the middle of the Chiefs' line for his second touchdown of the day and the fifth of his career in the postseason to establish a new franchise record.

Kansas City would have possession three more times in the game, but would be turned back each time by the Broncos' defense after reaching Denver's 31 (punt), their own 36 (punt) and the Broncos' 20 with 0:19 left (downs). The final play was a pass to the end zone on 4th-and-2 that was knocked down by Darrien Gordon, ending the Chiefs' hopes, and propelling Denver to the AFC title game.

Elway, with 170 passing yards on the day, moved into second place in NFL postseason history in that category, supplanting both Terry Bradshaw (3,833) and Jim Kelly (3,863) to finish the day at 3,940.

1997 AFC WILD CARD PLAYOFF GAME

DENVER 42, JACKSONVILLE 17

Sat., Dec. 27, 1997 • 2:05 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Partly Cloudy, 44° (wind chill 19°), Wind N 30 mph • Attendance: 74,481 • Time: 3:02

The Denver Broncos advanced to the AFC Divisional playoffs by literally running the Jacksonville Jaguars out of town, as they piled up a club postseason-record 310 rushing yards en route to a 42-17 victory in front of 74,481 at Mile High Stadium. The Broncos set numerous other postseason records during the contest, including new standards for rushing attempts (49), total yards (511), points in a quarter (21; 4th qtr.), total points (42), first downs (28), rushing first downs (18) and third-down efficiency (75%), while the 237 yards allowed by the defense was the second-lowest total in Denver's 21-game playoff history.

The Broncos scored touchdowns on each of their first three possessions, racking up a 21-0 lead on 32 offensive plays, during which time the Jaguars ran only six. Terrell Davis capped Denver's opening drive with a 2-yard touchdown run and Rod Smith punctuated the next when he reeled in a 43-yard touchdown pass from John Elway. The lead was increased to 21-0 when Davis—who set franchise postseason records for rushing attempts (31), rushing yards (184) and longest run from scrimmage (59) before leaving in the third quarter with bruised ribs—tied the franchise records for rushing touchdowns and total touchdowns in a postseason game with his second of the day, this one from 5 yards out.

The Jaguars answered by scoring the game's next 17 points, courtesy of a 1-yard Natrone Means touchdown run before the half, a 38-yard Mike Hollis field goal early in the third quarter and a blocked punt by Travis Davis, which the Jacksonville safety returned 29 yards for a touchdown to pull the Jaguars to within 21-17.

But the Broncos dominated from there, as Derek Loville took over for the injured Davis and slashed his way to 103 yards (second-most by a Bronco in postseason) on 11 attempts, and scored two fourth-quarter touchdowns on runs of 25 and 8 yards to tie the club touchdown record already achieved in the game by Davis. Vaughn Hebronn then got into the act, scoring Denver's fifth rushing touchdown of the day on a 6-yard run with 1:11 remaining, to push the lead to its final margin of 42-17. With Davis' 184 rushing yards and Loville's 103, Denver became just the third team in NFL postseason history to boast two 100-yard rushers in the same game. Additionally, Denver's 40 minutes and 59 seconds of possession time and their 310 rushing yards both were the fifth-highest recorded in an NFL playoff game.

JACKSONVILLE 30, DENVER 27

Sat., Jan. 4, 1997 • 2:05 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 46°, Wind NW 15 mph • Attendance: 75,678 • Time: 3:02

The Broncos' most successful season since 1991 came to a surprising end at the hands of the Jacksonville Jaguars in an AFC Divisional Playoff game in front of 75,678 stunned fans at Mile High Stadium, by a final score of 30-27. The loss was Denver's first of the season at home and only their second ever at home in the postseason.

The contest began on a promising note for the Broncos, as they scored on two of their first three possessions to take a 12-0 lead into the second quarter. First, Vaughn Hebronn scored his first ever postseason touchdown on a 1-yard plunge on fourth down. During that drive, Terrell Davis set a franchise record for the longest postseason run with a 47-yard scamper. On Denver's next possession, Shannon Sharpe hauled in an 18-yard pass from John Elway to produce the 12-point margin.

The Jaguars then proceeded to score on their next six possessions, with the first five being unanswered by the Broncos, producing a 23-12 advantage for Jacksonville. The Broncos responded with a 9-play, 57-yard drive, capped by a 2-yard touchdown run by Davis, who then tacked on the two-point conversion himself to cut the deficit to three. But then Mark Brunell, who threw for 245 yard and two touchdowns on the day, connected with Jimmy Smith on a critical third-and-five play at the Broncos' 16-yard line with 3:39 remaining in the game to restore a 10-point advantage.

The Broncos again pulled to within three points when Elway found Ed McCaffrey in the end zone for a 15-yard touchdown with 1:50 left, but Denver's magic ran out as the Jaguars held on for the 30-27 win.

During the contest, Elway—who played in his franchise-record 15th postseason game—passed Terry Bradshaw for fourth place on the all-time NFL postseason list for pass attempts. Natrone Means, who led Jacksonville's 203-yard ground attack, rushed for 140 yards on 21 carries. Brunell added 44 more on seven rushes.

BUFFALO 10, DENVER 7

Sun., Jan. 12, 1992 • 12:35 p.m. EST • Rich Stadium • Buffalo, N.Y.

Weather: Sunny, 42°, Wind SSW 15 mph • Attendance: 80,272 • Time: 2:59

The Broncos were denied their fifth AFC Championship, losing 10-7 to the Bills before 80,272 in Rich Stadium. Denver's defense shut down the high-powered Buffalo offense, limiting it to just 213 total yards and only 12 first downs, but the Broncos offense failed to capitalize on several first-half opportunities.

Buffalo punted on its first two drives after a total net of -2 yards, and had its third drive ended when nose tackle Greg Kragen tipped and then intercepted a pass on the Buffalo 29. But Denver could not take advantage as David Treadwell's 47-yard field goal attempt sailed wide right. The defense rose up again to thwart the Bills and the Broncos began their next drive on their own 24, but would later stall when Treadwell missed again, hitting the right upright from 42 yards out.

Once again the Bills punted after failing to get a first down, and a 10-yard punt return by Vance Johnson set Denver up on the 50. On first down, quarterback John Elway threw a middle screen to running back Steve Sewell, who gained 26 yards to the Buffalo 24. The Broncos could move no closer than the 20, and David Treadwell's 37-yard attempt hit the right upright, ending the last scoring threat of the first half. Through the first two quarters Denver outgained the Bills 123 yards to 58, had nine first downs to Buffalo's three, and had a time of possession of 20:19, but at halftime the score stood at 0-0.

The Bills' second drive of the third quarter began at their 20 and 11 plays later they faced a third-and-seven on Denver's 26. Kelly attempted to hit wide receiver James Lofton but cornerback Tyrone Braxton intercepted the ball and returned it to the Denver 19. On second-and-10 Elway attempted another middle screen to Sewell, but linebacker Carlton Bailey picked off the pass and ran 11 yards for a touchdown.

The Broncos' first possession of the fourth quarter began with Gary Kubiak at quarterback, replacing Elway, who left the game with an injured thigh muscle. Kubiak drove Denver from its 21 to the Buffalo 23, but the Broncos failed to convert a fourth-down attempt. The Bills then drove 50 yards in 9 plays to score on a 44-yard field goal by Scott Norwood. Now down 10-0, Kubiak engineered a frantic drive in which Denver covered 85 yards in 8 plays, and Kubiak scored a 3-yard quarterback draw to pull Denver within 3 points.

The ensuing onside kick was recovered by the Broncos' Steve Atwater, and Denver began its last chance drive on its 49 with 1:43 left on the clock and two time-outs. On first down, Kubiak hit Sewell for seven yards, but cornerback Kirby Jackson stripped the ball away and he recovered on the Buffalo 44. The Bronco defense forced the Bills to punt, but Denver could only reach the 50 as time ran out. Kubiak, playing his final game as a pro, outgained both Elway and Kelly, completing 11 of 12 passes for 136 yards.

DENVER 26, HOUSTON 24
 Sat., Jan. 4, 1992 • 2 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 36°. Wind W 14 mph • Attendance: 75,301 • Time: 3:09

The Denver Broncos advanced to their fourth AFC Championship Game in six years after defeating Houston 26-24 before 75,301 in Mile High Stadium. David Treadwell's 28-yard field goal with 20 seconds remaining capped a 12-play, 78-yard drive in which the Broncos converted two fourth-down plays.

Houston quarterback Warren Moon drove his team 70 yards in four plays—highlighted by a 49-yard strike to Haywood Jeffries, who would also haul in the touchdown pass from 15 yards—to put Houston up 7-0 with only 1:46 gone in the game. After a Denver punt, Moon again drove his team down the field and threw his second touchdown pass, this one for 9 yards to wide receiver Drew Hill.

The Broncos started their next possession on their 35 and covered 65 yards in 8 plays to score on a 10-yard pass from quarterback John Elway to wide receiver Vance Johnson, but a fumbled snap on the conversion attempt left the score 14-6. On the sixth play of the ensuing Oilers' drive, Moon was intercepted by free safety Steve Atwater, but a roughing the passer call nullified the effort. Three plays later Houston scored on a 6-yard pass from Moon to wide receiver Curtis Duncan.

The next Oilers' possession ended when Atwater intercepted a pass and gave Denver the ball on its own 12 with 6:03 left in the half. In a drive that saw Elway complete all 6 passes for 64 yards, and Steve Sewell complete one to Johnson for 10, the Broncos covered 88 yards in 12 plays to score on a 1-yard run by running back Greg Lewis, cutting the Houston lead to 21-13. After a missed Houston field goal attempt, the Broncos drove from their 20 to Houston's 31 and David Treadwell nailed a 49-yard field goal, the longest in Denver postseason history. Now up by only five at 21-16, the Oilers reached the Broncos' 7 on their next drive, but had to settle for a 25-yard field goal.

Denver started on its 20 and 9 plays later faced a fourth-and-four from the Houston 41. Elway threw a short pass to wide receiver Michael Young, who broke two tackles and was finally brought down on Houston's 15, a gain of 26 yards. Three plays later Lewis bowled over from one for his second touchdown of the day, making the score 24-23 in favor of Houston. The Oilers' next drive stalled and Greg Montgomery punted to the Denver two. With 2:07 and no time outs remaining, Elway hit Young for a 22-yard gain on first down, but three plays later the Broncos had a fourth-and-six on the 28. Elway dropped back, then scrambled left field and ran out of bounds a yard past the first-down marker. Three straight incompletions again left Denver with a do-or-die fourth-down situation. Elway again dropped back and scrambled left, but as he headed upfield he tossed a pass to Johnson, who ran to the Houston 21 for a 44-yard gain. running back Steve Sewell ran for 10 yards on first down, and two plays later Treadwell came on for the winning kick.

SUPER BOWL XXIV
SAN FRANCISCO 55, DENVER 10

Sun., Jan. 28, 1990 • 4:23 p.m. CST • Louisiana Superdome • New Orleans, La.

Weather: Indoors • Attendance: 72,919 • Time: 3:21

The San Francisco 49ers captured their fourth World Championship with a 55-10 victory over Denver in Super Bowl XXIV, played in the Louisiana Superdome. San Francisco quarterback Joe Montana completed 22 of 29 passes for 297 yards and five touchdowns—three to wide receiver Jerry Rice.

The Forty-Niners scored two touchdowns in every quarter and outgained the Broncos 461 yards to 167. After stopping Denver on the game's initial possession, San Francisco drove 66 yards in 10 plays, scoring on a 20-yard pass from Montana to Rice. The Broncos' next possession covered 49 yards in 10 plays and resulted in a 42-yard field goal by David Treadwell.

After limiting the Niners to four yards on their next drive, Denver took possession on its own 49, but on first down running back Bobby Humphrey fumbled and defensive end Kevin Fagan recovered for San Francisco on the Niners' 46. That turnover led to a 7-yard touchdown pass from Montana to tight end Brent Jones, and after a failed extra point attempt, San Francisco led 13-3 with 3 seconds left in the first quarter.

The Broncos failed to cross mid-field in the second period while the Niners scored on a one-yard run by running back Tom Rathman and a 38-yard pass from Montana to Rice. San Francisco was unable to move the ball on the initial drive of the second half, but Elway was intercepted on the first play of Denver's next drive and the Niners took possession on the Broncos' 28. On first down Montana threw a touchdown pass to Rice to put his team up 34-3. The next Denver drive also ended with an interception, leading to a 35-yard scoring pass from Montana to wide receiver John Taylor. The Broncos, spurred by a 34-yard run by Humphrey, moved 61 yards in 5 plays and a penalty to score on a 3-yard run by Elway. San Francisco roared back with an 11-play, 75-yard drive that ended with a 3-yard touchdown run by Rathman. Following another Bronco fumble, running back Roger Craig plowed 1 yard into the end zone to round out the scoring.

DENVER 37, CLEVELAND 21
Sun., Jan. 14, 1990 • 11:30 a.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 53°, Wind W 10 mph • Attendance: 76,005 • Time: 3:28

The Denver Broncos won their third American Football Conference Championship in four years with a dynamic 37-21 victory over Cleveland before 76,005 fans in Mile High Stadium. Broncos quarterback John Elway threw for 385 yards and three touchdowns, running back Sammy Winder tied a Denver postseason record with two touchdowns, and strong safety Dennis Smith nabbed two of the Broncos' three interceptions. Denver had 497 yards of total offense to the Browns' 256 and had a time possession of 36:53.

The Broncos took the opening kickoff and drove to the Cleveland 1, but on third down, Elway's pitch to running back Bobby Humphrey was fumbled and the Browns' Andrew Stewart recovered on the 8. With 5 minutes left in the first quarter, Smith picked off a Bernie Kosar pass and returned it to the Cleveland 32. Denver moved to the Cleveland 12 but had to settle for a 29-yard field goal by David Treadwell.

Neither team mounted scoring drives until the Broncos took possession on their own 18 with 6:54 left in the half. On first down Elway hit wide receiver Mark Jackson for 12 yards, and three plays later he connected with wide receiver Michael Young for a 70-yard touchdown play. The Browns took the opening kickoff of the second half and drove 70 yards in 6 plays, scoring a 27-yard pass from Kosar to Brian Brennan. Denver roared right back on its next pos-session, going 80 yards in 6 plays and scoring on a 5-yard pass from Elway to tight end Orson Mobley. The key play on that drive was a 53-yard pass from Elway to Young. Cleveland was unable to move the ball and punted back to Denver. The Broncos moved from their own 40, and buoyed by a 25-yard run by Elway, covered 60 yards in 6 plays and scored on a 7-yard run by Winder, making the score 24-7.

The Browns needed just 6 plays to go 72 yards and score on a 10-yard Kosar-to-Brennan pass, and two plays into Denver's next drive, Cleveland's Felix Wright recovered a Denver fumble and returned it to the Bronco 1. On second down Tim Manoa barreled over from the 2, cutting Denver's lead to 24-21 with one second left in the third quarter. The Broncos shut out the Browns in the final quarter while posting 13 points. Their initial drive of the quarter covered 80 yards in 6 plays and ended with a 39-yard touchdown pass from Elway to Winder. Denver's Kip Corrington intercepted Kosar to set the Broncos up on the Cleveland 39. Denver got as far as the Browns' 17 but had to settle for a 34-yard Treadwell field goal. Smith grabbed his second interception to end the Browns' next drive, leading to a 31-yard field goal.

DENVER 24, PITTSBURGH 23

Sun., Jan. 7, 1990 • 2 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 55°, Wind W 6 mph • Attendance: 75,868 • Time: 2:57

The Denver Broncos advanced to their third AFC Championship Game in four years with a come-from-behind 24-23 victory over the Steelers before 75,868 in Mile High Stadium. Although Pittsburgh held the upper hand in total yards (404 to 364) and time of possession (34:14 to 25:46) Denver was able to mount a late fourth quarter drive and score the winning touchdown with just 2:27 remaining.

The Steelers took the opening kickoff return and drove 65 yards in 13 plays, scoring on a 32-yard Gary Anderson field goal. Late in the opening quarter Pittsburgh took possession at its own 7-yard line, but after a 45-yard run by Merrill Hoge and a 33-yard Bobby Brister to Tim Worley pass play, Pittsburgh was knocking on the door and scored three plays later on a 7-yard run by Hoge to put Pittsburgh up 10-0.

The Broncos took their first possession of the second quarter and drove 75 yards in 12 plays to score on a 1-yard plunge by running back Mel Bratton on third-and-goal. The Steelers roared back, traveling 77 yards in 12 plays to score on a 9-yard pass from Brister to wide receiver Louis Lipps. The Broncos got the ball back on their own 33 with 20 seconds left in the half. On first down, quarterback John Elway and wide receiver Mark Jackson combined for 26 yards, and then Elway fired a 15-yard pass to wide receiver Ricky Nattiel, putting Denver at the Pittsburgh 26 with 2 seconds left. David Treadwell kicked a 43-yard field goal to pull Denver within 17-10 at the half.

Early in the third quarter, Denver NT Greg Kragen forced a Tim Worley fumble and CB Tyrone Braxton recovered for the Broncos on the Steeler 37. On first down Elway hit wide receiver Vance Johnson for a touchdown, tying the score at 17. Pittsburgh's next two possessions ended in Anderson field goals and the Steelers held a 23-17 lead in the early stages of the fourth quarter. After an exchange of punts the Broncos took possession on their own 29 with 7:06 left in the game. After a first down penalty, making it first-and-19 from the 20, Elway hit Jackson for 18 yards. Elway then handed off to running back Bobby Humphrey, who pitched the ball back to Elway, and he threw a 36-yard strike to Johnson, giving Denver a first down on the Steeler 26. Humphrey ran on the next four plays, gaining 24 yards and taking the ball to the 2. On third-and-goal from the 1, Bratton scored again and Treadwell's extra point gave Denver its first lead of the game with 2:27 left. Pittsburgh got the ball on its own 20, but on third down Brister's signals were drowned out by the crowd and he mishandled the snap. Randy Robbins recovered for Denver on the Pittsburgh 18 and the Broncos were able to run out the clock.

SUPER BOWL XXII

Sun., Jan. 31, 1988 • 3:20 p.m. PST • Jack Murphy Stadium • San Diego, Calif.

Weather: Mostly Cloudy, 61°, Wind SW 5 mph • Attendance: 73,302 • Time: 3:40

The Washington Redskins scored 35 points in the second quarter to power their way to a 42-10 victory over the Broncos in Super Bowl XXII, played at San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium.

Super Bowl MVP Doug Williams of Washington completed 18 of 29 passes for 340 yards and four touchdowns, while rusher Timmy Smith gained 204 yards on 22 carries, scoring twice, and wide receiver Ricky Sanders caught 9 passes for 193 yards and two touchdowns.

Overall, the Redskins gained 602 yards of total offense to Denver's 327. The Broncos took the early lead on their first play from scrimmage, a 56-yard bomb from John Elway to Ricky Nattiel, coming with 1:57 gone in the game. Denver's next possession stalled at the Redskins' 7-yard line, as Rich Karlis put the Broncos up 10-0 with a 24-yard field goal.

In the second quarter, however, Denver's dreams of a World Championship were blown apart by the Redskins. On Washington's first play of the quarter, Williams and Sanders combined for an 80-yard touchdown to bring the score to 10-7. The Redskins took the lead for good on the fifth play of their next possession when Williams hit Gary Clark for 27 yards and a score.

Denver got as far as the Washington 26 on its next drive, but Karlis' 43-yards field goal attempt sailed wide left. Two plays later Timmy Smith scored on a 58-yard run to increase the Washington lead to 21-10. The Redskins' next possession ended with a 50-yard Williams-to-Sanders TD pass, and minutes later, Williams and Clint Didier combined for a 7-yard touchdown pass to give the Washington Redskins a 35-10 lead at halftime.

The Broncos could move only as far as the Redskins' 48-yard line in the second half, while Washington closed out the scoring late in the game on a 4-yard run by Smith.

Denver's Jeremiah Castille recovered a Cleveland fumble on the Denver 3-yard line with just over a minute left in the game, halting a desperate drive by the Browns and preserving a victory for Denver. With the win, Denver became the first AFC Champion since the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1978-79 to win the conference in consecutive seasons.

The Broncos were presented with the game's first scoring opportunity when Freddie Gilbert caught a deflected Bernie Kosar pass on the contest's third play. Denver took 4 plays to go 18 yards, scoring on an 8-yard pass from John Elway to Ricky Nattiel. The Browns' next drive reached the Broncos 45 before Kevin Mack fumbled, and it was recovered by Steve Wilson on the Denver 40. Two plays later Gene Lang took off on a 42-yard run that would stand for nine years as the longest in postseason history for Denver, taking the ball to the Cleveland 11. Six plays later, on third-and-goal from the 3, Elway's threw incomplete into the end zone, but Cleveland was penalized for holding, giving the Broncos new life at the Browns' 1. Steve Sewell scored on first down to give Denver a 14-0 lead with 11 minutes gone in the first quarter.

The Browns took thirteen plays to move 64-yards for their first points of the game, scoring on a 24-yard Matt Bahr field goal. Elway responded by moving the Broncos 80 yards in 11 plays, capped by a 1-yard Gene Lang touchdown run to up Denver's lead to 21-3. Both teams missed field goals in the latter part of the first half, and the Broncos took their 18-point lead into the dressing room at halftime.

After Elway was intercepted by Felix Wright four plays into the second half, Cleveland needed just three plays to go 35 yards and score on an 18-yard pass from Bernie Kosar to Reggie Langhorne. The Broncos answered four plays into their next drive, when on third-and-10 from the Denver 20, Elway scrambled right and threw to Mark Jackson, who caught the ball at the Bronco 25, evaded two tackles and sprinted for a touchdown to complete an 80-yard scoring play and give the Broncos a 28-10 lead. Kosar and the Browns roared right back, moving 80 yards in 5 plays to score on a 32-yard Kosar-to-Earnest Byner pass.

After a Bronco punt, Cleveland engineered another scoring drive, going 42 yards in 4 plays and scoring on a 4-yard run by Byner to narrow the Bronco lead to 28-24. Just before the end of the third period, Rich Karlis capped off a Denver possession with a 38-yard field goal. The Browns, however, moved 86 yards in 9 plays to tie the score at 31-31 on a 4-yard pass from Kosar to Webster Slaughter. After an exchange of punts, Denver began a drive at their own 25 with 5:14 left in the game. A pair of 26-yard pass plays to Ricky Nattiel put Denver at the Cleveland 20, setting up a 23-yard Elway-Sammy Winder pass play for a touchdown to put the Broncos up 38-31 with just over 4 minutes left. Kosar and the Browns advanced to the Denver 8-yard line with 1:12 remaining, when Byner ran to the 3, but had the ball stripped by Castille, who recovered for the Broncos. Denver was forced into a fourth down situation with 13 seconds left, and punter Mike Horan carried the ball out of the back of the end zone for a safety, making the score 38-33 in Denver's favor. After the ensuing free kick, Cleveland attempted one pass before time ran out.

DENVER 34, HOUSTON 10

Sun., Jan. 10, 1988 • 2 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Mostly Sunny, 45°, Wind E 6 mph • Attendance: 75,968 • Time: 3:07

The Denver Broncos advanced to the AFC Championship game after beating the Oilers 34-10, the largest margin of victory ever for the Broncos in postseason play. The Broncos were led on defense by Mark Haynes and Karl Mecklenburg, who both picked up key interceptions, and on offense by quarterback John Elway (14 of 25, 259 yards, two TDs) and receivers Vance Johnson (4 catches for 105 yards) and Clarence Kay (3 catches for 57 yards and two TDs).

Punter Mike Horan put the Oilers in a hole after the Broncos' first drive stalled, sending a punt to the Houston 5-yard line, where two plays later, a lateral pass from Warren Moon to Mike Rozier was fumbled, and Steve Wilson recovered for Denver on the 1. Gene Lang scored two plays later to give the Broncos an early 7-0 lead. Houston's next drive reached the Bronco 20-yard line before Mecklenburg intercepted a pass and returned it to the Denver 28. Elway hit Kay for 29 yards on the next play to move into Houston territory, and five plays later the same connection was made for a 27-yard touchdown pass, giving the Broncos a 14-0 lead.

Both teams added field goals on their first drive of the second quarter to make the score 17-3 in Denver's favor. On the fourth Denver play after Houston's field goal, Elway threw a 55-yard bomb to Johnson to move the ball to the Oiler 11. Five plays later Elway hit Kay, again for a touchdown on a 1-yard pass to up the lead to 24-3 with less than 2 minutes left in the half.

Denver's first possession of the second half resulted in a Rich Karlis field goal. Houston then took 10 plays to reach the Denver 7, but Mark Haynes picked off a Moon pass in the end zone and returned it 57 yards, a Broncos play-off record. Houston's next drive reached the Broncos 11 but a pass on fourth down fell incomplete. The Oilers got the ball back three plays later when Patrick Allen intercepted an Elway pass, and that led to a 19-yard touchdown pass from Moon to Ernest Givins, cutting Denver's lead to 27-10. The Broncos' Kevin Clark recovered the onside kick that followed, and Denver moved 52 yards in 7 plays to score the final points of the game on a 3-yard run by Elway.

SUPER BOWL XXI

NEW YORK GIANTS 39, DENVER 20

Sun., Jan. 25, 1987 • 3:13 p.m. PST • Rose Bowl • Pasadena, Calif.

Weather: Sunny, 76°, Wind W 2-5 mph • Attendance: 101,063 • Time: 3:25

The New York Giants broke open a close game with 24 unanswered points to open the second half, capturing a 39-20 win over the Broncos in Super Bowl XXI. The game, played before a crowd of 101,063 in Pasadena's Rose Bowl, featured outstanding performances by the two quarterbacks, Super Bowl MVP Phil Simms of New York (22-25, 268 yds., 3 TDs) and Denver's John Elway (22-37, 304 yds., 1 TD).

The Broncos drove to the Giants' 31-yard-line on their opening drive and took a 3-0 lead when Rich Karlis booted a Super Bowl record-tying 48-yard field goal. New York answered with a 9-play, 78-yard scoring drive that culminated with a 6-yard touchdown pass from Simms to tight end Mark Bavaro.

With five-and-a-half minutes remaining in the first quarter, the Broncos took possession on their own 42 after a 28-yard kickoff return by Ken Bell. Elway completed passes on the first three plays of the drive as Denver reached the New York 33. Two Giant penalties left the Broncos with a first-and-10 at the 12, and on third down, Elway called his own number, scoring from 4 yards out on a quarterback draw to give Denver a 10-7 lead. The Giants' next drive stalled and the Broncos got the ball back at the 14-minute mark of the second quarter. On the third play of the drive, on third-and-18, Elway unleashed a 54-yard bomb to Vance Johnson, giving the Broncos a first down on the Giants 28. Seven plays later Denver had a first-and-goal at the New York 1, but failed to score in three plays and Karlis was wide right on a 23-yard field goal attempt.

Denver's Orange Crush defense stifled the next Giant drive at the New York 47, and after a punt, the Broncos got the ball back on their own 15. Controversy entered the game when, on second-and-twelve, Elway threw an apparent completion for a first down to Clarence Kay. The pass was ruled incomplete, a call that was upheld after review of the television replay. On the next play, Giant defensive end George Martin sacked Elway in the end zone for a safety to pull New York within a point of Denver at 10-9. The Denver defense held again, giving Denver the ball at its own 37. Elway quickly hit Steve Watson for 31 yards and Gerald Willhite for 11 more to give the Broncos a first-and-10 at the Giants 21 with 43 seconds left in the half. Denver reached the 16-yard-line, but Karlis was wide right on a 34-yard field goal attempt with 13 seconds left in the half.

New York scored on all three third-quarter drives and outgained Denver in the period 163 yards to 2. With the score at 26-10, the Giants mounted a scoring drive on their first possession of the fourth quarter, and they went up 33-10 after Phil McConkey caught a deflected pass in the end zone, Simms' third touchdown strike of the day. Denver got the ball back at its own 16 and Elway moved the squad to the New York 10, as Karlis kicked a 27-yard field goal to make the score 33-13. The Giants took only 5 plays to move 46 yards for their next touchdown, a 2-yard run by Ottis Anderson which made the score 39-13. Elway took Denver down the field again and hit Vance Johnson with a 47-yard touchdown pass for the game's final points.

DENVER 23, CLEVELAND 20

Sun., Jan. 11, 1987 • 12:30 p.m. EST • Cleveland Stadium • Cleveland, Ohio

Weather: Solid Overcast, 30°, Wind NW 14 mph (-5°) • Attendance: 79,915 • Time: 3:50

Rich Karlis kicked a 33-yard field goal 5:48 into overtime to give the Broncos a 23-20 victory over the Browns. The game was played before a crowd of 79,915 people, who braved a wind-chill of 5 degrees.

Cleveland took an early 7-0 led when Bernie Kosar threw a 6-yard touchdown pass to Herman Fontenot with 5:19 left in the first quarter to cap a 14-play, 86-yard drive. The Broncos stopped the next two Cleveland drives with interceptions, the first Ricky Hunley and the second by Jim Ryan, who returned the ball 26 yards to the Cleveland 9. Four plays later Karlis nailed a 19-yard field goal to make the score 7-3. Denver got another break on Cleveland's next play when Kevin Mack fumbled and Ken Woodward recovered the ball on the Browns' 37. On first down John Elway rambled 34 yards, and two more rushes got Denver to the 1-yard line. On fourth-and-goal Gerald Willhite plunged into the end zone to give the Broncos a 10-7 lead.

Cleveland kicker Mark Moseley tied the score at 10 with a 29-yard field goal with 20 seconds left in the first half. Both teams saw their first two possessions of the second half end in punts before Denver scored on a 26-yard Karlis field goal 12 minutes into the third quarter, capping an 11-play, 61-yard drive. The Browns responded as Mack rushed for 34 yards in a 10-play, 76-yard drive that culminated with a 24-yard Moseley field goal, knotting the score at 13-13. The Broncos' next two possessions ended in punts, and Cleveland followed the second with a 48-yard touchdown strike from Kosar to Brian Brennan on a third-and-six play to put Cleveland ahead 20-13 with 5:43 left in regulation.

The ensuing kickoff rolled to the Denver 2-yard line where Gene Lang fell on it. Pro Bowl-bound Elway then engineered the longest and most important drive of his four-year career. On the fifth play of the drive (2nd-and-7 from the Broncos' 15), Elway rushed for 11 yards and a first down. He then hit Steve Sewell for a 22-yard gain, followed by a 12-yard strike to Steve Watson to give Denver a first down on the Cleveland 40. After an incompleton and an 8-yard sack, Elway threw a 20-yard pass to Mark Jackson, moving the team to the Cleveland 28. Another incompleton was followed by a 14-yard Elway-to-Sewell pass, giving the Broncos a first down on the Brown's 14 with 57 seconds left. After an imcompleton Elway ran 9 yards to the Cleveland 5-yard line. On the next play, he hit Jackson for a touchdown, and Karlis's extra point tied the score at 20 with 37 seconds left. Cleveland was unable to move the ball as time ran out in the fourth quarter.

The Browns won the overtime coin toss and elected to receive. Three plays into the drive, (on third-and-two from the Cleveland 38), the Orange Crush rose up to snuff Herman Fontenot for no gain. Cleveland punted and Willhite returned it to the Bronco 25, where the Denver juggernaut revved it up again. On second-and-five, Elway hit Orson Mobley for a 22-yard gain, and three plays later Elway threw a 28-yard pass to Watson. With a first down on Cleveland's 22-yard line, the Broncos rushed three times to get to the 15, and on fourth down, Karlis hit the 33-yard game-winner. Elway accounted for 300 total yards in the game, rushing for 56 and completing 22 of 38 passes for 244 yards. The Broncos kept alive a 1986 record of 13-0 when they scored 20 or more points. Denver also notched its 11th win on natural turf, losing only to San Diego at home on grass.

DENVER 22, NEW ENGLAND 17

Sun., Jan. 4, 1987 • 2 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 65°, Wind S 9 mph • Attendance: 76,105 • Time: 3:09

Rulon Jones sacked Tony Eason in the end zone for a safety with 1:37 left on the clock to put Denver up 22-17 and halt the Patriots' final comeback drive. The playoff victory was the first since Jan. 1, 1978 for the Broncos, when they defeated Oakland for the AFC Championship.

The two teams traded punts for the first 9 minutes of the game before Denver posed the initial scoring threat. Starting at their own 20, the Broncos took four plays to reach the New England 7, behind John Elway completions of 39 and 21 yards. On second-and-goal from the 4, Elway rolled around the left side and was hit just short of the goal line. He was penalized (delay of game) for spiking the ball after the play, and that sent Denver back to the 6. Two plays later, Rich Karlis nailed a 27-yard field goal to give Denver a 3-0 lead.

New England mounted a 7-play 87-yard drive later in the quarter, with Eason hitting Stanley Morgan for a 19-yard touchdown. The Broncos roared right back with a 13-play, 82-yard drive that was punctuated by a 22-yard touchdown run by Elway, giving Denver a 10-7 lead midway through the second quarter. The Patriots tied the score on the last play of the half with a 38-yard Tony Franklin field goal.

Denver received the kickoff to open the second half and proceeded to chew up over 9 minutes off of the clock. The Broncos ran the ball 11 times on the drive, which stalled on the Patriot 5. Karlis' 22-yard field goal put Denver up 13-10.

Five plays into the next New England drive, the Patriots took a page out of Dan Reeve's bag of tricks, scoring on a flea-flicker that ended with a 45-yard touchdown pass from Eason to Morgan to give New England its first lead of the game at 17-13. Denver jumped right back on top, traveling 86 yards in 6 plays to score on a 48-yard Elway-to-Vance Johnson pass on the last play of the third quarter.

The two teams both punted three times in the fourth quarter, and the last one, a Mike Horan punt of 54 yards, backed New England to its own 10. On first down, Eason dropped back to pass but was sacked for a safety by Rulon Jones. Denver recovered the onside free kick and held on to the ball to preserve the win.

PITTSBURGH 24, DENVER 17
 Sun., Dec. 30, 1984 • 2 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Mostly Sunny, 52°, Wind N 7 mph • Attendance: 74,981 • Time: 3:11

Denver had two possessions in the final two minutes of the game but failed to score as Pittsburgh advanced to the Conference Championship game, ending a Broncos season in which they had compiled a franchise-best 13-3 regular season record.

Denver's opportunistic defense recovered two Steeler fumbles in the first quarter. The first one resulted in a Rich Karlis field goal attempt, but it sailed wide right. Pittsburgh fumbled on the next play, and the Broncos recovered again. That turnover lead to a 7-yard touchdown pass from John Elway to Jim Wright.

Pittsburgh scored on a 28-yard field goal on the first play of the second period, and just before intermission, the Steelers took the lead on Frank Pollard's 1-yard touchdown plunge.

Denver tied the game early in the third quarter on a 21-yard Karlis field goal. The Broncos regained the lead on their next possession, scoring on a 20-yard pass from Elway to Steve Watson. For the game, Watson gained 177 yards on 11 receptions.

The Steelers then mounted a scoring drive of their own, tying the game at 17-17 on a Mark Malone to Louis Lipps pass late in the quarter. Later, Pittsburgh's Eric Williams intercepted an Elway pass and returned it to the Denver 2-yard line with only 2:45 left in the game. Pollard scored two plays later to give the Steelers the lead 24-17. Denver couldn't move the ball on its final two possessions as time expired.

SEATTLE 31, DENVER 7

Sat., Dec. 24, 1983 • 1 p.m. PST • Kingdome • Seattle, Wash.

Weather: Indoors • Attendance: 60,752 • Time: 2:53

Seattle broke open a close contest with two second-half Dave Krieg touchdown passes as the Seahawks beat Denver 31-7 in the AFC Wild Card playoff game.

Seattle scored on its first possession of the day with a 17-yard pass from Krieg to Steve Largent. Later in the first quarter, Denver mounted a 9-play, 76-yard drive, scoring on a 13-yard pass from Steve DeBerg to Jesse Myles. Seattle cornerback Kerry Justin intercepted a DeBerg pass on Denver's next drive and the Seahawks drove to the Denver 20-yard line, with Norm Johnson converting a 37-yard field goal.

Denver then drove to the Seattle 4-yard line, but Gerald Willhite fumbled and Seattle recovered, and then ran the remaining time off the clock. The second half belonged to the Seahawks as Krieg passed for two touchdowns and running back David Hughes ran for another, making the final score 31-7.

Houston 13, Denver 7

Sun., Dec. 23, 1979 • 3 p.m. CST • Astrodome • Houston, Texas

Weather: Indoors • Attendance: 48,776 • Time: 2:59

Toni Fritsch kicked two field goals to provide the margin of victory as the Houston Oilers played strong second half defense and defeated the Broncos 13-7, earning the Oilers advancement in the American Football Conference playoffs.

Fritsch opened the scoring with a 31-yard first period field goal, but Denver came back to take a 7-3 lead on a 7-yard pass from Craig Morton to running back Dave Preston, an 80-yard drive that took the Broncos 13 plays.

Houston went ahead to stay on a 3-yard burst by Earl Campbell at 14:14 of the second period. However, Campbell was injured on the play and did not return to action in the second half. Oiler quarterback Dan Pastorini and wide receiver Ken Burrough also left the contest due to injuries, both early in the second half, putting a severe crimp in the Houston attack. But the Broncos were able to move the ball for only 216 yards total offense, and the tenacious Houston defense sacked Morton times for 40 yards in losses as the Oilers held on to win.

Linebacker Bob Swenson intercepted a Gifford Nielsen pass at the Oiler 26-yard line midway through the fourth period, but two sacks of Morton led to a 50-yard field goal attempt by Fred Steinfort. Steinfort's kick hit the upright, and the Oilers later drove for a second field goal by Fritsch, this one of 20 yards, providing the final victory margin.

Denver drove to the Houston 27 at the 2-minute mark, but the Oiler defense again rose to the occasion to stifle the threat and secure the win, eliminating the Broncos from the playoffs.

PITTSBURGH 33, DENVER 10

Sat., Dec. 30, 1978 • 2 p.m. MST • Three Rivers Stadium • Pittsburgh, Pa.

Weather: Light Rain, 33°, Wind S 5 mph • Attendance: 48,921 • Time: 3:02

Two fourth-quarter touchdown passes by Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw lifted the Steelers to a 33-10 victory over the Denver Broncos and into the American Football Conference Championship game.

Bradshaw's scoring tosses included a 45-yard bomb to John Stallworth and a 38-yarder to Lynn Swann, capping a brilliant performance by the Pittsburgh passer.

The Broncos took the early lead on a 37-yard Jim Turner field goal, but Pittsburgh's Franco Harris ran for two touchdowns—a 1-yarder and an 18-yarder—and Roy Gerela kicked a 24-yard field goal to give the Steelers a 16-3 advantage. Denver cut the margin to 16-10 on a 3-yard Dave Preston touchdown run, but Gerela kicked another field goal to make the halftime margin 19-10.

Denver threatened to come closer in the third period, but Turner's 29-yard field goal attempt was blocked, and Bradshaw's passing sealed Denver's fate early in the final stanza.

The Steelers rolled to 425 yards total offense, with Bradshaw accounting for 272 through the air—156 on 10 receptions by Stallworth.

The eventual World Champion Steelers limited the Broncos' ground game to just 87 yards in earning the right to play the Houston Oilers for the AFC crown the following week.

SUPER BOWL XII
DALLAS 27, DENVER 10

Sun., Jan. 15, 1978 • 5:17 p.m. CST • Louisiana Superdome • New Orleans, La.

Weather: Indoors • Attendance: 76,400 • Time: 3:32

The Dallas Cowboys evened their Super Bowl record at 2-2 by defeating the Denver Broncos 27-10 before a sell-out crowd of 76,400, plus 90 million television viewers, the largest audience ever to watch a sporting event.

Dallas converted two pass interceptions—by safety Randy Hughes and cornerback Aaron Kyle—into 10 points and Efen Herrera added a 35-yard field goal to give the Cowboys a 13-0 half-time advantage. The Denver offense had trouble getting untracked against the hard-hitting Cowboy defense. The Broncos lost three fumbles and were intercepted twice on their last five possessions of the first half.

The Broncos came back momentarily at the outset of the third period. Craig Morton engineered a drive to the Cowboys 30-yard line from where Jim Turner booted a 47-yard field goal to make the score 13-3. After an exchange of punts, Dallas wide receiver Butch Johnson made a spectacular diving catch in the end zone to complete a 45-yard pass from Roger Staubach to put the Cowboys ahead 20-3.

However, the momentum swung back to the Broncos as Rick Upchurch returned the kickoff 67 yards to the Dallas 26. On the second play of the series, Norris Weese relieved Craig Morton at quarterback. Morton, who was intercepted only eight times during the regular season, had thrown a Super Bowl record four interceptions. Weese guided the Broncos to a touchdown—a 1-yarder by Ron Lytle—to cut the Dallas lead to 20-10 with 5:39 left in the third quarter.

But Dallas clinched the victory when running back Robert Newhouse threw a 29-yard touchdown pass to Golden Richards on an option play with 7:04 remaining in the game. It was the first pass thrown by Newhouse since the 1975 regular season. The Cowboys' offense amassed 325 yards while the defense limited the Broncos to 156 in a game that saw the Cowboys control the ball 38:34 to Denver's 21:26.

Roger Staubach completed 17 of 25 passes for 183 yards while Harvey Martin and Randy White—who were named co-MVPs—led the Cowboys defense which recovered four fumbles and intercepted four passes.

DENVER 20, OAKLAND 17

Sun., Jan. 1, 1978 • 12 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Mostly Sunny, 18°, Wind NE 3 mph • Attendance: 74,982 • Time: 2:55

Denver quarterback Craig Morton threw two touchdown passes to Haven Moses as the Broncos defeated the defending NFL Champion Oakland Raiders 20-17 and moved into their first Super Bowl.

Morton, who was drafted and spent nine-and-a-half years with the Cowboys, would face his former Dallas teammates after completing 10 of 20 passes for 224 yards. It would be the second meeting in five weeks for these two teams—Dallas won 14-6 in the regular season finale as Morton played only the opening series due to a bruised hip.

On a sunny, 18-degree day before 74,982 Denver partisans, the Raiders scored on their initial possession as Errol Mann kicked a 20-yard field goal to climax an 18-play drive. Morton hit Moses for their first scoring hookup two plays later on a 74-yard touchdown bomb, and the Broncos were on top to stay.

Denver took advantage of two Oakland turnovers in the second half to win its second game in three meetings with Raiders during the 1977 season. Defensive end Brison Manor recovered running back Clarence Davis' fumble at the Oakland 17 and running back Jon Keyworth scored from the 1-yard line to increase the margin to 14-3 in the third quarter.

Oakland quarterback Ken Stabler hit tight end Dave Casper on the first of two scoring passes to narrow the lead to 14-10 with 39 seconds elapsed in the final period. But on Oakland's next possession, linebacker Bob Swenson intercepted a Stabler pass and ran to the Raiders' 14. Morton then threw 12 yards to Moses for the Broncos' final touchdown. Oakland finished the scoring on the next series as Stabler threw 17 yards to Casper for the game's last touchdown.

Denver controlled the ball for the final 3:08 and gave Red Miller the AFC title in his first year as head coach. Moses, a 10-year veteran, had 5 receptions for 168 yards. The Denver defense, which was No. 1 against the rush in the NFL during the regular season, held the Raiders to 94 yards on the ground.

DENVER 34, PITTSBURGH 21

Sun., Dec. 24, 1977 • 2 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 43°, Wind E 9 mph • Attendance: 75,011 • Time: 3:15

After ties at 7, 14, and 21, veteran Jim Turner kicked a 44-yard field goal to put Denver ahead to stay as the Broncos—in their first playoff game ever—beat the perennial AFC Central Champion Steelers.

Leading 24-21, the Broncos capped their victory with two fourth-quarter interceptions by linebacker Tom Jackson, the last of which set up Craig Morton's 34-yard game-clinching touchdown pass to Jack Dolbin.

Denver capitalized on a blocked punt and a fumble recovery for two scores in the first half, which ended 14-14. Morton and Steeler quarterback Terry Bradshaw traded touchdown passes in the second half before Turner's kick, Jackson's interceptions, and Morton's arm kept Pittsburgh from the AFC title game for the first time in four years.

The Denver victory set up a third game between the AFC Western Champion Broncos and the AFC Wild Card Raiders, who split two regular season games.

*Season tickets sold out. Every Broncos home game at Mile High Stadium (1970-2000) and INVESCO Field at Mile High (2001-02) has been a sell-out since the beginning of the 1970 season, with the exception of two replacement games played during the 1987 strike (both games were sold out before the strike). The Broncos have thus sold out 253 consecutive regular season games, and with postseason games the total reaches 266.

FORMER BRONCOS IN THE PRO FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

Two players enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame—cornerback Willie Brown and running back Tony Dorsett—spent a portion of their career with the Denver Broncos.

WILLIE BROWN CB INDUCTED: 1984

Cornerback Willie Brown, inducted into the Hall of Fame in 1984, played for the Broncos from 1963-66, and was named All-American Football League in 1964. He intercepted nine passes that season, including a team-record four in one game (vs. New York, 11/15/64), and was named the outstanding back in the AFL All-Star game in January, 1965.

The 6-foot-1, 195-pound Brown, who played his college ball at Grambling, joined the Broncos as a free agent in Aug. 1963 and played four seasons with the club. In 50 games he intercepted 15 passes and tallied 195 yards in returns, while also returning three punts for 29 yards (9.7) and three kickoffs for 70 yards (23.3).

Brown was traded to Oakland in 1967 and went on to play 12 seasons with the Raiders (1967-78). He was an all-league performer every year from 1968-73, while making three AFL All-Star game (1967-69) and four Pro Bowl (1970-73) appearances. In 16 seasons Brown played in 204 games and finished his career with 54 interceptions for 472 return yards and two touchdowns.

TONY DORSETT RB INDUCTED: 1994

Running Back Tony Dorsett, though best known for his brilliant 11-year tenure with the Dallas Cowboys, was a Denver Bronco during the 1988 and 1989 seasons. He joined the Broncos in 1988 and went on to lead the club in rushing that season with 703 yards on 181 carries. He spent the 1989 season on injured reserve before his retirement, and was inducted into the Hall of fame in 1994.

Dorsett, who ranks fifth on the all-time NFL rushing list with 12,739 yards, captured rookie of the year honors in 1977 with the Cowboys, en route to four Pro Bowl selections (1978, 1981-83). His highest rushing total came in 1981 when he ran for 1,646 yards, just one of eight 1,000-yard seasons during his brilliant career. Dorsett also caught 398 passes for 3,554 yards (8.9) and accounted for 91 total touchdowns (77 rushing, 13 receiving, 1 fumble recovery).

Dorsett was a college star at the University of Pittsburgh where he won the Heisman Trophy in 1976 while leading the Panthers to the national title.

RETIRED JERSEY NUMBERS

The Denver Broncos have retired three jersey numbers in their 43-year history: the No. 18 worn by quarterback Frank Tripucka, the No. 44 worn by running back Floyd Little and the No. 7 worn by John Elway. The most recent addition was Elway's, retired in a ceremony at halftime of the Broncos' 1999 season-opening game vs. Miami, Sept. 13, 1999.

John Elway

John Elway, who wore number 7 from 1983-98, led the Broncos to five Super Bowl appearances and two World Championships, and retired ranked second in nearly every all-time NFL passing category. He passed for 51,475 yards and 300 touchdowns in his 16-year career, and retired as the all-time winningest starting quarterback in NFL history, with a career mark of 148-82-1 (.643). Elway was named Most Valuable Player of Super Bowl XXXIII, leading Denver to its second straight World Championship with a 34-19 defeat of the Atlanta Falcons, becoming the only player in NFL history to close his career by earning Super Bowl MVP honors in his final game. His image was forged early in his career, as he developed a reputation for leading the Broncos to victory against seemingly insurmountable odds. Elway directed the Broncos on an NFL-record 47 fourth-quarter, game-winning or game-saving drives in his legendary career. Elway was inducted into the Denver Broncos' Ring of Fame in 1999—the first inductee for whom the customary five-year waiting period was waived. The only other players to wear No. 7 in franchise history were quarterbacks Mickey Slaughter (1963-66) and Craig Morton (1977-82).

Frank Tripucka

Frank Tripucka, who wore number 18 from 1960-63, was Denver's first quarterback and helped lay the foundation for the club's future success. He played in the American Football League all-star game in 1962 and passed for 7,676 yards in his Denver career. Tripucka's passing total still ranks fourth in franchise history, and his single-game record of 447 yards at Buffalo, Sept. 15, 1962, remained the franchise record until broken in 2000. He also ranks fourth in completions (662) and attempts (1,277), fifth in touchdown passes (51) and guided Denver to its first .500 season, with a 7-7 mark in 1962. Tripucka was inducted into the Broncos' Ring of Fame in 1986.

Floyd Little

Floyd Little, who wore number 44 from 1967-75 with the Denver Broncos, as well as during his legendary college career at Syracuse, retired as the club's all-time career leader in rushing yards (6,323) and total touchdowns (54). He held both marks until 1998 when they were eclipsed by Terrell Davis. Little was All-AFL in 1969 and played in two AFL all-star games (1968, 1969) and three Pro Bowls (1971, 1972, 1973). He is still ranked second in career rushing attempts (1,641) by a Bronco, and his 89-yard kickoff return in 1968 is the longest non-scoring kickoff return in club history. When Little retired, he ranked among the top 10 rushers in NFL history. Little joined the Broncos in 1967 as the club's No. 1 draft choice, becoming the first No. 1 pick to sign with the team in its eight-year history. During his career, Little helped the Broncos to their first winning seasons in 1973 and '74, with back-to-back 7-5-2 and 7-6-1 marks, and retired in 1975 with Denver just two years away from its first Super Bowl appearance. He was inducted into the club's Ring of Fame as part of its inaugural class in 1984. The only other player to wear No. 44 in franchise history was defensive back Miller Farr in 1965.

DENVER BRONCOS RING OF FAME PROFILES

The Denver Broncos Ring of Fame was created in 1984 by team owner Pat Bowlen to honor former players and administrators who played significant roles in the franchise's history.

The Denver Broncos Ring of Fame roster grew to 18 in 2001, as linebacker Karl Mecklenburg (1983-94) and safety Dennis Smith (1981-94) joined the Ring's distinguished membership.

Quarterback John Elway (1983-98) was inducted into the Ring of Fame in 1999 in a ceremony held at halftime of the Broncos' season-opening Monday Night game vs. Miami, Sept. 13, 1999. As testament to the legend he established during his 16-year career, Elway is the only inductee for whom the customary five-year waiting period was waived.

Elway's induction was the first since 1993 when cornerback Louis Wright (1975-86) joined the Ring of Fame, a year after linebacker Tom Jackson (1973-86) entered the Ring in 1992.

Linebacker Randy Gradishar (1974-83) was the only 1989 inductee, following the 1988 inductions of quarterback Craig Morton (1977-82), wide receiver Haven Moses (1972-81), and kicker Jim Turner (1971-79).

Former defensive back Bill Thompson (1969-81) was honored in 1987, and three players joined the elite group in 1986: quarterbacks Frank Tripucka (1960-63) and Charley Johnson (1972-75), and defensive end Paul Smith (1968-78).

In 1985, former owner Gerald H. Phipps became the first non-player to have his name placed on the Ring.

The Ring of Fame was established in 1984 with an inaugural class of four members: running back Floyd Little (1967-75), defensive end Rich Jackson (1967-72), wide receiver Lionel Taylor (1960-66) and safety Austin "Goose" Gonsoulin (1960-66).

The Ring of Fame is displayed on the Level 5 facade of INVESCO Field at Mile High. The following are biographical sketches of each of the 18 Ring of Fame members, in alphabetical order. The profiles begin below with Elway's, and continue with Gonsoulin's on page 533.

JOHN ELWAY

YEAR INDUCTED: 1999

QUARTERBACK

CAREER—REGULAR SEASON: John Elway capped his brilliant career in 1998 by winning Most Valuable Player honors in Super Bowl XXXIII, leading the Denver Broncos to their second straight World Championship. He also posted the highest quarterback rating of his career (93.0) in his final campaign. At the close of the 1998 season Elway ranked second among active NFL players for number of appearances with one team (234) and retired having played in and started more games (231) in more seasons (16) than any player in Denver Broncos history. Elway, the NFL's all-time winningest starting quarterback (148-82-1; .643), was voted to a franchise-record nine Pro Bowl appearances (1986 season, '87, '89, '91, '93, '94, '96, '97 and '98)—tied for the most ever by a quarterback (Marino, Moon)—and as a starter six times ('87, '89, '93, '96, '97 and '98). He was the NFL's Most Valuable Player in 1987 and AFC Player of the Year in 1993, and was named AFC Offensive Player of the Week 15 times and AFC Offensive Player of the Month twice. Elway was named the Edge NFL Man of the Year for 1992, and was inducted in to the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame in 1999, while also being named to the NFL's All-Decade team for the 1990s (first team). He ranks second behind Dan Marino in most major NFL career passing categories, including passing yards (51,475), attempts (7,250), completions (4,123) and total offense (54,882). He also figures third in total touchdowns with 334 (300 passing/33 rushing/1 receiving); fourth in passing touchdowns with 300 (behind Marino, Fran Tarkenton and Brett Favre) and leads all NFL quarterbacks in career rushing attempts (774), while figuring fourth in rushing yards (3,407). Elway is the only player in NFL history to pass for more than 3,000 yards and rush for more than 200 yards in the same season for seven straight years (1985-91). He generated 4,771 of the 5,806 points (82.2%) scored by the Broncos during his 16-year tenure with the club. Elway ranks No. 1 in NFL history in fourth-quarter, game-winning or game-saving drives with 47 (46-0-1 record), and had 36 career 300-yard passing games in the regular season, third among active quarterbacks at the time of his retirement (Marino, Moon). He also caught three passes in regular season play for 61 yards, including a touchdown of 23 yards from Steve Sewell in 1986. In 1997 Elway broke his franchise record for consecutive passes without an interception, with the streak reaching 189 attempts. For his career, Elway had 19 games in which he completed 70% or more of his passes (min. 20 att.) and fashioned a 17-2 record in those games. He started 2,595 drives as a pro and was replaced just 10 times due to injury (.039%).

CAREER—POSTSEASON: Elway played in a franchise-record 22 postseason games (including five Super Bowls), with 21 starts, and produced a 14-7 record (9-2 at home, 3-2 on the road and 2-3 at neutral sites). He is the only quarterback ever to start in five Super Bowls, and has the NFL's all-time best record as a starting quarterback in Conference Championship Games, at 5-1. The other quarterbacks with four Super Bowl starts are Joe Montana, Terry Bradshaw, Roger Staubach and Jim Kelly. Elway owns or shares 18 Broncos' postseason records, including most passing yards, most touchdown passes and total offense (combined rushing and passing yards). He completed 355 of 651 passes (54.5%) for 4,964 yards, 27 touchdowns and 21 interceptions. He also rushed 94 times for 461 yards (4.9 avg.) and six touchdowns and caught one pass for 23 yards in postseason play. Elway ranks second in NFL postseason history in passing yardage (trailing only Montana-5,772), third in completions (Montana-460, Marino-385) and pass attempts (Montana-734, Marino-687) and fifth in passing touchdowns (Montana-45, Marino-32, Bradshaw-30 and Favre-30). In Super Bowl games Elway ranks No. 1 in pass attempts (152), No. 3 in completions (76), No. 2 in passing yards (1,128) and tied for second in rushing TDs (4) with Franco Harris and Thurman Thomas (Emmitt Smith has 5). Six of Elway's NFL-record 47 fourth-quarter, game-winning or game-saving drives came in the postseason.

1998: Elway was selected to his ninth Pro Bowl (tying Dan Marino and Warren Moon for most by a QB)—his sixth as a starter and his third straight selection—while being inducted in the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame with the Class of 1999 after a season in which he played in 13 of the 16 games (12 starts) and showed that he still ranked among the NFL's most dangerous signal-callers, completing 210 of 356 passes (59.0) for 2,806 yards and 22 touchdowns with 10 interceptions. He was sacked 18 times (-135) and his longest completion was a 58-yd. toss to Rod Smith in Week 14 vs. Kansas City, 12/6. Elway also rushed 37 times for 94 yards (2.5) with a long of 16 (at Miami, 12/21) and one touchdown (vs. Dal., 9/13/98), and caught a 14-yd. pass from Smith (vs. Oak., 11/22). Elway ranked second in the AFC (5th NFL) in passer rating (93.0), first in average gain per attempt (7.88; 4th NFL), while also figuring third in completion pct. (11th NFL), fourth in TD passes (9th NFL) and sixth (12th NFL) in passing yards. He was named AFC Offensive Player of the Week and Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week for his 400-yard passing performance Dec. 6 vs. Kansas City, marking the 15th time in his career he has earned the AFC honor chosen by the NFL. Elway started all three playoff games and completed 45 of 86 passes (52.3%) for 691 yards and three touchdowns with one interception and a long of 80 yds. (TD), and was awarded the Pete Rozelle Trophy as Most Valuable Player of Super Bowl XXXIII, the only player ever to win such honors in his final game. Elway's performance, which lifted Denver to its second straight title, was his best performance in a league-record five Super Bowl starts. Setting a record by being the oldest quarterback to start a Super Bowl (38 years, 7 mos.), Elway completed 18 of 29 passes (.621) for 336 yards—the fourth-highest total in Super Bowl history (third at the time)—and a touchdown with one interception, en route to becoming the first No. 7 in the championship game's history—and the oldest player—to be named MVP. Elway cemented the honor by rushing for a 3-yd. touchdown in the 4th qtr. to give Denver a 31-6 lead, making Elway the oldest player in Super Bowl history to score a touchdown, adding a year onto the record he set with his rushing TD in Super Bowl XXXII. Elway's passing touchdown was perhaps the play of the game, however, as he found Rod Smith deep down the middle of the field in the 2nd qtr. for an 80-yd. scoring play to put Denver on top 17-3. It tied for the second-longest play from scrimmage in Super Bowl history, and was the longest by a Bronco in a Super Bowl.

1997: Elway enjoyed yet another stellar season, quarterbacking the Broncos to the first World Championship in franchise history with a 31-24 win over Green Bay in Super Bowl XXXII. He was voted to his eighth Pro Bowl (fifth as a starter), and was named to the All-AFC team by Pro Football Weekly and Football News, and was named second-team All-Pro by College and Pro Football Newsweekly. Elway was also the recipient of the NFL Players Association's Mackey Award as the top quarterback in the AFC. For the year he completed 280 of his 502 pass attempts (55.8%) for 3,635 yards, 27 touchdowns and 11 interceptions. The 27 passing touchdowns set a new franchise record, and his 28 total touchdowns (one rushing) were the second-most of his career (30 in 1996). Elway also had 50 carries for 218 yards rushing (4.4 avg.) on the season, posted a quarterback rating of 87.5 (4th-best in the AFC, 7th in the NFL), and was 10th in the AFC in completion percentage. His third-down passer rating of 87.7 ranked 3rd in the AFC (5th NFL), as did his 27 touchdown passes (4th NFL). Elway helped Denver lead the NFL in total offense (second straight season) and in scoring offense for the 1997 season. He was named AFC Offensive Player of the Week for Week 10 (Nov. 2) when he moved into second place all-time in passing yardage and eclipsed 50,000 yards in total offense for his career in a win over Seattle. Elway would later be named AFC Offensive Player of the Month for November (92-149, 61.7%, 1,231 yards, 8 TDs, 0 INT) as the Broncos went 4-1, marking his second such award ever (October 1996). Elway started all four postseason games and engineered the Denver offense on its four-game run to the World Championship, completing 56 of 96 passes (58.3) for 726 yards and three touchdowns, with two interceptions. He was sacked six times (-44) and carried the ball nine times for 25 yards (2.8) with a long of 10 yards and one touchdown.

1996: Elway put together one of the finest seasons of his phenomenal 14-year career, being voted to his seventh Pro Bowl (third as a starter); named second-team All-Pro by AP, College & Pro Football Newsweekly and Football Digest and first-team All-AFC by UPI, Pro Football Weekly and Football News; voted second in the AP NFL Most Valuable Player balloting; voted AFC Player of the Year by the Touchdown Club of Columbus; AFC Offensive Player of the Year by the Kansas City 101 Club; Mackey Award winner for highest quarterback rating in the AFC and AFC MVP by the NFL Players Association. He started 15 of the 16 regular season games and completed 287 of 466 pass attempts (61.6) for 3,328 yards and 26 touchdowns with 14 interceptions, and also rushed 50 times for 249 yards (5.0) with a long of 22 and four touchdowns. His 26 touchdowns tied a career high and franchise record set in 1995. Elway led the AFC in quarterback rating (89.2; 4th NFL), was second in completion percentage (61.6; 5th NFL), third in touchdown passes (26; 4th NFL) and fifth in passing yardage (3,328; 7th NFL), completions (287; 8th NFL) and attempts (466; 9th NFL). His start at Seattle (9/8) marked the 192nd game he has played in his career, most by any player in Broncos franchise history, surpassing Tom Jackson who played in 191 games from 1973-86. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff loss to Jacksonville (1/4/97), Elway started and completed 25 of 38 passes for 226 yards and two touchdowns with a long of 18. He also rushed five times for 30 yards with a long of 19.

1995: Elway started all 16 games, completing 316 of 542 passes (58.3%) for 3,970 yards, a then-career-best 26 touchdowns and 14 interceptions. He threw for more than 300 yards on five occasions, also a career best. It was the 10th time in his 13-year NFL career that he had topped the 3,000-yard mark, joining him with Dan Marino (11) as the only quarterbacks in NFL history to accomplish that feat 10 or more times. He also rushed 40 times for 179 yards (4.5) and one touchdown, with a long of 15. He led the AFC (tied for 5th NFL) in passing yards, finished third (8th NFL) in completions and was third (8th NFL) in pass attempts. Meanwhile, his fourth-quarter passer rating of 95.2 ranked third in the AFC and fifth in the NFL.

1994: Elway earned his sixth AFC Pro Bowl berth, though he missed two of the final three games (at Los Angeles and vs. New Orleans) due to a strained left knee. He finished the season second in the AFC and fourth in the NFL in passer rating with an 85.7, and third in the AFC in passing yards (3,490), attempts (494) and completions (307), with a 2.0 interception percentage. His 62.1 completion percentage was second in the AFC and sixth overall. Elway went over the 3,000-yard passing mark for the ninth time in his career, second only to Dan Marino's 10, and went over the 40,000-yard career total-offense mark. He rushed for 235 yards (second on the team and his ninth 200-yard season), giving him a season total offense figure of 3,725 in the 14 games he played.

1993: Elway was named AFC Most Valuable Player (NFL Players Association), AFC Offensive Player of the Year (UPI, and the Kansas City 101 Club) and AFC Player of the Year (Football News) in 1993. Elway performed at an MVP-pace all year, earning all-AFC (UPI, Football News) and second-team All-NFL (AP, College and Pro Football Newsweekly, and Football Digest), and he was the starting quarterback in the 1994 Pro Bowl (fifth Pro Bowl berth) after a regular season that saw him lead the AFC in all six major quarterback stats categories. Elway's 1993 stats and rankings included a 92.8 rating (first in the AFC, third in the NFL), 551 attempts (first in the entire NFL), 348 completions (first in the entire NFL), a 63.2 completion percentage (first in the AFC and third in the NFL), 25 TD passes (first in the AFC and second in the NFL), 4,030 yards (first in the AFC). Elway's 1.8 interception avoidance percentage was fourth in the AFC, but stands as the best in Denver history for any quarterback with more than 75 single-season attempts. In 1993 he set new personal and Denver records for total yards offensively (4,183), completions (348), passing yards (4,030), TD passes (25), and completion percentage (that 63.2 mark tied the figure set by Norris Weese in 1978). The 1993 season was Elway's first 4,000-yard campaign and his eighth 3,000-yard season. He also rushed for 153 yards. Elway was named the AFC Offensive Player of the Week twice and was named by his teammates as Denver's offensive MVP.

1992: Elway completed 174 of 316 passes for 2,242 yards, with 10 touchdowns and 17 interceptions. He gained 94 yards and scored twice on 34 rushing attempts. He missed games 11 through 14 because of a bruised tendon in his right shoulder, suffered while running for a first down against the Giants (11/15). Elway earned two AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors for the year.

1991: Elway completed 242 of 351 passes for 3,253 yards, a total ranked sixth in the AFC and ninth in the NFL, as he was voted to his fourth career Pro Bowl berth. He threw 12 touchdown passes and tied a career low with just 12 interceptions. He had 36 pass completions of 20+ yards, nine of 40+, five of 50+, and four of 60+. Elway was third on the team with 258 yards rushing, and his six TDs led the team and set a new career single season high. He was bothered throughout the second half of the season by a shoulder problem that was corrected by arthroscopic surgery in the 1992 offseason. Elway started both of Denver's playoff contests, completing 30 of 54 passes (55.6%) for 378 yards and one touchdown with two interceptions. He also rushed 10 times for 49 yards (4.9). Elway completed 11 of 21 passes for 121 yards and an interception before leaving the AFC Championship Game in the fourth quarter with a thigh injury.

1990: Elway completed 294 of 502 passes in 1990 (a .586 completion percentage that stood as the highest over the first 10 years of his career) for 3,526 yards, 15 touchdowns, and 14 interceptions. He gained 258 yards on 50 rushing attempts and scored three touchdowns on the ground.

1989: Elway led Denver to its third AFC Championship in four years and earned his third career Pro Bowl invitation. He completed 223 of 416 passes for 3,051 yards, with 18 touchdowns and 18 interceptions, and he rushed for 244 yards on 48 carries, scoring three times. Elway started all three Denver playoff games, including Super Bowl XXIV vs. San Francisco, and completed 42 of 82 passes (51.2%) for 732 yards and four touchdowns with three interceptions, while also rushing for 91 yards on 16 carries (5.7) with a long of 32 and one touchdown.

1988: Elway threw for 3,309 yards and rushed for 234 yards despite being bothered for most of the season by several nagging injuries. He was voted by teammates as Denver's most valuable offensive player for the fourth straight year, sharing the award with running back Sammy Winder, following a campaign in which he completed 274 of 496 passes, with 17 touchdowns and 19 interceptions to earn his second straight Pro Bowl invitation.

1987: Elway was named the NFL's Most Valuable Player (AP) and the AFC's starting quarterback in the Pro Bowl after turning in a tremendous season in 1987, a year in which he became the first AFC signal-caller since Terry Bradshaw (1978-79) to lead his team to consecutive conference crowns. Elway was named All-NFL (The Sporting News, NEA, AP-second team) and All-AFC (UPI, Pro Football Weekly, The Football News), in addition to being tabbed as the AFC MVP (NFLPA), AFC Player of the Year (The Football News), AFC Offensive Player of the Year (UPI, Kansas City 101 Club), and Colorado Pro Athlete of the Year (Colorado Sports Hall of Fame), as well as earning his second Pro Bowl invitation. He was voted the Broncos' offensive MVP for a regular season performance in which he completed 224 of 410 passes for 3,198 yards, an average of 267 yards per game, with 19 TD passes. He led all AFC quarterbacks in rushing for the fourth straight season was second on the team with a career-high 304 yards, scoring four times. Elway started all three of Denver's playoff contests, including Super Bowl XXII vs. Washington, and completed 42 of 89 passes (47.2%) for 797 yards and six touchdowns with five interceptions, while also rushing 18 times for 76 yards (4.2) with a long of 21 and one touchdown. His 56-yard scoring strike to Ricky Nattiel on Denver's first play from scrimmage provided the earliest touchdown in Super Bowl history (elapsed time of 1:57).

1986: Elway led the Broncos to their first AFC Championship in nine seasons in 1986, while earning his first Pro Bowl berth. He was honored with the Seattle Gold Helmet Award (Professional Football Player of the Year) and received the King of the Hill award from the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame, in addition to being named honorable mention All-NFL (AP) and All-AFC (UPI-second team). Along with his 18 TD passes that year, Elway also scored on an 11-yard run and a 23-yard pass reception from Steve Sewell that is the longest TD catch by a full-time starting QB in NFL history. For the year he completed 280 of 504 passes (55.6%) for 3,485 yards and 19 touchdowns with 13 interceptions, while also rushing 52 times for 257 yards (4.9) with a long of 24 and one touchdown. In the postseason he added 805 more yards on 57 of 107 passing efficiency (53.3%), with three touchdowns and four interceptions, while rushing 15 times for 101 yards (6.7) with a long of 34 and two touchdowns. Elway directed one of the greatest drives in NFL postseason history in pacing Denver to a 23-20 overtime win over Cleveland for the AFC title. He completed 22 of 38 passes for 244 yards and a TD, that coming on a five-yard strike to Mark Jackson that capped a 15-play, 98-yard drive that tied the game at the end of regulation. In overtime Elway drove the team 60 yards in nine plays to the winning field goal.

1985: Elway took some spectacular steps forward in 1985, as he re-wrote the Denver record book. Elway set Broncos single season records for attempts (605, which led the NFL and fell just four passes short of the NFL record of 609 held by Dan Fouts), completions (327, second in the NFL), passing yards (3,891, second in the NFL), total rushing and passing plays (656, first in the NFL), and total offense (4,414, also first in the league).

1984: Elway led the Broncos to a 12-2 record in his 14 regular season starts in 1984. He completed 214 of 380 passes for 2,598 yards, with 18 TDs and 15 interceptions. Not only was his passing a factor in his leadership of the offense, but he finished third on the team in rushing with 237 yards.

1983: Elway started 10 games in 1983, including the first five before being replaced by Steve DeBerg, and five more after DeBerg was injured. While Elway did not have impressive stats as a rookie, finishing 17th among AFC passers, he carried a tremendous emotional burden, having come to the NFL as the most publicized college prospect since Joe Namath in 1965. Elway was the first player chosen in the 1983 draft and joined the Broncos by trade with Baltimore on May 2. The Broncos, in return, gave the Colts quarterback Mark Herrmann, the rights to OL Chris Hinton and a first-round pick in the 1984 Draft (G Ron Solt). He was also chosen by the Oakland Invaders in the 1983 USFL territorial draft.

COLLEGE: Elway concluded his college career with five major NCAA Division I-A records and nine major Pac-10 marks. He completed 62.1 percent of his career passes (774 of 1,243, both NCAA highs) for 9,349 yards and 77 touchdowns, while setting an NCAA record for the lowest percentage of passes intercepted in a career (3.13 percent). As a senior, Elway was a consensus All-American and finished second in Heisman Trophy balloting while setting virtually every Pac-10 and Stanford career record for total offense and passing. A two-sport star, he played baseball for the New York Yankees' Oneonta (N.Y.) single-A farm club in 1982, hitting for a .318 average and knocking in a team-high 25 RBI in 42 games. Elway, who batted left-handed and threw right-handed, was the Yankees' first selection in the 1981 summer draft (June 8). He hit .349 with nine homers and 50 RBI in 49 games in his final college baseball season as a sophomore. Elway has a degree in economics from Stanford.

PERSONAL: Elway officially announced his retirement from the Denver Broncos on May 2, 1999 in a press conference at the Inverness Hotel and Golf Club in suburban Denver. He is now President and Chief Executive Officer of the Colorado Crush of the Arena Football League, a franchise in which he is a co-owner along with Pat Bowlen and Stan Kroenke. The team was formed in June 2002, and began play in 2003. In addition to the considerable time he has spent on the football field, and with his various business endeavors, John has poured a great deal of energy into The Elway Foundation—an organization that contributes funds and resources to the prevention and treatment of child abuse. He owned and operated seven automobile franchises in the Denver area until selling them in late 1997, and now is associated with 17 John Elway AutoNation dealerships in the Denver area. A native of Port Angeles, Wash., Elway was the most highly recruited prep athlete in the nation in 1979 and was listed on Parade, Scholastic Coach, Football News and National Coaches Association All-America teams. He had an unparalleled football and baseball career at Granada Hills High School. John was 129 of 200 for 1,837 yards and 19 TDs as a senior, while leading the baseball team to the Los Angeles City championship with a .491 batting average and a 4-2 pitching record. He completed 60 percent of his high school passes for 5,711 yards and 49 touchdowns. The football field at Granada Hills High School was re-named in John's honor in a ceremony June 5, 1998. The Kansas City Royals selected him in the 18th round of the 1979 summer draft (June 5), although he already had signed a national letter of intent with Stanford. John's late father, Jack, coached his son in the East-West Shrine contest in which John earned Offensive MVP laurels. Jack retired from the Broncos in 2000 after seven years with the club, the last five as the Director of Pro Scouting. John has four children, including three daughters, Jessica Gwen (17), Jordan Marie (16) and Juliana (12), and a son, Jack (13).

(*—the second number is the percentage the quarterback has put his team in position to score, allowing for missed field goal and subtracting those drives ended by the clock and replaced due to injury. #—drives for 1984 add to one more than drives started because Elway replaced Kubiak on one drive.)

DRIVE-ENGINEERING NOTES:

- For his career, he directed Denver to scores in better than 3 in 10 drives; when you adjust the figure as stated above, the figures work to just over 40 in 100).
- In 2,608 career drives started, he was replaced only 10 times due to injury (based on if a replacement QB earned at least one first down on the drive; that's 0.383 percent, or 3.83 in 1,000).
- As far as drive efficiency is concerned, Elway had his best seasons in 1995 and '98.

JOHN ELWAY'S FOURTH-QUARTER HEROICS

In his career (1983-98) John Elway engineered 47 fourth-quarter or overtime, game-saving or game-winning drives for the Broncos, and the team had a record of 46-0-1 in those contests. Those games include:

- 40 fourth-quarter or overtime, game-winning drives (marked on the following page with an asterisk). The Broncos scored the winning points 23 times with fewer than three minutes remaining, 21 times under two minutes and 13 times with less than a minute left.
- seven fourth-quarter, game-tying drives. Denver went on to win six of those contests in regulation or overtime, and one game ended in a tie. The Broncos won in regulation vs. New England (11/4/84) and at Seattle (12/20/85). In overtime, Elway directed the game-winning drive in the AFC Championship Game at Cleveland (1/11/87), while the defense and special teams set up OT wins vs. San Diego (11/17/85), at San Francisco (10/9/88) and at Seattle (10/22/89). The game at Green Bay (9/20/87) ended in a tie.

- Oct. 23, 1994 at San Diego — Directs 4-play, four-yard drive to set up Jason Elam's 54-yard field goal with 10:02 remaining that put Denver ahead 17-15; then directed a nine-play, 66-yard drive to set up Elam for a 25-yard field goal that provided the final score of 20-15 with 4:07 remaining.
- Nov. 20, 1994 vs. Atlanta — Directs 10-play, 73-yard drive for 32-yard TD pass to Anthony Miller to pull Denver within 28-25 with 10:19 remaining; then drove the Broncos 57 yards in 10 plays, capping the drive with a four-yard TD run to put Denver ahead to stay 32-28 with 1:56 remaining.
- Sept. 17, 1995 vs. Washington — Directs 8-play, 80-yard drive that culminated with a 43-yard TD strike to Rod Smith on the final play of the game (play started at 0:06), breaking a 31-31 tie and giving Denver a 38-31 win. The drive began on the Broncos' 20-yard line with 1:07 remaining.
- Nov. 19, 1995 vs. San Diego — Directs 7-play, 53-yard drive to set up Jason Elam's game-winning 32-yard field goal, breaking a 27-27 tie, and lifting Denver to a 30-27 win. The drive began on the Broncos' 33-yard line with 3:43 remaining.
- Dec. 24, 1995 at Oakland — Directs 12-play, 79-yard drive to set up Jason Elam's 27-yard field goal to pull Denver to within 28-20 with 12:47 remaining; then drove the Broncos 87 yards in 13 plays, culminating with a four-yard TD pass to Ed McCaffrey — on which Elway ran in for the two-point conversion — to tie the score at 28-28 with 5:46 remaining; then drove 53 yards in nine plays to set up Elam's game-winning 37-yard field goal with 0:48 remaining, giving Denver the 31-28 victory.
- Sept. 15, 1996 vs. Tampa Bay — Directs 14-play, 80-yard drive over an 8:11 span, capped by Terrell Davis' three-yard run with 3:32 remaining, giving Denver a 27-23 win.
- Oct. 20, 1996 vs. Baltimore — Directs 10-play, 57-yard yard drive in 4:31, culminating with a 6-yard touchdown pass to Ed McCaffrey, to put Denver ahead 38-34 with 10:57 remaining. He later led the club 15 yards in three plays, capped by his own 9-yard touchdown run with 1:16 remaining, to provide the final margin of 45-34.
- Nov. 4, 1996 at Oakland — Directs 6-play, 73-yard drive over a 47-second span, culminating with a 49-yard touchdown pass to Rod Smith with 4:14 remaining to erase a 21-16 Raiders lead and lift Denver to a 22-21 win.
- Nov. 24, 1996 at Minnesota — Directs 11-play, 84-yard drive in 5:02, capped by a five-yard touchdown pass to Ed McCaffrey with 19 seconds remaining that was tipped three times by Vikings defenders, to give Denver a 21-17 win.
- Oct. 26, 1997 at Buffalo — Directs 9-play, 43-yards drive in 4:47 during overtime to set up a 33-yard Jason Elam field goal with 1:56 remaining on the clock, giving Denver a 23-20 win.
- Nov. 2, 1997 vs. Seattle — Directs 8-play, 69-yard drive in 4:34 to set up a 22-yard Jason Elam field goal with 7:28 remaining, breaking a 27-27 tie and giving Denver a 30-27 win.
- Jan. 4, 1998 at Kanas City (AFC Divisional Playoff) — Directs 6-play, 49-yard drive in 2:38, capped by a 1-yard Terrell Davis touchdown run with 12:32 remaining to give Denver a 14-10 AFC Divisional Playoff victory. Key to the drive was Elway's 43-yard strike to Ed McCaffrey that set up the Broncos at the Chiefs' 1-yard line.
- Jan. 25, 1998 vs. Green Bay (Super Bowl XXXII) — Directs 5-play, 49-yard drive in 1:42, culminating in a 1-yard Terrell Davis touchdown run with 1:45 remaining to break a 24-24 tie and give Denver a 31-24 win to claim its first World Championship. Key to the drive was a screen pass to fullback Howard Griffith that covered 23 yards and put Denver at the Green Bay 8-yard line.
- Nov. 1, 1998 at Cincinnati — Directs 5-play, 53-yard drive in 1:56, culminating in a 5-yard Terrell Davis touchdown run with 58 seconds remaining to break a 26-26 tie and give Denver a 33-26 win. Key to the drive was a 38-yard kickoff return by Vaughn Hebronn to stake the Broncos with good field position.
- Dec. 6, 1998 vs. Kansas City — Directs 5-play, 50-yard drive in 2:39, capped by a 24-yard touchdown pass to Shannon Sharpe with 3:34 remaining to give Denver a 35-31 lead that would hold up for the win — Denver's 13th in a row to begin the season (tied for second-best all-time) and 18th in a row overall, dating back to the 1997 season (tied for the longest streak in NFL history, regular and postseason combined).

GREATNESS MEASURED IN VICTORY

John Elway became the NFL's winningest all-time starting quarterback late in the 1996 season (Dec. 15 vs. Raiders), passing Fran Tarkenton (125), and retired with 148 wins to his credit during his magnificent career. Miami's Dan Marino is second with 147. Included in that record is a remarkable 94-23 (.803) mark at home. Elway had at least a .500 record against 26 of the 30 other NFL teams he faced, including all but two in the AFC (Oakland and Miami):

ELWAY VS. HALL OF FAME QUARTERBACKS

At the time of his retirement, after 16 seasons, John Elway had thrown and completed more passes, and thrown for more yards than all 18 quarterbacks currently enshrined in the Hall of Fame at the equivalent point in each of their careers. He also ranks first in rushing attempts and total offense (combined rushing and passing yards), second in rushing yards, tied for second in rushing touchdowns, second in completion percentage and second in touchdown passes. Among those enshrined in Canton, only Fran Tarkenton had thrown more touchdown passes in his first 16 seasons than Elway, and only Otto Graham has more rushing touchdowns.

In Elway's career the Broncos posted a 34-31-1 mark in the 68 regular season games in which he did not throw a touchdown pass, while posting a 2-3 postseason record in such contests. Elway also had 90 multiple-touchdown regular season games, in which Denver posted a 71-19 record (78.9%). Elway also produced seven postseason multiple-touchdown games, in which the Broncos posted a 4-3 record.

JOHN ELWAY BY STADIUM

In his 16-year career, John Elway threw at least one touchdown pass in 24 different stadiums, including 180 at Mile High Stadium—an NFL record for one player at a single stadium. There were eight NFL venues at the time of his retirement in which he did not throw a touchdown pass, including Soldier Field, Pro Player Stadium (though he threw a postseason TD there) and the Superdome. In addition, he never played at six other sites: Ericsson Stadium, Raymond James Stadium, PSINet Stadium, the Trans World Dome and Jack Kent Cooke Stadium. Elway also threw 27 postseason TD passes in seven different stadiums: 18 at Mile High Stadium, three at the L.A. Coliseum, two at Three Rivers Stadium, one at Cleveland Municipal Stadium, one at Jack Murphy Stadium (now Qualcomm Stadium) (Super Bowl XXII), one at the Rose Bowl (Super Bowl XXI) and one at Pro Player Stadium (Super Bowl XXXIII).

ELWAY NAMED 1992 EDGE NFL MAN OF THE YEAR

John Elway was named the 1992 Edge NFL Man of the Year for his work with the Elway Foundation, a non-profit organization which has raised millions of dollars that have been directed toward the prevention and treatment of child abuse throughout Colorado.

Among the groups assisted by the Elway Foundation are Family Focus and the Kempe Children's Foundation. The Elway Foundation in 1991 alone raised over $400,000.

Elway was also a member of the Mayor's Council on Physical Fitness and has served as chairman of the National Kidney Foundation for the Rocky Mountain region.

The NFL Man of the Year award is truly unique in that it is the only league-sponsored award that recognizes a player's off-the-field community service work as well as his playing excellence. Perhaps the most prestigious of all NFL awards, it has been in existence since 1970.

SAFETY

THEN: Austin "Goose" Gonsoulin was one of the four original Ring of Fame inductees in 1984, recognized for his splendid play at safety for seven seasons. Gonsoulin was one of the original Broncos from the 1960 season. At the end of his Bronco career, he was the all-time American Football League leader in interceptions with 43, and still ranks second in club history. His 11 pickoffs in 1960 are still a Denver club record, and he shares the team and NFL record for interceptions in a game with four, a feat he accomplished Sept. 18, 1960 at Buffalo. Gonsoulin was an All-AFL choice in 1960, 1962 and 1963. His amazing durability and toughness enabled him to start 61 consecutive games at one point in his career. Gonsoulin was also the captain of his college team at Baylor.

Now: Gonsoulin has operated a construction company in Texas since his retirement.

LINEBACKER

THEN: Randy Gradishar was the only Ring of Fame inductee in 1989, in recognition of his outstanding 10-year career at linebacker with the Broncos. He was among the 15 finalists for the Pro Football Hall of Fame balloting in 2003. During his career, Gradishar was a seven-time Pro Bowler, the most by any Bronco at the end of his career, and he is also the all-time leader in tackles for Denver, finishing with 2,049. Gradishar never missed a game, playing in 145 in a row. He accounted for 33 turnovers in his career (20 INTs and 13 fumble recoveries) and was voted the Defensive Player of the Year in 1978 by AP, UPI, Pro Football Weekly and NEA (George Halas Award). His teammates also voted him team defensive MVP in 1978 and 1980. While at Ohio State, Gradishar was referred to by his head coach—the legendary Woody Hayes—as “the best linebacker I ever coached at Ohio State.” Randy was a three-year starter for the Buckeyes and was named to every All-America team following his senior season, as well as being an Academic All-America selection, graduating with a degree in distributive education. Gradishar was also the president of the Denver Broncos Youth Foundation from 1982-92. He was inducted in 1998 into the College Football Hall of Fame.

Now: Gradishar joined the Phil Long Dealerships as Leadership Manager in December 1997, a position in which he helps train, equip and support employees in the quest to achieve their goals and objectives. In that capacity he encourages employees to exceed customer expectations and ensure customer satisfaction. Gradishar is also instrumental in the Phil Long Community Fund, which operates in conjunction with the Denver Broncos Charities Fund to make an investment back into the communities with which it does business, as well as the Phil Long University, furnishing employees with career opportunities through quality education and state-of-the-art training. Gradishar and his wife, Beth, make their home in Denver. He has three children: Paige, Meredith and Mark.

THEN: Rich Jackson is one of the four original Ring of Famers who were inducted in 1984. He was considered by many as the best defensive end in professional football during his prime. Known as "Tombstone," Jackson was the first Bronco to be named to the All-NFL first team in 1970. He entered the AFL in 1966 with Oakland, playing in five games, before spending the next six seasons with Denver. Jackson posted his career high in quarterback sacks in 1969 with 11, and had 10 sacks in both 1968 and 1970. He was voted All-AFL in 1968 and '69, in addition to starting in the 1970 Pro Bowl. He made the Pro Bowl again in 1971 despite playing in only seven games due to a knee injury which eventually forced him out of football. Jackson played the first four games of 1972 season with the Broncos before being traded to Cleveland for a 1973 third-round draft choice (Paul Howard). He played in each of the final 10 games for the Browns in his last NFL season. Jackson's 43 sacks as a Bronco were the most by any player in club history at the time of his retirement, and he still ranks ninth on the club's all-time list. He was a standout end at Southern University on both sides of the ball, and was also the NAIA shot-put champion.

Now: Jackson is a school administrator in New Orleans, La., where he and his wife, Katherine, reside.

THEN: Tom Jackson was the only player inducted into the Ring of Fame in 1992. "TJ" was always one of the most popular players among his teammates, who voted him most inspirational player six consecutive seasons (1981-86). He finished his career having played the most games in Broncos history at 191 and still ranks second on that list behind John Elway. He is also tied for third in games started at 177. Jackson is one of only three Broncos to wear the Denver uniform for 14 seasons, joining Dennis Smith (14) and John Elway (16). He made three consecutive Pro Bowl appearances from 1977-79 and was named first team All-Pro twice (1977-78). He was also named by his teammates as Denver's defensive MVP in 1974, '76 and '77. Upon his retirement in 1986, Jackson was tied for first with fellow Ring of Famer Randy Gradishar for the most interceptions in Broncos history by a linebacker with 20, and was fifth on the all-time sack list with 44. Jackson was also a standout performer at Louisville, where he was the Missouri Valley Conference Player of the Year twice—as a sophomore in 1970 and as a senior in 1972.

Now: Jackson is one of the most recognizable and respected NFL analysts on television. He co-hosts ESPN's award-winning "Sunday NFL Countdown" and "NFL PrimeTime" shows every Sunday during the NFL season, as well as the network's "Monday Night Countdown" show. During the season he periodically makes trips to Denver to conduct interviews for Broncos features on the shows. Tom, his wife Jennifer and their daughters, Taylor and Morgan, reside in Cincinnati, Ohio.

THEN: Charley Johnson was one of three inductees into the Ring of Fame in 1986, along with fellow quarterback Frank Tripucka and defensive end Paul Smith. Johnson, who came to Denver in a trade from Houston, quarterbacked the Broncos to their first winning season (7-5-2 in 1973), a landmark moment in the first 14 years of franchise history. Johnson set a new Broncos record for passing accuracy (since broken) in 1974 by completing 55.6% of his passes. He made the All-AFC team picked by UPI and Pro Football Weekly after the 1973 season. Johnson once threw for 445 yards in a game and also threw a touchdown pass in 10 consecutive games, a Broncos record at the time. Johnson was a star quarterback at New Mexico State, where he led his team to two Sun Bowl titles.

Now: Dr. Charley Johnson is professor and academic department head of the chemical engineering department at New Mexico State University in Las Cruces, N.M.

THEN: Floyd Little is one of the four original Ring of Fame inductees from 1984. He was the first No. 1 draft pick ever signed by the Broncos and was widely regarded as "The Franchise" for much of his nine-year career. Little was the first serious threat for the Broncos at running back. A Pro Bowl participant in 1971, he twice played in the AFL All-Star game (1968 and 1969). Little finished his Broncos career ranked No. 1 on the franchise's all-time list for rushing attempts (1,641), rushing yards (6,323), rushing touchdowns (43) and total touchdowns (54), and now ranks second in each behind Terrell Davis. He was surpassed in yards and both touchdown categories during the 1998 season, and in attempts in 2001. Little still ranks seventh on the Broncos' all-time scoring list with 324 points. He tallied 12,103 all-purpose yards during his career, including a team-record 2,523 on kickoff returns. Little also holds the Broncos' record for the longest non-scoring kickoff return, of 89 yards (vs. Oakland, 11/10/68). When he retired, Little ranked among the Top-10 rushers in NFL history. He was a three-time All-American at Syracuse, following in the footsteps of Jim Brown and the late Ernie Davis as superstar tailbacks for the Orangemen. Little shattered most of the records set by his predecessors, rushing for 2,704 yards, returning punts for 845, kickoffs for 797, and passed for 19—for a grand total of 4,947 yards. He also scored in 22 of 30 regular season games, including five times in one game.

Now: Little has owned a Ford dealership in Seattle, Wash., for many years, and now also owns a Lincoln-Mercury-Mazda dealership in West Covina, Calif., where he makes his home.

LINEBACKER

THEN: Karl Mecklenburg joined the Ring of Fame in 2001 after establishing himself as one of the most outstanding defensive players in franchise history during his 12-year career (1983-94). Mecklenburg overcame long odds to achieve greatness after being drafted by the Broncos in the 12th round out of Minnesota in 1983—the 310th player chosen. He became a starter by his third season, 1985, and went on to start 141 of the 180 games he played, which places him seventh on the club's all-time list for games played. Mecklenburg was voted to play in six Pro Bowls (following the 1985, '86, '87, '89, '91 and '93 seasons); was named All-AFC and All-NFL four times (1985-87 and '89); was named AFC Player of the Year by Football News in 1986 and played in three Super Bowls as a Bronco: XXI, XXII and XXIV. He finished his career with 1,145 tackles (787 solo) and ranks second in club annals with 79.5 sacks, trailing only Simon Fletcher (97.5). Mecklenburg's career high of 13 sacks came in 1985 and ties for the fifth most sacks recorded by a Broncos player in a single season. He recorded 11 multi-sack games and is the only player in franchise history to record four sacks in a game twice in his career. He shares the franchise single-game record with four other players. Mecklenburg began his collegiate career at Augustana (S.D.) College before transferring to Minnesota, where he earned second-team All-Big Ten honors as a senior in 1982.

Now: Mecklenburg has been very active locally since his retirement in 1994. He coaches high school football on the staff at Kent Denver School, is a motivational speaker and does promotional work for several local businesses. Karl and his wife, Kathi, have a son, Luke, and a daughter, Kelsey.

QUARTERBACK

THEN: Craig Morton was one of three inductees in 1988, along with fellow teammates Haven Moses and Jim Turner. Morton, who came to the Broncos through a trade with the New York Giants in 1977, was Denver's starting quarterback for most of the period from 1977-82 and led the team to its first Super Bowl berth in 1977, as he engineered the Broncos to a 12-2 regular season record and home playoff wins over Pittsburgh and arch-rival Oakland. Morton, who also starred with the Dallas Cowboys in the early 1970s, earned a variety of awards for his on-field performance in 1977, including AFC Most Valuable Player honors. During his career with Denver, he led the team to two divisional titles (1977-78). He ranks second in franchise history in passing yards (11,895) and touchdown passes (74), third in pass attempts (1,594), completions (907) and total offense (12,155), and fifth in total plays from scrimmage (1,693). His average gain per play figure of 7.30 is tied for first with fellow Ring of Fame quarterback Charley Johnson. Morton also once completed 16 consecutive passes in a game and once had a streak of nine consecutive games with a touchdown pass. He was a consensus All-American at the University of California, where he also starred in baseball.

Now: Morton has gone into business in San Francisco, where he now resides.

WIDE RECEIVER

THEN: Haven Moses was inducted into the Ring of Fame in 1988 as part of a three-member class that also included quarterback Craig Morton and kicker Jim Turner. Moses played 10 seasons for the Broncos as one of the team's primary wide receivers, and ranks eighth among all Broncos in career receptions (302) and receiving yards (5,450). He is also tied for fourth with fellow Ring of Famer Lionel Taylor in all-time receiving touchdowns with 44. His yards-per-catch average was 18.0, and he averaged more than 19 yards a catch in three straight seasons from 1976-78. In the AFC Championship Game on New Year's Day, 1978, Moses caught five passes for 168 yards and two touchdowns. He was a two-year letterman and an All-American as a wide receiver and defensive back at San Diego State University.

Now: Moses resides in the Denver area and works with the Archdiocese of Denver. He is very active in the community, getting involved in various community projects throughout the year.

GERALD PHIPPS

OWNER

THEN: Gerald H. Phipps became the first and only non-player to be inducted into Denver Broncos' Ring of Fame in 1985. Under the guidance of Phipps and his brother Allan, the Broncos rose from their less than auspicious beginnings to the top of the American Football Conference. In 1977, the Broncos laid claim to their first ever AFC Championship, won the Western Division title in 1977 and 1978 and made three consecutive playoff appearances (1977-79). Under Phipps, the Broncos ultimately rose to a position as one of the NFL's most stable franchises. With the success of the Broncos, the doors were opened for other major league teams from other sports to grab a piece of the Denver sports pie. Following the takeover by the Phipps brothers, Denver Broncos season ticket sales improved from 8,002 in 1964 to 22,905 in 1965. Before purchasing the Broncos on February 15, 1965, Phipps was the president of the Gerald H. Phipps Inc. Construction Company, which he continued to operate. Phipps was born March 4, 1915 in Denver.

Mr. Phipps passed away August 6, 1993.

DENNIS SMITH

SAFETY

THEN: Dennis Smith was inducted into the Ring of Fame in 2001, reflective of his stellar 14-year career with the Broncos during which he established himself as one of the most feared safeties in the NFL. A ferocious hitter, Smith was voted to play in six Pro Bowls (following the 1985-86, 1989-91 and '93 seasons), was named All-NFL four times

(1985-86, '89 and '93), was named All-AFC four times (1984-86, '98) and played on three Broncos Super Bowl teams (XXI, XXII, XXIV). He was also named the club's Most Inspirational Player in 1992. Smith ranks fourth all-time in games played by a Bronco (184), fifth in games started (170) and sixth in both career interceptions (30) and interception return yards (431). He is one of just three players in the history of the Broncos franchise to play at least 14 seasons with the club, behind John Elway (16) and tied with Tom Jackson. Smith's career totals include 1,171 tackles (794) and 14 sacks. He posted a career-high five sacks in 1983, a career-high five interceptions in '91 and a career-high 120 tackles in '92. Smith was a consensus All-America choice as a senior at USC in 1980, where he lettered four times in football and three times in track. He posted 205 career tackles and 16 interceptions, and played in two Rose Bowls as a Trojan.

Now: Smith and his wife, Andre, have two children, Tiffany Diamond (19) and Armani Joseph (16), and reside in Hollywood Hills, Calif. Dennis and Andre own and manage a number of properties in Southern California, and also give their time and financial support to the Make-A-Wish Foundation and Covenant House, a home for kids in need.

DEFENSIVE TACKLE

THEN: Paul Smith was inducted into the Ring of Fame in 1986, along with quarterbacks Frank Tripucka and Charley Johnson. Smith posted 55 sacks for his career, sixth-most on the Broncos' all-time list. He also posted 11 sacks in both the 1972 and 1973 seasons, propelling him to back-to-back Pro Bowl appearances. Smith was one of the team's defensive leaders during the years when Denver was building the foundation for defensive excellence with the famed "Orange Crush." His head coach, John Ralston, once said that Smith was "the finest defensive tackle in pro football." Smith's 11-year career was the longest in Broncos annals until he was surpassed by fellow Ring of Famer Billy Thompson. He was the first 10-year man in Broncos history. THEN: Lionel Taylor, one of the original Broncos, was also one of the original Ring of Famers, being inducted with the inaugural class in 1984. He ranks No. 3 in franchise history in receiving with 543 receptions and 6,872 yards, having held the franchise record in both categories until 1999 when he was eclipsed by Shannon Sharpe. Taylor is tied for fourth in touchdown receptions for a career with 44. He caught 92 passes during the 1960 season and followed that campaign with a team-record 100 receptions in 1961 (which stood until 2000), leading the AFL in receiving for five of the league's first six years of existence. Taylor was regarded by many as the possessor of the best hands in pro football. He never caught fewer than 76 passes in a season over those first six years, averaging 84.7 catches from 1960-65, at that time the highest six-year total in football history. Taylor was an All-AFL selection in 1960, '61 and '65 and played in the league all-star game in 1962. He performed collegiately at New Mexico Highlands.

Now: Taylor makes his home in Albuquerque, N.M. He has recently done work for IMG Football, preparing players for the NFL's annual scouting combine at IMGs International Performance Institute in Bradenton, Fla. SAFETY

THEN: Billy Thompson, regarded by many as the best defensive back in Denver Broncos annals, was the only Ring of Fame inductee in 1987. He was the first player in team history to play 13 seasons with Denver, and he was the team captain for many years. Thompson, despite being retired for 20 seasons, still ranks second on the Broncos' all-time list for games started with 178, first in consecutive starts with 156 and eighth in games played with 179. He finished his career with 61 turnovers, (most in team history), 40 of which came via interceptions (third in team history). He holds two NFL records, one of which has stood for more than three decades. As a rookie in 1969, Thompson became the only player in NFL history to lead the league in both kickoffs and punt returns in the same season. He is also one of only two players in NFL history to return four opponent fumbles for touchdowns. Thompson was a three-time Pro Bowl selection (1977, '78 and '81), and earned All-NFL honors twice (1977 and '78) and All-AFC honors four times (1977-79, '81). Billy also enjoyed a brilliant career at Maryland State (now Maryland-Eastern Shore), earning All-CIAA honors three times as a defensive back and being named team MVP as a senior. He also twice earned NAIA All-America honors. Thompson also made All-CIAA three times in baseball as a centerfielder.

Now: Thompson was a college scout for the Broncos for two years before moving into the position of Director of Player Relations and Alumni Coordinator. He is now the club's Director of Alumni Relations and in that role coordinates the activities of the Broncos' former players, who remain a vital part of the organization. He works with the Denver Broncos Alumni Council and former Broncos players to integrate their involvement in the club's community outreach programs, which focus on youth, health and hunger initiatives. Thompson is a member of the Board of Directors of The Metropolitan State College of Denver and also volunteers time with the Urban League, Hispanic Chamber of Commerce and several other non-profit organizations. At the time of his retirement, Turner ranked second in NFL career scoring with 1,439 points, as well as second in field goals with 304. Turner kicked 521 extra points and was the fourth player to ever reach the 500 mark. He never missed a game as a pro and finished with a streak of 228 consecutive appearances, including 130 as a Bronco, for whom he scored 742 points, easily establishing himself as Denver's all-time scoring leader until Jason Elam eclipsed his mark in 1999. He once had a string of 221 consecutive extra points, which was then the second-longest streak in NFL history. Before joining the Broncos in 1971, Turner was an outstanding kicker for the New York Jets, helping lead the club to a victory in Super Bowl III. He was a three-time letterman as a quarterback at Utah State in the early 1960s.

Now: Turner resides in the Denver area and is active in the community. He is an academic tutor at Jefferson Senior High School, and is involved with the NFL's Play it Smart program.

THEN: Louis Wright was the most recent inductee into the Broncos' Ring of Fame before John Elway (1999), entering the Ring in 1993. Wright enjoyed a stellar career at cornerback for Denver, playing in 166 games (163 starts, seventh on all-time Broncos list), reeling in 26 interceptions—one of which he returned for a touchdown—and 11 fumble recoveries. Wright was named to the Pro Bowl five times in his career (1977-79, '83 and '85). He was named All-NFL by The Sporting News and Pro Football Weekly and the NEA in 1977. He also received All-AFC honors from UPI in 1985. Wright was named Most Valuable Defensive Player by his teammates on two different occasions. He played collegiately at San Jose State, where he lettered twice as a defensive back. He also won two letters in track and once ran the 100 in 9.6 seconds.

Now: Wright was a very successful head football coach at Montbello High School in Denver, and is now an assistant coach at Rangeview High School. He also teaches physical education at Martin Luther King Middle School. Wright resides in Aurora, Colo.

higher in some areas. The Broncos' chartered flight leaves Denver 10 hours late, at 8 p.m. (MT) Saturday, Oct. 25, after an ordeal that involves numerous players' vehicles being stranded in snow-drifts trying to reach the team buses at Broncos headquarters. Several players make their way to headquarters by way of snowmobiles after being picked up by citizens. NOVEMBER 2 — John Elway sets two milestones and earns AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors on this day as the Broncos defeat Seattle 30-27 at Mile High Stadium. With 252 passing yards, Elway moves past Fran Tarkenton into second-place all-time in NFL passing yardage, and his 276 total yards make him just the third player in NFL history to top the 50,000-yard plateau. He will later be named NFL Offensive Player of the Month for November. NOVEMBER 9 — Cornerback Darrien Gordon ties an NFL record by returning two punts for touchdowns in the same quarter, a feat previously accomplished just twice in NFL history. His scoring returns of 82 and 75 yards in the first quarter staked Denver to a 14-0 lead en route to a 34-0 defeat of Carolina. The two touchdown returns in a game also tie Rick Upchurch's franchise record, while his 168 punt return yards set a new franchise standard, as Gordon wins AFC Special Teams Player of the Week honors. DECEMBER 21 — Denver closes its regular season with a 38-3 victory over San Diego to secure its second straight undefeated regular season at home, only the third NFL team to do so since the schedule expanded to 16 games in 1978. The Broncos set new franchise records by posting nine double-digit victories in one season and scoring more than 30 points in nine different games. DECEMBER 27 — The Broncos defeat Jacksonville 42-17 in an AFC Wild Card Game at Mile High Stadium to record their first playoff victory since Jan. 4, 1992. In the game, Denver sets club postseason records for rushing yards (310), total yards (511), rushing attempts (49), points in a quarter (21; 4th quarter), total points (42), first downs (28), rushing first downs (18) and third-down efficiency (75%). Terrell Davis rushes for a club postseason record 184 yards, and is complemented by Derek Loville's 103 yards rushing, making Denver just the third team in NFL postseason history to post two 100-yard rushers in the same game. Denver's 40:59 of possession time and 310 rushing yards both rank as the fifth-highest totals ever in an NFL playoff game. Instrumental in the performance is the offensive line, which, as a unit, is named NFL Offensive Player of the Week. It marks just the second time in NFL history—and first in the postseason—that an Offensive Line is named Player of the Week.

JANUARY 4 — Denver wins a road playoff game for only the second time in franchise history by defeating the Chiefs 14-10 in an AFC Divisional Playoff Game at Kansas City's Arrowhead Stadium. JANUARY 11 — The Broncos win their fifth AFC Championship — and win on the road for the second straight week in the playoffs — by topping the Steelers 24-21 at Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium. The win makes Denver just the fifth Wild Card team to advance to the Super Bowl since the Wild Card format was adopted in 1970. JANUARY 25 — Denver claims its first World Championship with a 31-24 victory over defending champion Green Bay in Super Bowl XXXII at Qualcomm Stadium in San Diego. The Broncos become the first team from the American Football Conference in 14 years to win the Super Bowl, and only the second Wild Card team ever to do so. Running back Terrell Davis sets a Super Bowl record with three rushing touchdowns to claim the Pete Rozelle Award as the game's Most Valuable Player. Davis finishes with 157 yards rushing and ties the Super Bowl record for total touchdowns (3) and points scored (18). The game marks the first time in Super Bowl history that each team scored a touchdown on its first possession, and the Broncos become just the fourth team in Super Bowl history to score on each of their first three possessions. JANUARY 27 — An estimated 650,000 fans gather in downtown Denver for a victory parade and rally to honor the World Champion Denver Broncos. The parade follows a route along 17th street, from Wynkoop to Broadway, and then along Broadway for several blocks before working its way to the steps of the Denver City and County Building, where a rally is held. Broncos owner Pat Bowlen, head coach Mike Shanahan, quarterback John Elway, running back Terrell Davis, Colorado Governor Roy Romer and Denver Mayor Wellington Webb address the sea of Broncos fans who pack the grounds in front of the stage, and Elway and Davis are honored with street signs bearing their names. FEBRUARY 1 — The Broncos are represented in the annual AFC-NFC Pro Bowl in Honolulu by running back Terrell Davis, center Tom Nalen, tight end Shannon Sharpe and defensive end Neil Smith. Quarterback John Elway is also selected, but opts not to play in the game due to injury. APRIL 22 — Colorado Governor Roy Romer signs into law SB 171, a bill authorizing voters to decide upon a ballot issue that would appropriate tax money to partially fund a new football stadium in Denver. MAY — The Broncos conclude season ticket renewals and waiting list additions for 1998, leading to an anticipated 29th consecutive season of sellouts at Mile High Stadium. JUNE 5 — Broncos players and coaches receive their Super Bowl rings in a private ceremony at team headquarters. JUNE 16 — The Denver Broncos travel to Washington, D.C. for a special ceremony in which they are honored by President Bill Clinton at the White House for their victory in Super Bowl XXXII. Terrell Davis delivers to the President a Broncos jersey number "11" with "Clinton" on the back. SEPTEMBER 21 — The Denver Broncos and San Diego Chargers are selected to play the first NFL game in Australia, an American Bowl '99 contest, Sun., Aug. 8 at Stadium Australia at Homebush Bay in Sydney. OCTOBER 25 — Broncos kicker Jason Elam ties a 28-year old NFL record by making a 63-yard field-goal attempt vs. Jacksonville at Mile High Stadium. The record-tying kick comes in the final seconds of the first half, in a game won by the Broncos, 37-24. NOVEMBER 3 — Denver-area voters approve a ballot issue to appropriate tax money to partially fund a new football stadium in Denver. The Broncos would begin play in the new stadium at the beginning of the 2001 season. NOVEMBER 22 — Broncos quarterback John Elway becomes just the second player in NFL history to compile 50,000 yards passing during a career, joining Miami's Dan Marino. Elway reaches the plateau on a 5-yard completion to wide receiver Willie Green in the first quarter of a 40-14 win over Oakland at Mile High Stadium. NOVEMBER 29 — The Broncos clinch the AFC West division title for the ninth time in franchise history with a 31-16 win at San Diego. DECEMBER 6 — The Broncos tie an NFL record by winning their 18th game in a row (regular and postseason combined), a 35-31 comeback defeat of Kansas City at Mile High Stadium. The only other teams to win 18 straight games are Chicago (1933-34 and 1941-42), Miami (1972-73) and San Francisco (1989-90). The win also gave the Broncos a 13-0 record to begin the season, tied for second-best in NFL history. The 1972 Miami Dolphins went undefeated through a 14-game schedule, while the 1934 Chicago Bears started 13-0. DECEMBER 27 — The Broncos close the regular season with a 14-2 record, best in franchise history, by virtue of a 28-21 win over Seattle. It marked the third consecutive season in which the club went undefeated at home, joining just three other teams in NFL history to accomplish the feat, and the first since the 16-game schedule was instituted in 1978. In the game, Terrell Davis rushes for 178 yards to finish with 2,008 for the season, and 6,413 for his career, overtaking Floyd Little (6,323) as the club's all-time leading rusher. He becomes just the fourth player in NFL history to rush for more than 2,000 yards in a season, joining Eric Dickerson (2,105 in 1984), Barry Sanders (2,053 in 1997) and O.J. Simpson (2,003 in 1973), and also sets Broncos single-season records for rushing attempts (392), rushing touchdowns (21), touchdowns (23), points scored (138), total yards from scrimmage (2,225) and 100-yard games (11). Davis is named NFL Most Valuable Player by the Associated Press, and is a unanimous All-NFL selection, along with tight end Shannon Sharpe. The Broncos set franchise single-season records for rushing touchdowns (26), passing touchdowns (32), total touchdowns (62), points scored (501), first downs (347), rushing yards (2,468), total yards (6,092), highest avg. gain per play (5.9), PATs made (58) and attempted (59) and punting average (46.2).

JANUARY 9 — Denver defeats Miami 38-3 in an AFC Divisional Playoff Game at Mile High Stadium, to win its fifth straight postseason contest. It is Denver's largest winning margin in the postseason, and the team sets postseason defensive records for rushing yards (14), rushing avg. (1.1) and points (3) allowed. Terrell Davis' 199 rushing yards represent the fourth-highest single-game total in NFL postseason history. JANUARY 17 — Denver defeats the New York Jets 23-10 in the AFC Championship Game at Mile High Stadium to reserve its sixth Super Bowl trip, an AFC record. The Broncos erase a 10-0 third-quarter deficit by scoring 20 points in the period to win going away. JANUARY 31 — Denver defeats Atlanta 34-19 in Super Bowl XXXIII at Pro Player Stadium in Miami, Fla., to claim its second straight World Championship. Denver becomes just the sixth franchise in league history to win back-to-back Super Bowls, joining Green Bay (Super Bowls I and II), Miami (VII and VIII), Pittsburgh (IX and X; XIII and XIV), San Francisco (XXIII and XXIV) and Dallas (XXVII and XXVIII). John Elway is named Most Valuable Player of Super Bowl XXXIII, passing for 336 yards and a touchdown, and rushing for another score. Terrell Davis (102 yds.) sets an NFL record by rushing for 100 yards in his seventh straight postseason contest, and fullback Howard Griffith rushes for two touchdowns. Rod Smith's 80-yard touchdown reception from Elway stands as the second-longest play from scrimmage in Super Bowl history, defensive tackle Mike Lodish sets an NFL record by playing in his sixth Super Bowl (4 with Buffalo, 2 with Denver). Cornerback Darrien Gordon's 108 yards on two interception returns establish a Super Bowl record, and also make him the Super Bowl career leader for interception-return yards. FEBRUARY 1 — The Broncos return to Denver from Miami and are greeted by an estimated 375,000 fans lining a parade route that takes the team through downtown, along Broadway, to a rally at Civic Center Park. From the steps of the Denver City and County Building, Broncos players and coaches thank the fans for their support, and share the victory with them. Broncos owner Pat Bowlen, head coach Mike Shanahan, quarterback John Elway, running back Terrell Davis, Colorado Governor Bill Owens and Denver Mayor Wellington Webb address the crowd. FEBRUARY 7 — The Broncos are represented in the annual AFC-NFC Pro Bowl in Honolulu by a franchise-record 10 players: safety Steve Atwater, running back Terrell Davis, kicker Jason Elam, quarterback John Elway, tackle Tony Jones, wide receiver Ed McCaffrey, center Tom Nalen, linebacker Bill Romanowski, guard Mark Schlereth and tight end Shannon Sharpe. Davis and Sharpe are unable to play in the game due to injury. APRIL 10 — Chinese Premier Zhu Rongji visits the Paul D. Bowlen Memorial Broncos Centre as part of a nine-day U.S. tour to promote trade with China. The Premier requested the visit as one of the highlights of his trip, and said, "It is a pleasure to visit the home of the Broncos. They are the champions of American football." MAY — The Broncos conclude season ticket renewals and waiting list additions for 1999, leading to an anticipated 30th consecutive season of sellouts at Mile High Stadium. MAY 2 — John Elway announces his retirement in a press conference at the Inverness Hotel and Golf Club in Englewood. JUNE 6 — Broncos players, coaches and staff receive their Super Bowl rings in a private ceremony, followed by a party at the Broadmoor in Colorado Springs, Colo. AUGUST 7 — Denver defeats San Diego 20-17 in American Bowl '99 at Stadium Australia, in Sydney, Australia, site of the 2000 Summer Olympics. It is the first NFL game played on the Australian continent. SEPTEMBER 13 — John Elway is inducted into the Denver Broncos Ring of Fame in a ceremony held at halftime of Denver's season-opening Monday Night game vs. Miami. He is the 16th inductee into the prestigious group — the first since 1993 (Louis Wright) — and the first for whom the traditional five-year waiting period is waived. Elway's familiar No. 7 is also retired on this night, assuring that the number he wore for 16 brilliant seasons will never be worn again by a Bronco. SEPTEMBER 26 — Broncos tight end Shannon Sharpe becomes the leading receiver in franchise history, catching five passes for 39 yards against Tampa Bay at Raymond James Stadium, to surpass the previous standards held by Lionel Taylor (543-6,872). Sharpe finishes the day at 547 receptions and 6,897 yards. OCTOBER 3 — Kicker Jason Elam becomes the Denver Broncos all-time leading scorer, surpassing Jim Turner (742 points) in Denver's game vs. the New York Jets at Mile High Stadium. Elam's seven points (2 field goals, 1 PAT) raise his career total to 748 points. OCTOBER 17 — Denver has two players post 100 or more receiving yards in the same game for the first time in franchise history, as Byron Chamberlain (123 yards) and Ed McCaffrey (116) both top the century mark in Denver's 31-10 defeat of Green at Mile High Stadium. DECEMBER 19 — Denver linebacker Glenn Cadrez returns a fumble 37 yards for a touchdown in overtime to lift the Broncos over the Seattle Seahawks, 36-30. It is just the second overtime game in NFL history to be decided by a fumble return for a touchdown. In the contest, Jason Elam became the franchise's all-time leader in successful PATs and attempted field goals, passing Jim Turner in both categories.

2000

JANUARY 2 — Running back Olandis Gary sets franchise rookie rushing record by finishing the 1999 season with 1,159 yards on 276 carries. Also, wide receiver Rod Smith tops the 1,000-yard receiving mark for the third consecutive season—a franchise record—and rookie return man Chris Watson sets a franchise single-season record for kick-off returns (48) in Denver's season-finale vs. San Diego at Mile High Stadium. FEBRUARY 6 — The Broncos are represented at the annual AFC-NFC Pro Bowl in Honolulu by center Tom Nalen, defensive tackle Trevor Pryce and fullback/special teams player Detron Smith. MAY — The Broncos conclude season ticket renewals and waiting list additions for 2000, leading to an anticipated 31st consecutive season of sellouts at Mile High Stadium. SEPTEMBER 10 — The Broncos begin their final season of play at Mile High Stadium with a 42-14 win over Atlanta, before a crowd of 75,466, in the home opener. SEPTEMBER 17 — Broncos rookie running back Mike Anderson becomes just the ninth player in NFL history to rush for more than 100 yards in each of his first two NFL games, picking up 187 in a win at Oakland. He had 131 the previous week vs. Atlanta. NOVEMBER 13 — Denver defeats Oakland 27-24 in the final Monday Night Football game at Mile High Stadium, on a 41-yard field goal by Jason Elam as time expired. Overall, the Broncos were 16-6 in the 22 Monday Night games played at Mile High, from 1973-2000. NOVEMBER 19 — The Broncos improve to 7-4 with the second largest fourth quarter comeback in franchise history, overcoming a 34-17 deficit to beat the San Diego Chargers 38-37. Quarterback Gus Frerotte, replacing the injured Brian Griese, broke Frank Tripucka's 38-year old franchise passing record (447) with 462 passing yards and tied the team record with five touchdown passes. DECEMBER 3 — Mike Anderson rushes for 251 yards in a 38-23 win at New Orleans to set an all-time NFL rookie rushing record for a single game. He also broke the franchise single-game rushing mark by posting the fourth best rushing day by any player in NFL history, and set a Broncos record with four touchdowns in the game. Jason Elam also set an NFL record, converting his 304th consecutive point-after attempt, breaking Norm Johnson's previous record of 303. DECEMBER 23 — The Broncos play their final game ever at Mile High Stadium, defeating San Francisco 38-9 before the second largest crowd in the stadium's history, 76,098. It was the largest crowd ever for a Broncos regular season game, and those in attendance were treated to an outstanding performance from the home team on this historic day. The Broncos set franchise single-season records for passing yards (4,243) and total yards (6,554), with the latter figure ranking fifth in NFL history. Ed McCaffrey and Rod Smith each hit the 100-catch mark for the season—just the second pair of teammates to do so in the same season in NFL history—with McCaffrey (101) breaking Lionel Taylor's 39-year old franchise record (100), while Smith ties it. Smith shatters the club record with 1,602 receiving yards for the season. Running back Mike Anderson sets franchise rookie rushing records with 1,487 yards and 15 touchdowns for the season.

FEBRUARY 4 — The Broncos are represented at the annual AFC-NFC Pro Bowl in Honolulu by quarterback Brian Griese, center Tom Nalen, defensive tackle Trevor Pryce and wide receiver Rod Smith. Griese and Nalen are unable to play because of injuries. MAY — The Broncos conclude season ticket renewals and waiting list additions for 2001, leading to an anticipated 32nd consecutive season of home sellouts, in their first season at INVESCO Field at Mile High. AUGUST 25 — The Broncos play their first preseason game at INVESCO Field at Mile High, vs. the New Orleans Saints, winning 31-24. SEPTEMBER 10 — The Broncos officially christen INVESCO Field at Mile High with a season-opening 31-20 win over the New York Giants on Monday Night Football. The game is marred only by the broken left leg suffered by wide receiver Ed McCaffrey, and further put out of the spotlight the next morning by the terrorist attacks on the United States. SEPTEMBER 23 — Wide receiver Rod Smith sets a team record with 14 receptions in a 38-17 win at Arizona. OCTOBER 7 — Cornerback Deltha O'Neal ties an NFL record by becoming the 18th player in league history (19th time) to intercept four passes in one game, in Denver's 20-6 defeat of Kansas City at INVESCO Field at Mile High. He joins former Broncos Austin "Goose" Gonsoulin (1960) and Willie Brown (1964) on that list. NOVEMBER 5 — Kicker Jason Elam became one of just 30 players in NFL history to score 1,000 career points, converting four field goals in a 38-28 loss at Oakland on Monday Night Football. His second field goal also accounted for the 20,000th point scored in the history of Monday Night Football. NOVEMBER 22 — The Broncos defeat the Dallas Cowboys 26-24 at Texas Stadium on Thanksgiving Day, marking the club's first Thanksgiving Day appearance since 1990.

2002

JANUARY 28 — Ted Sundquist is promoted to general manager after six years as director of college scouting. FEBRUARY 4 — The Broncos are represented in the annual AFC-NFC Pro Bowl in Honolulu by tight end Dwayne Carswell, kicker Jason Elam, linebacker/special teams player Ian Gold, cornerback Deltha O'Neal, defensive tackle Trevor Pryce, wide receiver Rod Smith and linebacker Al Wilson. Pryce and Smith are unable to play because of injuries. MAY — The Broncos conclude season ticket renewals and waiting list additions for 2002, leading to an anticipated 33rd consecutive season of home sellouts. OCTOBER 20 — Tight end Shannon Sharpe sets an NFL record for a tight end and a franchise receiving record with 214 receiving yards on 13 receptions, including two touchdowns, in Denver's 37-34 come-from-behind overtime win at Kansas City. DECEMBER 15 — Rookie running back Clinton Portis ties a Broncos record by becoming just the second player in franchise history to score four touchdowns in a game. He scores three times by rush and once receiving in Denver's 31-24 win over Kansas City at INVESCO Field at Mile High. DECEMBER 29 — Running back Clinton Portis closes his rookie season with a 228-yard rushing effort in a win vs. Arizona at INVESCO Field at Mile High to finish the season with a franchise rookie-record 1,508 rushing yards, the fifth-best rushing season by a rookie in NFL history. His 228 rushing yards tie for the best effort in the NFL in 2002 and tie for the fourth-most by a rookie in a single game in NFL history. Additionally, Portis' two touchdowns on the day give him 17 for the season (15 rushing, 2 receiving), tied for third-most by a rookie in NFL history. For the season he also posts the second-best yards-per-carry average (5.52) for a rookie in league history.

JANUARY 7 — Running back Clinton Portis is named NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year by the Associated Press. He is the third Bronco to be named either offensive or defensive Rookie of the Year, joining running back Mike Anderson (2000) and linebacker Mike Croel (1991). JANUARY 20 — Larry Coyer is promoted from linebackers coach to defensive coordinator. MARCH 17 — The Broncos announce that the club will hold training camp in 2003 at its permanent facility in Dove Valley, in suburban Denver, after 21 years at the University of Northern Colorado in Greeley. APRIL 18 — Construction begins at the Broncos' Dove Valley training complex on a third outdoor practice field, to feature a FieldTurf™ artificial surface. MAY — The Broncos conclude season ticket renewals and waiting list additions for 2003, leading to an anticipated 34th consecutive season of home sellouts. JUNE 10 — Crews begin to install FieldTurf™ surface on new third practice field, initiating a two-week installation process.

THE DENVER BRONCOS' PLEDGE TO COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

The Community Development Department, in collaboration with the Denver Broncos Charities Fund, strives to improve the quality of life for Coloradoans through youth, health and hunger initiatives, with a secondary focus on individuals with special needs and disabilities.

DENVER BRONCOS CHARITIES FUND

The Denver Broncos Charities Fund was established in 1994 as a charitable trust of the McCormick Tribune Foundation. Daily, the DBCF attempts to touch the lives of many through several community organizations in Colorado. Annually, through the DBCF, the Denver Broncos strive to improve the quality of life for the youth, hungry, homeless and disabled in Colorado.

With each dollar raised by the Fund a portion is matched by The McCormick Foundation. Since the Fund's inception an excess 19 million dollars has been granted to several charitable organizations throughout Colorado.

YOUTH PROGRAMS

BRONCOS ACADEMY

For more than a decade the Denver Broncos Academy at East High School has assisted new students who may be experiencing difficulties with the transition into the high school setting. In 2002, major strides were taken to improve the Academy. Not only was Gove Middle School brought on as a new school partner in hopes of helping ease the change early, but Broncos wide receiver Ashley Lelie was announced as the program's new spokesperson and pledged to assist the kids with staying focused on school.

DENVER BRONCOS BRANCH OF THE BOYS AND GIRLS CLUBS OF METRO DENVER

The Denver Broncos Football Club enters a new phase of community development in 2003 with the sponsorship of the Denver Broncos Branch of the Boys and Girls Clubs of Metro Denver, a youth center in Montbello. For the next five years, the Broncos will partner with the Boys and Girls Clubs at this new youth center, providing funding for the center, youth programs to support literacy, leadership development, youth football and many other initiatives to develop the minds and character of young people. Many of the Broncos players themselves, like Ian Gold and Deltha O'Neal and former Denver Broncos Ring of Famer Billy Thompson, were products of the Boys and Girls Clubs organization and have committed to spending time mentoring young people at the Denver Broncos Branch facility. This new partnership is an historic step on the road of Broncos Community Development, marking the first community investment of this magnitude for the organization in the lives of young people.

GATORADE JUNIOR TRAINING CAMPS

Last year children between the ages of eight and 13 were invited to participate in the nearly 30 junior training camps that the Broncos hosted. The training camps operate at various locations throughout the state. The program's focus is on incorporating the basics of football and using inspirational tactics to aid in the trials that kids face while maturing.

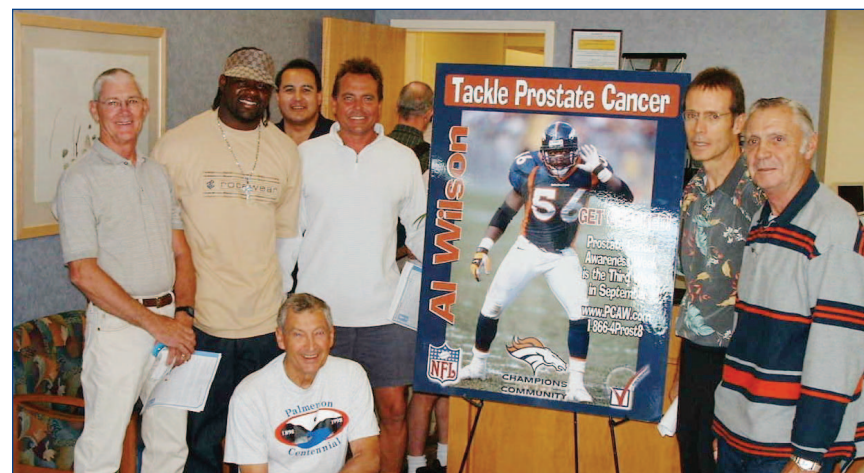

READ LIKE A PRO

For the third year in a row the Denver Broncos have partnered with U.S. Bank to design a program that encourages reading amongst elementary school-aged children statewide. The Broncos took a big step last season in the promotion of this program by releasing a video that featured alumni, Steve Sewell and Miles the Mascot. Denver Broncos players, alumni and cheerleaders make sure that frequent appearances are made throughout the year at metro area schools to stress to our local youth the importance of reading.

HEALTH PROGRAMS

TACKLING PROSTATE CANCER

Completing his second season as the spokesperson for the Denver Broncos prostate cancer campaign, Broncos linebacker Al Wilson is ready to tackle some major events this year in the battle to fight this deadly disease. The drive that collaborates with the NFL and the Prostate Cancer Education Council has already scheduled several events throughout August and September 2003 encouraging men to be screened for the disease in hopes of detecting it early enough to be treated.

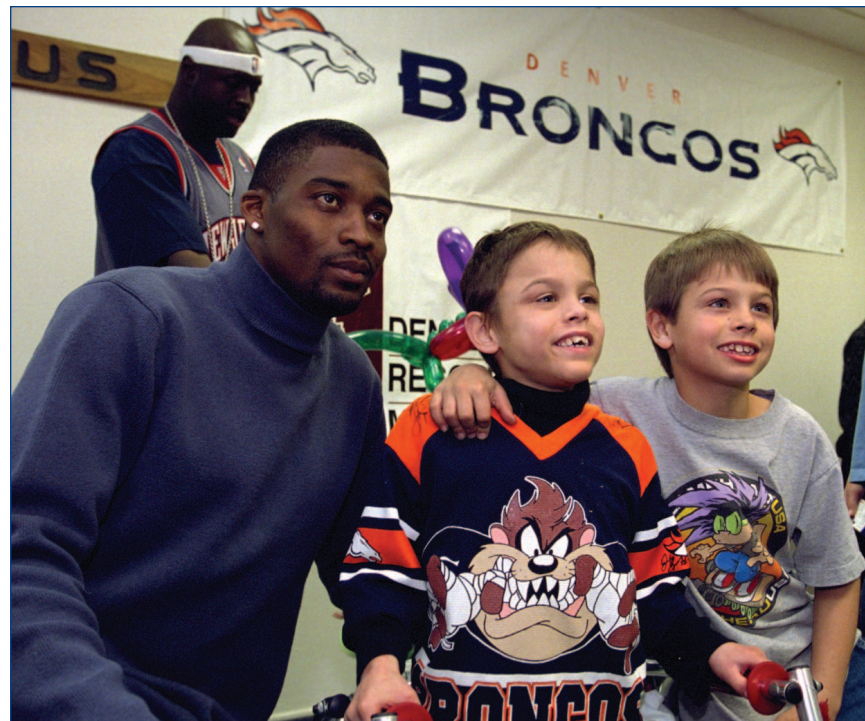

DENVER BRONCOS COMMUNITY BLOOD DRIVE

In October 2002 the 5th Annual Denver Broncos Community Blood Drive was held at INVESCO Field at Mile High. Last year, the Broncos are proud to have hosted the most successful blood drive in Colorado history with a staggering 1,866 donations. The Denver Broncos, in conjunction with Bonfils Blood Center, received a record number of donations. Many current players, several alumni and cheerleaders were on-site to help make the donations quick and enjoyable. Their efforts resulted in nearly 2,000 contributions. Thanks to the support of numerous people, the Drive for Life Blood Drive has helped to save the lives of many throughout Colorado.

HUNGER PROGRAMS

BRONCOS WIVES FOOD DRIVE

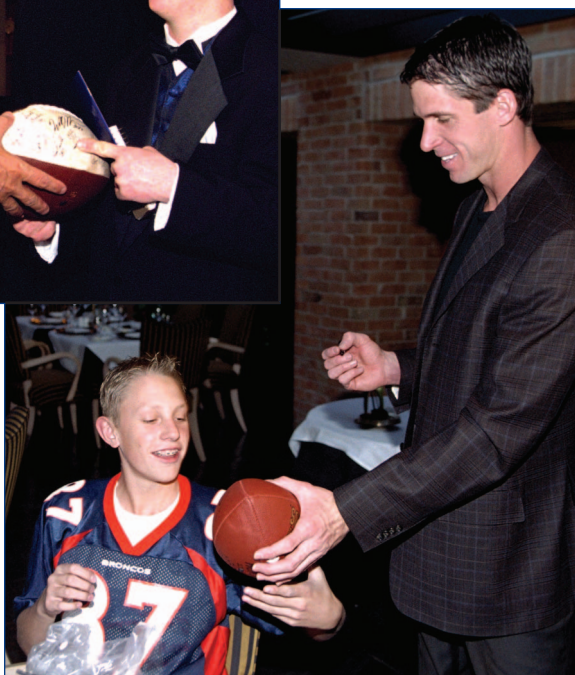

As the team was gearing up to take on the Miami Dolphins last October, Bronco wives were getting ready to challenge fans. These ladies spent the afternoon gathering 246,000 tons of food and $90,000 for the 22nd Annual Denver Broncos Wives Food Drive. Each year the women choose one regular season game, are stationed at various gates at the stadium and collect canned foods and cash for donations to help abolish hunger in the state.

DENVER RESCUE MISSION HOLIDAY PROGRAM

For the past few years the Denver Rescue Mission Holiday Program has become an increasingly popular event among Broncos players. With player/coach Jimmy Spencer heading up the event, each year fellow teammates look forward to heading to the Mission to visit, share and dine with local families in need.

THE DENVER BRONCOS CHEERLEADERS

In 2002, the 26 members of the Denver Broncos Cheerleading squad divided over 800 hours of civic involvement amongst 70 Colorado organizations. Many associations from Children's Hospital to the Race for the Cure were visited by members of last year's team. For the upcoming season, the squad will continue to promote community involvement as its number one commitment.

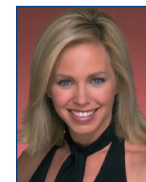

Last year the NFL initiated a Women Helping Women Program. The Denver Broncos Cheerleaders teamed up with SafeHouse Denver Women's Shelter to help supply those re-entering the business world with appropriate attire. In 14 days these women raised over $600 in cash and acquired just under 30 boxes of professional clothing, by collecting donations the Broncos Stadium store and six metro area Antoine Du Chez Salon and Day Spa locations.

Entering their 10th season, the Denver Broncos Cheerleaders are one of the premier teams in the National Football League. The Broncos brought back cheerleaders in 1993 after a 17-year absence and are proud of the work the team does both on the field and most importantly in the community.

The Broncos Cheerleaders are selected through auditions held each spring. This year, more than 300 women tried out for the 26 available positions. Auditions focus primarily on dance ability, however, appearance, personal accomplishments, and community involvement are also contributing factors.

Known for their distinctive western uniforms, the Cheerleaders wear long leather chaps and jackets in the fall months, ski-wear for cold games and a more traditional cheerleading leather skirt and vest in the summer months. The three uniform changes give them flexibility with the rapidly-changing Colorado weather.

In 2003, the cheerleaders will have a calendar, poster and other merchandise available for sale. For more information on the Cheerleaders, contact Teresa Schroeder (720) 258-3176, or look up their page on the official Denver Broncos web site at www.denverbroncos.com.

MASCOTS

“THUNDER”

The Denver Broncos are notorious for having thunderstorms throughout the fall and winter, as in those from the team's live mascot Thunder storming the field. Thunder is a 20-year-old purebred Arabian stallion that displays his impressive canter from one end zone to the other following every Broncos touchdown.

Provided by Magness Racing Ventures of Denver, Thunder is in his 11th season in 2003. Throughout his first 10 seasons Thunder has entertained hundreds of thousands of fans. Years ago Thunder started a popular annual holiday event, a yearly Christmas party for underprivileged kids in the Denver area.

Although Thunder's registered name is JB Kobask, he was given the "stage name" Thunder for his mascot duties. Thunder made his Mile High debut September 12, 1993 during a Broncos victory over the San Diego Chargers. In addition to his appearances at all Broncos home games, Thunder also appeared at Super Bowls XXXII in San Diego, Calif. and XXXIII in Miami, Fla.

Thunder—not bashful in front of crowds—is a champion show horse. His competition honors include Hunter Pleasure Champion of the Wyoming Arabian Horse Association Show in 1993, Reserve Champion of the Pure Breed Western Pleasure at the Colorado State Fair in 1989 and first place in Pure Breed Western Pleasure at the Rocky Mountain Arabian Horse Show in 1989.

Thunder is trained by Tom Hudson, manager/trainer of Magness Racing Ventures and an accomplished equestrian. Hudson shows horses in the top Arabian horse shows around the country, although not with Thunder. He has been taken off the horse-show circuit for his career in football.

“MILES”

The Denver Broncos also have an official mascot, Miles, introduced in 2001 when the Broncos began play in INVESCO Field at Mile High.

Popular with all fans, and especially children, Miles entertains the Broncos faithful at every home game, and makes numerous appearances throughout the Denver community year-round.

If you would like to inquire about scheduling Miles to appear at your next event, please contact Joel Darby in the Broncos marketing department, at (720) 258-3114.

INVESCO FIELD AT MILE HIGH

The Denver Broncos began a new era in 2001 as they took to the field in a new stadium, INVESCO Field at Mile High. Built adjacent to their previous home of 41 years, Mile High Stadium, the new stadium features first-class, state-of-the-art amenities for the teams and fans alike.

With seating capacity set at 76,125, INVESCO Field at Mile High is one of the largest stadiums in the National Football League. It includes 1.7 million square feet of space (approximately twice that of Mile High Stadium), providing the ultimate in comfort and convenience, including wider concourses, wider seats, more restrooms, elevators and escalators and full-service accommodations for people with disabilities.

INVESCO Field at Mile High features 124 luxury suites on two levels, as well as 8,000 club seats. It is highlighted by an emphasis on state-of-the-art technology, while maintaining the traditional aspects of Mile High Stadium that gave the Broncos a decided home-field advantage over the years. Those features include the close proximity of the seats to the field, as well as steel treads and risers that fans utilize to create the same deafening roar that characterized Mile High Stadium.

The stadium was designed and built by Turner/Empire/Alvarado Construction and HNTB Architects, in association with Fentress Bradburn Architects and Bertram A. Bruton Architects. Numerous Colorado companies and hundreds of professional designers, engineers and construction tradesmen were involved in the construction of the new state-of-the-art facility.

Construction began during the summer of 1999 and official groundbreaking was held Aug. 17, 1999. The Broncos won the first game ever played in the new stadium, 31-24, over New Orleans on Aug. 25, 2001, and won the first regular season game, 31-20, over the New York Giants on Sept. 10, 2001.

BRONCOS STADIUM HISTORY

The Denver Broncos played nearly all of their home games for the first 41 seasons of club history in one building. Known since 1969 as Mile High Stadium, the facility opened in 1948 as Bears Stadium for the Denver Bears of baseball's old Western League, with long range plans to utilize it for football as well. When Denver became a charter member of the American Football League in 1959, the south stands (8,100 seats) and portable east stands (9,616 seats) were added to give a capacity of 34,657 for football. The Broncos began play in 1960.

After Denver voters turned down a stadium bond issue to build an all-purpose metropolitan stadium in 1967, a non-profit group began a fund-raising drive with the goal of purchasing the stadium for the city. In February 1968, the group bought the stadium from Rocky Mountain Empire Sports for $1.8 million and presented it to the city of Denver. A 16,000-seat upper deck was immediately constructed over the west stands, raising the capacity to over 50,000 for the 1968 season. In December 1968, the stadium was renamed Denver Mile High Stadium.

The Broncos posted a home record of 191-109-7 (.634) in 41 seasons of play from 1960-2000. With the exception of two games played at the University of Denver Stadium (1962 and '63 home openers; 1-1 record), every Broncos home game was played in the single facility known either as Bears Stadium or Mile High Stadium, with the club posting a 190-108-7 record (.638) in the building. The Broncos went 19-40-2 (.328) from 1960-68 in Bears Stadium, then 171-68-5 (.711) from 1969-2000 after the named was changed to Mile High Stadium.

The stadium was filled for every regular season game from the beginning of the 1970 season through its final season in 2000. The Broncos sold out 237 consecutive regular season games, and with postseason contests the total reached 250 over the 31-year period.

Expansion of Mile High Stadium, begun in 1975, was completed for the 1977 season to give the Broncos the seventh-largest home facility in the league. Denver voters passed a $25 million bond issue in 1974 to expand and improve the stadium from its capacity of 51,706 to 75,100. The stadium held 63,532 for the 1976 season, halfway through the project.

Bringing the stadium to its final capacity of 76,098 in 1986 was the construction of 60 Penthouse Suites atop the west stands.

One of the unique aspects of Mile High Stadium was its movable east stands. The massive single section, when fully extended, formed a horseshoe configuration for football, and when retracted, was in position for baseball. The three-tiered structure, measuring 535 feet in length, 135 feet in height and 200 feet in depth, weighed nearly nine million pounds and was moved a distance of 145 feet between the two configurations. The move was facilitated by a process involving a thin layer of water on which the structure moved. Water was pumped onto more than 90,000 square feet of runways and formed a .003-inch sheet upon which the stands rested. Hydraulic rams then pushed the stands forward at the rate of three feet per minute, making the move last somewhere around two hours.

Demolition of Mile High Stadium was completed in March 2002.

The Broncos played their home games at Mile High Stadium from inception in 1960 until 2000. The facility, built in 1948, was known as Bears Stadium until 1969.

Color Commentary

It's a Rocky Mountain tradition: 850 KOA and the Denver Broncos. For the 34th consecutive season, Denver's 50,000-watt station serves as the flagship for the Denver Broncos game broadcast network.

Dave Logan is in his seventh full season as voice of the Broncos, following seven years as color analyst on the broadcasts. Logan's background reads like an All-American dream: A Colorado native and 1971 winner of the Denver Post Gold Helmet Award, he is one of two athletes (along with Dave Winfield) drafted by franchises in Major League Baseball, the NBA and the NFL. Logan chose the latter, starring for the Cleveland Browns from 1976-83, and ascending into the top five of virtually every receiving category in the franchise record books. He played his final season in Denver in 1984.

Since then, Logan has brought his love for sports and knowledge of the games to Colorado radio listeners as co-host of KOA's award-winning talk show, the Sports Zoo, weekdays from 3-7 p.m. He was named 1997 Broadcast Citizen of the Year in Colorado, and has been Colorado Sportscaster of the Year three times, in 1992, '93 and '98. Logan co-hosts the weekly, in-season television show, "Broncos Huddle with Mike Shanahan," on KUSA-TV, and has also coached two high school football teams to state championships. He is in his first year as head coach at Mullen High School in 2003, after leading Chatfield (2000-02) to a state title in 2001 and Arvada West (1993-99) to a title in 1997.

Scott Hastings joins Logan in the booth for his seventh year as color commentator, having proved himself a savvy and thorough analyst, complementing Logan's play-by-play. An 11-year veteran of the National Basketball Association, Hastings was a member of the Detroit Pistons' 1989-90 World Champion squad.

In addition to his co-hosting duties on KOA's Sports Zoo, Hastings provides analysis on professional and college basketball and football for Fox Sports Net Rocky Mountain and TNT, and is in his first season as girls basketball coach at Arapahoe High School in Littleton, Colo.

MEDICAL GLOSSARY

AC Joint — Acromioclavicular joint; joint of the shoulder where acromion process of the scapula and the distal end of the clavicle meet; most shoulder separations occur at this point.

Abduct — Movement of any extremity away from the midline of the body. This action is achieved by an abductor muscle.

Abrasion — Any injury which rubs off the surface of the skin.

Abscess — An infection which produces pus; can be the result of a blister, callus, penetrating wound or laceration.

Adduct — Movement of an extremity toward the midline of the body. This action is achieved by an adductor muscle.

Adhesion — Abnormal adherence of collagen fibers to surrounding structures during immobilization following trauma or as a complication of surgery which restricts normal elasticity of the structures involved.

Aerobic — Exercise in which energy needed is supplied by oxygen inspired and is required for sustained periods of vigorous exercise with a continually high pulse rate.

Anabolic Steroids — Steroids that promote tissue growth by creating protein in an attempt to enhance muscle growth. The main anabolic steroid is testosterone (male sex hormone).

Anaerobic — Exercise without use of oxygen as an energy source; short bursts of vigorous exercises.

Anaphylactic Shock — Shock that is caused by an allergic reaction.

Anterior Compartment Syndrome — Condition in which swelling within the anterior compartment of the lower leg jeopardizes the viability of muscles, nerves and arteries that serve the foot. In severe cases, emergency surgery is necessary to relieve the swelling and pressure.

Anterior Cruciate Ligament (ACL) — A primary stabilizing ligament within the center of the knee joint that prevents hyperextension and excessive rotation of the joint. A complete tear of the ACL necessitating reconstruction could require up to 12 months of rehabilitation.

Anterior Talofibular Ligament — A ligament of the ankle that connects the fibula (lateral ankle bone) to the talus. This ligament is oft times subject to sprain.

Anti-Inflammatory — Any agent which prevents inflammation, such as aspirin or ibuprofen.

Anteriogram — A film demonstrating arteries after injection of a dye.

Arthrogram — X-ray technique for joints using air and/or dye injected into the affected area; useful in diagnosing meniscus tears of the knee and rotator cuff tears of the shoulder.

Arthroscope — An instrument used to visualize the interior of a joint cavity.

Arthroscopy — A surgical examination of the internal structures of a joint by means for viewing through an arthroscope. An arthroscopic procedure can be used to remove or repair damaged tissue or as a diagnostic procedure in order to inspect the extent of any damage or confirm a diagnosis.

Aspiration — The withdrawal of fluid from a body cavity by means of a suction or siphonage apparatus, such as a syringe.

Atrophy — To shrivel or shrink from disuse, as in muscular atrophy.

Avascular Necrosis — Death of a part due to lack of circulation.

Avulsion — The tearing away, forcibly, of a part or structure.

Baker's Cyst — Localized swelling of a bursa sac in the posterior knee as a result of fluid that has escaped from the knee capsule. A Baker's cyst indicates that there is a trauma inside the knee joint that leads to excessive fluid production.

Bone Scan — An imaging procedure in which a radioactive-labeled substance is injected into the body to determine the status of a bony injury. If the radioactive substance is taken up the bone at the injury site, the injury will show as a "hot spot" on the scan image. The bone scan is particularly useful in the diagnosis of stress fractures.

Brachial Plexus — Network of nerves originating from the cervical vertebrae and running down to the shoulder, arm, hand, and fingers.

Bruise — A discoloration of the skin due to an extravasation of blood into the underlying tissues.

Bursa — A fluid-filled sac that is located in areas where friction is likely to occur, then minimizes the friction; for example between a tendon and bone.

Capsule — An enclosing structure which surrounds the joint and contains ligaments which stabilize that joint.

Cartilage — Smooth, slippery substance preventing two ends of bones from rubbing together and grating.

CAT Scan — Use of a computer to produce a cross sectional view of the anatomical part being investigated from X-ray data.

Cellulitis — Inflammation of cellular or connective tissue.

Cervical Vertebrae — Group of seven vertebrae located in the neck

Charley Horse — A contusion or bruise to any muscle resulting in intramuscular bleeding. No other injury should be called a charley horse.

Colles' Fracture — A fracture of the distal end of the radius with the lower end being displaced backward.

Concentric Muscle Contraction — A shortening of the muscle as it develops tension and contracts to move a resistance.

Concussion — Jarring injury of the brain resulting in dysfunction. It can be graded as mild, moderate or severe depending on loss of consciousness, amnesia and loss of equilibrium.

Contusion — An injury to a muscle and tissues caused by a blow from a blunt object

Cortical Steroids — Used to suppress joint inflammation.

Costochondral — Cartilage that separates the bones within the rib cage.

Cryokinetics — Treatment with cold and movement.

Cryotherapy — A treatment with the use of cold.

Cyst — Abnormal sac containing liquid or semi-solid matter.

Degenerative Joint Disease — Changes in the joint surface as a result of repetitive trauma

Deltoid Ligament — Ligament that connects the tibia to bones of the medial aspect of the foot and is primarily responsible for stability of the ankle on the medial side. Is sprained less frequently than other ankle ligaments.

Deltoid Muscle — Muscles at top of the arm, just below the shoulder, responsible for shoulder motions to the front, side and back

Disc, Intervertebral — A flat, rounded plate between each vertebrae of the spine. The disc consists of a thick fiber ring which surrounds a soft gel-like interior. It functions as a cushion and shock absorber for the spinal column.

Disc, Intervertebral — A flat, rounded plate between each vertebrae of the spine. This disc consists of a thick fiber ring which surrounds a soft gel-like interior. It functions as a cushion and shock absorber for the spinal column.

Dislocation — Complete displacement of joint surfaces.

Eccentric Muscle Contraction — An overall lengthening of the muscles as it develops tension and contracts to control motion performed by an outside force; oft times referred to a "negative" contraction in weight training.

Ecymosis — Bleeding into the surface tissue below the skin, resulting in a "black and blue" effect

Effusion — Accumulation of fluid, in various spaces in the body, or the knee itself. Commonly, the knee has an effusion after an injury.

Electrical Galvanic Stimulation (EGS) — An electrical therapeutic modality that sends a current to the body at select voltages and frequencies in order to stimulate pain receptors, disperse edema, or neutralize muscle spasms among other functional applications.

Electromyogram (EMG) — Test to determine nerve function.

Epicondylitis — Inflammation in the elbow due to overuse.

Ethyl Chloride — “Cold spray,” a chemical coolant sprayed onto an injury site to produce a local, mild anesthesia.

Fat Percentage — The amount of body weight that is adipose, fat tissue. Fat percentages can be calculated by underwater weighing, measuring select skinfold thickness, or by analyzing electrical impedance.

Femur Thigh bone; longest bone in the body.

Fibula — Smaller of the two bones in the lower leg; runs from knee to the ankle along the outside of the lower leg.

Flexibility — The ability of muscle to relax and yield to stretch forces.

Flexibility Exercise — General term used to describe exercise performed by a player to passively or actively elongate soft tissue without the assistance of an athletic trainer.

Fracture — Breach of continuity of a bone. Types of fractures include simple, compound, comminuted, greenstick incomplete, impacted, longitudinal, oblique, stress, or transverse.

Gamekeeper’s Thumb — Tear of the ulnar collateral ligament of the metacarpophalangeal joint of the thumb.

Glycogen — Form in which foods are stored in the body as energy.

Grade One Injury — A mild injury in which ligament, tendon, or other musculoskeletal tissue may have been stretched or contused, but not torn or otherwise disrupted.

Grade Two Injury — A moderate injury when musculoskeletal tissue has been partially, but not totally, torn which causes appreciable limitation in function of the injured tissue.

Grade Three Injury — A severe injury in which tissue has been significantly, and in some cases totally, torn or otherwise disrupted causing a virtual total loss of function.

Hamstring — Category of muscle that runs from the buttocks to the knee along the back of the thigh. It functions to flex the knee, and is oft times injured as a result of improper conditioning or lack of muscle flexibility.

Heat Cramps — Painful muscle spasms of the arms or legs caused by excessive body heat and depletion of fluids and electrolytes.

Heat Exhaustion — Mild form of shock due to dehydration because of excessive sweating when exposed to heat and humidity.

Heat Stroke — Condition of rapidly rising internal body temperature that overwhelms the body’s mechanisms for release of heat and could result in death if not cared for appropriately.

Heel Cup — Orthotic device that is inserted into the shoe and worm under the heel to give support to the Achilles tendon and help absorb impacts at the heel.

Hematoma — Tumor-like mass produced by an accumulation of coagulated blood in a cavity.

Hot Pack — Chemical pack that rests in water, approximately 160 degrees, and retains its heat for 15-20 minutes when placed in a towel for general therapeutic application.

Humerus — Bone of the upper arm that runs from the shoulder to the elbow.

Hydrotherapy — Treatment using water.

Hyperextension — Extreme extension of a limb or body part

Iliotibial Band — A thick, wide fascial layer that runs from the iliac crest to the knee joint and is occasionally inflamed as a result of excessive running.

Inflammation — The body’s natural response to injury in which the injury site might display various degrees of pain, sweating, heat, redness, and/or loss of function.

Internal Rotation — Rotation of a joint or extremity medially, to the inside.

Lesion — Wound, injury or tumor.

Ligament — Band of fibrous tissue that connects bone to bone or bone to cartilage and supports and strengthens joints.

Lumbar Vertebrae — Five vertebrae of the lower back that articulate with the sacrum to form the lumbosacral joint Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) — Imaging procedure in which a radio frequency pulse causes certain electrical elements of the injured tissue to react to this pulse and through this process a computer display and permanent film establish a visual image. MRI does not require radiation and is very useful in the diagnosis of soft tissue, disc, and meniscus injuries.

Meniscectomy — An intra-articular surgical procedure of the knee by which all or part of the damaged meniscus is removed.

Meniscus — Crescent shaped cartilage, usually pertaining to the knee joint; also known as “cartilage.” There are two menisci in the knee, medial and lateral. These work to absorb weight within the knee and provide stability.

Metacarpals — Five long bones of the hand, running from the wrist to the fingers.

Metatarsals — Five long bones of the foot, running from the ankle to the toes.

Myositis — Inflammation of a muscle.

Necrotic — Relating to death of a portion of tissue.

Neoprene — Lightweight rubber used in joint and muscle sleeves designed to provide support and/or insulation and heat retention to the area.

Neuritis — Inflammation of a nerve.

Orthotic — Any device applied to or around the body in the care of physical impairment or disability, commonly used to control foot mechanics.

Parasthesia — Sensation of numbness or tingling, indicating nerve irritation.

Patella — The kneecap. The patella functions to protect the distal end of the femur as well as increase the mechanical advantage and force generating capacities of the quadriceps muscle group.

Patella Tendinitis — Inflammation of the patella ligament; also known as “jumpers knee.”

Patellofemoral Joint — Articulation of the knee cap and femur. Inflammation of this joint can occur through: 1) acute injury to the patella, 2) overuse from excessive running particularly if there is an associated knee weakness, 3) chronic wear and tear of the knee, 4) as a result of poor foot mechanics. Patellofemoral irritation can lead to chondromalacia, which in its most chronic condition, could require surgery.

Peroneal Muscles — Group of muscles of the lateral lower leg that are responsible for everting the knee. Tendons of these three muscles are vital to the stability of the ankle and foot.

Phlebitis — Inflammation of a vein.

Plica — Fold of tissue in the joint capsule and a common result of knee injury.

Posterior Cruciate Ligament (PCL) — A primary stabilizing ligament of the knee that provides significant stability and prevents displacement of the tibia backward within the knee joint. A complete tear of this ligament necessitating reconstruction could require up to 12 months of rehabilitation.

Quadricep Muscles “Quads” — A group of four muscles of the front thigh that run from the hip and form a common tendon at the patella; they are responsible for knee extension.

Radiography — Taking of X-rays.

Radius — Forearm bone on the thumb side.

Reconstruction — Surgical rebuilding of a joint using natural, artificial or transplanted materials.

Referred Pain — Pain felt in an undamaged area of body away from the actual injury.

Retraction — The moving of tissue to expose a part or structure of the body.

Rotator Cuff — Comprised of four muscles in the shoulder area that can be irritated by over use. The muscles are the supraspinatus (most commonly injured), infraspinatus, teres minor, and subscapularis.

Rotator Cuff Impingement Syndrome — A microtrauma or overuse injury caused by stress, and the four stages are: 1) Tendinitis with temporary thickening of the bursa and rotator cuff; 2) Fiber dissociation in the tendon with permanent thickening of the bursa and scar formation; 3) A partial rotator cuff tear of less than 1 cm.; and 4) A complete tear of 1 cm. or more.

Sacrum — Group of five fused vertebrae located just below the lumbar vertebrae of the low back.

Scapula — Shoulder blade.

Sciatica — Irritation of the sciatic nerve resulting in pain or tingling running down the inside of the leg.

Sciatic Nerve — Major nerve that carries impulses for muscular action and sensations between the low back and thigh and lower leg; it is the longest nerve in the body.

Shin Splint — A catch-all syndrome describing pain in the skin that is not a fracture or tumor and cannot be defined otherwise.

Sorbothane — An energy absorbing polyurethane utilized in some foot orthotics to absorb shock forces of the foot.

Spasm (Theory) — Muscle soreness induced by exercise; is the result of reduced muscle blood flow, which results in pain.

Spleen — Large, solid organ responsible for the normal production and destruction of blood cells.

Spondylitis — Inflammation of one or more vertebrae.

Spondylolisthesis — Forward displacement of one vertebrae over another below it due to a developmental defect in the vertebrae.

Spondylosis — Abnormal vertebral fixation or immobility.

Sports hernia — Another name for athletic pubalgia, which is a chronic groin injury involving inflammation around the pelvis and groin musculature.

Sprain — Injury resulting from a stretch or twist of the joint and causes various degrees of stretch or tear of a ligament or other soft tissue at the joint.

Sternum — The breast bone.

Steroids — Any one of a large number of hormone-like substances. See Anabolic steroids and cortical steroids Strain — Injury resulting from a pull or torsion to the muscle or tendon that causes various degrees of stretch or tear to the muscle or tendon tissue.

Stress Fracture — A hair-line type of break in a bone caused by overuse.

Stress X-ray — A continual X-ray taken when a portion of the body is stressed to its maximum in order to determine joint stability. This is a test utilized in some ankle injuries.

Stretching — Any therapeutic maneuver designed to elongate shortened soft tissue structures and thereby increase flexibility.

Subluxation — Partial dislocation of a joint. The term usually implies that the joint can return to its normal position without formal reduction.

Talus — The ankle bone that articulates with the tibia and fibula to form the ankle joint.

Target Heart Rate — A pre-determined pulse to be obtained during exercise when circulation is working at full efficient capacities.

Tarsals — Group of seven bones of the foot consisting of the calcaneus, talus, cuboid and three cuneiform bones.

Temporomandibular Joint (TMJ) — The articulation of the jaw and skull; considered by some to be vital in resolution of injuries throughout the body.

Tendinitis — Inflammation of the tendon and/or tendon sheath, caused by chronic overuse or sudden injury.

Tendon — Tissue that connects muscle to bone.

Tennis Elbow — General term for lateral elbow pain.

Thoracic — Group of twelve vertebrae located in the thorax and articulate with the twelve ribs.

Thoracic Outlet Compression Syndrome — A neuro-vascular disorder of the upper extremity common in throwing.

Tibia — Larger of the two bones of the lower leg and is the weight-bearing bone of the shin.

Tomograph — A special type of X-ray apparatus that demonstrates an organ or tissue at a particular depth.

Trachea — The windpipe.

Transcutaneous Electrical Nerve Stimulator (TENS) — An electrical modality that sends a mild current through pads at the injury site which stimulates the brain to release the natural analgesic, endorphin.

Transverse Process — Small lateral projection off the right side and left side of each vertebrae that functions as an attachment site for muscles and ligaments of the spine.

Trapezius — Flat triangular muscle covering the posterior surface of the neck and shoulder.

Triceps — Muscle of the back of the upper arm, primarily responsible for extending the elbow.

Ulna — Forearm bone that runs from the tip of the elbow to the little finger side of the wrist.

Ulnar Nerve — Nerve in elbow commonly irritated from excessive throwing.

Ultrasound — An electrical modality that transmits a sound wave through an applicator into the skin to the soft tissue in order to heat the local area for relaxing the injured tissue and/or disperse edema.

Valgus — Angulation outward and away from the midline of the body.

Varus — Angulation inward and toward the midline of the body.

Vasoconstriction — Decrease of local blood flow.

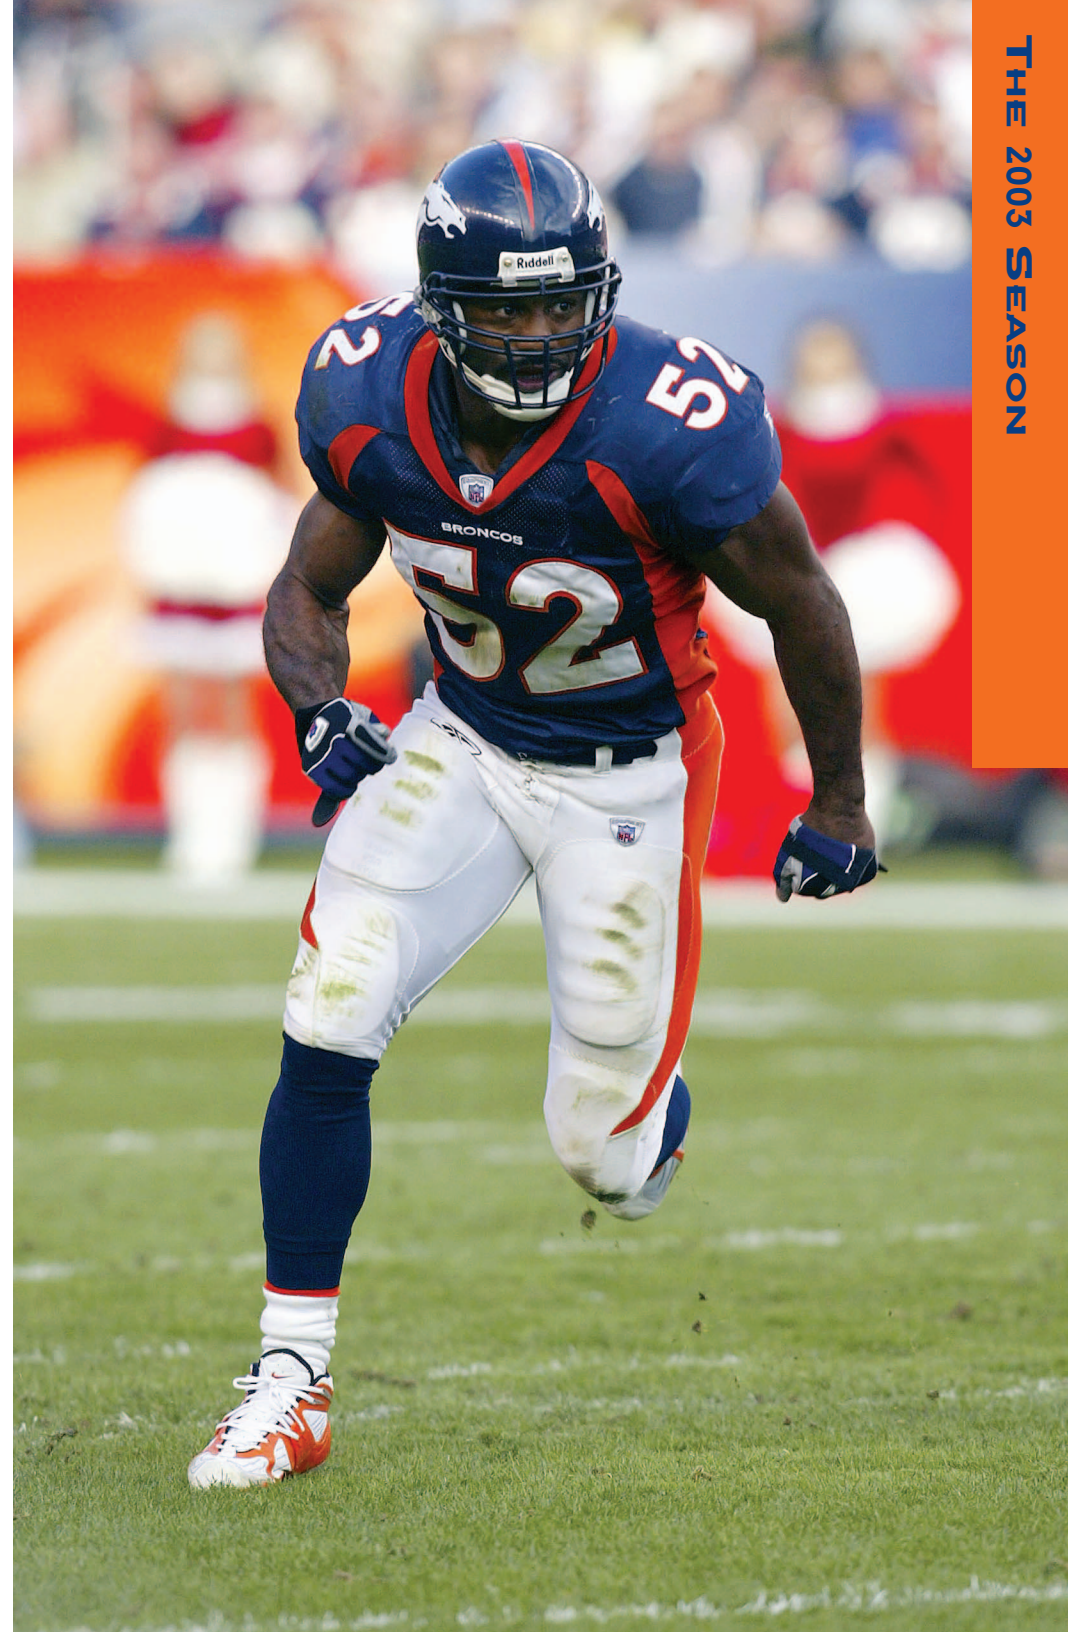

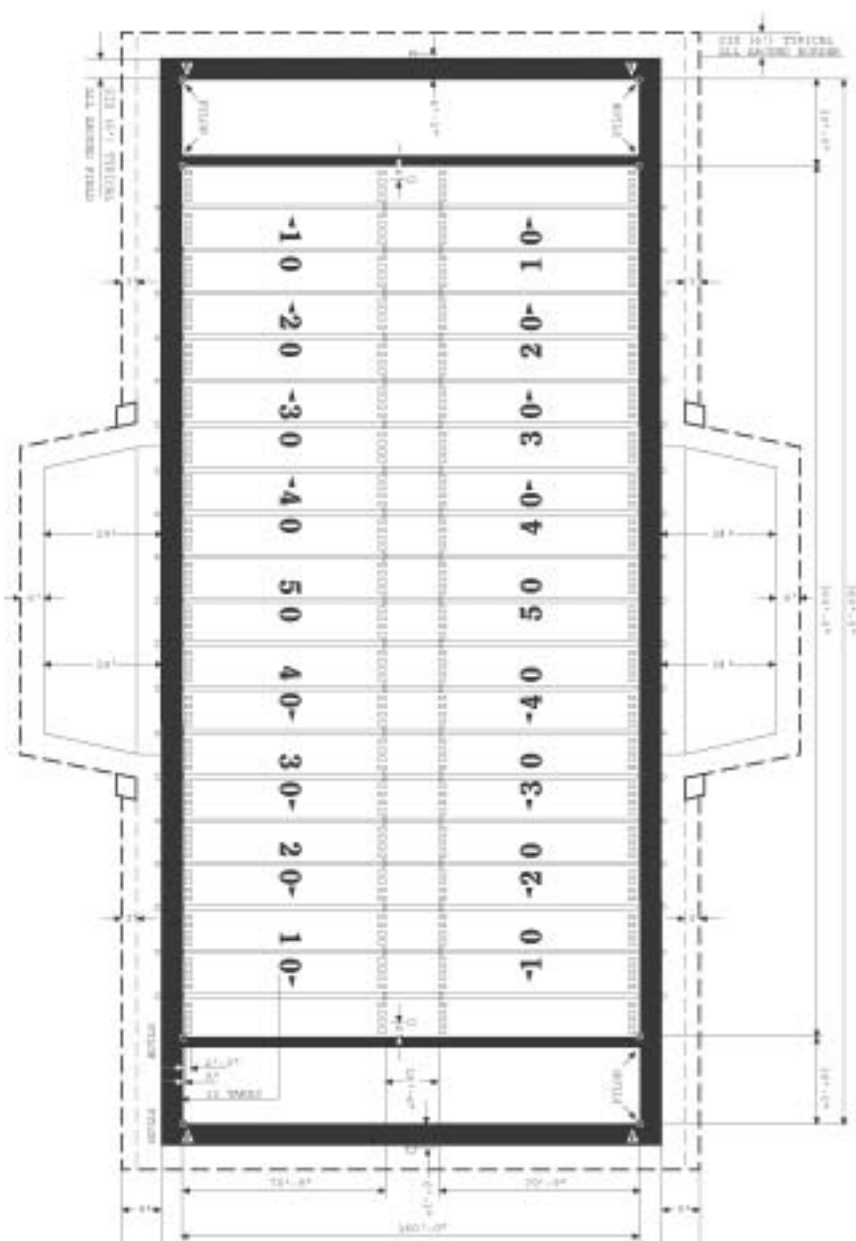

Vasodilation — Increase of local blood flow.

“Wind Knocked Out” — Syndrome describing a contraction of the abdominal nerve trunk, the solar plexus, as a result of an abdominal contusion.

Wrist — The junction between the two forearm bones (radius and ulna) and the eight wrist bones (trapezium, capitate, hamate, pisiform, triquetrum, lunate and scaphoid).

Zygoma — The cheekbone.

OTHER PUBLIC RELATIONS CONTACTS:

Director of Media Relations Paul Kirk — (303) 649-0503 / kirkp@broncos.nfl.com
Media Information Coordinator Mark Cicero — (303) 649-0512 / cicerom@broncos.nfl.com

The Broncos have a media website (www.denverbroncos.com/mediaroom) designed to serve the needs of all media who cover the club. The site contains the most up-to-date and complete information on the team, as well as a photo database for convenient download of high-resolution images. The media website also serves as the primary means to request credentials for Broncos home games, through our online credentialing process.

Due to the recent implementation of more stringent security measures, the Broncos do not deliver credentials by mail. Requests for game credentials must be formally requested by Tuesday of the week of each home game, and may be picked up at the Media Will-Call window in the North tunnel of INVESCO Field at Mile High on game day. Should transmission facilities be required, please arrange for same through local representatives.

As a general rule, the Denver Broncos do not issue any types of press credentials to weekly newspapers or magazines, unless they are of national circulation on specific assignment.

It is understood that all credentials will be used for the purpose for which they were issued, without exception. Violation of this policy will subject the bearer to ejection from INVESCO Field at Mile High.

WORKING PRESS: Admittance to the Broncos' press box is restricted to the WORKING PRESS ONLY. Credentials are marked with individual identification. Passes are non-transferable.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Photographers are asked to take special note of the following conditions for use of press credentials, as set by the National Football League:

NOTICE OF CREDENTIAL USE CONDITIONS

"This working credential is issued to an organization (the "Accredited Organization") for the sole purpose of providing stadium access to an individual (the "Bearer") who has a legitimate working function (media or game service) in connection with the game for which this credential is issued (the "Game"). It is Non-Transferable. Any unauthorized use of this credential subjects the Bearer to ejection from the stadium and prosecution for criminal trespass, and subjects the Accredited Organization to revocation of its credentials for future NFL games or events. The NFL is defined for the purposes of this credential to include the National Football League, its affiliates, its member clubs, and their agents and employees.

This credential (if issued for a media function) authorizes (i) the use by the Accredited Organization, for news and editorial coverage of the Game, of any descriptions (including statistical descriptions), accounts, photographs, films, audio or video recordings, or drawings of the Game or of any player interviews, press conferences, or other stadium activities related to the Game (collectively, "Game Information") taken, made, created, or compiled by the Accredited Organization or the Bearer, and (ii) the use by the Accredited Organization of any NFL or NFL club logos or trademarks (the "Marks") in connection with its authorized use of the Game Information. Any other use or attempted use by the Bearer or the Accredited Organization of Game Information or Marks, including any distribution of Game Information to third parties other than ultimate consumers (e.g., newspaper readers) for their use (whether before or after the conclusion of the Game, and whether or not for editorial purposes) and any authorization of any third party to redistribute Game Information or to use any Marks, is expressly prohibited, unless the Accredited Organization has obtained the advance written permission of the NFL for such other use.

Accredited Organizations agree that Game Information taking the form of film, video, or digital video recordings ("Video Material") may only be used in connection with a regularly scheduled broadcast television newscast aired by the Accredited Organization within a seven-day period following the Game, and further agree that their use of Video Material in such newscasts shall not exceed (a) six (6) minutes of "same-day" post-game highlights on game days and (b) two (2) minutes of current-season highlights on any other day, or (c) if an Accredited Organization airs a continuous-loop news service, Video Material including more than seven (7) plays in any 15-minute segment or fourteen (14) plays in any 30-minute segment of such service. Use of Video Material in any other manner without the advance written permission of the NFL and, where applicable, NFL Productions LLC (formerly NFL Films, Inc.) is expressly prohibited.

The Accredited Organization and the Bearer assume all risk incident to the performance by the Bearer of his or her services; assume all risk incident to attending NFL games; agree that the NFL has no responsibility for any equipment in use in the stadium; agree that they are not acting for the NFL in any manner whatsoever and are not employees or agents of the NFL; and agree to indemnify and hold harmless the NFL, its affiliates, its member clubs, and their agents and employees from and against all liability, loss, damage or expense resulting from or arising out of the issuance of this credential or the Bearer's presence in the stadium, except to the extent such liability, loss, damage or expense arises out of the willful or intentional misconduct of the NFL or any other indemnified party. Any Bearer who is deemed disorderly, or who fails to comply with these terms or any and all security measures, shall be subject to, if appropriate, ejection from the stadium and prosecution, and shall subject the Accredited Organization to revocation of its credentials for future NFL games or events.

This credential is subject to such additional credential use conditions as to which the Denver Broncos from time to time may give notice. Any violation of terms of credential use or such additional conditions may result in the withholding or revocation of this credential and any credential for any subsequent Denver Broncos football games.

Acceptance of the credential constitutes agreement by the Accredited Organization and the Bearer to abide by the foregoing conditions. Thank you for your cooperation."

Sideline photo passes will be tightly controlled by the Public Relations Department and are generally limited to photographers shooting for a daily newspaper, wire service, or magazine of national circulation on specific assignment, or television station. As a general rule, field photo passes used for still photography will not be granted locker room access postgame.

RADIO-TELEVISION: In making requests for broadcast credentials, please specify requirements for spotters and/or statisticians.

STADIUM ACCESS: To get to INVESCO Field at Mile High, which is located at 17th Avenue and Bryant Street, take Interstate 25 to the INVESCO Field at Mile High Exit (Southbound, it is the 23rd Ave. Exit; Northbound it is the 17th Avenue Exit). The press entrance and media will-call are located at the north tunnel of the stadium.

DRIVING INSTRUCTIONS TO INVESCO FIELD AT MILE HIGH FROM DENVER INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT: Exit airport on Pena Boulevard and continue to Interstate 70. Take Interstate 70 West to Interstate 25 South. Continue on Interstate 25 South and exit at 23rd Ave. Go straight through the intersection onto a special frontage road, and then follow the directions to Lot H and I. If you do not already have a parking pass in hand, you will not be able to gain access to the frontage road.

DRIVING INSTRUCTIONS TO DENVER INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT FROM INVESCO FIELD AT MILE HIGH: Depending on your lot location, follow signs to Interstate 25 north. To do so you can take 20th Avenue East to Clay Street, turning left at Clay and proceeding to 23rd Avenue. Take a right at 23rd Avenue and continue to Interstate 25 entrances. Another route would be to follow Bryant Street (which runs north-south on the east side of the stadium) to 17th Avenue East, which will continue beneath an overpass and take you directly to I-25 north. Take I-25 North to I-70 East. Follow the signs to DIA. Please allow 45 minutes from INVESCO Field at Mile High to DIA.

TRANSMISSION FACILITIES: The Broncos provide 60 complimentary telephones in the visitors area of the working pressbox for use by members of the media. Only collect, credit card or third party billing calls can be made from these telephones. Should you wish a private telephone installed at your seat, please make arrangements in advance. The Broncos will be pleased to assign you a seat location and provide you with a contact for you to make the appropriate arrangements with the local telephone company.

POST-GAME TRANSPORTATION: Please advise Broncos PR personnel as soon as possible should you require transportation following the game. The amount of time you must wait will obviously decline as time goes by following the conclusion of the game. Should you wish to make your own arrangements, the numbers of local cab companies are 777-7777 and 333-3333.

DENVER BRONCOS HIGHLIGHT VIDEO

The Denver Broncos highlight video for the 2002 season is titled "A Season on Edge." It is available through NFL Films, and can be obtained by calling (856) 778-1600. The NFL Films address is 330 Fellowship Road, Mt. Laurel, NJ, 08054.

NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE CALENDAR

June 1	Deadline for Old Club to send tender to its unsigned Restricted Free Agents or to extend Qualifying Offer, whichever is greater, in order to retain rights.
June 1	Deadline for Old Club to send tender to its unsigned Unrestricted Free Agents to retain rights if player is not signed by another club by July 22.
June 2	Any unamortized signing bonus amounts will be included in the succeeding year's Team Salary for any players removed from the team's roster other than by trade.
July 8	Claiming period of 24 hours begins in waiver system.
Mid-July	Preseason training camps open. Clubs not permitted to open official preseason camp earlier than July 5. Veteran players cannot be required to report earlier than 15 days prior to club's first preseason game or July 15, whichever is later. The July 15 date is not applicable to clubs playing five preseason games. Except for quarterbacks and "injured" players, veterans cannot participate in any organized football activity for 10 days prior to mandatory reporting date.
July 15	On or after this date a club that extends an existing Player Contract for a Franchise Player shall not be deemed to have utilized its Franchise Player designation for the period of the extension.
July 22	(On this date, or on the first scheduled day of the first NFL training camp, whichever is later) Signing period ends at 4 p.m., New York time, for Unrestricted Free Agents to whom June 1 tender was made by Old Club, and for Transition Players. After this date and through 4 p.m., New York time, on November 11, Old Club has exclusive negotiating rights to these players.
Aug. 2	American Bowl, Tokyo, Japan: Tampa Bay vs. New York Jets.
Aug. 4	Hall of Fame Game, Canton, Ohio: Green Bay vs. Kansas City.
Aug. 5	If a Drafted Rookie has not signed with his club by this date, he may not be traded to any other club in 2003.
Aug. 5	Deadline for players under contract to report to earn a season of free agency credit.
Aug. 7-11	First full preseason weekend.
Aug. 26	Roster cut-down to maximum of 65 players on Active List by 4 p.m., New York time.
Aug. 31	Roster cut-down to maximum of 53 players on Active/Inactive List by 4 p.m., New York time. NFL Europe League exemptions expire. Clubs may dress minimum of 42 and maximum of 45 players and Third Quarterback for each regular season and postseason game.
Aug. 31	Simultaneously with the cut-down to 53, clubs that have players in the categories of Active/Physically Unable to Perform or Active/Non-Football Injury or Illness must take one of the following options: place player on Reserve/Physically Unable to Perform or Reserve/Non-Football Injury or Illness, whichever is applicable; ask waivers; terminate; trade; or continue to count him on Active List.
Sept. 1	After 12 noon, New York time, clubs may establish a Practice Squad of five players by signing free agents who do not have an accrued season of free agency credit or who were on the 45-player Active List for less than nine regular season games during their only Accrued Season(s). A player cannot participate on the Practice Squad for more than two seasons.
Sept. 2	All clubs are required to file a personnel (injury) report with their conference Director of Information by 1 p.m., New York time, on this Tuesday and thereafter on each Wednesday before a regular-season game. Such report is to be updated by 1 p.m., New York time, each Thursday. An update must also be reported if there is any change in a player's condition after Thursday.
Sept. 3	Beginning at 4 p.m., New York time, Team Salary includes all players receiving compensation under their 2003 contracts. Top 51 rule is no longer in effect.
Sept. 4-8	NFL Kickoff 2003 Weekend.
Sept. 23	Priority on multiple waiver claims is now based on the current season's standing.
Oct. 14	Beginning the day after the conclusion of the sixth regular season weekend and continuing through the day after the conclusion of the ninth regular season weekend, clubs are permitted to begin practicing players on Reserve/Physically Unable to Perform and Reserve/Non-Football Injury or Illness for a period not to exceed 21 days. Players may be activated during the 21-day practice period or until 4 p.m., New York time, on the day after the conclusion of the 21-day period.
Oct. 14	All trading ends at 4 p.m., New York time.
Oct. 15	Players with at least four previous pension-credited seasons are subject to the waiver system for the remainder of the regular season and postseason.
Nov. 11	Signing period ends at 4 p.m., New York time, for Franchise Players who are eligible to receive Offer Sheets.
Nov. 11	Deadline for clubs to sign by 4 p.m., New York time, their unsigned Franchise and Transition Players, including Franchise Players who were eligible to receive Offer Sheets until this date. If still unsigned after this date, such players are prohibited from playing in NFL in 2003.
Nov. 11	Deadline for clubs to sign by 4 p.m., New York time, their Unrestricted Free Agents to whom June 1 tender was made. If still unsigned after this date, such players are prohibited from playing in NFL in 2003.
Nov. 11	Deadline for clubs to sign by 4 p.m., New York time, their Restricted Free Agents to whom June 1 tender was made. If such players remain unsigned, they are prohibited from playing in NFL in 2003.
Nov. 11	Deadline for clubs to sign Drafted players by 4 p.m., New York time. If such players remain unsigned, they are prohibited from playing in NFL in 2003.
Nov. 28	Deadline for reinstatement of players in Reserve List categories of Retired, Did Not Report, and Exclusive Rights, and of players who were placed on Reserve/Left Squad in a previous season.
Dec. 26	Deadline for waiver requests in 2003, except for "special waiver requests" which have a 10-day claiming period, with termination or assignment delayed until after the Super Bowl.
Dec. 29	Clubs may begin signing free agent players for the 2004 season.

BRONCOS FUTURE OPPONENTS

The National Football League realigned its divisional and conference structure in 2002 with the introduction of the Houston Texans as an expansion franchise, and with that adopted a scheduling format that determines the majority of each team's opponents through the 2009 season. The formula, for each team, includes home and away games against each division foe (6 games), one game against each team in another division within a team's conference (4 games), one game against each team in a division from the other conference (4 games) and two games against conference opponents to be determined by a team's division finish the previous year. For example, in a year when the Broncos play each team from the AFC North (as in 2003), their two additional AFC opponents would be the teams from the South and East who finished second in their division (as the Broncos did in the West).
